If the property taken be claimed by any other person than the defendant or his agent, and such person make affidavit of his title thereto, or his right to the possession thereof, stating the grounds of such title or right, and serve the same upon the sheriff before the delivery of the property to the plaintiff, the sheriff shall not be bound to keep the property or deliver it to the plaintiff, unless the plaintiff, on demand [of him or his agent], indemnify the sheriff against such claim by a bond, executed by two sufficient sureties, accompanied by their affidavits that they are each worth double the value of the property as specified in the affidavit of plaintiff, over and above their debts and liabilities, exclusive of property exempt from execution, and freeholders or householders of the county; and no claim to such property by any other person than the defendant or his agent shall be valid against the sheriff, unless made as aforesaid; and notwithstanding such claim, when so made, he may retain the property a reasonable time to demand such indemnity. [L. '54, p. 151, § 109; Cd. '81, § 151; 2 H. C., § 264.]

§ 717. Return of Sheriff.

The sheriff shall file the affidavit, with the proceedings thereon, with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending within twenty days after taking the property mentioned therein. [Cf. L. '54, p. 152, § 110; Cd. '81, § 152; L. '91, p. 72, § 1; 2 H. C., § 265.]

CHAPTER IV.

INJUNCTIONS.

§ 718. By Whom Granted.

Restraining orders and injunctions may be granted by the superior court, or by any judge thereof. [L. '54, p. 152, § 111; Cd. '81, § 153; 2 H. C., § 266.]

That portion of this section as originally enacted providing for the granting of injunctions by judges of the supreme court is omitted as abrogated by § 4, article IV, of the constitution.

The words "injunction" and "restraining order," as used in this chapter, are to be taken as substantially synonymous. The terms permit the court to put its order in the shape of a formal injunction, or it may issue simply an order restraining the acts complained of: State ex rel. Miller v. Lichtenberg, 4 Wash. 407, 30 Pac. 716.

Although the legislature may not, by express enactment, have declared the commission of certain acts illegal, a statute empowering the courts to restrain by injunction the commission of such acts would not be unconstitutional on that ground, inasmuch as a law authorizing the enjoining of an act is equivalent to declaring that such act is illegal:

§ 719. Grounds for Injunctions.

When it appears by the complaint that the plaintiff is entitled to the relief demanded, and the relief, or any part thereof, consists in restraining the commission or continuance of some act the commission or continuance of which during the litigation would produce great injury to the plaintiff; or when, during the litigation, it appears that the defendant is doing, or threatens [threatened], or is about to do, or is procuring, or is suffering some act to be done, in violation of the plaintiff's rights respecting the subject of the action, tending to render the judgment ineffectual; or where such relief, or any part thereof, consists in restraining proceedings upon any final order or judgment,—an injunction may be granted to restrain such act or proceedings until the further order of the court, which may afterwards be dissolved or modified upon motion. And where it appears, in the complaint, at the commencement of the action, or during the pendency thereof, by affidavit, that the defendant threatens or is about to remove or dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors, a temporary injunction may be granted to restrain the removal or disposition of his property. [L. '54, p. 152, § 112; Cd. '81, § 154; 2 H. C., § 267.]

berg, 19 Wash. 679, 54 Pac. 611, 67 Am. St. Rep. 751; State ex rel. Victor Boom Co. v. Peterson, 29 Wash. 571, 70 Pac. 71.

Where a restraining order has been served upon the city officers, enjoining the holding of an election, it is their duty to stop the election: State v. Nicoll, 40 Wash. 517, 82 Pac. 895. See Jennings v. Rocky Bar Gold Mining Co., 29 Wash. 726, 70 Pac. 136.

§ 730. Notice—Effect.

When notice of the application for an injunction has been served upon the adverse party, it shall not be necessary to serve the order upon him, but he shall be bound by the injunction as soon as the bond required of the plaintiff is executed and delivered to the proper officer. [L. '54, p. 154, § 122; Cd. '81, § 164; 2 H. C., § 278.]

§ 731. Money Collected on Enjoined Judgment to be Paid into Court.

Money collected upon a judgment afterward enjoined, remaining in the hands of the collecting officer, shall be paid to the clerk of the court granting the injunction, subject to the order of the court. [L. '54, p. 154, § 123; Cd. '81, § 165; 2 H. C., § 279.]

§ 732. Order Disobeyed—Contempt.

Whenever it shall appear to any court granting an order of injunction, or judge thereof, by affidavit, that any person has willfully disobeyed the order after notice thereof, such court or judge shall award an attachment for contempt against the party charged, or a rule to show cause why it should not issue. The attachment or rule shall be issued by the clerk of the court, and directed to the sheriff, and shall be served by him. [L. '54, p. 154, § 124; Cd. '81, § 166; 2 H. C., § 280.]

§ 733. Arrest and Indemnity.

The attachment for contempt shall be immediately served by arresting the party charged, and bringing him into court, if in session, to be dealt with as in other cases of contempt; and the court shall also take all necessary measures to secure and indemnify the plaintiff against damages in the premises. [L. '54, p. 154, § 125; Cd. '81, § 167; 2 H. C., § 281.]

§ 734. Bond for Appearance.

If the court is not in session the officer making the arrest shall cause the person to enter into a bond, with surety, to be approved by the officer, conditioned that he personally appear in open court whenever his appearance shall be required, to answer such contempt, and that he will pay to the plaintiff all his damages and costs occasioned by the breach of the order; and in default thereof, he shall be committed to the jail of the county until he shall enter into such bond with surety, or be otherwise legally discharged. [Cf. L. '54, p. 154, § 126; Cd. '81, § 168; L. '91, p. 97, § 1; 2 H. C., § 282.]

§ 735. Motion to Vacate or Modify.

Motions to dissolve or modify injunctions may be made in open court, or before a judge of the superior court, at any time after reasonable notice to the adverse party. [L. '54, p. 154, § 127; Cd. '81, § 169; L. '91, p. 74, § 1; 2 H. C., § 283.]

§ 736. Damages upon Dissolution of Injunction to Stay Proceedings.

When an injunction to stay proceedings after judgment for debt or damages shall be dissolved, the court shall award such damages, not exceeding ten per cent, on the judgment, as the court may deem right, against the party in whose favor the injunction issued. [L. '54, p. 154, § 128; Cd. '81, § 170; 2 H. C., § 284.]

§ 737. Damages for Waste and Rents.

If an injunction to stay proceedings after verdict or judgment in an action for the recovery of real estate, or the possession thereof, be dissolved, the damages assessed against the party obtaining the injunction shall include the reasonable rents and profits of the land recovered, and all waste committed after granting injunction. [L. '54, p. 154, § 129; Cd. '81, § 171; 2 H. C., § 285.]

§ 738. Motion to Reinstate.

Upon an order being made dissolving or modifying an order of injunction, the plaintiff may move the court to reinstate the order, and the court may, in its discretion, allow the motion, and appoint a time for hearing the same before the court, or a time and place for hearing before some judge thereof, and upon the hearing, the parties may produce such additional affidavits or depositions as the court shall direct, and the order of injunction shall be dissolved, modified, or reinstated, as the court or judge may deem right. Until the hearing of the motion to reinstate the order of injunction, the order to dissolve or modify it shall be suspended. [L. '54, p. 154, § 130; Cd. '81, § 172; 2 H. C., § 286.]

§ 739. Power of Judge or Court.

The judge of the superior court shall have power to make every order which, by the provisions of this chapter, may be made by the court. [L. '69, p. 41, § 171; Cd. '81, § 173; 2 H. C., § 287.]

CHAPTER V.

RECEIVERS.

§ 740. Receiver, Defined.

A receiver is a person appointed by a court or judicial officer to take charge of property during the pending of a civil action or proceeding, or upon a judgment, decree, or order therein, and to manage and dispose of it as the court or officer may direct. [L. '91, p. 90, § 1; 2 H. C., § 325.]

Under this section, any person appointed by the court to take charge of mortgaged chattels during the pendency of foreclosure proceedings is a receiver: Libert v. Unfried, 47 Wash. 182, 91 Pac. 774.

A receiver may be appointed by the court in the following cases:—

1. In an action by a vendor to vacate a fraudulent purchase of property, or by a creditor to subject any property or fund to his claim;
2. In an action between partners, or other persons jointly interested in any property or fund;
3. In all actions where it is shown that the property, fund, or rents and profits in controversy are in danger of being lost, removed or materially injured;
4. In an action by a mortgagee for the foreclosure of a mortgage and the sale of the mortgaged property, when it appears that such property is in danger of being lost, removed, or materially injured; [or when such property is insufficient to discharge the debt, to secure the application of the rents and profits accruing, before a sale can be had];
5. When a corporation has been dissolved or is insolvent, or is in imminent danger of insolvency, or has forfeited its corporate rights;
6. And in such other cases as may be provided for by law, or when, in the discretion of the court, it may be necessary to secure ample justice to the parties: Provided, that no party or attorney or other person interested in an action shall be appointed receiver therein. [L. '54, p. 162, §§ 171, 172; Cd. '81, § 193; 2 H. C., § 326.]

DEPOSITS IN COURTS.

§ 745. Deposits in Court.

When it is admitted by the pleading or examination of a party that he has in his possession, or under his control, any money, or other thing capable of delivery, which, being the subject of the litigation, is held by him as trustee for another party, or which belongs or is due to another party. the court may order the same to be deposited in court, or delivered to such party, with or without security, subject to the further direction of the court. [L. '54, p. 163, § 174; Cd. '81, § 195; 2 H. C., § 328.]

CHAPTER VII.

ARREST AND BAIL.

§ 748. No Arrest Except as Provided by Statute.

No person shall be arrested or held to bail in any civil action except upon the order of the court where the action is brought, or a judge of the supreme court. [L. '54, p. 145, § 73; Cd. '81, § 115; 2 H. C., § 228.]

Although most of this chapter is violative of Const., Art. I, § 17 (see note to next section), it is retained; since certain of its provisions have been adopted by reference in other matters.

§ 749. Defendant, When Subject to Arrest.

The defendant may be arrested in the following cases:—

1. In an action for the recovery of damages, on a cause of action not arising out of contract, where the defendant is a nonresident of the state, or is about to remove therefrom, or where the action is for an injury to person or character, or for injuring, or for wrongfully taking, detaining, or converting property;

2. In an action for a fine or penalty, or on a promise to marry, or for money received, or property embezzled, or fraudulently misapplied, or converted to his own use, by a public officer, or by an attorney, or by an officer or agent of a corporation in the course of his employment as such, or by any factor, agent, broker, or other person in a fiduciary capacity, or for any misconduct or neglect in office or in a professional employment;

3. In an action to recover the possession of personal property unjustly detained, when the property, or any part thereof, has been concealed, removed, or disposed of, so that it cannot be found or taken by the sheriff, and with intent that it should not be so found or taken, or with the intent to deprive the plaintiff of the benefit thereof;

4. When the defendant has been guilty of a fraud in contracting the debt, or incurring the obligation for which the action is brought, or in concealing or disposing of the property, for the taking, detention, or conversion of which the action is brought;

5. When the defendant has removed or disposed of his property, or is about to do so, with intent to defraud his creditors;

6. When the action is to prevent threatened injury to or destruction of property, in which the party bringing the action has some right, interest, or title, which will be impaired or destroyed by such injury or destruction, and the danger is imminent that such property will be destroyed or its value impaired, to the injury of the plaintiff;

7. On the final judgment or order of any court in this state, while the same remains in force, when the defendant, having no property subject to execution, or not sufficient to satisfy such judgment, has money which he ought to apply in payment upon such judgment, which he refuses to apply, with intent to defraud the plaintiff, or when he refuses to comply with a legal order of the court, with intent to defraud the plaintiff; or when any one or more of the causes exist for which an arrest is allowed in the first class of cases mentioned in this section. [L. '54, p. 145, § 74; Cd. '81, § 116; 2 H. C., § 229.]

§ 750. Proof Required to Obtain Order.

The court or judge making the order of arrest shall first be satisfied, by the affidavit of the party, or his agent or attorney, and other proof under oath, exclusive of the complaint, that the case is one in which an arrest is provided for in section 749, and that one or more of the prescribed causes exist, which proof shall be in writing, and, together with the order, be filed with the clerk before he shall issue any warrant for the arrest. [Cf. L. '54, p. 145, § 75; Cd. '81, § 117; L. '88, p. 31, § 1; 2 H. C., § 230.]

§ 751. Court or Judge must Fix Bail.

The court or judge making the order shall, in all cases, specify therein the amount in which the defendant shall be held to bail, which shall, in no case, exceed the demand of the plaintiff, and one hundred dollars in addition thereto, which amount the clerk shall indorse upon the writ, and the court shall also, in the order, fix the amount of the bond to be given by the plaintiff, as provided in the next succeeding section, which amount shall in no case be less than one hundred dollars. [L. '54, p. 146, § 76; Cd. '81, § 118; 2 H. C., § 231.]

§ 752. Bond Required of Plaintiff.

Before any clerk shall issue a warrant for the arrest of the defendant, he shall require the plaintiff to place on file in his office a copy of the order granting the warrant, unless the same was made in open court, and appears in the minutes, the original affidavit and proofs upon which the order was made, and a bond, on behalf of the plaintiff, in such an amount as the court or judge may have fixed in the order, with sureties to the satisfaction of the clerk, conditioned to pay to the defendant all damages which he shall suffer and all expenses he shall incur by reason of such arrest or imprisonment, if the order shall be vacated in the manner provided for in the next succeeding section, or if the plaintiff fail to recover in his action. [L. '54, p. 146, § 77; Cd. '81, § 119; 2 H. C., § 232.]

§ 753. Defendant may Move to Vacate Order—Proceedings Thereon.

The defendant may, on motion, apply to the court to vacate the order of arrest, on the ground of insufficiency of the proof, or he may show that the facts alleged upon which the order issued are untrue, or he may apply to have the amount of bail reduced. If the court, upon any such motion, shall vacate the order, the defendant shall be discharged from the arrest, and any bond he may have given shall be canceled, but the action, unless dismissed for other cause, shall be conducted in the same manner as in cases where complaint and notice were duly served and filed. [L. '54, p. 146, § 78; Cd. '81, § 120; 2 H. C., § 233.]

Discharge: See Remington's Digest, Arrest, § 5; Burrichter v. Cline, 3 Wash. 135, 28 Pac. 867; Tacoma Stove Co. v. Cline, 3 Wash. 431, 28 Pac. 368; Harmon v. Cline, 3 Wash. 432, 28 Pac. 368.

§ 754. Warrant must not Issue Till Complaint is Filed.

When an order of arrest is granted prior to the filing of the complaint, the warrant shall not issue until the complaint is filed with the clerk, and a copy of said complaint shall be served on the defendant with the warrant; but an order of arrest may be granted at any time after the action is commenced, and before judgment is satisfied, when the party seeking the order shall comply with the preceding provisions in regard to arrests. [L. '54, p. 146, § 79; Cd. '81, § 121; 2 H. C., § 234.]

§ 755. Warrant must State Cause of Arrest.

The warrant shall, in all cases, contain a short statement of the alleged causes for which the order was granted, and also the amount for which bail is required. [L. '54, p. 146, § 83; Cd. '81, § 125; 2 H. C., § 235.]

§ 756. Defendant Entitled to Copy of Warrant.

The warrant must be delivered to the sheriff, who, upon arresting the defendant, must deliver to him a copy thereof. [L. '54, p. 146, § 80; Cd. '81, § 122; 2 H. C., § 236.]

§ 757. Execution of Warrant—Fees of Sheriff.

The sheriff shall execute the warrant by arresting the defendant, and keeping him in custody until discharged by law. And the plaintiff, in the first instance, shall be liable for the sheriff's fees, for the food and maintenance of any person under arrest, which, if required by the sheriff, shall be paid weekly in advance. And such fees so paid shall be added to the costs taxed or accruing in the case, and be collected as other costs. And if the plaintiff shall neglect to pay such fees for three days after a demand, in writing, upon the plaintiff or his attorney for payment, the sheriff may discharge defendant out of custody. [L. '54, p. 146, § 81; Cd. '81, § 123; 2 H. C., § 237.]

§ 758. Conditions of Bail Bond.

The defendant may give bail by causing a bond to be executed by two or more sufficient sureties, stating their places of residence and occupations, conditioned that the defendant shall at all times render himself amenable to the process of the court during the pendency of the action, and to such as may be issued to enforce the judgment rendered therein; or if he be arrested for the cause mentioned in the third subdivision of section 749, it shall be further conditioned that the specific article of property, or instrument of writing which is the subject matter of the writ, shall be forthcoming, to abide any order which shall be made therein; or if he be arrested for the cause mentioned in the sixth subdivision of said section, it shall be further conditioned that he will not commit the injury or destruction alleged to be threatened in the affidavit or proofs on which the arrest is ordered. [L. '54, p. 147, § 82; Cd. '81, § 124; 2 H. C., § 238.]

§ 759. Surrender of Defendant.

At any time before a failure to comply with their bonds, the bail may surrender the defendant in their exoneration, or he may surrender himself to the sheriff of the county where he was arrested, in the following manner:—

1. A certified copy of the bail bond shall be delivered to the sheriff, who shall retain the defendant in his custody thereon as upon an order of arrest, and by a certificate in writing, acknowledge the surrender;

2. Upon the production of a copy of the bail bond and sheriff's certificate a judge of the superior court may, upon a notice to the plaintiff of eight days, with a copy of the certificate, order that the bail be exonerated, and on filing the order and the papers used on such application, they shall be exonerated accordingly. But this section does not apply to an arrest for the cause mentioned in the sixth subdivision of section 749. [L. '54, p. 147, § 84; Cd. '81, § 126; 2 H. C., § 239.]

§ 760. Bail may Arrest Defendant.

For the purpose of surrendering the defendant, the bail, at any time or place before they are finally discharged, may themselves arrest him, or, by written authority indorsed upon a certified copy of the bond, may empower any person of suitable age and discretion to do so. [L. '54, p. 147, § 85; Cd. '81, § 127; 2 H. C., § 240.]

Surrender of principal by sureties on bail bond. 3 A. L. R. 180.

§ 761. Proceeding Against Bail.

In case of failure to comply with the condition of the bond, the bail can be proceeded against by action only. [L. '54, p. 147, § 86; Cd. '81, § 128; 2 H. C., § 241.]

§ 762. Exoneration of Bail.

The bail may be exonerated either by the death of the defendant, or his imprisonment in the penitentiary, or by his legal discharge from the obligation to render himself amenable to the process, or by his surrender to the sheriff of the county where he was arrested, in exoneration thereof, within twenty days after commencement of the action against the bail, or within such further time as may be granted by the court. [L. '54, p. 148, § 87; Cd. '81, § 129; 2 H. C., § 242.]

Induction of principal into military or naval service as exonerating his bail for his nonappearance. 8 A. L. R. 371.

Insanity of principal as relieving bail for his nonappearance. 7 A. L. R. 394.

§ 763. Return of Sheriff—Exceptions to Bail.

Within the time limited for that purpose, the sheriff must deliver the order of arrest to the clerk, with his return indorsed thereon, and the bond of the bail, or a copy thereof. The plaintiff, within ten days thereafter, may serve upon the sheriff a notice that he does not accept the bail, or he must be deemed to have accepted it, and the sheriff shall be exonerated from liability. [L. '54, p. 148, § 88; Cd. '81, § 130; 2 H. C., § 243.]

§ 764. Notice of Justification.

On the receipt of notice, the sheriff or defendant may, within ten days thereafter, give to the plaintiff or his attorney notice of the justification of the same, or their bail (specifying the places of residences and occupations of the latter), before judgment [the judge] of the court or justice of the peace, at a specified time and place, the time to be not less than five days nor more than ten thereafter. In case other bail be given, there must be a new bond in the form prescribed in section 758. [L. '54, p. 148, § 89; Cd. '81, § 131; 2 H. C., § 244.]

The qualifications of the bail shall be as follows:—

1. Each of them shall be a resident of the state; but no counselor or attorney at law, sheriff, clerk of the superior court, or other officer of such court, shall be permitted to become bail in any action;

2. Each of the bail shall be worth the amount specified in the order of arrest, or the amount to which the order may be reduced, as provided in this chapter, over and above all debts and liabilities, and exclusive of property exempt from execution; but the judge or justice, on justification, may allow more than two sureties to justify, severally, in amounts less than that expressed in the order, if the whole justification be equivalent to that of two sufficient bail. [L. '54, p. 138, § 90; Cd. '81, § 132; 2 H. C., § 245.]

Cited in 16 Wash. 337.

§ 766. Justification, How Made.

For the purpose of justification, each of the bail must attend before the judge or justice of the peace at the time and place mentioned in the notice, and may be examined on oath on the part of the plaintiff touching his sufficiency, in such manner as the judge or justice of the peace, in his discretion, may think proper. The examination must be reduced to writing and subscribed by the bail, if required by the plaintiff. [L. '54, p. 148, § 91; Cd. '81, § 133; 2 H. C., § 246.]

§ 767. Order When Bail Found Sufficient.

If the judge or justice find the bail sufficient, he shall indorse his allowance thereof on the bond, and cause it to be filed with the clerk, and the sheriff shall thereupon be exonerated from liability. [L. '54, p. 148, § 92; Cd. '81, § 134; 2 H. C., § 247.]

§ 768. Deposit of Money Instead of Bail.

The defendant may at the time of his arrest, instead of giving bail, deposit with the sheriff the amount mentioned in the order. The sheriff must thereupon give the defendant a certificate of deposit, and the defendant shall be discharged from custody. [L. '54, p. 148, § 93; Cd. '81, § 135; 2 H. C., § 248.]

§ 769. Bail Money to be Paid into Court.

The sheriff shall within ten days after the deposit, pay the same into court, and take from the officer receiving the same two certificates of such payment, the one of which he must deliver to the plaintiff and the other to the defendant. For any default in making such payment, the same proceeding may be had on the official bond of the sheriff to collect the sum deposited, as in case of delinquency. [L. '54, p. 149, § 94; Cd. '81, § 136; 2 H. C., § 249.]

§ 770. Bail may be Substituted for Money.

If the money be deposited, as provided in the last two sections, bail may be given and justified, upon notice as hereinbefore provided, at any time before judgment; and thereupon the judge before whom justification is had shall direct in the order of allowance that the money deposited be refunded by the sheriff or clerk to the defendant, and it shall be refunded accordingly. [L. '54, p. 149, § 95; Cd. '81, § 137; 2 H. C., § 250.]

§ 771. Disposition of Bail Money After Judgment.

When money shall have been so deposited, if it remain on deposit at the time of an order or judgment for the payment of money to the plaintiff, the clerk shall, under the direction of the court, apply the same in the satisfaction thereof, and after satisfying judgment, refund the surplus, if any, to the defendant. If the judgment be in favor of the defendant, the clerk shall refund to him the whole sum deposited and remaining unapplied. [L. '54, p. 149, § 96; Cd. '81, § 138; 2 H. C., § 251.]

§ 772. Liability of Sheriff for Escape.

If, after being arrested, the defendant escapes or be rescued, the sheriff himself shall be liable as bail; but he may discharge himself from such liability by giving bail at any time before judgment. [L. '54, p. 149, § 97; Cd. '81, § 139; 2 H. C., § 252.]

§ 773. Judgment—Sheriff as Bail.

If the judgment be recovered against the sheriff upon his liability as bail, and an execution thereon be returned unsatisfied, the same proceedings may be had on the official bond of the sheriff to collect the deficiency as in other cases of delinquency. [L. '54, p. 149, § 98; Cd. '81, § 140; 2 H. C., § 253.]

§ 774. Bail Liable to Sheriff.

The bail taken on arrest shall, unless they justify, or other bail be given or justified, be liable to the sheriff, by action, for the damages which he may sustain by reason of such omission. [L. '54, p. 149, § 99; Cd. '81, § 141; 2 H. C., § 254.]

§ 775. Examination of Surety by Officer.

Every court and officer authorized to take any bail or surety shall have power to examine on oath the person offering to become such bail or surety concerning his property and sufficiency as such bail or surety. [L. '54, p. 219, § 488; Cd. '81, § 748; 2 H. C., § 799.]

§ 776. Money may be Deposited for Bail.

Any person required to give bail may deposit with the clerk the amount of money for which he is required to give bail, and thereupon be discharged from arrest. [L. '54, p. 220, § 493; Cd. '81, § 750; 2 H. C., § 801.]

§ 777. Bonds not to Fail for Want of Form.

No bond required by law, and intended as such bond, shall be void for want of form or substance, recital, or condition; nor shall the principal or surety on such account be discharged, but all the parties thereto shall be held and bound to the full extent contemplated by the law requiring the same, to the amount specified in such bond. In all actions on such defective bond, the plaintiff may state its legal effect in the same manner as though it were a perfect bond. [L. '54, p. 219, § 489; Cd. '81, § 749; 2 H. C., § 800.]

This section providing that no bond shall be void for want of form or substance, etc., has no application where the bond has no surety upon it at all: Wenatchee Orchard & Irr. Co. v. Thompson, 60 Wash. 643, 111 Pac. 874.

CHAPTER VIII.NE EXEAT.*§ 778. Affidavit for Writ.

Actions may be commenced upon any agreement in writing before the time for the performance of the contract expires, when the plaintiff or his agent shall make and file an affidavit with the clerk of the proper court that the defendant is about to leave the state without performing or making provisions for the performance of the contract, taking with him property, moneys, credits, or effects subject to execution, with intent to defraud plaintiff. [L. '54, p. 209, § 418; Cd. '81, § 636; 2 H. C., § 747.]

§ 779. Complaint—Bond—Order of Arrest.

At the time of filing the affidavit the plaintiff shall also file his complaint in the action, and thenceforth the action shall proceed as other actions at law, except as otherwise provided in this chapter. Upon such affidavit and complaint being filed, the clerk shall issue an order of arrest and bail, directed to the sheriff, which shall be issued, served, and returned in all respects as such orders in other cases; before such order shall issue, the plaintiff shall file in the office of the clerk a bond, with sufficient surety, to be approved by the clerk, conditioned that the plaintiff will pay the defendant such damages and costs as he shall wrongfully sustain by reason of the action, which sureties shall justify as bail upon an arrest. [Cf. L. '54, p. 209, § 419; Cd. '81, § 637; L. '91, p. 81, §§ 1, 2; 2 H. C., §§ 748, 749.]

§ 780. Recognizance—Commitment—Discharge.

The sheriff shall require the defendant to enter into a bond, with sufficient surety, personally to appear within the time allowed by law for answering the complaint, and to abide the order of the court; and in default thereof the defendant shall be committed to prison until discharged in due course of law; such special bail shall be liable for the principal, and shall have a right to arrest and deliver him up, as in other cases, and the defendant may give other bail. Instead of giving special bail, as above provided, the defendant shall be entitled to his discharge from custody if he will secure the performance of the contract to the satisfaction of the plaintiff. [Cf. L. '54, pp. 209, 210, §§ 420, 421; Cd. '81, §§ 638, 639; L. '91, p. 81, § 3; 2 H. C., §§ 750, 751.]

§ 781. Persons Entitled to Writ.

This proceeding may be had in favor of any surety or other person jointly bound with the defendant. It may also be prosecuted by the person in whose favor the contract exists, against any one or more of the persons bound thereby, upon filing such affidavit, when the co-contractors are nonresident or probably insolvent, or at the request of any of them when they are residents and solvent. [L. '54, p. 210, § 422; Cd. '81, § 640; 2 H. C., § 752.]

A writ of ne exeat preventing an appellant in a divorce case from leaving the state pending the appeal will not be granted, in the absence of a sufficient showing that he is about to do so, and where he has given a supersedeas bond on appeal, and much of the property involved is real estate which cannot be conveyed without consent of the wife: Holcomb v. Holcomb, 49 Wash. 498, 95 Pac. 1091.

§ 782. Habeas Corpus.

The defendant may have the same remedy by writ of habeas corpus as in other cases of arrest and bail. [L. '54, p. 210, § 423; Cd. '81, § 641; 2 H. C., § 753.]

§ 783. Before Justices.

The proceedings provided for in this chapter may be had before justices of the peace in all cases within their jurisdiction. [Cf. L. '54, p. 210, § 424; Cd. '81, § 642; L. '91, p. 82, § 4; 2 H. C., § 754.]

§ 784. Venue.

The affidavit and bond may be filed and proceedings had in any county where the defendants may be found. [L. '54, p. 210, § 425; Cd. '81, § 643; 2 H. C., § 755.]

CHAPTER I.

ACTIONS FOR POSSESSION OF AND QUIETING TITLE TO REAL PROPERTY.

§ 785. Who may Maintain Service on Nonresident Defendant.

Any person having a valid subsisting interest in real property, and a right to the possession thereof, may recover the same by action in the superior court of the proper county, to be brought against the tenant in possession; if there is no such tenant, then against the person claiming the title or some interest therein, and may have judgment in such action quieting or removing a cloud from plaintiff's title; an action to quiet title may be brought by the known heirs of any deceased person, or of any person presumed in law to be deceased, or by the successors in interest of such known heirs against the unknown heirs of such deceased person or against such person presumed to be deceased and his unknown heirs, and if it shall be made to appear in such action that the plaintiffs are heirs of the deceased person, or the person presumed in law to be deceased, or the successors in interest of such heirs, and have been in possession of the real property involved in such action for ten years preceding the time of the commencement of such action, and that during said time no person other than the plaintiff in the action or his grantors has claimed or asserted any right or title or interest in said property, the court may adjudge and decree the plaintiff or plaintiffs in such action to be the owners of such real property, free from all claims of any unknown heirs of such deceased person, or person presumed in law to be deceased; and an action to quiet title may be maintained by any person in the actual possession of real property against the unknown heirs of a person known to be dead, or against any person where it is not known whether such person is dead or not, and against the unknown heirs of such person, and if it shall thereafter transpire that such person was at the time of commencing such action dead the judgment or decree in such action shall be as binding and conclusive on the heirs of such person as though they had been known and named; and in all actions, under this section, to quiet or remove a cloud from the title to real property, if the defendant be absent or a nonresident of this state, or cannot, after due diligence, be found within the state, or conceals himself to avoid the service of summons, service may be made upon such defendant by publication of summons as provided by law; and the court may appoint a trustee for such absent or nonresident defendant, to make or cancel any deed or conveyance of whatsoever nature, or do any other act to carry into effect the judgment or the decree of the court. [L. '11, p. 383, § 1. Cf. L. '54, p. 205, § 398; L. '79, p. 134, § 1; Cd. '81, § 536; L. '90, p. 72, § 1; 2 H. C., § 529.]

Nature and Scope of Remedy in General: See Remington's Digest, Eject., §§ 1, 2; Corporation of Catholic Bishop of Nesqually v. Gibson, 1 Wash. 592, 21 Pac. 315; Smith v. Wingard, 3 W. T. 291, 13 Pac. 717; Northern Pac. R. Co. v. Miller, 20 Wash. 21, 54 Pac. 603; Jeffries v. Spencer, 86 Wash. 133, 149 Pac. 651.

Under this section, an action will lie to recover possession of realty and at the same time remove a cloud upon its title: Reichenbach v. Washington etc. R. Co., 10 Wash. 357, 38 Pac. 1126; Krutz v. Isaacs, 25 Wash. 566, 66 Pac. 141; Povah v. Lee, 29 Wash. 108, 69 Pac. 639.

Questions Which may be Tried: See Remington's Digest, Eject., § 3; Ward v. Huggins, 7 Wash. 617, 32 Pac. 740, 1015, 36 Pac. 285.

Under this section, the court is to determine the title and grant relief according to the equities of the case; and defendants in possession, claiming that plaintiff's execution sale was void on the ground that the judgment had been paid, need not first substitute a direct proceeding to cancel the judgment before answering the complaint: McLiesh v. Ball, 58 Wash. 690, 109 Pac. 209, 137 Am. St. Rep. 1087.

Property Which may be Subject of Action: See Remington's Digest, Eject., § 4; Scurry v. Jones, 4 Wash. 468, 30 Pac. 726; Slaght v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 39 Wash. 576, 81 Pac. 1062; Owen v. St. Paul & M. R. Co., 12 Wash. 313, 41 Pac. 44.

Under this section, an action to quiet title may be maintained to remove the cloud of a judgment lien against community property, although the judgment was against the husband for tort and not enforceable against the property. Wilson v. Stone, 90 Wash. 365, 156 Pac. 12.

Under this section, the action may be maintained by any or all of the tenants in common: Hannegan v. Roth, 12 Wash. 695, 44 Pac. 256.

Grounds of Action in General: See Remington's Digest, Eject., § 5; Mills v. Seattle & M. R. Co., 10 Wash. 520, 39 Pac. 246.

A lessee under a valid lease with the right to take possession has a valid subsisting interest in lands, within the meaning of this section, authorizing an action to recover possession from the tenant in possession; and may maintain the action before entry: Blanc's Cafe v. Corey, 110 Wash. 242, 188 Pac. 759.

Persons by and Against Whom Action may be Brought: See Remington's Digest, Eject., § 19; Ward v. Moorey, 1 W. T. 104; Mabie v. Whittaker, 10 Wash. 656, 39 Pac. 172; Brundage v. Home Sav. Assn., 11 Wash. 227, 39 Pac. 666.

An innocent purchaser for value, from the party holding the record title, may maintain an action to quiet his title as against an execution sale, under this section: White v. McSorley, 47 Wash. 18, 91 Pac. 243.

Ejectment may be maintained by the lessee of lands against the landlord who is in possession by its tenants to whom leases had also been made: Blanc's Cafe v. Corey, 110 Wash. 242, 188 Pac. 759.

Casual Ejector or Tenant in Possession: Raymond v. Morrison, 9 Wash. 156, 37 Pac. 318; Snyder v. Harding, 34 Wash. 286, 75 Pac. 812.

POSSESSION: See Remington's Digest, Eject., §§ 9-2-12.

Prior Possession of Plaintiff: Bryant Lumber & Shingle Mill Co. v. Pacific Iron & Steel Works, 48 Wash. 574, 94 Pac. 110.

Right of Plaintiff to Possession: Dunn v. Peterson, 4 Wash. 170, 29 Pac. 998; Port Townsend v. Lewis, 34 Wash. 413, 75 Pac. 982.

Where the beneficial owner of property, standing in the name of another did not record his deed and kept his interest concealed, his possession was not open and notorious within the meaning of this section: Daniel v. Daniel, 106 Wash. 659, 181 Pac. 215.

Possession of Defendant: Smith v. Wingard, 3 W. T. 291, 13 Pac. 717.

Demand or Notice to Quit: Lewiston Water etc. Co. v. Brown, 42 Wash. 555, 85 Pac. 47.

§ 786. Limitation for Bringing Actions, Seven Years.

All actions brought for the recovery of any lands, tenements or hereditaments of which any person may be possessed by actual, open and notorious possession for seven successive years, having a connected title in law or equity deducible of record from this state or the United States, or from any public officer, or other person authorized by the laws of this state to sell such land for the nonpayment of taxes, or from any sheriff, marshal or other person authorized to sell such land on execution or under any order, judgment or decree of any court of record, shall be brought within seven years next after possession being taken as aforesaid, but when the possessor shall acquire title after taking such possession, the limitation shall begin to run from the time of acquiring title. TIME TO SUE AND PARTIES—Time to Sue: See Remington's Digest, Eject., § 20; Scott v. McNeal, 5 Wash. 309, 31 Pac. 873, 34 Am. St. Rep. 863 (overruled in Id., 154 U. S. 34, 38 L. Ed. 896, 14 Sup. Ct. Rep. 1108); Hoffmeister v. Renton Coal Co., 40 Wash. 48, 82 Pac. 127.

Under this section, the statute of limitations would not begin to run against plaintiff until his actual ouster and the taking possession of the premises by defendants, where possession was not taken until some time subsequent to the sheriff's sale: Krutz v. Isaacs, 25 Wash. 566, 66 Pac. 141.

Where an action is brought under sections 785, 786, both for possession and the quieting of title, the limitation upon such actions of seven years specially provided therein governs: Krutz v. Isaacs, 25 Wash. 566, 66 Pac. 141.

This section operates to bar an action by minors to recover an interest in property sold under mortgage foreclosure execution, although the minors were necessary parties to the foreclosure and were not joined in the foreclosure which did not affect their interests and the purchaser was only their tenant in common, where the purchaser understood he was buying the entire property and maintained adverse possession for seven years for his own exclusive benefit: Schlarb v. Castaing, 50 Wash. 331, 97 Pac. 289.

Where neither of two adjoining land owners intends to claim beyond the true boundary line set out in their deeds, possession by mistake to an erroneous line does not work a disseisin as against the other under the seven-year statute: Snell v. Stelling, 83 Wash. 248, 145 Pac. 466.

Necessity that defendant plead statute of limitations in action of ejectment. 21 Ann. Cas. 1244.

§ 787. Rights of Heirs, etc.

The heirs, devisees and assigns of the person having such title and possession shall have the same benefit of the preceding section as the person from whom the possession is derived. [L. '93, p. 20, § 2.]

§ 788. Legal Owner, Defined.

Every person in actual, open and notorious possession of lands, or tenements under claim and color of title, made in good faith, and who shall for seven successive years continue in possession and shall also during said time pay all taxes legally assessed on such lands or tenements.

shall be held and adjudged to be the legal owner of said lands or tenements, to the extent and according to the purport of his or her paper title. All persons holding under such possession, by purchase, devise or descent, before said seven years shall have expired, and who shall continue such possession and continue to pay the taxes as aforesaid, so as to complete the possession and payment of taxes for the term aforesaid, shall be entitled to the benefit of this section. [L. '93, p. 20, § 3.]

An irregular or void guardian's deed in partition proceedings constitutes color of title, within the meaning of this section, where land is held under color of title and payment of taxes: Hamilton v. Witner, 50 Wash. 689, 97 Pac. 1084, 126 Am. St. Rep. 921.

A deed of tide lands from the state constitutes "claim and color of title," within this section: Grays Harbor Com. Co. v. McCullough, 113 Wash. 203, 193 Pac. 709.

Where there has been double taxation, by payments of the true owner and the adverse claimant, the latter is not within this section: Grays Harbor Commercial Co. v. McCullough, 113 Wash. 203, 193 Pac. 709.

Color of Title and Good Faith: See Remington's Digest, Adv. Poss., § 34; Hesser v. Siepmann, 35 Wash. 14, 76 Pac. 295; Biggart v. Evans, 36 Wash. 212, 78 Pac. 925; Brodack v. § 789. Vacant and Unoccupied Lands.

Every person having color of title made in good faith to vacant and unoccupied land, who shall pay all taxes legally assessed thereon for seven successive years, he or she shall be deemed and adjudged to be the legal owner of said vacant and unoccupied land to the extent and according to the purport of his or her paper title. All persons holding under such taxpayer, by purchase, devise or descent, before said seven years shall have expired, and who shall continue to pay the taxes as aforesaid, so as to complete the payment of said taxes for the term aforesaid, shall be entitled to the benefit of this section: Provided, however, if any person having a better paper title to said vacant and unoccupied land shall, during the said term of seven years, pay the taxes as assessed on said land for any one or more years of said term of seven years, then and in that case such taxpayer, his heirs or assigns, shall not be entitled to the benefit of this section. [L. '93, p. 21, § 4.]

The payment of taxes for seven years under color and claim of title in good faith, within this section, cannot be asserted, as against remaindermen, under a deed from the life tenant purporting to convey the fee, as the claim cannot be asserted in good faith, and it being the duty of a life tenant to pay taxes, he cannot assert title against remaindermen:

McDowell v. Beckham, 72 Wash. 224, 130 Pac. 350.

§ 790. Public Lands and Adverse Title in Infants, etc.—Except.

The two preceding sections shall not extend to lands or tenements owned by the United States or this state, nor to school lands, nor to lands held for any public purpose. Nor shall they extend to lands or tenements when there shall be an adverse title to such lands or tenements, and the holder of such adverse title is an infant or person under legal age, or insane: Provided, such persons as aforesaid shall commence an action to recover such lands or tenements so possessed as aforesaid, within three years after the several disabilities herein enumerated shall cease to exist, and shall prosecute such action to judgment, or in case of vacant and unoccupied land shall, within the time last aforesaid, pay to the person or persons who have paid the same for his or her betterments, and the taxes, with interest on said taxes at the legal rate per annum that have been paid on said vacant and unimproved land. [L. '93, p. 21, § 5.]

Adverse possession of the bed or shores of a navigable lake below the line of high water does not run against the state, in view of the fact that, after the state's constitutional assertion of title thereto, the legislature passed laws uniformly recognizing the rights of the many persons in possession of such shore lands at the time of the adoption of the constitution, giving them the preference right to purchase the same when the land shall be put on the market, or requiring the purchaser to pay for the value of the improvement thereon; since the possession thereby became permissive: Brace & Hergert Mill Co. v. State, 49 Wash. 326, 95 Pac. 278.

The legislature has power to provide that statutes of limitations shall run against minors, and such was the intent of section 786, supra, providing a seven year limitation for lands held under judicial sale; since by this section infants are not excepted from its operation: Schlarb v. Castaing, 50 Wash. 331, 97 Pac. 289.

Ejectment pending final determination between conflicting claimants of public land. 12 Ann. Cas. 33.

§ 791. Construction.

The provisions of sections 786, 787, 788, 789 and 790 shall be liberally construed for the purposes set forth therein. [L. '93, p. 21, § 6.]

§ 792. Substitution of Landlord in Action Against Tenant.

A defendant who is in actual possession may, for answer, plead that he is in possession only as a tenant of another, naming him and his place of residence, and thereupon the landlord, if he apply therefor, shall be made defendant in place of the tenant, and the action shall proceed in all respects as if originally commenced against him. If the landlord do not apply to be made defendant within the time the tenant is allowed to answer, thereafter he shall not be allowed to, but he shall be made defendant if the plaintiff require it. If the landlord be made defendant on motion of the plaintiff, he shall be required to appear and answer within ten days from notice of the pendency of the action and the order making him defendant, or such further notice as the court, or judge thereof, may prescribe. [L. '69, p. 128, § 489; Cd. '81, § 537; 2 H. C., § 530.]

This section provides how a landlord may be brought into the action; it is the only one we have which changes the common-law rule requiring only defendant in possession to be made defendant: Raymond v. Morrison, 9 Wash. 156, 37 Pac. 318.

In ejectment a plaintiff suing the owner's agent in possession cannot complain because the agent did not have his rights protected by substituting the owner as party defendant, since plaintiff, under this section, had the right to make the owner a party defendant: O'Brien v. McKelvey, 59 Wash. 115, 109 Pac. 337.

§ 793. Pleadings—Superior Title Prevails.

The plaintiff in such action shall set forth in his complaint the nature of his estate, claim, or title to the property, and the defendant may set up a legal or equitable defense to plaintiff's claims; and the superior title whether legal or equitable, shall prevail. The property shall be described with such certainty as to enable the possession thereof to be delivered if a recovery be had. [Cf. L. '69, p. 128, § 490; L. '79, p. 134, § 2; Cd. '81, § 538; 2 H. § 794. Defendant must Plead Title—Judgment Against Landlord.

The defendant shall not be allowed to give in evidence any estate in himself or another in the property, or any license or right to the possession thereof, unless the same be pleaded in his answer. If so pleaded, the nature and duration of such estate or license or right to the possession shall be set forth with the certainty and particularity required in a complaint. If the defendant does not defend for the whole of the property, he shall specify for what particular part he does defend. In an action against a tenant, the judgment shall be conclusive against a landlord who has been made defendant in place of the tenant, to the same extent as if the action had been originally commenced against him. [L. '69, p. 129. § 491; Cd. '81, § 539; 2 H. C., § 532.]

ANSWER: See Remington's Digest, Eject., §§ 27, 28. Want of title: Hays v. Parker, 2 W. T. 198, 3 Pac. 901; George v. Columbia R. Co., 38 Wash. 480, 80 Pac. 767. Denials and effect thereof: Parker v. Dacres, 1 Wash. 190, 24 Pac. 192; Allen v. Higgins, 9 Wash. 446, 37 Pac. 671, 43 Am. St. Rep. 847.

A general denial will raise no issue, and where plaintiff pleads and proves any legal right to the premises, he thereby establishes a prima facie case against defendant: Allen v. Higgins, 9 Wash. 446, 37 Pac. 671, 43 Am. St. Rep. 847.

The offer in evidence at the trial of a deed not pleaded, nor recorded when the suit was commenced, comes too late, and the court may refuse to allow an amendment; and judgment quieting title has the effect to vacate the deed recorded after action brought: Garvey v. Garvey, 52 Wash. 516, 101 Pac. 45.

The fact that defendants in a suit to quiet title by one out of possession plead their own title as required by this section would not constitute a waiver of their right to object that plaintiff had mistaken her remedy, when they do not ask for any affirmative relief in their answer: Povah v. Lee, 29 Wash. 108, 69 Pac. 639.

Upon appeal, defendants who appeared and filed an answer amounting to a disclaimer asking no costs or relief, and setting up no title or interest as required by this section, are not necessary parties to the appeal upon whom notice of appeal need be served, where they ceased to have any interest in the controversy: Soderberg v. McRae, 67 Wash. 104, 120 Pac. 878.

The jury by their verdict shall find as follows:—

1. If the verdict be for the plaintiff, that he is entitled to the possession of the property described in the complaint, or some part thereof, or some undivided share or interest in either, and the nature and duration of his estate in such property, part thereof, or undivided share or interest in either, as the case may be;

2. If the verdict be for the defendant, that the plaintiff is not entitled to the possession of the property described in the complaint, or to such part thereof as the defendant defends for, and the estate in such property, or part thereof, or license, or right to the possession of either, established on the trial by the defendant, if any, in effect as the same is required to be pleaded. § 796. Damages—Limitation—Use of Improvements.

The plaintiff shall only be entitled to recover damages for withholding the property for the term of six years next preceding the commencement of the action, and for any period that may elapse from such commencement to the time of giving a verdict therein, exclusive of the use of permanent improvements made by the defendant. Under this section the value of improvements can only be set off against damages: Ball v. Clothier, 34 Wash. 299, 75 Pac. 1099.

The rule in ejectment, under this section, limiting the recovery for improvements to the value of the rents and profits accruing during such occupancy, does not apply to actions for partition: Leake v. Hayes, 13 Wash. 213, 43 Pac. 48, 52 Am. St. Rep. 34.

Costs: See Remington's Digest, Eject., § 46; Hays v. Parker, 2 W. T. 198, 3 Pac. 901; Mason v. McLean, 6 Wash. 31, 32 Pac. 1006; Wilcox v. Smith, 38 Wash. 585, 80 Pac. 803.

In an action for the recovery of real property upon which permanent improvements have been made or general or special taxes or local assessments have been paid by a defendant, or those under whom he claims, holding in good faith under color or claim of title adversely to the claim of plaintiff, the value of such improvements and the amount of such taxes or assessments with interest thereon from date of payment must be allowed as a counterclaim to the defendant. This section has no retrospective effect: Investment Co. v. Hambach, 37 Wash. 628, 80 Pac. 190; Barton v. Wickizer, 41 Wash. 293, 83 Pac. 312.

Bona fide purchasers who take possession of vacant and unoccupied land in good faith, are entitled to recover the value of improvements if the same were made after the enactment of this section, and not for improvements made prior thereto. Monk v. Duell, 41 Wash. 403, 83 Pac. 313; Gould v. White, 54 Wash. 394, 103 Pac. 460; Flueck v. Pedigo, 55 Wash. 646, 104 Pac. 1119.

Under this section, there can be no lien for improvements placed on property by permission of the owner for the benefit of defendant occupying by sufferance without any claim of right: Wallace v. Wallace, 112 Wash. 14, 191 Pac. 793.

gins, 16 Wash. 530, 48 Pac. 240; Merritt v. Corey, 22 Wash. 444, 61 Pac. 171.

The interest of a son in his mother's half of the community land cannot be charged with improvements placed thereon by the surviving husband, either at common law or under this section: Mason's Estate, In re, 95 Wash. 564, 164 Pac. 205.

Findings and Judgment as to Improvements or Taxes: See Remington's Digest, Eject., § 51; Palmer v. Abrahams, 55 Wash. 352, 104 Pac. 648.

The judgment is bad in form where it permits the plaintiffs to remain in possession until their lien for improvements is paid; and the judgment must establish the rights of the parties in conformity with this section: Palmer v. Abrahams, 55 Wash. 352, 104 Pac. 648.

§ 798. Pleading, Issue and Trial on Counterclaim.

The counterclaim shall set forth the value of the land apart from the improvements, and the nature and value of the improvements apart from the land and the amount of said taxes and assessment so paid, and the date of payment. Issues shall be joined and tried as in other actions, and the value of the land and the amount of said taxes and assessments apart from the improvements, and the value of the improvements apart from the land must be specifically found by the verdict of the jury, report of the referee, or findings of the court as the case may be. [L. '03, p. 262, § 2.]

§ 799. Judgment on Counterclaim—Payment.

If the judgment be in favor of the plaintiff for the recovery of the realty, and of the defendant upon the counterclaim, the plaintiff shall be entitled to recover such damages as he may be found to have suffered through the withholding of the premises and waste committed thereupon by the defendant or those under whom he claims, but against this recovery shall be offset pro tanto the value of the permanent improvements and the amount of said taxes and assessments with interest found as above provided. Should the value of improvements or taxes or assessments with interest exceed the recovery for damages, the plaintiff shall, within two months, pay to the defendant the difference between the two sums and upon proof, after notice, to the defendant, that this has been done, the court shall make an order declaring that fact, and that title to the improvements is vested in him. Should the plaintiff fail to make such payment, the defendant may at any time within two months after the time limited for such payment to be made, pay to the plaintiff the value of the land apart from the improvements, and the amount of the damages awarded against him, and he thereupon shall be vested with title to the land, and, after notice to the plaintiff, the court shall make an order reciting the fact and adjudging title to be in him. Should neither party make the payment above provided, within the specified time, they shall be deemed to be tenants in common of the premises, including the improvements, each holding an interest proportionate to the value of his property determined in the manner specified in section 798; Provided, that the interest of the owner of the improvements shall be the difference between the value of the improvements and the amount of damages recovered against him by the plaintiff. § 800. Verdict After Right of Possession has Expired.

If the right of the plaintiff to the possession of the property expire after the commencement of the action, and before the trial, the verdict shall be given according to the fact, and judgment shall be given only for the damages. [L. '69, p. 130, § 494; Cd. '81, § 542; 2 H. C., § 535.]

§ 801. Order for Survey.

The court, or judge thereof, on motion, and after notice to the adverse party, may, for cause shown, grant an order allowing the party applying therefor to enter upon the property in controversy and make survey and admeasurement thereof for the purposes of the action. [L. '69, p. 130, § 495; Cd. '81, § 543; 2 H. C., § 536.]

§ 802. Contents, Service and Effect of Order.

The order shall describe the property, and a copy thereof shall be served upon the defendant, and thereupon the party may enter upon the property and make such survey and admeasurement; but if any unnecessary injury be done to the premises, he shall be liable therefor. [L. '69, p. 130, § 496; Cd. '81, p. 544; 2 H. C., § 537.]

§ 803. Alienation Pendente Lite.

An action for the recovery of the possession of real property against a person in possession cannot be prejudiced by any alienation made by such person either before or after the commencement of the action; but if such alienation be made after the commencement of the action, and the defendant do not satisfy the judgment recovered for damages for withholding the possession, such damages may be recovered by action against the purchaser. [L. '69, p. 130, § 497; Cd. '81, § 545; 2 H. C., § 538.]

Cited in 41 Wash. 613; 60 Wash. 481.

Notice of the pendency of an action to recover the possession of real estate is not necessary under sections 803 and 806, which are not superseded or controlled by the general statute, section 243, providing for the filing of notice of lis pendens in certain forms of action: May v. Sutherlin, 41 Wash. 609, 84 Pac. 585.

§ 804. Mortgagee cannot Maintain Ejectment.

A mortgage of real property shall not be deemed a conveyance so as to enable the owner of the mortgage to recover possession of the real property, without a foreclosure and sale according to law. [L. '69, p. 130, § 498; Cd. '81, § 546; 2 H. C., § 539.]

See infra, § 1116 et seq., foreclosure of mortgages.

§ 805. Actions Between Cotenants.

In an action by a tenant in common or a joint tenant of real property against his cotenant, the plaintiff must show, in addition to his evidence of right, that the defendant either denied the plaintiff's right or did some act amounting to such denial. [L. '69, p. 130, § 499; Cd. '81, § 547, 2 H. C., § 504.]

Between Cotenants: See Remington's Digest, Ten. in C., § 15; Lawrence v. Beltingham Bay etc. R. Co., 4 Wash. 664, 30 Pac. 1099; Raymond v. Morrison, 9

§ 806. Judgment, Conclusiveness of.

In an action to recover possession of real property, the judgment rendered therein shall be conclusive as to the estate in such property and the right of possession thereof, so far as the same is thereby determined, upon all persons claiming by, through, or under the party against whom the judgment is rendered, by title or interest passing after the commencement of the action, if the party in whose favor the judgment is rendered shall have filed a notice of the pendency of the action as required by section 243, supra. When service of the notice is made by publication, and judgment is given for failure to answer, at any time within two years from the entry thereof, the defendant or his successor in interest as to the whole or any part of the property, shall, upon application to the court or judge thereof, be entitled to an order, vacating the judgment and granting him a new trial, upon the payment of the costs of the action. [L. '09, p. 55, § 1. Cf. L. '69, p. 131, § 501; Cd. '81, § 549; 2 H. C., § 541.]

See note to § 803.

This section, giving an absolute right to vacate a judgment had upon the publication of summons in an action to recover the possession of land, has no application to a judgment in an action to set aside conveyances for fraud and subject land to the lien of judgments: Jordan v. Hutchinson, 39 Wash. 373, 81 Pac. 867.

An action to have a lost corner established by survey is not an action for the recovery of real property, within the meaning of this section: Strunz v. Hood, 44 Wash. 99, 87 Pac. 45.

§ 807. Possession not Affected by Vacating Judgment.

If the plaintiff has taken possession of the property before the judgment is set aside and a new trial granted, as provided in the preceding section, such possession shall not be thereby affected in any way; and if judgment be given for defendant in the new trial, he shall be entitled to restitution by execution in the same manner as if he were plaintiff. [L. '69, p. 131, § 502; Cd. '81, § 550; 2 H. C., § 542.]

§ 808. Conflicting Claimants Under Donation Law.

In an action at law for the recovery of the possession of real property, if either party claim the property as a donee of the United States, and under the act of congress approved September twenty-seventh, eighteen hundred and fifty, commonly called the donation law, or the acts amendatory thereof, such party, from the date of his settlement thereon, as provided in said act, shall be deemed to have a legal estate in fee in such property, to continue upon condition that he perform the conditions required by such acts, which estate is unconditional and indefeasible after the performance of such conditions. In such action, if both plaintiff and defendant claim title to the same real property, by virtue of settlement, under such acts, such settlement and performance of the subsequent condition shall be prima facie presumed in favor of the party having or claiming under the elder certificate or patent, as the case may be, unless it appears upon the face of such certificate or patent that the same is absolutely void. [Cf. L. '69, p. 132, § 504; L. '77, p. 116, § 556; Cd. '81, § 551; 2 H. C., § 543.]

Cited in 10 Wash. 360; 25 Wash. 358.

Possession of donation claim under what purports to be a quitclaim deed, but executed before the expiration of necessary four years' residence required by the act, is possession under a contract prohibited by law, and gives no color of title: Bullene v. Garrison, 1 W. T. 587.

When selection, residence upon, and cultivation of land under the donation law are completed, the transaction is closed; nothing remains except for donee to furnish proof of these acts, and for government to furnish proof of title; these acts complied with, affect the transfer of title, and not the patent; the latter only evidences title and relates back to the acts: Brazee v. Schofield, 2 W. T. 209, 3 Pac. 265.

Title to land under donation law was acquired by compliance with the requirements of the act on the part of claimant; and the residence upon and cultivation of claim under that act by a man after having been legally divorced was that of a single man only; the divorced wife can make no claim for one-half: Maynard v. Hill, 2 W. T. 321, 5 Pac. 717; reaffirming Maynard v. Valentine, 2 W. T. 3, 3 Pac. 195; Bullene v. Garrison, 1 W. T. 587.

§ 809. Conflicting Claims to Real Property Generally.

Any person in possession, by himself or his tenant, of real property, and any private or municipal corporation in possession, by itself or its tenant, of any real property, or when such real property is not in the actual possession of anyone, any person, or private or municipal corporation, claiming title to any real property under a patent from the United States, or during his or its claim of title to such real property under a patent from the United States for such real estate, may maintain a civil action against any person or persons, corporations or associations, claiming an interest in said real property, or any part thereof, or any right thereto, adverse to him, them, or it, for the purpose of determining such claim, estate, or interest; and where several persons, or private or municipal corporations, are in possession of, or claim as aforesaid, separate parcels of real property, and an adverse interest is claimed, or claim made in or to any such parcels, by any other person, persons, corporations, or associations, arising out of a question, conveyance, statute, grant, or other matter common to all such parcels of real estate, all or any portion of such persons or corporations so in possession or claiming such parcel of real property may unite as plaintiffs in such suit to determine such adverse claim or interest against all persons, corporations, or associations claiming such adverse interest. [L. '77, p. 116, § 556; Cd. '81, § 551; 2 H. C., § 544.]

This section is for the most part superseded by § 785, supra.

Actions to Quiet Title—Under this section and section 785, supra, generally: See Remington's Digest, Quiet. T., and cases cited, and notes under § 785 et seq.

TITLE TO SUSTAIN ACTION: Under this section, an action lies to quiet title against a mortgage given by a stranger to the title: Pacific Coast Pipe Co. v. Hedican, 61 Wash. 576, 112 Pac. 655, Ann. Cas. 1912C, 833.

Under this section a suit to remove the cloud caused by the filing of a lis pendens notice in an action between other parties may be maintained by the owner, without awaiting the result of the action to which he is a stranger: King v. Branchaid, 32 Wash. 634, 73 Pac. 668.

Hostile assertion of title to a parcel of land, formerly an alley, which had been vacated by the former owner of abutting lots, constitutes a cloud on the title which may be quieted under this section: Norton v. Gross, 52 Wash. 341, 100 Pac. 734.

Any person in possession of land, although not the owner of the fee, may maintain an action for the purpose of quieting his title thereto, so as to avoid any uncertainty in his holding, under this section: Bird v. Winyer, 24 Wash. 269, 64 Pac. 178.

Under this section, a decree to quiet title may be had where the defendant filed for record an invalid notice, claiming a contract for purchase, although the claim did not constitute a cloud within equitable principles: McGuinness v. Hargiss, 56 Wash. 162, 105 Pac. 233, 21 Ann. Cas. 220.

An action to quiet title lies under Bal. Code, § 5521, for the removal of a street assessment as a cloud upon the title, where the assessment is barred by the statute of limitations and the city claims the right to enforce the same: Kinsman v. Spokane, 20 Wash. 118, 54 Pac. 934, 72 Am. St. Rep. 24.

Sufficiency of Possession: Bigelow v. Brewer, 29 Wash. 670, 70 Pac. 129.

Under the general rule at common law, one must be in the possession of premises to invoke the aid of equity to determine his estate, and this section is but a reaffirmance of such rule: Shelton Logging Co. v. Gosser, 26 Wash. 126, 66 Pac. 151.

An equitable action to try title or remove clouds from title can be maintained under this section, where the property is not in the actual possession of anyone: Rohrer v. Snyder, 29 Wash. 199, 69 Pac. 748.

Sufficiency of Complaint Under This Section: Watson v. Glover, 21 Wash. 677, 59 Pac. 516; Kalb v. German Savings & Loan Soc., 25 Wash. 249, 65 Pac. 559, 87 Am. St. Rep. 757.

CHAPTER II.

FORCIBLE ENTRY AND DETAINER.

§ 810. Forcible Entry, Defined.

Every person is guilty of a forcible entry who either,—

1. By breaking open windows, doors, or other parts of a house, or by fraud, intimidation, or stealth, or by any kind of violence or circumstance of terror, enters upon or into any real property; or

2. Who, after entering peaceably upon real property, turns out by force, threats, or menacing conduct the party in actual possession. [Cf. L. '90, p. 73, § 1; L. '91, p. 179, § 1; 2 H. C., § 547.]

The general forcible entry and detainer act applies in many cases where ejectment was the remedy under former laws: Columbia & Puget Sound R. Co. v. Moss, 44 Wash. 589, 87 Pac. 951.

Under this section, there was no eviction to sustain an action of forcible entry and detainer against a vendee from a landlord who went into possession at a time when the premises were vacant and unoccupied, without knowledge that the landlord had unlawfully evicted plaintiff under a void writ of restitution, the plaintiff never having demanded possession of such vendee: Huston v. Big Bend Land Co., 106 Wash. 130, 179 Pac. 101.

§ 811. Forcible Detainer, Defined.

Every person is guilty of a forcible detainer who either,—

1. By force, or by menaces and threats of violence, unlawfully holds and keeps the possession of real property, whether the same was acquired peaceably or otherwise; or

2. Who in the night-time, or during the absence of the occupant of any real property [unlawfully] enters thereon, and who, after demand made for the surrender thereof, refuses for the period of three days to surrender the same to such former occupant. The occupant of real property within the meaning of this subdivision is one who, for the five days next preceding such unlawful entry, was in the peaceable and undisturbed possession of such real property. [Cf. L. '90, p. 73, § 2; L. '91, p. 179, § 2; 2 H. C., § 548.]

Under this section, subdivision 2, a landlord cannot maintain the action against one who wrongfully enters upon lands occupied by a tenant, although the tenant refuses to prosecute and surrenders up his lease to the landlord: Chezum v. Campbell, 42 Wash. 560, 85 Pac. 48, 7 Ann. Cas. 921.

Under this section, a complaint in forcible entry and detainer is sufficient when it states that, while plaintiff was in actual possession of the premises, the defendants broke open the inclosures during plaintiff's absence, and by force and violence continue to occupy and refuse to surrender the same: Gore v. Altice, 33 Wash. 335, 74 Pac. 556.

Under this section, one who enters upon unoccupied lands is not guilty of forcible detainer in the absence of any demand for possession: Huston v. Big Bend Land Co., 106 Wash. 130, 179 Pac. 101.

§ 812. Unlawful Detainer, Defined.

A tenant of real property for a term less than life is guilty of unlawful detainer either,—

(1) When he holds over or continues in possession, in person or by subtenant, of the property or any part thereof after the expiration of the term for which it is let to him. In all cases where real property is leased for a specified term or period by express or implied contract, whether written or by parol, the tenancy shall be terminated without notice at the expiration of such specified term or period; or

(2) When he having leased property for an indefinite time, with monthly or other periodic rent reserved continues in possession thereof, in person or by subtenant, after the end of any such month or period, in cases where the landlord, more than twenty days prior to the end of such month or period, shall have served notice (in manner in this act provided), requiring him to quit the premises at the expiration of such month or period.

(3) When he continues in possession in person or by subtenant after a default in the payment of any rent, and after notice in writing requiring in the alternative the payment of the rent or the surrender of the detained premises, served (in manner hereafter in this act provided) in behalf of the person entitled to the rent upon the person owning the same, shall have remained uncomplied with for the period of three days after service thereof. Such notice may be served at any time after the rent becomes due; or

(4) When he continues in possession in person or by subtenant after a neglect or failure to keep or perform any other condition or covenant of the lease or agreement under which the property is held, including any covenant not to assign or sublet, than one for the payment of rent, and after notice in writing requiring . . . in the alternative the performance of such condition or covenant or the surrender of the property, served

(in the manner provided in this act) upon him, and if there be a subtenant in actual possession of the premises, also upon such subtenant, shall remain uncomplished with for ten days after service thereof. Within ten days after the service of such notice the tenant, or any subtenant in actual occupation of the premises, or any mortgagee of the term, or other person interested in its continuance, may perform such condition or covenant and thereby save the lease from such forfeiture; or

(5) When he commits or permits waste upon the demised premises, or when he sets up or carries on therein or thereon any unlawful business, or when he erects, suffers, permits or maintains on or about said premises any nuisance, and remains in possession after service (in manner in this act provided) of three days' notice to quit upon him.

(6) Any person who shall, without the permission of the owner and without having any color of title thereto, enter upon the land of another and who shall fail or refuse to remove therefrom after three days' notice, in writing, to be served in the manner provided in this act. [L. '05, p. 173, § 1. Cf. L. '91, p. 180, § 3; 2 H. C., § 549; see L. '90, p. 73, § 3.]

This section was only a change of remedies, affecting no vested right and was not a re-enactment of the forcible entry and detainer act of 1891: Columbia & Puget Sound R. Co. v. Moss, 44 Wash. 589, 87 Pac. 951.

The summary action of unlawful detainer for the recovery of the possession of leased premises cannot be maintained unless the conventional relation of landlord and tenant exists between the parties: Meyer v. Beyer, 43 Wash. 368, 86 Pac. 661.

The conventional relation of landlord and tenant to sustain an action of unlawful detainer may be created by implication, and arises where defendant entered without the knowledge of plaintiff, who immediately gave notice to quit or pay rent; especially in view of section 10621, infra, providing that a person obtaining possession without the owner's consent shall be deemed a tenant by sufferance and liable for reasonable rent: Williamson v. Hallett, 108 Wash. 176, 182 Pac. 940.

Plaintiff was entitled to prosecute an action of unlawful detainer where on denial of the relation of landlord and tenant, the court found, on conflicting evidence, that defendant was in possession as plaintiff's tenant: Davis v. Pendrass, 107 Wash. 279, 181 Pac. 682.

§ 813. Tenancy upon Agricultural Lands—Effect of Holding Over.

In all cases of tenancy upon agricultural lands, where the tenant has held over and retained possession for more than sixty days after the expiration of his term, without any demand or notice to quit by his landlord or the successor in estate of his landlord, if any there be, he shall be deemed to be holding by permission of his landlord or the successor in estate of his landlord, if any there be, and shall be entitled to hold under the terms of the lease for another full year, and shall not be guilty of an unlawful detainer during said year, and such holding over for the period aforesaid shall be taken and construed as a consent on the part of a tenant to hold for another year. [Cf. L. '90, p. 74, § 3; L. '91, p. 181, § 4; 2 H. C., § 550.]

Cited in 29 Wash. 266; 38 Wash. 672; 51 Wash. 433; 98 Wash. 606; 101 Wash. 569, 570.

Where a tenant has continued in possession of agricultural lands for more than sixty days after the expiration of the term for which the premises were let to him, he is entitled, under this section to hold for another year, when he will again be guilty of unlawful detainer for a period of sixty days succeeding the end of that hold-over year, but any notice prior to the end of his term is sufficient to authorize the bringing of the action of unlawful detainer: Mounts v. Goranson, 29 Wash. 261, 69 Pac. 740.

Under this section, any oral notice of termination of the lease and demand of possession at the expiration of the specified term is sufficient to prevent the tenant from acquiring rights by holding over, and to authorize an action of unlawful de-tainer: Smeltzer v. Webb, 101 Wash. 568, 172 Pac. 750.

Under this section, a holding over of agricultural lands for more than sixty days after expiration of any annual rent period continues the tenancy for another crop year or rent period; but an oral lease may be terminated by notice given at the prescribed time before the end of the period: Spreitzer v. Miller, 98 Wash. 601, 168 Pac. 179.

§ 814. Service of Notice.

Any notice provided for in this act shall be served either (1) by delivering a copy personally to the person entitled thereto; or (2) if he be absent from the premises unlawfully held, by leaving there a copy, with some person of suitable age and discretion, and sending a copy through the mail addressed to the person entitled thereto at his place of residence; or (3) if the person to be notified be a tenant, or an unlawful holder of premises, and his place of residence is not known, or if a person of suitable age and discretion there cannot be found then by affixing a copy of the notice in a conspicuous place on the premises unlawfully held, and also delivering a copy to a person there residing, if such a person can be found, and also sending a copy through the mail addressed to the tenant, or unlawful occupant, at the place where the premises unlawfully held are situated. Service upon a subtenant may be made in the same manner: Provided, that in cases where the tenant or unlawful occupant, shall be conducting a hotel, inn, lodging-house, boarding-house, or shall be renting rooms while still retaining control of the premises as a whole, that the guests, lodgers, boarders or persons renting such rooms shall not be considered as subtenants within the meaning of this act, but all such persons may be served by affixing a copy of the notice to be served in two conspicuous places upon the premises unlawfully held; and such persons shall not be necessary parties defendant in an action to recover possession of said premises. Service of any notice provided for in this act may be had upon a corporation by delivering a copy thereof to any officer, agent or persons having charge of the business of such corporation, at the premises unlawfully held, and in case no such officer, agent or person can be found upon such premises, then service may be had by affixing a copy of such notice in a conspicuous place upon said premises and by sending a copy through the mail addressed to such corporation at the place where said premises are situated. Proof of any service under this section may be made by the affidavit of the person making the same in like manner and with like effect as the proof of service of summons in civil actions. When a copy of notice is sent through the mail, as provided in this section, service shall be deemed complete when such copy is deposited in the United States mail in the county in which the property is situated properly addressed with postage prepaid: Provided, however, That when service is made by mail one additional day shall be allowed before the commencement of an action based upon such notice. [L. '11, p. 95, § 1. Cf. L. '05, p. 174, § 2; L. '90, p. 75, § 4; L. '91, p. 181, § 5; 2 H. C., § 551.]

Under this section, notice to quit in unlawful detainer may be served upon a corporation, in case no person in charge of its business can be found upon the premises, by affixing a copy on the door of the premises and mailing a copy, properly addressed, etc.: Hutchinson Investment Co. v. Woman's Exchange, 95 Wash. 605, 164 Pac. 196.

§ 815. Venue.

The superior court of the county in which the property or some part of it is situated shall have jurisdiction of proceedings under this chapter. [L. '90, p. 75, § 5; L. '91, p. 182, § 6; 2 H. C., § 552.]

§ 816. Parties Defendant—Judgment.

No person other than the tenant of the premises, and subtenant, if there be one, in the actual occupation of the premises when the complaint is filed, need be made parties defendant in any proceeding under this chapter, nor shall any proceeding abate, nor the plaintiff be nonsuited, for the nonjoinder of any person who might have been made party defendant; but when it appears that any of the parties served with process, or appearing in the proceeding, are guilty of the offense charged, judgment must be rendered against him. In case a person has become a subtenant of the premises in controversy after the service of any notice in this chapter provided for, the fact that such notice was not served on such subtenant shall constitute no defense to the action. All persons who enter the premises under the tenant, after the commencement of the action hereunder, shall be bound by the judgment the same as if they had been made parties to the action. [L. '90, p. 75, § 6; L. '91, p. 182, § 7; 2 H. C., § 533.]

Under this section and sections 827, 830, providing for relief against the judgment by those claiming under or through the tenant, a person claiming a mechanic's lien against the interest of the tenant need not be made a party, and is nevertheless bound by the judgment as being in privity with the tenant: Canyon Lumber Co. v. Sexton, 93 Wash. 620, 161 Pac. 841.

Joint liability of husband and wife for forcible entry and detainer. 12 A. L. R. 1485.

§ 817. Complaint—When Summons must Issue.

The plaintiff in his complaint, which shall be in writing, must set forth the facts on which he seeks to recover, and describe the premises with reasonable certainty, and may set forth therein any circumstances of fraud, force, or violence, which may have accompanied the said forcible entry, or forcible or unlawful detainer, and claim damages therefor, or compensation for the occupation of the premises, or both; in case the unlawful detainer charged be after default in the payment of rent, the complaint must state the amount of such rent. Upon filing the complaint a summons must be issued thereon as in other cases, returnable at a day designated therein, which shall not be less than six nor more than twelve days from its date, except in cases where the publication of summons is necessary, in which case the court or judge thereof may order that the summons be made returnable at such time as may be deemed proper, and the summons shall specify the return day so fixed. § 818. Summons, Form and Service.

The summons must state the names of the parties to the proceeding, the court in which the same is brought, the nature of the action, in concise terms, and the relief sought, and also the return day; and must notify the defendant to appear and answer within the time designated or that the relief sought will be taken against him. The summons must be directed to the defendant, and in case of summons by publication, be served at least five days before the return day designated therein. The summons must be served and returned in the same manner as summons in other actions is served and returned. Upon the return of any summons issued under this chapter, when the same has not for any reason been served, or has not been served in time, the plaintiff may have a new summons issued the same as if no previous summons had been issued. [Cf. L. '90, p. 76, § 8; L. '91, p. 183, § 9; 2 H. C., § 555.]

Summons—Validity: See Remington's Digest, Land. & Ten., § 142-1; Big Bend Land Co. v. Huston, 98 Wash. 640, 168 Pac. 470.

This section does not incorporate as a part of such act the provision of the general law respecting service of summons in force at the date of the passage of the special act, but must be construed as a rule applying to the future and referring to the law in force at the time the summons is to be issued: State ex rel. Smith v. Parker, 12 Wash. 685, 42 Pac. 113.

§ 819. Writ of Restitution.

The plaintiff, at the time of commencing an action of forcible entry or forcible detainer or unlawful detainer, or at any time afterwards, may apply to the judge of the court in which the action is pending for a writ of restitution restoring to the plaintiff the property in the complaint described, and the judge shall order a writ of restitution to issue. The writ shall be issued by the clerk of the superior court in which the action is pending, and be returnable in twenty days after its date; but before any writ shall issue prior to judgment the plaintiff shall execute to the defendant and file in court a bond in such a sum as the court or judge may order, with two or more sureties, to be approved by the clerk, conditioned that the plaintiff will prosecute his action without delay, and will pay all costs that may be adjudged to the defendant, and all damages which he may sustain by reason of the writ of restitution having been issued, should the same be wrongfully sued out. [Cf. L. '90, p. 77, § 9; L. '91, p. 183, § 10; 2 H. C., § 556.]

Cited in 18 Wash. 235; 19 Wash. 337; 49 Wash. 205; 86 Wash. 134; 98 Wash. 643—645.

This section is not unconstitutional as being a deprivation of property without due process of law, since the statute goes no further than to provide for the temporary possession of the property pending action: State ex rel. German Sav. & Loan Soc. v. Prather, 19 Wash. 336, 53 Pac. 344, 67 Am. St. Rep. 729; Morris v. Healy Lumber Co., 33 Wash. 451, 74 Pac. 662.

Under this and section 817, the issuance of a summons is necessary to the commencement of an action, and the court has no jurisdiction to issue a writ of restitution until the action has been commenced: Big Bend Land Co. v. Huston, 98 Wash. 640, 168 Pac. 470.

The writ of restitution in unlawful detainer does not lose its force after twenty days, because this section requires the sheriff's return to be made in that time; and after being held in abeyance by defendants' counter bond, it is revived when the defendants lose their right of possession by failing to comply with the statute: State ex rel. Barnes v. Superior Court, 96 Wash. 581, 165 Pac. 493.

§ 820. Service of Writ—Bond.

The sheriff shall, upon receiving the writ of restitution, forthwith serve a copy thereof upon the defendant, his agent or attorney, or a person in possession of the premises, and shall not execute the same for three days thereafter, within which time the defendant, or those in possession of the premises, may execute to the plaintiff a bond to be filed with and approved by the clerk of the court in such sum as may be fixed by the judge, with two or more sureties to be approved by the clerk of said court, conditioned that they will pay to the plaintiff such sum as the plaintiff may recover for the use and occupation of the said premises, or any rent found due, together with all damages the plaintiff may sustain by reason of the defendant occupying or keeping possession of said premises, and also all the costs of the action. The plaintiff, his agent or attorneys, shall have notice of the time and place where the court or judge thereof shall fix the amount of the defendant's bond, and shall have notice and a reasonable opportunity to examine into the qualification and sufficiency of the sureties upon said bond before said bond shall be approved by the clerk. The writ may be served by the sheriff, in the event he shall be unable to find the defendant, an agent or attorney, or a person in possession of the demised premises, by affixing a copy of said writ in a conspicuous place upon the demised premises. [L. '05, p. 175, § 3. Cf. L. '90, p. 77, § 10; L. '91, p. 183, § 11; 2 H. C., § 551.]

§ 821. Modification of Amount of Bond.

The plaintiff or defendant at any time, upon two days' notice to the adverse party, may apply to the court or any judge thereof for an order raising or lowering the amount of any bond in this act provided for. Either party may, upon like notice, apply to the court or any judge thereof for an order requiring additional or other surety or sureties upon any such bond. Upon the hearing or [of] any application made under the provisions of this section evidence may be given. The judge after hearing any such application shall make such an order as shall be just in the premises. The bondsmen may be required to be present at such hearing if so required in the notice thereof, and shall answer under oath all questions that may be asked them touching their qualifications as bondsmen, and in the event the bondsmen shall fail or refuse to appear at such hearing and so answer such questions the bond shall be stricken. In the event the court shall order a new or additional bond to be furnished by defendant, and the same shall not be given within twenty-four hours, the court shall order the sheriff to forthwith execute the writ. In the event the defendant shall file a second or additional bond and it shall also be found insufficient after hearing, as above provided, the right to retain the premises by bond shall be lost and the sheriff shall forthwith put the plaintiff in possession of the premises. [L. '05, p. 176, § 4. Cf. L. '90, p. 78, § 11; L. '91, p. 184, § 12; 2 H. C., § 558.]

An insufficient counter bond by defendants in unlawful detainer may be stricken on motion where it was not approved or conditioned as required by the statute, notwithstanding this section provides a different procedure through examination of the bondsmen: State ex rel. Barnes v. Superior Court, 96 Wash. 581, 165 Pac. 493.

§ 822. Judgment by Default.

If at the time appointed in the summons the defendant do not appear and defend, the court must render judgment in favor of the plaintiff as prayed for in the complaint. [Cf. L. '90, p. 78, § 13; L. '91, p. 184, § 13; 2 H. C., § 559.]

On or before the day fixed for his appearance the defendant may appear and answer or demur. [L. '90, p. 78, § 14; L. '91, p. 184, § 14; 2 H. C., § 560.]

In unlawful detainer of leased premises in lawful possession, upon an attempted forfeiture of the lease for breach of conditions, the tenant may present a defense, legal or equitable, excusing the breach, and may show equitable estoppel to enforce the conditions: Andersonian Investment Co. v. Wade, 108 Wash. 373, 178 Pac. 801.

Tender of the amount admitted to be due for rent prior to the commencement of an action for unlawful detainer, renewed by bringing the tender into court, waives the tenant's option in the lease for an extension of time to pay rent, and precludes the defense that the rent was not due and the notice to quit premature: Sowle v. Whenever an issue of fact is presented by the pleadings it must be tried by a jury, unless such a jury be waived as in other cases. § 826. Amendment of Complaint—Continuance.

When upon the trial of any proceeding under this chapter it appears from the evidence that the defendant has been guilty of either a forcible entry or a forcible or unlawful detainer, in respect of the premises described in the complaint, and other than the offense charged in the complaint, the judge must order that such complaint be forthwith amended to conform to such proofs; such amendment must be made without any imposition of terms. No continuance shall be permitted on account of such amendment unless the defendant shows to the satisfaction of the court good cause therefor. [Cf. L. '90, p. 78, § 17; L. '91, p. 185, § 17; 2 H. C., § 653.]

If upon the trial the verdict of the jury, or if the case be tried without a jury the finding of the court, be in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant, judgment shall be entered for the restitution of the premises; and if the proceeding be for unlawful detainer after neglect or failure to perform any condition or covenant of a lease or agreement under which the property is held, or after default in the payment of rent, the judgment shall also declare the forfeiture of the lease, agreement, or tenancy. The jury, or the court if the proceedings be tried without a jury, shall also assess the damages occasioned to the plaintiff by any forcible entry, or by any forcible or unlawful detainer, alleged in the complaint and proved on the trial, and if the alleged unlawful detainer be after default in the payment of rent, find the amount of any rent due, and the judgment shall be rendered against the defendant guilty of the forcible entry, forcible detainer, or unlawful detainer for twice the amount of damages thus assessed and of the rent, if any, found due. When the proceeding is for an unlawful detainer after default in the payment of rent, and the lease or agreement under which the rent is payable has not by its terms expired, execution upon the judgment shall not be issued until the expiration of five days after the entry of the judgment, within which time the tenant or any subtenant, or any mortgagee of the term or other party interested in its continuance, may pay into court for the landlord the amount of the judgment and costs, and thereupon the judgment shall be satisfied and the tenant restored to his estate; but if payment, as herein provided, be not made within five days, the judgment may be enforced for its full amount and for the possession of the premises. In all other cases the judgment may be enforced immediately. If the writ of restitution shall have been executed prior to judgment, no further writ or execution for the premises shall be required. This section is applicable to contracts entered into before its passage, although the penalties are increased by the later law, as it comes under the rule that a change in the remedy incident to existing contracts may be made without affecting rights thereunder: Woodward v. Winehill, 14 Wash. 394, 44 Pac. 860.

In an action of unlawful detainer, the objection that the judgment was in form a judgment of ejectment is not available for reversal; since the judgment will be affirmed with directions to enter formal judgment: Sheridan v. Doherty, 106 Wash. 561, 181 Pac. 16.

This section authorizes judgment for double the amount of rent accrued; notwithstanding the defendant tendered and paid into court the amount due up to the time of trial, contesting only the landlord's right to re-enter: Armstrong v. Burkett, 104 Wash. 476, 177 Pac. 333.

In an action of unlawful detainer of leased premises, judgment upon verdict for the plaintiff should be for double damages, regardless of whether or not the verdict was founded upon nonpayment of rent: Swanson v. Stubb, 108 Wash. 170, 183 Pac. 91.

§ 828. Amendments Allowed, When.

Amendments may be allowed by the court at any time before final judgment, upon such terms as to the court may appear just, in the same cases and manner and to the same extent as in civil actions. [Cf. L. '90, p. 80, § 20; L. '91, p. 186, § 19; 2 H. C., § 565.]

§ 829. Practice—General Provisions Applicable.

Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the provisions of the laws of this state with reference to practice in civil actions are applicable to and constitute the rules of practice in the proceedings mentioned in this chapter; and the provisions of such laws relative to new trials and appeals, except so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter, shall be held to apply to the proceedings mentioned in this chapter. [Cf. L. '90, p. 80, § 21; L. '91, p. 186, § 20; 2 H. C., § 566.]

§ 830. Forfeiture, Relief Against.

The court may relieve a tenant against a forfeiture of a lease and restore him to his former estate, as in other cases provided by law, where application for such relief is made within thirty days after the forfeiture is declared by the judgment of the court, as provided in this chapter. The application may be made by a tenant or subtenant, or a mortgagee of the term, or any person interested in the continuance of the term. It must be made upon petition, setting forth the facts upon which the relief is sought, and be verified by the applicant. Notice of the application, with a copy of the petition, must be served on the plaintiff in the judgment, who may appear and contest the application. In no case shall the application be granted except on condition that full payment of rent due, or full performance of conditions of covenants stipulated, so far as the same is practicable, be first made. [Cf. L. '90, p. 80, § 22; L. '91, p. 186, § 21; 2 H. C., § 567.]

but precludes the idea that it can be exercised at some later time: Canyon Lumber Co. v. Sexton, 93 Wash. 620, 161 Pac. 841.

§ 831. Appeal—Bond.

If either party feels aggrieved by the judgment he may appeal to the supreme court, as in other civil actions: Provided, that if the defendant appealing desires a stay of proceedings pending such appeal, he shall execute and file a bond, with two or more sufficient sureties to be approved by the judge, conditioned to abide the order of the court on such appeal, and to pay all rents and other damages justly accruing to the plaintiff during the pendency of the appeal. § 832. Stay of Proceedings Pending Appeal.

When the defendant shall appeal, and shall file a bond as provided in the preceding section, all further proceedings in the case shall be stayed until the determination of said appeal, and the same has been remanded to the superior court for further proceedings therein. appeal: Morrison v. Fidelity & Deposit Co., 97 Wash. 623, 166 Pac. 1122.

Certiorari does not lie to review an order striking defendants' counter bond in unlawful detainer, since the statute provides an adequate remedy by application for an order raising or lowering the amount of any bond, and by appeal and stay bond if, by the judgment, the defendant is dispossessed, under this and the next section: State ex rel. Barnes v. Superior Court, 96 Wash. 581, 165 Pac. 493.

§ 833. Appeal Suspends Writ of Restitution.

If a writ of restitution has been issued previous to the taking of an appeal by the defendant, and said defendant shall execute and file a bond as provided in this chapter, the clerk of the court, under the direction of the judge, shall forthwith give the appellant a certificate of the allowance of such appeal; and upon the service of such certificate upon the officer having such writ of restitution the said officer shall forthwith cease all further proceedings by virtue of such writ; and if such writ has been completely executed, the defendant shall be restored to the possession of the premises, and shall remain in possession thereof until the appeal is determined. Any person who shall, without the permission of the owner and without having any color of title thereto, enter upon the lands of another, and shall refuse to remove therefrom after three days' notice, shall be deemed guilty of unlawful detainer and may be removed from such lands. § 835. Complaint and Answer.

The complaint in all cases under the provisions of the last section shall be upon oath, and then [there] shall be embodied therein or amended [appended] thereto an abstract of the plaintiffs' title, and the defendant shall, in his answer, state whether he makes any claim of title to the lands described in the complaint, and if he makes no claim to the legal title, but does claim a right to the possession of such lands, he shall state upon what grounds he claims a right to such possession. In an action of forcible entry and detainer, a complaint alleging entrance without right, by means of breaking open windows and doors, without permission of the owner and without color of title, merely tenders an issue of the right of possession, where it fails to embody in the complaint an abstract of plaintiff's title, as required by this section, and therefore fails to state a cause of action involving title: McGrew v. Lamb, 31 Wash. 485, 72 Pac. 100.

§ 836. Proof Required by Plaintiff—Trial.

It shall not be necessary for the plaintiff, in proceedings under sections 834–837, to allege or prove that the said lands were, at any time, actually occupied prior to the defendant's entry thereupon, but it shall be sufficient to allege that he is the legal owner and entitled to the immediate possession thereof: Provided, that if the defendant shall, by his answer, deny such ownership, and shall state facts showing that he has a lawful claim to the possession thereof, the cause shall thereupon be entered for trial upon the docket of the court in all respects as if the action were brought under the provisions of chapter XLVI of the code of eighteen hundred and eighty-one [chapter I, of this title]. [L. '91, p. 212, § 3; 2 H. C., § 573.]

§ 837. Proof—Parties Defendant—Trial of Separate Issues.

All persons in actual possession of any portion of the several subdivisions of any section of land, according to the government surveys thereof, may be made defendants in one action: Provided, that they may, in their discretion, make separate answers to the complaint, and if separate issues are joined thereupon, the same shall nevertheless be tried as one action, but the verdict, if tried by jury, shall find separately upon the issues so joined, and judgment shall be rendered according thereto. [L. '91, p. 213, § 4; 2 H. C., § 576.]

CHAPTER III.

PARTITION.

§ 838. Persons Entitled to Bring Actions for.

When several persons hold and are in possession of real property as tenants in common, in which one or more of them have an estate of inheritance, or for life or years, an action may be maintained by one or more of such persons for a partition thereof, according to the respective rights of the persons interested therein, and for sale of such property, or a part of it, if it appear that a partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners. [L. '69, p. 133, § 505; Cd. '81, § 552; 2 H. C., § 577.]

§ 839. Complaint—All Known Interests must be Stated.

The interest of all persons in the property shall be set forth in the complaint specifically and particularly, as far as known to the plaintiff, and if one or more of the parties, or the share or quantity of interest of any of the parties be unknown to the plaintiff, or be uncertain or contingent, or the ownership of the inheritance depend upon an executory devise, or the remainder be a contingent remainder, so that such parties cannot be named, that fact shall be set forth in the complaint. Pleading—Allegations as to Interests of Parties: See Remington's Digest, Partit., § 840. Parties—Lien Creditors—Liens Adjusted.

The plaintiff may, at his option, make creditors having a lien upon the property, or any portion thereof, other than by a judgment or decree, defendants in the suit. When the lien is upon an undivided interest or estate of any of the parties, such lien, if a partition be made, is thenceforth a lien only on the share assigned to such party; but such share shall be first charged with its just proportion of the costs of the partition, in preference to such lien. [L. '69, p. 133, § 507; Cd. '81, § 554; 2 II. C., § 579.]

§ 841. Notice.

The notice shall be directed by name to all the tenants in common who are known, and in the same manner to all lien creditors who are made parties to the suit, and generally to all persons unknown having or claiming an interest or estate in the property. [L. '69, p. 133, § 508; Cd. '81, § 555; 2 H. C., § 581.]

§ 842. Service by Publication.

If a party having a share or interest in or lien upon the property be unknown, or either of the known parties reside out of the state, or cannot be found therein, and such fact be made to appear by affidavit, the notice may be served by publication, as in ordinary cases. When service is made by publication, the notice must contain a brief description of the property which is the subject of the suit. [L. '69, p. 134, § 509; Cd. '81, § 556; 2 H. C., § 580.]

§ 843. Answer, Contents of.

The defendant shall set forth in his answer the nature and extent of his interest in the property, and if he be a lien creditor, how such lien was created, the amount of the debt secured thereby and remaining due, and whether such debt is secured in any other way, and if so, the nature of such other security. [L. '69, p. 134, § 510; Cd. '81, § 557; 2 H. C., § 582.]

Plea or Answer: See Remington's Digest, Partit., § 15; Leake v. Hayes, 13

Wash. 213, 43 Pac. 48, 52 Am. St. Rep. 34.

§ 844. Issues to be Tried.

The rights of the several parties, plaintiffs as well as defendants, may be put in issue, tried, and determined in such suit, and where a defendant fails to answer, or where a sale of the property is necessary, the title shall be ascertained by proof, to the satisfaction of the court, before the decree for partition or sale is given. [L. '69, p. 134, § 511; Cd. '81, § 558; 2 H. C., § 583.]

Cited in 4 Wash. 555; 7 Wash. 37; 10 Wash. 639, 647; 71 Wash. 450; 96 Wash. 15.

In an action for a partition, the defendant, on disputing the title of the plaintiffs, is not entitled to a jury trial as a matter of right, but under this section, the calling of a jury is within the discretion of the court: State ex rel. Hill v. Lichtenberg, 4 Wash. 553, 30 Pac. 659.

Partition proceedings may be used as a form of action to try title to land, and the determination of that fact, by the court, is conclusive upon all the parties thereto: Kromer v. Friday, 10 Wash. 621, 39 Pac. 229, 32 L. R. A. 671; Hill v. Young, 7 Wash. 33, 34 Pac. 144.

§ 845. Order of Sale—Partial Partition.

If it be alleged in the complaint and established by evidence, or if it appear by the evidence without such allegation in the complaint, to the satisfaction of the court, that the property, or any part of it, is so situated that partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners, the court may order a sale thereof, and for that purpose may appoint one or more referees. Otherwise, upon the requisite proofs being made, it shall decree a partition according to the respective rights of the parties as ascertained by the court, and appoint three referees therefor, and shall designate the portion to remain undivided for the owners whose interests remain unknown or are not ascertained. [L. '69, p. 134, § 512; Cd. '81, § 559; 2 H. C., § 584.]

Mode of actual partition or allotment: Hamlin v. Hamlin, 90 Wash. 467, 156 Pac. 393. Reference: Hamlin v. Hamlin, 90 Wash. 467, 156 Pac. 393; Williamson Investment Co. v. Williamson, 96 Wash. 529, 165 Pac. 385.

SALE: See Remington's Digest, Partit., §§ 20—23. Manner and conduct in general: Blackwell v. McLean, 9 Wash. 301, 37 Pac. 317. Opening, vacating and re-sale: Wilson v. Hubbard, 39 Wash. 671, 82 Pac. 154. Title, rights and liabilities of purchaser: Kromer v. Friday, 10 Wash. 621, 39 Pac. 229, 32 L. R. A. 671.

If it appears from the evidence that partition of lands cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners, a sale may be ordered under this section, though the necessity therefor has not been alleged in the complaint: Hill v. Young, 7 Wash. 33, 34 Pac. 144.

A decree in partition is not erroneous because it designates the person appointed to take charge of the land and sell the same as a "trustee" instead of "referee," as required in this section: Blackwell v. McLean, 9 Wash. 301, 37 Pac. 317.

Where land was sold at receiver's sale in partition proceedings, the purchaser took the entire title, free from a tenant's claim for summer-fallowing not of record: Womach v. Stuermer, 105 Wash. 625, 178 Pac. 801.

§ 846. Partition, How Made—Referees.

In making the partition, the referees shall divide the property, and allot the several portions thereof to the respective parties, quality and quantity relatively considered, according to the respective rights of the parties as determined by the court, designating the several portions by proper landmarks, and may employ a surveyor, with the necessary assistants, to aid them therein. The referees shall make a report of their proceedings, specifying therein the manner of executing their trust, describing the property divided and the shares allotted to each party, with a particular description of each share. [L. '69, p. 134, § 513; Cd. '81, § 560; 2 H. C., § 585.]

Cited in 78 Wash. 511.

§ 847. Report of Referees—Confirmation—Decree.

The court may confirm or set aside the report in whole or in part, and if necessary, appoint new referees. Upon the report being confirmed, a decree shall be entered that such partition be effectual forever, which decree shall be binding and conclusive,—

1. On all parties named therein, and their legal representatives, who have at the time any interest in the property divided, or any part thereof, as owners in fee, or as tenants for life or for years, or as entitled to the reversion, remainder, or inheritance of such property, or any part thereof, after the termination of a particular estate therein, or who by any contingency may be entitled to a beneficial interest in the property, or who have an interest in any undivided share thereof, as tenants for years or for life;

2. On all persons interested in the property, to whom notice shall have been given by publication;

3. On all other persons claiming from or through such parties or persons, or either of them. [L. '69, p. 135, § 514; Cd. '81, § 561; 2 H. C., § 586.]

Cited in 78 Wash. 512; 90 Wash. 469.

Under this section the court has power to set aside the report and to direct a new allotment in a partition suit, and the interlocutory decree whereby the matter was referred is not final but may be amended as to the manner of allotting the property: Hamlin v. Hamlin, 90 Wash. 467, 156 Pac. 393.

§ 848. Decree, Rights Affected by.

Such decree and partition shall not affect any tenants for years or for life of the whole of the property which is the subject of partition, nor shall such decree and partition preclude any persons, except such as are specified in the last section, from claiming title to the property in question, or from controverting the title of the parties between whom the partition shall have been made. [L. '69, p. 135, § 515; Cd. '81, § 562; 2 H. C., § 587.]

Cited in 78 Wash. 512.

§ 849. Expenses Taxed as Costs.

The expenses of the referees, including those of a surveyor and his assistants, when employed, shall be ascertained and allowed by the court, and the amount thereof, together with the fees allowed by law to the referees, shall be paid by the plaintiff, and may be allowed as costs. [L. '69, p. 135, § 516; Cd. '81, § 563; 2 H. C., § 588.]

§ 850. Decree of Sale on Referee's Report.

If the referees report to the court that the property of which partition shall have been decreed, or any separate portion thereof, is so situated that a partition thereof cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners, and the court is satisfied that such report is correct, it may thereupon, by an order, direct the referees to sell the property, or separate portion thereof. [L. '69, p. 135, § 517; Cd. '81, § 564; 2 H. C., § 589.]

§ 851. Estate for Life, How Set Off.

When a part of the property only is ordered to be sold, if there be an estate for life or years in an undivided share of the property, the whole of such estate may be set off in any part of the property not ordered sold. [L. '69, p. 136, § 518; Cd. '81, § 565; 2 H. C., § 590.]

Cited in 78 Wash. 512.

§ 852. Lien Creditors not Parties, How Brought in.

Before making an order of sale, if lien creditors, other than those by judgment or decree, have not been made parties, the court, on motion of either party, shall order the plaintiff to file a supplemental complaint, making such creditors defendants. [L. '69, p. 136, § 519; Cd. '81, § 566; 2 H. C., § 591.]

§ 853. Unsatisfied Liens—Reference.

If an order of sale be made before the distribution of the proceeds thereof, the plaintiff shall produce to the court the certificate of the auditor of the county [and county clerk] where the property is situated, showing the liens remaining unsatisfied, if any, by judgment or decree upon the property, or any portion thereof, and unless he do so, the court shall order a referee to ascertain them. [L. '69, p. 136, § 520; Cd. '81, § 567, 2 H. C., § 592.]

See supra, § 444, judgment liens.

§ 854. Ascertainment of Liens and Their Priority.

If it appear by such certificate, or reference in case the certificate is not produced, that any such liens exist, the court shall appoint a referee to ascertain what amount remains due thereon or secured thereby respectively, and the order of priority in which they are entitled to be paid out of the property. [L. '69, p. 136, § 521; Cd. '81, § 568; 2 H. C., § 593.]

§ 855. Notice to Lienholders.

The plaintiff must cause a notice to be served at least twenty days before the time for appearance on each person having such lien by judgment or decree, to appear before the referee at a specified time and place, to make proof, by his own affidavit or otherwise, of the true amount due or to become due, contingently or absolutely, on his judgment or decree. [L. '69, p. 136, § 522; Cd. '81, § 569; 2 H. C., § 594.]

§ 856. Proceedings of Referee on Ascertaining Liens.

The referee shall receive the evidence, and report the names of the creditors whose liens are established, the amounts due thereon, or secured thereby, and their priority respectively, and whether contingent or absolute. He shall attach to his report the proof of service of the notices and the evidence before him. [L. '69, p. 136, § 523; Cd. '81, § 570; 2 H. C., § 595.]

§ 857. Report of Referee.

The report of the referee may be excepted to by either party to the suit, or to the proceedings before the referee, in like manner and with like effect as in ordinary cases. If a lien creditor be absent from the state, or his residence therein be unknown, and that fact appear by affidavit, the court, or judge thereof, may by order direct that service of the notice may be made upon his agent or attorney of record, or by publication thereof, for such time and in such manner as the order may prescribe. [L. '69, p. 137, § 524; Cd. '81, § 571; 2 H. C., § 596.]

§ 858. Confirmation of Report.

If the report of the referee be confirmed, the order of confirmation is binding and conclusive upon all parties to the suit, and upon the lien creditors who have been duly served with the notice to appear before the referee, as provided in section 855. [L. '69, p. 137, § 525; Cd. '81, § 572; 2 H. C., § 297.]

§ 859. Distribution of Proceeds of Sale.

The proceeds of the sale of the encumbered property shall be distributed by the decree of the court, as follows:—

1. To pay its just proportion of the general costs of the suit;
2. To pay the costs of the reference;
3. To satisfy the several liens in their order of priority, by payment of the sums due and to become due, according to the decree;
4. The residue among the owners of the property sold, according to their respective shares. [L. '69, p. 137, § 526; Cd. '81, § 573; 2 H. C., § 598.]

§ 860. Other Securities to be First Exhausted.

Whenever any party to the suit, who holds a lien upon the property, or any part thereof, has other securities for the payment of the amount of such lien, the court may, in its discretion, order such sureties to be exhausted before a distribution of the proceeds of sale, or may order a just deduction to be made from the amount of the lien on the property on account thereof. [L. '69, p. 137, § 527; Cd. '81, § 574; 2 H. C., § 599.]

§ 861. Proceedings to Ascertain and Adjust Liens Do not Delay Sale.

The proceedings to ascertain the amount of the liens, and to determine their priority, as above provided, or those hereinafter authorized to determine the right of parties to funds paid into court, shall not delay the sale, nor affect any other party whose rights are not involved in such proceedings. [L. '69, p. 137, § 528; Cd. '81, § 575; 2 H. C., § 600.]

§ 862. Proceeds of Sale, Disposition of.

The proceeds of sale, and the securities taken by the referees, or any part thereof, shall be distributed by them to the persons entitled thereto, whenever the court so directs. But if no such direction be given, all such proceeds and securities shall be paid into court, or deposited as directed by the court. [L. '69, p. 138, § 529; Cd. '81, § 576; 2 H. C., § 601.]

§ 863. Continuance of Action to Determine Rights of Parties.

When the proceeds of sale of any shares or parcel belonging to persons who are parties to the suit, and who are known, are paid into court, the suit may be continued, as between such parties, for the determination of their respective claims thereto, which shall be ascertained and adjudged by the court. Further testimony may be taken in court, or by a referee, at the discretion of the court, and the court may, if necessary, require such parties to present the facts or law in controversy by pleadings, as in an original suit. [L. '69, p. 138, § 530; Cd. '81, § 577; 2 H. C., § 602.]

§ 864. Sales by Referees may be Made by Auction.

All sales of real property made by the referees shall be made by public auction, to the highest bidder, in the manner required for the sale of real property on execution. The notice shall state the terms of sale, and if the property, or any part of it, is to be sold subject to a prior estate, charge, or lien, that shall be stated in the notice. [L. '69, p. 138, § 531; Cd. '81, § 578; 2 H. C., § 603.]

Under this section a decree authorizing § 865. Terms of Sale may be Directed by Court.

The court shall, in the order of sale, direct the terms of credit which may be allowed for the purchase money of any portion of the premises, of which it may direct a sale on credit; and for that portion of which the purchase money is required by the provisions hereinafter contained, to be invested for the benefit of unknown owners, infants, or parties out of the state. [L. '69, p. 138, § 532; Cd. '81, § 579; 2 H. C., § 604.]

§ 866. Securities to be Taken by Referee.

The referees may take separate mortgages and other securities for the whole or convenient portions of the purchase money of such parts of the property as are directed by the court to be sold on credit, in the name of the clerk of the court and his successors in office; and for the shares of any known owner of full age, in the name of such owner. [L. '69, p. 138, § 533; Cd. '81, § 580; 2 H. C., § 605.]

§ 867. Estate of Tenant for Life or for Years may be Sold.

When the estate of any tenant for life or years in any undivided part of the property in question shall have been admitted by the parties or ascertained by the court to be existing at the time of the order of sale, and the person entitled to such estate shall have been made a party to the suit, such estate may be first set off out of any part of the property, and a sale made of such parcel, subject to the prior unsold estate of such tenant therein; but if, in the judgment of the court, a due regard to the interest of all the parties require that such estate be also sold, the sale may be so ordered. [L. '69, p. 138, § 534; Cd. '81, § 581; 2 H. C., § 606.]

Cited in 78 Wash. 512, 513.

§ 868. Tenant for Life or Years Entitled to Gross Sum.

Any person entitled to an estate for life or years in any undivided part of the property, whose estate shall have been sold, shall be entitled to receive such sum in gross as may be deemed a reasonable satisfaction for such estate, and which the person so entitled shall consent to accept instead thereof, by an instrument duly acknowledged and filed with the clerk. [L. '69, p. 139, § 535; Cd. '81, § 582; 2 H. C., § 607.]

Cited in 78 Wash. 512.

§ 869. Court to Determine Sum, if Consent not Given.

If such consent be not given, as provided in the last section, before the report of sale, the court shall ascertain and determine what proportion of the proceeds of the sale, after deducting expenses, will be a just and reasonable sum to be invested for the benefit of the person entitled to such estate for life or years, and shall order the same to be deposited in the court for that purpose. [L. '69, p. 139, § 536; Cd. '81, § 583; 2 H. C., § 608.]

Cited in 78 Wash. 513.

§ 870. Protection of Unknown Tenant.

If the persons entitled to such estate for life or years be unknown, the court shall provide for the protection of their rights in the same manner, as far as may be, as if they were known and had appeared. [L. '69, p. 139, § 538; Cd. '81, § 584; 2 H. C., § 609.]

§ 871. Inchoate and Contingent Interests.

In all cases of sales in partition, when it appears that any person has a vested or contingent future right or estate therein, the court shall ascertain and settle the proportionate value of such contingent or vested right or estate, and shall direct such proportion of the proceeds of sale to be invested, secured, or paid over in such manner as to protect the rights and interests of the parties. [L. '69, p. 140, § 539; Cd. '81, 585; 2 H. C., § 610.]

§ 872. Terms of Sale must be Made Known.

In all cases of sales of property, the terms shall be made known at the time, and if the premises consist of distinct farms or lots, they shall be sold separately, or otherwise, if the court so directs. [L. '69, p. 140, § 540; Cd. '81, § 586; 2 H. C., § 611.]

§ 873. Referees or Guardians not to be Interested in Purchase.

Neither of the referees, nor any person for the benefit of either of them, shall be interested in any purchase, nor shall the guardian of an infant be an interested party in the purchase of any real property being the subject of the suit, except for the benefit of the infant. All sales contrary to the provisions of this section shall be void. [L. '69, p. 140, § 541; Cd. '81, § 587; 2 H. C., § 612.]

§ 874. Report of Sale—Contents.

After completing the sale, the referees shall report the same to the court, with a description of the different parcels of land sold to each purchaser, the name of the purchaser, the price paid or secured, the terms and conditions of the sale, and the securities, if any, taken. The report shall be filed with the clerk. [L. '69, p. 140, § 542; Cd. '81, § 588; 2 H. C., § 613.]

§ 875. Exceptions to Report—Confirmation—Conveyance.

The report of sale may be excepted to in writing by any party entitled to a share of the proceeds. If the sale be confirmed, the order of confirmation shall direct the referees to execute conveyances and take securities pursuant to such sale. [L. '69, p. 140, § 543; Cd. '81, § 589; 2 H. C., § 614.]

The fact that publication of notice of the finding of the court had been made sale is given before the signing of the in fact prior to the publication, and, if decree is merely an irregularity, when unappealed from, would not affect the jurisdiction of the court to order and confirm the sale: Kromer v. Friday, 10 Wash. 621, 39 Pac. 229, 32 L. R. A. 671.

After confirmation of a partition sale, the referee's report and order of confirmation showing a substantial compliance with the statute as to notice, objection cannot be made to the notice of sale in that the name of the newspaper and the day of the week on which the paper was published was not shown by the report, nor that the last day of publication was given as November 14th, when from the context of the report it appears that the same was a clerical error, intended for December 14th: Prince v. Mottman, 84 Wash. 287, 146 Pac. 841.

§ 876. Receipt of Proceeds.

When a party entitled to a share of the property, or an encumbrancer entitled to have his lien paid out of the sale, becomes a purchaser, the referees may take his receipt for so much of the proceeds of the sale as belong to him. [L. '69, p. 140, § 544; Cd. '81, § 590; 2 H. C., § 615.]

§ 877. Investment of Proceeds of Unknown Owner.

When there are proceeds of sale belonging to an unknown owner, or to a person without the state who has no legal representative within it, or when there are proceeds arising from the sale of an estate subject to the prior estate of a tenant for life or years, which are paid into the court or otherwise deposited by order of the court, the same shall be invested in securities on interest for the benefit of the persons entitled thereto. [L. '69, p. 140, § 545; Cd. '81, § 591; 2 H. C., § 616.]

§ 878. Investment in Name of Clerk.

When the security for the proceeds of sale is taken, or when an investment of any such proceeds is made, it shall be done, except as herein otherwise provided, in the name of the clerk of the court and his successors in office, who shall hold the same for the use and benefit of the parties interested, subject to the order of the court. [L. '69, p. 141, § 546; Cd. '81, § 592; 2 H. C., § 617.]

§ 879. Securities to be Taken in Name of Parties.

When security is taken by the referees on a sale, and the parties interested in such security by an instrument in writing under their hands, delivered to the referees, agree upon the share and proportions to which they are respectively entitled, or when shares and proportions have been previously adjudged by the court, such securities shall be taken in the names of and payable to the parties respectively entitled thereto, and shall be delivered to such parties upon their receipt therefor. Such agreement and receipt shall be returned and filed with the clerk. [L. '69, p. 141, § 547; Cd. '81, § 593; 2 H. C., § 618.]

§ 880. Duties of Clerk Making Investments.

The clerk in whose name a security is taken, or by whom an investment is made, and his successors in office, shall receive the interest and principal as it becomes due, and apply and invest the same as the court may direct, and shall file in his office all securities taken, and keep an account in a book provided and kept for that purpose in the clerk's office, free for inspection by all persons, of investments and moneys received by him thereon, and the disposition thereof. [L. '69, p. 141, § 548; Cd. '81, § 594; 2 H. C., § 619.]

§ 881. Unequal Partition—Compensation Adjudged.

When it appears that partition cannot be made equal between the parties according to their respective rights, without prejudice to the rights and interests of some of them, the court may adjudge compensation to be made by one party to another on account of the inequality of partition; but such compensation shall not be required to be made to others by owners unknown, nor by infants, unless in case of an infant it appear that he has personal property sufficient for that purpose, and that his interest will be promoted thereby. [L. '69, p. 141, § 549; Cd. '81, § 595; 2 H. C., § 620.]

§ 882. Share of Infant may be Paid to Guardian.

When the share of an infant is sold, the proceeds of the sale may be paid by the referees making the sale, to his general guardian, or the special guardian appointed for him in the suit, upon giving the security required by law, or directed by order of the court. [L. '69, p. 142, § 550; Cd. '81, § 596; 2 H. C., § 621.]

§ 883. Guardian of Insane, etc., may Receive.

The guardian who may be entitled to the custody and management of the estate of an insane person, or other person adjudged incapable of conducting his own affairs, whose interest in real property shall have been sold, may receive in behalf of such person his share of the proceeds of such real property from the referees, on executing a bond, with sufficient sureties, approved by the judge of the court, conditioned that he faithfully discharge the trust reposed in him, and will render a true and just account to the person entitled, or to his legal representative. [L. '69, p. 142, § 551; Cd. '81, § 597; 2 H. C., § 622.]

§ 884. Guardian may Consent to Partition.

The general guardian of an infant, and the guardian entitled to the custody and management of the estate of an insane person, or other person adjudged incapable of conducting his own affairs, who is interested in real estate held in common or in any other manner, so as to authorize his being made a party to an action for the partition thereof, may consent to a partition without suit, and agree upon the share to be set off to such infant or other person entitled, and may execute a release in his behalf to the owners of the shares or parts to which they may respectively be entitled, and upon an order of the court. [L. '69, p. 142, § 552; Cd. '81, § 598; 2 H. C., § 623.]

The statute expressly provides that partition may be maintained against infant cotenants, the provision being broad enough to reach all interests and parties and expressly make confirmation conclusive against all parties to the suit:

Kromer v. Friday, 10 Wash. 621, 39 Pac. 229, 32 L. R. A. 671.

A guardian may consent to a partition without suit under the supervision of the court: Kromer v. Friday, supra.

§ 885. Costs, How Apportioned.

The costs of partition, including fees of referees and other disbursements, shall be paid by the parties respectively entitled to share in the lands divided, in proportion to their respective interests therein, and may be included and specified in the decree. In that case there shall be a lien on the several shares, and the decree may be enforced by execution against the parties separately. When, however, a litigation arises between some of the parties only, the court may require the expense of such litigation to be paid by the parties thereto, or any of them. [L. '69, p. 142, § 553; Cd. '81, § 599; 2 H. C., § 624.]

In an action for a partition of real estate, attorney's fees outside the statutory fee cannot be allowed or taxed as part of the costs or disbursements provided for by this section: Legg v. Legg, 34 Wash. 132, 75 Pac. 130.

CHAPTER IV.

ACTIONS AGAINST THE STATE.

§ 886. Manner of Collecting Claims Against the State—Bond.

Any person or corporation having any claim against the state of Washington shall have the right to begin an action against the state in the superior court of Thurston county. Such action shall be begun against the state of Washington by filing a complaint in such superior court, setting forth the nature of such claim, and containing a direction to the defendant to appear within twenty days after service of the complaint exclusive of the day of service, and defend the action, and a notice that in case of failure so to do, judgment will be rendered against the state according to the prayer of the complaint. The plaintiff in such action shall, at the time of filing his complaint, file a bond or undertaking with two or more sureties to be approved by the clerk of the court to the effect that such party will indemnify the state against all costs that may accrue in such action, and will pay to the clerk of said court all costs in case the plaintiff shall fail to prosecute his action or to obtain a judgment against the state. § 890-1. Action Against State Officers—Request for Defense at State Expense.

Whenever an action or proceeding for damages shall be instituted against any state officer or employee for the performance of any official act, such officer or employee may request the administrative board to authorize the defense of said action or proceeding at the expense of the state. [L. '21, p. 220, § 1.]

§ 890-2. Expenses, from What Fund Payable.

If the administrative board shall find that said officer or employee acted in good faith and without negligence, it shall grant said request, in which event the necessary expenses of the defense of said action or proceeding shall be paid from the appropriations made for the support of the department to which such officer or employee is attached. In such cases the attorney general shall appear and defend such officer or employee. [L. '21, p. 220, § 2.]

CHAPTER V.EMINENT DOMAIN.*§ 891. Appropriation of Property by the State—Requisites of Petition.

Whenever any officer, board, commission, or other body representing the state is authorized by the legislature to acquire any land, real estate, premises, or other property, deemed necessary for the public uses of the state, or any department or institution thereof, and the officer, board, commission or other body whose duty it is to acquire such land, real estate, premises, or other property is unable to agree with the owner or owners thereof for its purchase, it shall be the duty of the attorney general to present to the superior court of the county in which said land, real estate, premises, or other property so sought to be acquired or appropriated shall be situated, a petition in which the land, real estate, premises, or other property sought to be appropriated shall be described with reasonable certainty, and setting forth the name of each and every owner, encumbrancer, or other person or party interested in the same, or any part thereof, so far as the same can be ascertained from the public records, the object for which the land is sought to be appropriated, and praying that a jury be impaneled to ascertain and determine the compensation to be made in money to such owner or owners, respectively, and to all tenants, encumbrancers, and others interested, for taking such lands, real estate, premises or other property, or in case a jury be waived, as in other civil cases in courts of record, in the manner prescribed by law, then that the compensation to be made as aforesaid be ascertained and determined by the court or judge thereof. § 892. Notice—Contents of—Service—Publication.

A notice stating briefly the objects of the petition, and containing a description of the land, real estate, premises, or property sought to be acquired and appropriated, and stating the time and place when and where the same will be presented to the court or the judge thereof, shall be served on each and every person named therein as owner, encumbrancer, tenant, or otherwise interested therein at least ten days previous to the time designated in such notice for the presentation of such petition. Such service shall be made by delivering a copy of such notice to each of the persons or parties so named therein, if a resident of the state; or in case of the absence of such person or party from his or her usual place of abode, by leaving a copy of such notice at his or her usual place of abode; or in case of a foreign corporation, at its principal place of business in this state, with some person of more than sixteen years of age. In case of domestic corporations, such service shall be made upon the president, secretary, or other director or trustee of such corporation. In case of minors, or their guardians, or in case no guardian shall have been appointed, then on the person who has the care and custody of such minor; in case of idiots, lunatics, or distracted persons, on their guardians, or in case no guardian shall have been appointed, then on the person in whose care or charge they are found. In case the land, real estate, premises, or other property sought to be appropriated is school or county land, the notice shall be served on the auditor of the county in which the land, real estate, premises, or other property sought to be acquired and appropriated is situated. In all cases where the owner or person claiming an interest in such real estate or other property is a nonresident of this state, or where the residence of such owner or person is unknown, and an affidavit of the attorney general shall be filed that such owner or person is a nonresident of this state, or that after diligent inquiry his residence is unknown or cannot be ascertained, service may be made by publication thereof in any newspaper published in the county where such lands are situated, once a week for two successive weeks; and in case no newspaper is published in said county, then such publication may be had in a newspaper published in the county nearest the county in which lies the land sought to be acquired and appropriated. And such publication shall be deemed service upon each of such nonresident person or persons whose residence is unknown. Such notice shall be signed by the attorney general of the state of Washington. Such notice may be served by any competent person over twenty-one years of age. Due proof of the service of such notice by affidavit of the person serving the same, or by the printer's affidavit of publication, shall be filed with the clerk of such superior court before or at the time of the presentation of such petition. Want of service of such notice shall render the subsequent proceedings void as to the person not served, but all persons or parties having been served with notice as herein provided, either by publication or otherwise, shall be bound by the subsequent proceedings. In all other cases not otherwise provided for, service of notices, order, and other papers in the proceedings authorized by this act, may be made as the superior court or judge thereof may direct. [L. '91, p. 139, § 2; 2 H. C., § 639.]

"Act" refers to §§ 891—900.

Notice in general condemnations, see infra, § 922.

§ 893. Adjournment of Proceedings—Notice.

The court or judge may, upon application of the said attorney general or any owner or party interested, for reasonable cause, adjourn the proceedings from time to time, and may order new or further notice to be given to any party whose interest may be affected. [L. '91, p. 140, § 3; 2 H. C., § 640.]

§ 894. Hearing of Petition—Jury.

At the time and place appointed for hearing said petition, or to which the same may have been adjourned, if the court or judge thereof shall have satisfactory proof that all parties interested in the land, real estate, premises, or other property described in said petition have been duly served with said notice as above prescribed, and shall be further satisfied by competent proof that the contemplated use for which the land, real estate, premises or other property sought to be appropriated is really necessary for the public use of the state of Washington, the court or judge thereof may make an order, to be recorded in the minutes of said court, directing the sheriff to summons from the citizens of the county in which such land, real estate, premises, or other property sought to be acquired or appropriated shall be situated, as many qualified persons as may be necessary in order to form a jury of twelve persons, unless the parties to the proceedings consent to a less number (such number to be not less than three), and such consent shall be entered by the clerk in the minutes of the trial. If necessary to complete the jury, the sheriff, under the direction of the court or judge thereof, shall summon as many qualified persons as may be required to complete the jury from the bystanders, citizens of the county where the land, real estate, premises, or other property is situated. [L. '91, p. 140, § 4; 2 H. C., § 641.]

§ 895. Trial—Damages—Judgment.

A judge of the superior court shall preside at the trial, which shall be held at such time as the court or judge thereof may direct, at the courthouse in the county where the land, real estate, premises, or other property sought to be appropriated or acquired is situated, and the jurors at such trial shall make in each case a separate assessment of damages which shall result to any person, corporation or company, or to any county, by reason of the appropriation and use of such land, real estate, premises, or other property, and shall ascertain, determine, and award the amount of damage to be paid said owner or owners respectively, and to all tenants, encumbrancers, and others interested for taking such land, real estate, premises, or other property so taken. Upon the trial, witnesses may be examined in behalf of either party to the proceedings as in civil actions; and a witness served with a subpoena in such proceedings shall be punished for failure to appear at such trial, or for perjury, as upon a trial of a civil action. Upon the verdict of the jury, judgment shall be entered for the amount of the damages awarded to such owner or owners, respectively, and to all tenants, encumbrancers, and others interested, for taking such land, real estate, or premises. In case a jury is waived, as in civil cases in courts of record, in the manner prescribed by law, the compensation to be paid for the property sought to be appropriated shall be ascertained and determined by the court or judge thereof, and the proceedings shall be the same as in trials of an issue of fact by the court. [L. '91, p. 141, § 5; 2 H. C., § 642.]

§ 896. Judgment—Filing and Recording of.

At the time of rendering judgment for damages, whether upon default or trial, the court or judge thereof shall also enter a judgment or decree of appropriation of the land, real estate, or premises sought to be appropriated, thereby vesting the legal title to the same in the state of Washington. Whenever said judgment or decree of appropriation is made, a certified copy of such judgment or decree of appropriation may be filed for record in the office of the auditor of the county where the said land, real estate, or other premises are situated, and shall be recorded by said auditor like a deed of real estate, and with like effect. [L. '91, p. 142, § 6; 2 H. C., § 643.]

§ 897. Payment of Damages, Effect of—Appeal.

Upon the entry of judgment upon the verdict of the jury or the decision of the court or judge thereof, awarding damages as hereinbefore prescribed, the state of Washington may make payment of the damages assessed to the parties entitled to the same, and of the costs of the proceedings, by depositing the same with the clerk of said superior court, to be paid out under the direction of the court or the judge thereof; and upon making such payment into the court of the damages assessed and allowed, and of the costs to any land, real estate, premises or other property mentioned in said petition, said state of Washington shall be released and discharged from any and all further liability therefor, unless upon appeal the owner or party interested shall recover a greater amount of damages; and in that case only for the amount in excess of the sum paid into said court and the costs of appeal: Provided, that in case of an appeal to the supreme court of the state by any party to the proceedings, the money so paid into the superior court by the state as aforesaid shall remain in the custody of said court until the final determination of the proceedings by the said supreme court. [L. '91, p. 142, § 7; 2 H. C., § 644.]

§ 898. Claimants, How Paid—Conflicting Claims, How Determined.

Any person, corporation, or county claiming to be entitled to any money paid into court, as provided in this act, may apply to the court therefor, and upon furnishing evidence satisfactory to the court that he or it is entitled to the same, the court shall make an order directing the payment to such claimant the portion of such money as he or it shall be found entitled to; but if, upon application, the court or judge thereof should decide that the title to the land, real estate, or premises specified in the application of such claimant was in such condition as to require that an action be commenced to determine the conflicting claims thereto, he shall refuse such order until such action is commenced, and the conflicting claims to such land, real estate, or premises be determined according to law. [L. '91, p. 143, § 8; 2 H. C., § 645.]

"Act" refers to §§ 891—900.

Cited in 71 Wash. 358.

This section is not exclusive where the fund has been paid into court, and where all the parties appeared as upon an intervention and there was a trial on the merits, the court had jurisdiction to inquire into all the claims, and having done so, the supreme court on appeal can direct the proper judgment to be entered: State ex rel. Smith v. Superior Court, 71 Wash. 354, 128 Pac. 648.

§ 899. Appeal.

Either party may appeal from the judgment for damages entered in the superior court to the supreme court of the state, within thirty days after the entry of judgment as aforesaid, and such appeal shall bring before the supreme court the propriety and justness of the amount of damage in respect to the parties to the appeal: Provided, however, that upon such appeal no bond shall be required: And provided further, that, if the owner of land, the real estate, or premises accepts the sum awarded by the jury, the court, or the judge thereof, he shall be deemed thereby to have waived conclusively an appeal to the supreme court, and final judgment by default may be rendered in the superior court as in other cases: Provided further, that no appeal shall operate so as to prevent the said state of Washington from taking possession of such property pending such appeal, after the amount of said award shall have been paid into court. [L. '91, p. 143, § 9; 2 H. C., § 646.]

§ 900. Payment of Award and Costs.

Whenever the attorney general shall file with the auditor of this state a certificate setting forth the amount of any award found against the state of Washington under the provisions of this act, together with the costs of said proceeding, and a description of the lands and premises sought to be appropriated and acquired, and the title of the action or proceeding in which said award is rendered, it shall be the duty of the state auditor to forthwith issue a warrant upon the state treasury to the order of the attorney general in a sum sufficient to make payment in money of said award and the costs of said proceeding, and thereupon it shall be the duty of said attorney general to forthwith pay to the clerk of said court in money the amount of said award and costs. [L. '91, p. 143, § 10; 2 H. C., § 647.]

"Act" refers to §§ 891—900.

Cited in 94 Wash. 170, 171, 176.

This section leaves it discretionary with the attorney general to file the certificate, as the state may abandon the proceedings before taking possession if the award is unsatisfactory, and does not conflict with the earlier act, section 889, providing that no execution shall issue against the state on any judgment: State ex rel. Peel v. Clausen, 94 Wash. 166, 162 Pac. 1.

A specific appropriation by the legislature to pay awards in condemnation proceedings is not contemplated or necessary to authorize the state auditor to issue a warrant therefor: State ex rel. Peel v. Clausen, 94 Wash. 166, 162 Pac. 1.

The state having taken possession of lands before paying the award, and refused to avail itself of this section, authorizing an abandonment of the proceedings, it cannot escape liability for the amount of the award: State ex rel. Peel v. Clausen, 94 Wash. 166, 162 Pac. 1.

Where the state took possession of condemned lands before paying the award, the law presumes that the state is prepared to pay the award, and the burden is not upon the claimant to allege or prove the state of the public fund: State ex rel. Peel v. Clausen, 94 Wash. 166, 162 Pac. 1.

Right of county to exercise power of eminent domain. Ann. Cas. 1913E, 1079.

Whenever the governor, as commander-in-chief of the military of this state, shall deem it necessary to acquire any lands, real estate, premises or other property for any military purpose or purposes of this state, either to add to, enlarge, increase or otherwise improve state military facilities now or hereafter existing or to establish new facilities, the acquisition of which shall have been provided for by the state, by a county or by a city, or by either, all or any thereof, upon certificate by the governor of such necessity, proceedings for the condemnation, appropriation and taking of the lands, real estate, premises or other property so certified to be necessary shall be taken as follows:

Where the state is to pay the purchase price it shall be the duty of the attorney general, upon receipt by him of said certificate of the governor, to file a petition in the superior court for the county in which such lands, real estate, premises or other property may be situate praying such condemnation, appropriating and taking, which petition shall be prosecuted to a final determination in the manner by law provided for other condemnation suits brought by or on behalf of the state;

Where a county is to pay the purchase price it shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney of said county, upon receipt by him of said certificate of the governor, to file a petition in the superior court for said county praying such condemnation, appropriation and taking, which petition shall be prosecuted to a final determination in the manner by law provided for other condemnation suits brought by or on behalf of a county;

Where a city is to pay the purchase price it shall be the duty of the corporation counsel, city attorney or other head of the legal department of said city, upon receipt by him of said certificate of the governor, to file a petition in the superior court for the county in which said city is situate, praying such condemnation, appropriation and taking, which petition shall be prosecuted to a final determination in the manner by law provided for other condemnation suits brought by or on behalf of such city;

Where the purchase price is to be paid by the state, a county and a city or by the state and a county, or by the state and a city, or by a county and a city, the condemnation shall be prosecuted to a final determination in the manner by law provided for either or any thereof, as the governor may determine, which determination shall be final and conclusive. [L. '17, p. 620, § 1.]

§ 900-2. Applying Act.

Nothing herein contained shall be construed as in any manner applying to condemnation by any county for the purpose of acquiring title to any site for a mobilization, training and supply station, to be donated by any county to the United States. [L. '17, p. 621, § 2.]

§ 901. Counties may appropriate Lands for Public Use.

Every county in this state is hereby, for the purposes of this and the four following sections, declared to be a body corporate and is authorized and empowered by and through its board of county commissioners whenever said board shall judge it to be clearly for the general welfare and benefit of the people of the county, and so far as shall be in harmony with the constitution of this state and the provisions of this act, to condemn and appropriate as hereinafter in this act provided and to dispose of for public use such lands, properties, rights and interests as are hereinafter in this act mentioned, whenever the government of the United States or of this state is intending or proposing the construction, operation or maintenance of any public work situated or to be situated wholly or partly within such county, or the expenditure of money or labor for the construction, operation or maintenance of any such work, and such condemnation or appropriation will enable the county to aid, promote, facilitate or prepare for any such construction, operation, maintenance or expenditure by either or both such governments, or to fulfill or dispose of any condition upon which such construction, operation, maintenance or expenditure is by law or from any cause contingent, and no property shall be exempt from such condemnation, appropriation or disposition by reason of the same having been or being dedicated, appropriated or otherwise reduced or held to public use. [L. '95, p. 3, § 1.]

"Act" refers to §§ 901—905.

Cited in 58 Wash. 516.

§ 902. Tax Levy to Pay Cost of Condemnation.

The board of county commissioners is hereby authorized and empowered in aid of the powers granted or prescribed in the foregoing section to levy, annually, a tax as large as may be necessary, but not exceeding the rate of one mill on the dollar, upon all taxable property in the county, such tax to be assessed, levied and collected at the same time and in the same manner as taxes for general county purposes, but the proceeds of said taxes, when collected, shall constitute and be a special fund, applicable solely to the cost of such condemnation, appropriation or disposition, as is mentioned in the foregoing section, and the expenses incident thereto. [L. '95, p. 4, § 2.]

§ 903. Eminent Domain Extended to Counties.

The right of eminent domain for the purposes intended in this act is hereby extended to all counties in this state and every such county for any purpose of condemnation, appropriation or disposition such as is mentioned in section 901, supra, is hereby authorized and empowered to condemn and appropriate all necessary lands and all rights, properties and interests in or appurtenant to land under the same procedure as is or shall be provided by the laws of this state for the case of any similar condemnation or appropriation by other corporations. [L. '95, p. 4, § 3.]

"Act" refers to §§ 901—905.

§ 904. Indebtedness Contracted, General County Purpose.

Any county purpose mentioned in this act shall be deemed and held to be a general county purpose and any indebtedness contracted or to be contracted therefor shall be deemed and held to be an indebtedness for general county purposes, and all the provisions of law of this state relative to indebtedness for general county purposes or the contracting of such indebtedness or the bonds for funding the same shall be deemed applicable to any indebtedness contracted or to be contracted or any bonds issued by any county under this act, but the accounts of the county with respect to the receipts and disbursements of all moneys received or disbursed by the county under the provisions of this act shall, for each condemnation, appropriation and disposition, be so kept as to clearly and fully exhibit such accounts separate and apart from the other accounts of the county. [L. '95, p. 5, § 4.]

"Act" refers to §§ 901—905.

§ 905. County Purpose, Defined.

Any condemnation, appropriation or disposition intended in this act shall be deemed and held to be for a county purpose and public use within the meaning of this act when it is directly or indirectly, approximately or remotely for the general benefit or welfare of the county or of the inhabitants thereof, or when it is otherwise within the meaning of the phrase "for a county purpose" as occurring in the constitution of this state. [L. '95, p. 5, § 5.]

"Act" refers to §§ 901—905.

This act authorizing counties to condemn land for a right of way for a ship canal projected by the general government, is not a violation of article VIII,

§§ 6 and 7, of the constitution: Lancey v. King County, 15 Wash. 9, 45 Pac. 645, 34 L. R. A. 817.

§ 905-1. Condemnation for Aerial Transportation Purposes.

That all cities and counties are authorized and empowered by and through their appropriate corporate authorities to acquire, maintain and operate sites and other facilities for landings, terminals, housing, repair and care of airplanes and seaplanes for the aerial transportation of persons, property or mail; and to acquire by purchase, condemnation or lease all lands and personal property necessary therefor; and the same is hereby declared to be a city and county purpose and a public use. Cities and counties are hereby empowered to acquire lands and other property for said purpose by the exercise of the power of eminent domain under the same procedure as is or shall be provided by law for the condemnation and appropriation of private property for any of their respective corporate uses. [L. '19, p. 102, § 1.]

§ 906. School Districts may appropriate Land.

Whenever any school district shall select any real estate as a site for a schoolhouse, or as additional grounds to an existing schoolhouse site, within the district, and the board of school directors of such district and the owner or owners of the site or any part thereof, or addition thereto so selected, shall be unable to agree upon the compensation to be paid by such school district to the owner or owners thereof, such school district shall have the right to take and acquire title to such real estate for use as a schoolhouse site or additional site, upon first paying to the owner or owners thereof therefor the value thereof, to be ascertained in the manner hereinafter provided. [L. '03, p. 193, § 1; L. '09, p. 372, § 1.]

§ 907. Petition to Superior Court.

The board of directors of the school district shall present to the superior court of the state of Washington in and for the county wherein is situated the real estate desired to be acquired for schoolhouse site purposes, a petition, reciting that the board of directors of such school district have selected certain real estate, describing it, as a schoolhouse site, or as additional grounds to an existing site, for such school district; that the site so selected, or some part thereof, describing it, belongs to a person or persons, naming him or them, that such school district has offered to give the owner or owners thereof therefor — dollars, and that the owner of such real estate has refused to accept the same therefor; that the board of school directors of such school district and the said owner or owners of such real estate are unable to agree upon the compensation to be paid by such school district to the owner or owners of such real estate therefor, and praying that a jury be impaneled to ascertain and determine the compensation to be made in money by such school district to such owner or owners for the taking of such real estate for the use as a schoolhouse site for such school district; or in case a jury be waived in the manner provided by law in other civil actions in courts of record, then that the compensation to be made as aforesaid, be ascertained and determined by the court, or judge thereof. [L. '03, p. 194, § 2; L. '09, p. 372, § 2.]

§ 908. Notice of Petition—Service.

A notice, stating the time and place when and where such petition shall be presented to the court, or the judge thereof, together with a copy of such petition, shall be served on each and every person named therein as owner, or otherwise interested therein, at least ten days previous to the time designated in such notice for the presentation of such petition. Such notice shall be signed by the prosecuting attorney of the county wherein the real estate sought to be taken is situated, and may be served in the same manner as summons in a civil action in such superior court is authorized by law to be served. [L. '03, p. 104, § 3; L. '09, p. 373, § 3.]

§ 909. Adjournment of Proceedings.

The court may, upon application of the petitioner or of any owner of said real estate, or any person interested therein, for reasonable cause, adjourn the proceedings from time to time, and may order new or further notice to be given to any party whose interests may be affected by such proceedings. [L. '03, p. 194, § 4; L. '09, p. 373, § 4.]

§ 910. Findings of Necessity—Setting Trial.

At the time and place appointed for the hearing of such petition, or to which the same may have been adjourned, if the court shall find that all parties interested in such real estate sought to be taken have been duly served with notice and a copy of the petition as above prescribed, and shall further find that such real estate sought to be taken is required and necessary for the purpose of a schoolhouse site, or as a part of or as an addition to a schoolhouse site, for such school district, the court shall make an order reciting such findings, and shall thereupon set the hearing of such petition down for trial by a jury, as other civil actions are tried, unless a jury is waived in the manner provided by law in other civil actions. [L. '03, p. 195, § 5; L. '09, p. 373, § 5.]

§ 911. Jury Trial.

The jury impaneled to hear the evidence and determine the compensation to be paid to the owner or owners of such real estate desired for such schoolhouse site purpose shall consist of twelve persons unless a less number be agreed upon, and shall be selected, impaneled and sworn in the same manner that juries in other civil actions are selected, impaneled and sworn, provided a juror may be challenged for cause on the ground that he is a taxpayer of the district seeking the condemnation of any real estate. [L. '03, p. 195, § 6; L. '09, p. 373, § 6.]

§ 912. Trial—View by Jury.

A judge of the superior court shall preside at the trial and witnesses may be examined in behalf of either party to the proceedings, as in other civil actions, and upon the request of all the parties interested in such proceedings the court shall cause the jury impaneled to hear the same, to view the premises sought to be taken, and upon the request of any less number of the persons interested in the proceedings, the court may cause the jury to view the premises, pending the hearing of the case. [L. '03, p. 195, § 7; L. '09, p. 374, § 7.]

§ 913. Verdict for Full Value of Property.

Upon the close of the evidence, and the argument of counsel, the court shall instruct the jury as to the matters submitted to them, and the law pertaining thereto, whereupon the jury shall retire and deliberate and determine upon the amount of compensation in money that shall be paid to the owner or owners of the real estate sought to be taken for such schoolhouse site purposes therefor, which shall be the amount found by the jury to be the fair and full value of such premises; and when the jury shall have determined upon their verdict, they shall return the same to the court as in other civil actions. [L. '03, p. 195, § 8; L. '09, p. 374, § 8.]

Cited in 69 Wash. 194, 195.

This section does not limit the recovery to the naked value of the land, in violation of the constitution requiring payment of the value of the land taken and for any depreciation to the land not taken; since the statute is directory and contains no words of limitation confining the jury to the value of the land taken alone: State ex rel. School Dist. No. 56 v. Superior Court, 69 Wash. 189, 124 Pac. 484.

§ 914. Verdict by Ten Jurors.

When ten of the jurors agree upon a verdict, the verdict so agreed upon shall be signed by the foreman, and the verdict so agreed upon shall be and stand as the verdict of the jury. [L. '03, p. 196, § 9; L. '09, p. 374, § 9.]

§ 915. Waiver of Jury.

In case a jury is waived, the compensation that shall be paid for the premises taken shall be determined by the court and the proceedings shall be the same as in the trial of issues of fact by the court in other civil actions. [L. '03, p. 196, § 10; L. '09, p. 374, § 10.]

§ 916. Judgment—Effect.

Upon the verdict of the jury, or upon the determination by the court of the compensation to be paid for the property sought to be taken as herein provided, judgment shall be entered against such school district in favor of the owner or owners of the real estate sought to be taken, for the amount found as compensation therefor, and upon the payment of such amount by such school district to the clerk of such court for the use of the owner or owners of, and the persons interested in the premises sought to be taken, the court shall enter a decree of appropriation of the real estate sought to be taken, thereby vesting the title to the same in such school district; and a certified copy of such decree of appropriation may be filed in the office of the county auditor of the county wherein the real estate taken is situated, and shall be recorded by such auditor like a deed of real estate, and with like effect. The money so paid to the clerk of the court shall be by him paid to the person or persons entitled thereto, upon the order of the court. [L. '03, p. 196, § 11; L. '09, p. 374, § 11.]

All the costs of such proceedings in the superior court shall be paid by the school district initiating such proceedings. [L. '03, p. 196, § 12; L. '09, p. 375, § 12.]

§ 918. Appeal to Supreme Court.

Either party may appeal from the judgment for compensation awarded for the property taken, entered in the superior court, to the supreme court of the state within sixty days after the entry of the judgment, and such appeal shall bring before the supreme court the justness of the compensation awarded for the property taken, and any error occurring on the hearing of such matter, prejudicial to the party appealing, [and no bond shall be required of either party appealing from such judgment]: Provided, however, that if the owner or owners of the land taken accepts the sum awarded by the jury or court, he or they shall be deemed thereby to have waived their right of appeal to the supreme court. [L. '03, p. 196, § 13; L. '09, p. 375, § 13.]

The words in brackets were omitted from the act of 1909, which was part of the school code, and did not expressly repeal the act of 1903.

§ 919. Possession of Premises.

An appeal from such judgment by the owner or owners of the land sought to be taken, shall not have the effect to preclude the school district from taking possession of the premises sought, pending the appeal, provided the amount of the judgment against the school district shall have been paid in to the clerk of the court, as hereinbefore provided. [L. '03, p. 197, § 14; L. '09, p. 375, § 14.]

§ 920. Parties—Designation—Fees of Clerk.

In all proceedings under this act the school district seeking to acquire title to real estate for a schoolhouse site, shall be denominated plaintiff, and all other persons interested therein shall be denominated defendants; and in all such proceedings the clerk of the superior court wherein any such proceedings is brought shall charge nothing for his services, except in taking an appeal from the judgment entered in the superior court. [L. '03, p. 197, § 15; L. '09, p. 375, § 15.]

§ 921. Eminent Domain by Corporations—Petition, Requisites of.

Any corporation authorized by law to appropriate land, real estate, premises, or other property for right of way or any other corporate purposes, may present to the superior court of the county in which any land, real estate, or premises, or other property sought to be appropriated shall be situated, or to the judge of such superior court in any county where he has jurisdiction or is holding court, a petition in which the land, real estate, premises, or other property sought to be appropriated shall be described with reasonable certainty, and setting forth the name of each and every owner, encumbrancer, or other person or party interested in the same, or any part thereof, so far as the same can be ascertained from the public records, the object for which the land is sought to be appropriated, and praying that a jury be impaneled to ascertain and determine the compensation to be made in money, irrespective of any benefit from any improvement proposed by such corporation, to such owner or owners, respectively, and to all tenants, encumbrancers, and others interested, for the taking or injuriously affecting such lands, real estate, premises, or other property, or in case a jury be waived, as in other civil cases in courts of record in the manner prescribed by law, then that the compensation to be made, as aforesaid, be ascertained and determined by the court, or judge thereof. § 922. Notice—Contents and Service.

A notice, stating briefly the objects of the petition, and containing a description of the land, real estate, premises or property sought to be appropriated, and stating the time and place when and where the same will be presented to the court, or the judge thereof, shall be served on each and every person named therein as owner, encumbrancer, tenant, or otherwise interested therein, at least ten days previous to the time designated in such notice for the presentation of such petition. Such service shall be made by delivering a copy of such notice to each of the persons or parties so named therein, if a resident of the state; or in case of the absence of such person or party from his or her usual place of abode, by leaving a copy of such notice at his or her usual place of abode; or in case of a foreign corporation, at its principal place of business in this state, with some person of more than sixteen years of age. In case of domestic corporations, such service shall be made upon the president, secretary, or other director or trustee of such corporation. In case of minors or [on] their guardians, or in case no guardian shall have been appointed, then on the person who has the care and custody of such minor. In case of idiots, lunatics, or distracted persons, on their guardian; or in case no guardian shall have been appointed, then on the person in whose care or charge they are found. In case the land, real estate, premises, or other property sought to be appropriated is [state, school,] or county land, the notice shall be served on the auditor of the county in which the land, real estate, premises, or other property sought to be appropriated is situated. In all cases where the owner or person claiming an interest in such real or other property is a nonresident of this state, or where the residence of such owner or person is unknown, and an affidavit of the agent or attorney of the corporation shall be filed that such owner or person is a nonresident of this state, or that, after diligent inquiry, his residence is unknown, or cannot be ascertained by such deponent, service may be made by publication thereof in any newspaper published in the county where such lands are situated, once a week for two successive weeks; and in case no newspaper is published in said county, then such publication may be had in a newspaper published in the county nearest to the county in which lies the land sought to be appropriated. And such publication shall be deemed service upon each of such nonresident person or persons whose residence is unknown. Such notice shall be signed by the president, manager, secretary, or attorney of the corporation; and in case the proceedings provided for in this act are instituted by the owner or any other person or party interested in the land, real estate, or other property sought to be appropriated, then such notice shall be signed by such owner, person, or party interested, or his, her or its attorney. Such notice may be served by any competent person over twenty-one years of age. Due proof of the service of such notice, by affidavit of the person serving the same or by the printer's affidavit of publication, shall be filed with the clerk of such superior court before or at the time of the presentation of such petition. Want of service of such notice shall render the subsequent proceedings void as to the person not served; but all persons or parties having been served with notice as herein provided, either by publication or otherwise, shall be bound by the subsequent proceedings. In all other cases not otherwise provided for, service of notices, order, and other papers in the proceedings authorized by this act may be made as the superior court, or the judge thereof, may direct. [Cf. L. '88, p. 58, § 2; L. '90, p. 295, § 2; 2 H. C., § 649.]

§ 923. Service Where State is Party Defendant.

In all condemnation proceedings brought for the purpose of appropriating any land owned by the state or in which it has an interest, service of process shall be made upon the commissioner of public lands. [L. '07, p. 507, § 1.]

§ 924. Adjournment of Proceedings.

The court or judge may, upon application of the petitioner or of any owner or party interested, for reasonable cause, adjourn the proceedings from time to time, and may order new or further notice to be given to any party whose interest may be affected. [Cf. L. '88, p. 60, § 3; L. '90, p. 297, § 3; 2 H. C., § 650.]

§ 925. Court to Adjudicate Necessity for Appropriation—Calling Jury.

At the time and place appointed for hearing said petition, or to which the same may have been adjourned, if the court or judge thereof shall have satisfactory proof that all parties interested in the land, real estate, premises or other property described in said petition, have been duly served with said notice as above prescribed, and shall be further satisfied by competent proof that the contemplated use for which the land, real estate, premises or other property sought to be appropriated is really a public use, or is for a private use for a private way of necessity, and that the public interest requires the prosecution of such enterprise, or the private use is for a private way of necessity, and that the land, real estate, premises or other property sought to be appropriated are required and necessary for the purposes of such enterprise, the court or judge thereof may make an order, to be recorded in the minutes of said court, directing the sheriff to summon . . . a jury. [Cf. L. '88, p. 60, § 4; L. '90, p. 297, § 4; 2 H. C., § 651; L. '97, p. 63, § 1.]

A judge of the superior court shall preside at the trial, which shall be held at such time as the court, or the judge thereof, may direct, at the courthouse in the county where the land, real estate, premises, or other property sought to be appropriated is situated, and the jurors at such trial shall make in each case a separate assessment of damages which shall result to any person, corporation, or company, or to the state, or to any county, by reason of the appropriation and use of such land, real estate, premises, or other property by such corporation, as aforesaid, for any and all corporate purposes, and shall ascertain, determine, and award the amount of damages to be paid to said owner or owners respectively, and to all tenants, encumbrancers, and others interested, for the taking or injuriously affecting such land, real estate, premises, or other property, for the purpose of such enterprise, irrespective of any benefit from any improvement proposed by such corporation. Upon the trial, witnesses may be examined in behalf of either party to the proceedings, as in civil actions; and a witness served with a subpoena in such proceedings shall be punished for failure to appear at such trial, or for perjury, as upon a trial of a civil action. Upon the verdict of the jury, judgment shall be entered for the amount of the damages awarded to such owner or owners respectively, and to all tenants, encumbrancers, and others interested, for the taking or injuriously affecting such land, real estate, premises, or other property. In case a jury is waived as in civil cases in courts of record in the manner prescribed by law, the compensation to be paid for the property sought to be appropriated shall be ascertained and determined by the court, or the judge thereof, and the proceedings shall be the same as in trials of an issue of fact by the court. § 927. Judgment and Decree of Appropriation.

At the time of rendering judgment for damages, whether upon default or trial, if the damages awarded be then paid, or upon their payment, if not paid at the time of rendering such judgment, the court, or judge thereof, shall also enter a judgment or decree of appropriation of the land, real estate, premises, right of way, or other property sought to be appropriated, thereby vesting the legal title to the same in the corporation seeking to appropriate such land, real estate, premises, right of way, or other property for corporate purposes. Whenever said judgment or decree of appropriation shall affect lands, real estate, or other premises, a certified copy of such judgment or decree of appropriation may be filed for record in the office of the auditor of the county where the said land, real estate, or other premises are situated, and shall be recorded by said auditor like a deed of real estate, and with like effect. If the title to said land, real estate, premises, or other property attempted to be acquired is found to be defective from any cause, the corporation may again institute proceedings to acquire the same, as in this chapter provided. § 928. Decree Against State Lands—Filing With Commissioner—Effect.

When a decree is entered appropriating lands owned by the state, or in which the state has an interest, before any such decree shall be effective, the plaintiff shall cause to be filed in the office of the commissioner of public lands a certified copy of such decree, together with a plat of the lands appropriated and contiguous thereto, in form and substance as prescribed and required by the board of state land commissioners, showing in detail the lands appropriated, together with the amount of damages fixed and awarded in the decree. Upon receipt of such decree, plat and damages, the commissioner of public lands shall examine the same, and if he shall find that the final decree and proceedings comply with the original petition and notice and any amendment duly authorized, and that no additional interest of the state has been taken or appropriated through error or mistake, he shall cause notations thereof to be made upon the abstracts, records and tract books of his office, and shall issue to the plaintiff his certificate, reciting compliance, in substance, with the requirements of this act, particularly describing the lands appropriated, and thereupon the appropriation shall become effective and the commissioner of public lands shall forthwith transmit the amount received as damages to the state treasurer, as in case of the sale of land, and the subdivision of land through which such right of way is appropriated shall thereafter be sold or leased subject to the right of way. [L. '07, p. 507, § 2; L. '09, p. 625, § 1.] § 929. Payment to Petitioner—On Appeal Money to Remain in Court.

fore prescribed, the petitioner, or any officer of or other person duly appointed by said corporation, may make payment of the damages assessed to the parties entitled to the same, and of the costs of the proceedings, by depositing the same with the clerk of said superior court, to be paid out under the direction of the court, or judge thereof; and upon making such payment into the court of the damages assessed and allowed, and of the costs to any land, real estate, premises, or other property mentioned in said petition, such corporation shall be released and discharged from any and all further liability therefor, unless upon appeal the owner, or other person or party interested, shall recover a greater amount of damages; and in that case, only for the amount in excess of the sum paid into said court, and the costs of appeal: Provided, that in case of an appeal to the supreme court of the state by any party to the proceedings, the money so paid into the superior court by such corporation as aforesaid shall remain in the custody of said court until the final determination of the proceedings by the said supreme court. § 930. Disposition of Money—Conflicting Claims.

Any person, corporation, state, or county claiming to be entitled to any money paid into court, as provided in this act may apply to the court therefor, and upon furnishing evidence satisfactory to the court that he or it is entitled to the same, the court shall make an order directing the payment to such claimant the portion of such money as he or it shall be found entitled to; but if, upon application, the court, or judge thereof, shall decide that the title to the land, real estate, premises, or other property specified in the application of such claimant was in such condition as to require that an action be commenced to determine the conflicting claims thereto, he shall refuse such order until such action is commenced, and the conflicting claims to such land, real estate, premises, or other property be determined according to law. § 931. Appeal.

Either party may appeal from the judgment for damages entered in the superior court to the supreme court of the state within thirty days after the entry of judgment as aforesaid, and such appeal shall bring before the supreme court the propriety and justness of the amount of damages in respect to the parties to the appeal; Provided, however, that no bond shall be required of any person interested in the property sought to be appropriated by such corporation, but in case the corporation appropriating such land, real estate, premises, or other property is appellant, it shall give a bond like that prescribed in the next following section, to be executed, filed, and approved in the same manner: And provided further, that if the owner of the land, real estate, premises, or other property accepts the sum awarded by the jury, the court, or the judge thereof, he shall be deemed thereby to have waived conclusively an appeal to the supreme court, and final judgment by default may be rendered in the superior court as in other cases. CHAPTER VI.

WASTE, TRESPASS AND NUISANCE.

Wrongs heretofore remediable by action of waste shall be subjects of actions, as other wrongs. [Cf. L. '54, p. 206, § 403; L. '69, p. 143, § 554; Cd. '81, § 600; 2 H. C., § 659.]

§ 938. Action Against Guardian or Tenant — Damages — Forfeiture — Eviction.

If a guardian, tenant in severalty or in common, for life or for years, of real property, commit waste thereon, any person injured thereby may maintain an action at law for damages therefor against such guardian or tenant; in which action there may be judgment for treble damages, forfeiture of the estate of the party committing or permitting the waste, and of eviction from the property. But judgment of forfeiture and eviction shall only be given in favor of the person entitled to the reversion against the tenant in possession, when the injury to the estate in reversion is determined in the action to be equal to the value of the tenant's estate or unexpired term, or to have been done or suffered in malice. [Cf. L. '54, p. 206, § 403; L. '69, p. 143, § 555; Cd. '81, § 601; 2 H. C., § 660.]

Injuries to lands formerly cognizable in which a stranger to the land was the wrongdoer, and which had been cognizable the technical action of waste were asin the action of trespass, were collected and provided for in the two following sections: McLeod v. Ellis, 2 Wash. 117, 26 Pac. 76.

The common-law remedies embraced in these sections are continued as before, though they are now to be known as actions for injuries to real property instead of waste in one case and trespass in the other: Id.

The fact that a mortgagee in possession of premises is committing waste will not authorize the appointment of a receiver in the absence of proof of the mortgagee's insolvency: Brundage v. Home Savings & Loan Assn., 11 Wash. 277, 39 Pac. 666.

Whenever any person shall cut down, girdle, or otherwise injure or carry off any tree, timber, or shrub on the land of another person, or in the street or highway in front of any person's house, village, town, or city lot, or cultivated grounds, or on the commons or public grounds of any village, town, or city, or on the street or highway in front thereof, without lawful authority, in an action by such person, village, town or city, against the person committing such trespasses, or any of them, if judgment be given for the plaintiff, it shall be given for treble the amount of damages claimed or assessed therefor, as the case may be. § 940. Casual or Involuntary Trespass—Damages.

If upon trial of such action it shall appear that the trespass was casual or involuntary, or that the defendant had probable cause to believe that the land on which such trespass was committed was his own, or that of the person in whose service or by whose direction the act was done, or that such tree or timber was taken from uninclosed woodlands, for the purpose of repairing any public highway or bridge upon the land, or adjoining it, judgment shall only be given for single damages. Where a boundary line between two quarter section corners is in dispute, a land owner who adopts a line run on the magnetic variation called for in the field-notes, without resorting to a proper method for determining the true line, is guilty of voluntary and not a casual or involuntary trespass, if he cuts timber on the adjoining tract: Heybrook v. Index Lumber Co., 49 Wash. 378, 95 Pac. 324.

§ 941. Injunction to Prevent Waste on Public Lands.

When any two or more persons are opposing claimants under the laws of the United States to any land in this state, and one is threatening to commit upon such land waste which tends materially to lessen the value of the inheritance, and which cannot be compensated by damages, and there is imminent danger that unless restrained such waste will be committed, the party, on filing his complaint and satisfying the court or judge of the existence of the facts, may have an injunction to restrain the adverse party. In all cases he shall give notice and bond as is provided in other cases where injunction is granted, and the injunction when granted shall be set aside or modified as is provided generally for injunction and restraining orders. [L. '54, p. 206, § 404; Cd. '81, § 604; 2 H. C., § 663.]

§ 942. Action by Occupant of Unsurveyed Land.

Any person now occupying and settled upon, or who may hereafter occupy or settle upon, any of the unsurveyed public land, not to exceed one hundred and sixty acres, in this state, for the purpose of holding and cultivating the same, may commence and maintain any action, in any court of competent jurisdiction, for interference with or injuries done to his or her possessions of said lands, against any person or persons so interfering with or injuring such lands or possession: Provided always, that if any of the aforesaid class of settlers are absent from their claims continuously for a period of six months in any one year, the said person or persons shall be deemed to have forfeited all rights under this section. § 943. Actionable Nuisances, Defined.

The obstruction of any highway, or the closing of the channel of any stream used for boating or rafting logs, lumber, or timber, or whatever is injurious to health, or indecent, or offensive to the senses, or an obstruction to the free use of property, so as to essentially interfere with the comfortable enjoyment of the life and property, is a nuisance, and the subject of an action for damages and other and further relief. [Cf. L. '54, p. 207, § 405; L. '69, p. 144, § 559; Cd. '81, § 605; 2 H. C., § 664.]

The fact that the remedy provided by this section for the abatement of a nuisance is an action at law, will not preclude the court from granting equitable relief when a suit at law for the abatement of the nuisance would prove entirely inadequate: Carl v. West Aberdeen Land & Imp. Co., 13 Wash. 616, 43 Pac. 890.

Injunction lies to abate the maintenance of a bawdy-house as a public nuisance specially injurious to plaintiff's adjoining property used for residence purposes, the common-law remedies of indictment and action on the case being inadequate, and this rule has not been changed by statute in this state: Ingersoll v. Rousseau, 35 Wash. 92, 76 Pac. 513, 1 Ann. Cas. 35.

An action by a husband and wife for damages to the reputation of their hotel business, through improper acts by the defendants in securing rooms for immoral purposes, is an action for a private nuisance per se, under sections 943, 944: Hall v. Galloway, 76 Wash. 42, 135 Pac. 478.

A mail carrier whose route was over a bridge negligently destroyed by the defendant sustains special damage for which he may maintain action, under the common law and under this section: Sholin v. Skamania Boom Co., 56 Wash. 303, 105 Pac. 632, 28 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1053.

§ 944. Who may Maintain.

Such action may be brought by any person whose property is injuriously affected or whose personal enjoyment is lessened by the nuisance. If judgment be given for the plaintiff in such action, he may, in addition to the execution to enforce the same, on motion, have an order allowing a warrant to issue to the sheriff to abate such nuisance. Such motion shall be allowed, of course, unless it appear on the hearing that the nuisance has ceased, or that such remedy is inadequate to abate or prevent the continuance of the nuisance, in which latter case the plaintiff may have the defendant enjoined. § 945. Warrant for Abatement of Nuisance.

If the order be made, the clerk shall thereafter, at any time within six months, when requested by the plaintiff, issue such warrant directed to the sheriff, requiring him forthwith to abate the nuisance at the expense of the defendant, and return the warrant as soon thereafter as may be, with his proceedings indorsed thereon. The expenses of abating the nuisance may be levied by the sheriff on the property of the defendant, and in this respect the warrant is to be deemed an execution against property. [Cf. L. '54, p. 207, § 407; L. '69, p. 145, § 561; Cd. '81, § 607; 2 H. C., § 666.]

§ 946. Stay of Warrant.

At any time before the order is made or the warrant issues, the defendant may, on motion to the court or judge thereof, have an order to stay the issue of such warrant for such period as may be necessary, not exceeding six months, to allow the defendant to abate the nuisance himself, upon his giving bond to the plaintiff, in a sufficient amount, with one or more sureties, to the satisfaction of the court, or judge thereof, that he will abate it within the time and in the manner specified in such order. The sureties shall justify as bail upon arrest. If the defendant fails to abate such nuisance within the time specified, the warrant for the abatement of the nuisance may issue as if the same had not been stayed. [L. '69, p. 145, § 562; Cd. '81, § 608; 2 H. C., § 667.]

§ 946-1. Houses of Prostitution to be Abated.

Whoever shall erect, establish, maintain, continue, use, own or lease any building or place used for the purpose of lewdness, assignation or prostitution is guilty of a nuisance, and the building or place, or the ground itself, in or upon which lewdness, assignation or prostitution is conducted, permitted or carried on, continued or exists, and the furniture, fixtures, musical instruments, and contents are also declared a nuisance, and shall be enjoined and abated as hereinafter provided. [L. '13, p. 391, § 1.]

Cited in 80 Wash. 262, 270; 81 Wash. 48; 83 Wash. 677; 90 Wash. 566; 95 Wash. 701; 103 Wash. 207.

In a prosecution under the "Redlight Law," a permanent abandonment, in good faith, of the use of a house for the purposes of prostitution, is not shown so as to warrant the court in denying a permanent injunction against the premises, where the facts merely show a hasty change in existing conditions after the prosecution was instituted, coupled with a declaration by the parties not to again engage in or permit the business at the place in question: State ex rel. Kern v. Jerome, 80 Wash. 261, 141 Pac. 753.

The "redlight" or abatement law, being penal in its nature, will not be construed to authorize the seizure and sale of personal property held under a conditional sales contract, in the absence of a showing that the owner was charged with knowledge of the use of its property and given an opportunity to be heard in defense of the use to which it was put: Simon-Piano Co. v. Fairfield, 103 Wash. 206, 173 Pac. 457.

§ 946-2. Actions—Temporary Injunction.

Whenever a nuisance exists, as defined in this act, the prosecuting attorney or any citizen of the county may maintain an action in equity in the name of the state of Washington upon the relation of such prosecuting attorney or citizen, to perpetually enjoin said nuisance, the person or persons conducting or maintaining the same, and the owner or the agent of the building or ground upon which said nuisance exists. In such action, the court or judge may upon the presentation of a petition therefor alleging that the nuisance complained of exists, allow a temporary injunction if it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court or judge that such nuisance exists. At least three days' notice in writing shall be given the defendant of the hearing of the application. Any violation of the provisions of injunction herein provided shall be a contempt as hereinafter provided. [L. '13, p. 391, § 2.]

Cited in 81 Wash. 49; 83 Wash. 277; 94 Wash. 601.

A jury trial cannot be demanded in a civil action brought in equity in the name of the state to abate the same, as authorized by this section: State ex rel. Dow v. Nichols, 83 Wash. 676, 145 Pac. 986.

There is no defect of parties plaintiff, in an action charging defendant with maintaining a nuisance, because the caption failed to show that the action was brought "upon the relation of the prosecuting attorney": State v. Knutson, 81 Wash. 47, 142 Pac. 444.

§ 946-3. General Reputation of Place—Dismissal of Action.

In such action evidence of the general reputation of the place shall be admissible for the purpose of proving the existence of said nuisance. If the complaint is filed by a citizen, it shall not be dismissed except upon a sworn statement made by the complainant and his attorney, setting forth the reasons why the action should be dismissed, and the dismissal approved by the prosecuting attorney in writing or in open court. If the court is of the opinion that the action ought not to be dismissed, he may direct the prosecuting attorney to prosecute such action to judgment, and if the action is continued more than once, upon the application of either party, any citizen of the county or the prosecuting attorney may be substituted for the complaining party and prosecute said action to judgment. If the action is brought by a citizen and the court finds there was no reasonable ground or cause for said action, the costs may be taxed to such citizen who originally brought such action. [L. '13, p. 391, § 3.]

§ 946-4. Contempt—Punishment.

In case of the violation of any injunction granted under the provisions of this act, the court or judge may summarily try and punish the offender. The proceedings shall be commenced by filing with the clerk of the court an information under oath, setting out the alleged facts constituting such violation, upon which the court or judge shall cause an attachment to issue, under which the defendant shall be arrested. The trial may be had upon affidavit, or either party may demand the production and oral examination of the witnesses. A party found guilty of contempt under the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than two hundred nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than three nor more than six months, or by both fine and imprisonment. [L. '13, p. 392, § 4.]

Cited in 99 Wash. 2. 8.

An injunction under this section, abating the nuisance and enjoining the illegal use of the premises by the defendants, their agents, and servants, and all other persons, operates in rem against the specific property, and is constructive notice and binds all persons thereafter dealing with the property: State v. Terry, 99 Wash. 1, 168 Pac. 513.

§ 946-5. Order of Abatement—Effect.

If the existence of the nuisance be established in an action as provided in this act, or in a criminal proceeding, an order of abatement shall be entered as a part of the judgment in the case, which order shall direct the removal from the building or place of all fixtures, furniture, musical instruments or movable property used in conducting the nuisance, and may direct the sale thereof in the manner provided for the sale of chattels under execution and effectual closing of the building or place against its use for any purpose, and so keeping it closed for a period not exceeding six months. If any person shall break and enter or use a building or place so directed to be closed, he shall be punished as for contempt as provided in the preceding section. For removing and selling all movable property, the officer shall be entitled to charge and receive the same fees as he would for levying upon and selling like property on execution and for closing the premises and keeping them closed, a reasonable sum shall be allowed by the court. [L. '13, p. 392, § 5.]

§ 946-6. Proceeds of Sales.

The proceeds of the sale of the personal property, as provided in the preceding section, shall be applied in payment of the costs of the action and abatement, and the balance, if any, shall be paid to the person owning such property prior to said sale. [L. '13, p. 396, § 6.]

§ 946-7. Voluntary Abatement—Release.

If the owner appears and pays all costs of the proceedings, and files a bond with sureties to be approved by the clerk in the full value of the property, to be ascertained by the court conditioned that he will immediately abate said nuisance and prevent the same from being established or kept therein within a period of one year thereafter, the court or judge may, if satisfied of his good faith, order the premises closed under the order of abatement to be delivered to said owner, and said order of abatement canceled so far as the same may relate to said property, and if the proceeding be an action in equity and said bond be given and costs therein paid before judgment and order of abatement, the action shall be thereby abated as to said building only. The release of the property under the provisions of this action [section] shall not release it from any judgment, lien, penalty or liability to which it may be subject by law. [L. '13, p. 393, § 7.]

Cited in 80 Wash. 269; 90 Wash. 569.

The giving of a bond to abate a prosecution under the "Red-light Law" does not relieve the property from the tax of $300 assessed against the property, in view of this section: State ex rel. Kern v. Jerome, 80 Wash. 261, 141 Pac. 753.

§ 946-8. Penalty—Tax Lien.

Whenever a permanent injunction issues against any person for maintaining a nuisance as herein defined, or against any owner or agent of the building kept or used for the purposes prohibited by this act, there shall be assessed against said building and the ground upon which the same is located and against the person or persons maintaining said nuisance, and the owner or agent of said premises, a tax of three hundred dollars. The assessment of said tax shall be made by the county assessor of the county in which the nuisance exists and shall be made within three months from the date of the granting of the permanent injunction. In case the assessor fails or neglects to make said assessment the same shall be made by the sheriff of the county, and a return of said assessment shall be made to the county treasurer. Said tax may be enforced and collected in the manner prescribed for the collection of taxes under the general revenue laws and shall be a perpetual lien upon the real property, and personal property not already sold as provided by this act, used for the purpose of maintaining said nuisance, and the payment of said tax shall not relieve the person or building from any penalties provided by law, and when collected shall go into the county general fund. [L. '13, p. 393, § 8.]

Cited in 80 Wash. 270; 94 Wash. 601.

The provision for a fine of $300 is unconstitutional as a taking of property without due process, where the owner was not in possession and had no notice, actual or constructive, of the purposes for which the house was used: State ex rel. Kern v. Emerson, 90 Wash. 565, 155 Pac. 579.

Under this section, it is not a defense to the action that the property was not being used for the purposes of prostitution at the time the action of abatement was commenced nor since, where it appears that the owners knew it was being so used and made no effort to abate the nuisance after arrests had been made: State ex rel. Lundin v. Humphrey, 94 Wash. 599, 162 Pac. 983.

CHAPTER VII.

ESTABLISHMENT OF BOUNDARIES OF LANDS.

§ 947. Establishment of Lost or Uncertain Boundary Lines.

Whenever the boundaries of lands between two or more adjoining proprietors shall have been lost, or by time, accident, or any other cause shall have become obscure or uncertain, and the adjoining proprietors cannot agree to establish the same, one or more of said adjoining proprietors may bring his civil action in equity, in the superior court for the county in which such lands, or part of them, are situated, and such superior court, as a court of equity, may, upon such complaint, order such lost or uncertain boundaries to be erected and established and properly marked. § 948. Commissioners Appointed—Duties of.

Said court may, in its discretion, appoint commissioners, not exceeding three competent and disinterested persons, one or more of whom shall be practical surveyors, residents of the state, which commissioners shall be, before entering upon their duties, duly sworn to perform their said duties faithfully, and the said commissioners shall thereupon survey, erect, establish, and properly mark said boundaries, and return to the court a plat of said survey, and the field-notes thereof, together with their report. Said report shall be advisory, and either party may except thereto, in the same manner as to a report of referees. [L. '86, p. 105, § 2; 2 H. C., § 669.]

§ 949. Proceedings, How Conducted—Decree.

The proceedings shall be conducted as other civil actions, and the court, on final decree, shall apportion the costs of the proceedings equitably, and the costs so apportioned shall be a lien upon the said lands, severally, as against any transfer or encumbrance made of or attaching to said lands, from the time of the filing of the complaint: Provided, a notice of lis pendens is filed in the auditor's office of the proper county, in accordance with law. [L. '86, p. 105, § 3; 2 H. C., § 670.]

This section does not apply where the evidence failed to establish that the boundary had been lost, and defendants prevailed on cross-complaints alleging title by adverse possession to the line of a boundary fence: Porria v. Castle Rock, 82 Wash. 103, 143 Pac. 315.

CHAPTER VIII.

ACTIONS BY AND AGAINST PUBLIC CORPORATIONS.

§ 950. Actions by Public Corporations.

An action at law may be maintained by any county, incorporated town, school district, or other public corporation of like character in this state, in its corporate name, and upon a cause of action accruing to it, in its corporate character, and not otherwise, in either of the following cases:—

1. Upon a contract made with such public corporation;
2. Upon a liability prescribed by law in favor of such public corporation;
3. To recover a penalty or forfeiture given to such public corporation;
4. To recover damages for an injury to the corporate rights or property of such public corporation. [L. '69, p. 154, § 601; Cd. '81, § 661; 2 H. C., § 671.]

See supra, § 886, actions against the state.

See infra, § 3982, capacity of counties to sue and be sued.

See infra, § 3983, actions to be brought in corporate name.

See infra, § 4779, power and liability of school districts.

See infra, § 8981, power of cities of first class to sue and be sued.

Actions by and Against Municipal Corporations in General: See Remington's Digest, Mun. Corp., §§ 574—582.

Actions by Counties: See Remington's Digest, Counties, §§ 93—103.

A county under the laws of this state has the legal capacity to maintain an action in its own name to enjoin the obstruction of a public highway; since the restriction in this section relates only to actions at law: Lincoln County v. Fish, 38 Wash. 105, 80 Pac. 435.

§ 951. Actions Against Public Corporations.

An action may be maintained against a county, or other of the public corporations mentioned or described in the preceding section, either upon a contract made by such county or other public corporation in its corporate character, and within the scope of its authority, or for an injury to the rights of the plaintiff arising from some act or omission of such county or other public corporation. [L. '69, p. 154, § 602; Cd. '81, § 662; 2 H. C., § 672.]

Cited in 4 Wash. 658; 20 Wash. 113; 21 Wash. 648; 48 Wash. 88; 88 Wash. 170, 173, 177; 95 Wash. 500, 501; 97 Wash. 146; 100 Wash. 268; 101 Wash. 382; 102 Wash. 344; 103 Wash. 178; 104 Wash. 271; 108 Wash. 426; 109 Wash. 654, 657; 110 Wash. 99, 101.

This section was continued in force by constitution, article XXVII, section 3, providing that all territorial laws not repugnant to the constitution shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitation or were altered or repealed by the legislature: Orrock v. South Moran

This section is not impliedly repealed by section 3946, infra, defining the duties of the sheriff, and providing that the county is not responsible for the acts of the sheriff while engaged in his official duties as defined therein: Arishin v. King County, 103 Wash. 176, 173 Pac. 1020.

This section is not impliedly repealed as to torts by school districts, by the School Code: Kelly v. School Dist. No. 71, 102 Wash. 343, 173 Pac. 333.

A county is liable for injuries sustained through the operation of a county ferry, under this section, and it is immaterial that section 5477, infra, authorizing counties to operate ferries was passed subsequently, since the former was a general act: Bergen v. Lewis County, 95 Wash. 499, 164 Pac. 73.

This section is extended by inference to include townships, subsequently recognized as public corporations; since townships are a species of the genus municipal corporations, recognized by the constitution and laws: Orrock v. South Moran Township, 97 Wash. 144, 165 Pac. 1096.

The effect of this section, giving a right of action against a county for injury by some act or omission of the county where none existed at common law, is to make the county answerable under the general rules of procedure in the superior courts, and liable thereunder to suits in other counties where the venue is local: State ex rel. King County v. Superior Court, Pierce County, 104 Wash. 268, 176 Pac. 352.

Actions Against School Districts: See Remington's Digest, Schools, § 29-1, and cases cited and notes to § 4706, infra.

Liability of public corporation on implied contract. 39 L. B. A. (N. S.) 43, 72; 46 L. B. A. (N. S.) 921.

§ 952. Verification of Pleadings by Public Corporations.

In such actions, the pleadings of the public corporation shall be verified by any of the officers representing it in its corporate capacity, in the same manner as if such officer was a defendant in the action, or by the agent or attorney thereof, as in ordinary actions. [L. '69, p. 154, § 603; Cd. '81, § 663; 2 H. C., § 673.]

§ 953. Manner of Enforcing Judgments.

If judgment be given for the recovery of money or damages against such county or other public corporation, no execution shall issue thereon for the collection of such money or damages, but such judgment in such respect shall be satisfied as follows:—

1. The party in whose favor such judgment is given may, at any time thereafter, when execution might issue on a like judgment against a private person, present a certified transcript of the docket thereof to the officer of such county or other public corporation who is authorized to draw orders on the treasury thereof;

2. On the presentation of such transcript, such officer shall draw an order on such treasurer for the amount of the judgment, in favor of the party for whom the same was given. Thereafter such order shall be presented for payment and paid with like effect and in like manner as other orders upon the treasurer of such county or other public corporation;

3. The certified transcript herein provided for shall not be furnished by the clerk, unless at the time an execution might issue on such judgment if the same were against a private person, nor until satisfaction of the same judgment in respect to such money or damages be acknowledged as in ordinary cases. The clerk shall include in the transcript the memorandum of such acknowledgment of satisfaction and the entry thereof. Unless the transcript contain such memorandum, no order upon the treasurer shall issue thereon. [L. '69, p. 154, § 604; Cd. '81, § 664; 2 H. C., § 674.]

Cited in 9 Wash. 400; 14 Wash. 223; 16 Wash. 458; 18 Wash. 37, 227; 20 Wash. 398; 31 Wash. 539; 34 Wash. 352, 641; 45 Wash. 53; 50 Wash. 103, 63 Wash. 232, 242; 92 Wash. 592; 111 Wash. 108, 114.

This section did not contemplate the issue of warrants in satisfaction of judgments except against existing funds, but a general practice has grown out of issuing them like other warrants and paying them as the treasurer is able, with interest at the legal rate from time of presentation until paid: Seymour v. Spokane, 6 Wash. 362, 33 Pac. 832.

An action cannot be maintained upon a city warrant, but the holder's remedy, in case of refusal of the treasurer to make payment in the order of presentation, is by mandamus, and questions affecting the legality of the warrant can be tried therein: Cloud v. Sumas, 9 Wash. 399, 37 Pac. 305; Union Savings Bank & Tr. Co. v. Gelbach, 8 Wash. 497, 36 Pac. 467, 24 L. R. A. 359.

All that a judgment creditor of a city can obtain is a warrant for the payment of his claim according to the provisions of this section. No execution can be issued thereon, against the town: Cloud v. Sumas, supra; see La France Fire Engine Co. v. Mt. Vernon, 9 Wash. 142, 37 Pac. 287, 38 Pac. 80, 43 Am. St. Rep. 827; La France Fire Engine Co. v. Davis, 9 Wash. 600, 38 Pac. 154; Eidemiller v. Tacoma, 14 Wash. 376, 44 Pac. 877.

This section does not preclude supplemental proceedings to enforce a judgment against the state dental board, which under section 10037, infra, handles its funds and satisfies its claims the same as any individual or corporation: Stern v. State Board of Dental Examiners, 50 Wash. 100, 96 Pac. 693.

In the absence of a special provision in the charter of a city relating to the payment of judgments, the method of payment is governed by this section: Lorence v. Bean, 18 Wash. 36, 50 Pac. 582.

Under this section, a transcript of the execution docket showing the judgment and its satisfaction is a sufficient compliance with the statute, without giving a transcript of the judgment in full: Smith v. Ormsby, 20 Wash. 396, 55 Pac. 570, 72 Am. St. Rep. 110.

An alternative writ of mandate to compel a municipal corporation to issue a warrant upon a judgment against it, is demurrable for want of facts, when it fails to allege that the judgment was satisfied by petitioner and a certified copy thereof presented to the city, as required by this section: Chapin v. Port Angeles, 31 Wash. 535, 72 Pac. 117.

This section does not require that the order be made to the judgment creditor; but authorizes the issuance of an order to the attorney of the party, and the same operates to discharge the judgment: State ex rel. Lane v. Ballinger, 41 Wash. 23, 82 Pac. 1018, 3 L. R. A. (N. S.) 72.

After a city has condemned land, the owners, upon satisfying the judgment received by them for its value, and presenting a transcript thereof pursuant to this section, are entitled to a warrant against the fund provided for the redemption of such warrants: State ex rel. Donofrio v. Humes, 34 Wash. 347, 75 Pac. 348.

This section requires the judgment creditor to first satisfy his judgment and then present a certified copy of the judgment and satisfaction to the proper city officer: Pratt v. Seattle, 111 Wash. 104, 189 Pac. 565.

§ 954. Officer Refusing to Satisfy Judgment may be Attached.

Should the proper officer of said corporation fail or refuse to satisfy said judgment, as in the preceding section provided, an attachment may be issued to compel his performance of said duty. [L. '69, p. 155, § 605; Cd. '81, § 665; 2 H. C., § 675.]

Cited in 14 Wash. 223; 31 Wash. 541.

The remedy provided by attachment, under this section, would not exclude the remedy by mandamus, since the former would not be wholly adequate to compel the specific act affording the necessary relief to be done: Chapin v. Port Angeles, 31 Wash. 535, 72 Pac. 117.

§ 955. Tender Condition Precedent to Action to Enjoin Tax Collection.

Hereafter no action or proceeding shall be commenced or instituted in any court of this state to enjoin the sale of any property for taxes, or to enjoin the collection of any taxes, or for the recovery of any property sold for taxes, unless the person or corporation desiring to commence or institute such action or proceeding shall first pay, or cause to be paid, or shall tender to the officer entitled under the law to receive the same, all taxes, penalties, interest, and costs justly due and unpaid from such person or corporation on the property sought to be sold or recovered. [L. '88, p. 43, § 1; 2 H. C., § 676.]

Necessity of Tender: See Remington's Digest, Tax., § 205, and cases cited.

Payment or Tender of Taxes not in Controversy.—Where an action is brought to enjoin the collection of a tax alleged to be void, no tender is necessary, under this section, and it is sufficient to plead payment and tender of the taxes justly admitted to be due, without tendering such portion of the tax as is claimed to be illegal: Lewiston Water & P. Co. v. Asotin County, 24 Wash. 371, 64 Pac. 544; Land's Estate Co. v. Clallam County, 19 Wash. 569, 53 Pac. 670.

An action by a grantor in a deed to reform the same as a mortgage, and to redeem therefrom, brought against the grantee and successors in interest who had acquired a tax title since the date of the deed, is not an action affecting the validity of a tax title, within this section: Shepard v. Vincent, 38 Wash. 493, 80 Pac. 777.

Payment of tax due as condition of injunction against collection of illegal taxes. 22 L. B. A. 703.

§ 956. Complaint—Contents.

In all actions to enjoin the sale of any property for taxes, in all actions to enjoin the collection of any tax, and in all actions for the recovery of any property sold for taxes, the complainant must state and set forth specially in his complaint the tax that is justly due, with penalties, interest, and costs, the tax alleged to be illegal, and point out the illegality thereof; that the taxes for that and previous years have been paid; and when the action is for the recovery of lands or other property sold for taxes against the person or corporation in possession thereof, that all taxes, penalties, interest, and costs paid by the purchaser at tax sale, his assignees or grantees, have been fully paid or tendered, and payment refused. [L. '88, p. 44, § 2; 2 H. C., § 677.]

As to Sufficiency of Complaint: See Remington's Digest, Tax., § 208, and cases cited.

This section does not apply to an ordinary action of ejectment, where the plaintiff was ousted by one claiming under a void tax title which, under the law of 1897, was subject to collateral attack from the fact that the tax had already been paid: Bullock v. Wallace, 47 Wash. 690, 92 Pac. 675.

§ 957. Construction of Act.

The provisions of sections 955 and 956 shall be construed as imposing additional conditions upon the power of the court or judge in granting injunctions to those already imposed, and of imposing additional conditions upon the complainant in actions for the recovery of property sold for taxes. [L. '88, p. 44, § 3; 2 H. C., § 678.]

CHAPTER IX.

ACTIONS ON OFFICIAL BONDS, FINES AND FORFEITURES.

§ 958. Official Bonds, to Whom Deemed Security.

The official bond of a public officer to the state, or to any county, city, town, or other municipal or public corporation of like character therein, shall be deemed a security to the state, or to such county, city, town, or other municipal or public corporation, as the case may be, and also to all persons severally, for the official delinquencies against which it is intended to provide. [L. '69, p. 152, § 592; Cd. '81, § 652; 2 H. C., § 694.]

See infra, § 1159, action on contractor's bond to indemnify public corporations.

See infra, §§ 9932, 9933, actions on official bonds.

Liabilities on Official Bonds: See Remington's Digest, Officers, §§ 53—64.

Who is real party in interest by whom action on bond must be brought. 64 L. R. A. 607.

Right of action on official bond naming obligee other than one designated by statute. 3 Ann. Cas. 456.

Validity and effect of bond having less than required number of sureties. 9 Ann. Cas. 711.

Duration of liability of sureties on bond of officer appointed for definite term, but for whom law fixes no definite term. 5 Ann. Cas. 949.

Liability of sureties on official bond for default after expiration of term. Ann. Cas. 1912D, 293.

Liability on bond of public officer for the defaults and misfeasances of his clerks, assistants, or deputies. 12 A. L. R. 980; 1 A. L. R. 222.

§ 959. Injured Party may Maintain Action.

When a public officer by official misconduct or neglect of duty shall forfeit his official bond, or render his sureties therein liable upon such bond, any person injured by such misconduct or neglect, or who is by law entitled to the benefit of the security, may maintain an action at law thereon in his own name against the officer and his sureties to recover the amount to which he may by reason thereof be entitled. [L. '69, p. 152, § 593; Cd. '81, § 653; 2 H. C., § 695.]

§ 960. Leave to Commence Action.

Before an action can be commenced by a plaintiff, other than the state, or the municipal or public corporation named in the bond, leave shall be obtained of the court, or judge thereof, where the action is triable. Such leave shall be granted upon the production of a certified copy of the bond, and an affidavit of the plaintiff, or some person in his behalf, showing the delinquency. But if the matter set forth in his affidavit be such that, if true, the party applying would clearly not be entitled to recover in the action, the leave shall not be granted. If it does not appear from the complaint that the leave herein provided for has been granted, the defendant, on motion, shall be entitled to judgment of nonsuit; if it does, the defendant may controvert the allegation, and if the issue be found in his favor, the judgment shall be given accordingly. [L. '69, p. 152, § 594; Cd. '81, § 654; 2 H. C., § 696.]

Cited in 4 Wash. 633; 19 Wash. 75, 424; 103 Wash. 537; 110 Wash. 162.

In order to bring suit upon an administrator's bond, it is not necessary that application be first made to court and leave obtained, as an administrator is not a public officer within the purview of this section: Bartels v. Gove, 4 Wash. 632, 30 Pac. 675.

Leave of court is not required where the suit is prosecuted upon an official bond for the benefit of the state by its agents in their own names: Nye v. Kelly, 19 Wash. 73, 52 Pac. 528.

The objection is properly taken by demurrer, which answers the purpose of a motion, and is not waived by pleading over, after exceptions taken: Hunter v. Berridge, 103 Wash. 536, 175 Pac. 165.

The disability to begin action upon an official bond, imposed by this section until leave of court shall be obtained therefor, would not enlarge the statute of limitations, when the plaintiff had the option at any time to obtain leave of court to bring its action, and the failure to obtain leave was due to its own delinquency: Spokane County v. Prescott, 19 Wash. 418, 53 Pac. 661, 67 Am. St. Rep. 733.

Under this section requiring leave of court to a private party to sue upon an official bond, the failure of the complaint to show leave must be promptly moved against, and is waived by answer on which the case was tried and the point raised only by belated motion for nonsuit: Eberhart v. Murphy, 110 Wash. 158, 188 Pac. 17.

Leave of court as prerequisite to action on official bond. 2 A. L. R. 563.

§ 961. Judgment for Delinquency No Bar to Another Action.

A judgment in favor of a party for one delinquency shall not preclude the same or another party from maintaining another action on the same bond for another delinquency. [L. '69, p. 153, § 595; Cd. '81, § 655; 2 H. C., § 697.]

§ 962. Amount of Judgment.

In an action upon an official bond, if judgments have been recovered against the surety therein other than by confession, equal in the aggregate to the penalty, or any part thereof, of such bond, and if such recovery be established on the trial, judgment shall not be given against such surety for an amount exceeding such penalty, or such portion thereof as is not already recovered against him. [L. '69, p. 153, § 596; Cd. '81, § 656; 2 H. C., § 698.]

§ 963. Actions for Fines and Forfeitures.

Fines and forfeitures may be recovered by an action at law in the name of the officer or person to whom they are by law given, or in the name of the officer or person who by law is authorized to prosecute for them. [L. '69, p. 153, § 597; Cd. '81, § 657; 2 H. C., § 699.]

See supra, § 159, limitations of actions for.

§ 964. Amount of Recovery.

When an action shall be commenced for a penalty which by law is not to exceed a certain amount, the action may be commenced for that amount, and if judgment be given for the plaintiff, it may be for such amount or less, in the discretion of the court, in proportion to the offense. [L. '69, p. 153, § 598; Cd. '81, § 658; 2 H. C., § 700.]

§ 965. Collusive Judgment No Bar.

A recovery of a judgment for a penalty or forfeiture by collusion between the plaintiff and defendant, with intent to save the defendant wholly or partially from the consequences contemplated by law, in case when the penalty or forfeiture is given wholly or partly to the person who prosecutes, shall not bar the recovery of the same by another person. [L. '69, p. 153, § 599; Cd. '81, § 659; 2 H. C., § 701.]

§ 966. Disposition of Fines and Forfeitures—Venue.

Fines and forfeitures not specially granted or otherwise appropriated by law, when recovered, shall be paid into the school fund of the proper county. Whenever, by the provisions of law, any property, real or personal, shall be forfeited to the state, or to any officer for its use, the action for the recovery of such property may be commenced in any county where the defendant may be found, or where such property may be. [L. '69, p. 153, § 600; Cd. '81, § 660; 2 H. C., § 702.]

CHAPTER X.

ACTIONS BY AND AGAINST EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

§ 967. What Actions Survive.

All other causes of action [than those enumerated in section 183] by one person against another, whether arising on contract or otherwise, survive to the personal representatives of the former and against the personal representatives of the latter. Where the cause of action survives, as herein provided, the executors or administrators may maintain an action at law thereon against the party against whom the cause of action accrued, or after his death, against his personal representatives. [L. '69, p. 165, § 659; Cd. '81, § 718; 2 H. C., § 704.]

"Section 183" refers to Rem. & Bal. Code, § 183, which was repealed, saving existing rights and rights accruing within three years, by L. '17, p. 495, § 4.

See Laws of 1869, p. 166, § 665; Laws of 1877, p. 147, § 728, omitted from Code of 1881, limitation of actions on claims against estates.

See supra, § 170, suspension of statute of limitation by death of party.

See supra, § 180, executors, etc., as parties.

See supra, § 193, action not to abate by disability if continued by or against representatives.

See supra, § 194, survival of action for personal injury.

See infra, § 1482 et seq., limitations of actions on claims against estates; see, also, on same subject, § 164, supra.

See infra, §§ 1518-1523, actions by and against executors and administrators in certain cases.

See notes to § 183, supra.

This section providing that "all other causes of action survive to the personal representatives," construed in connection with the preceding section, conferring upon heirs the right of action for death by wrongful act, must be held to relate only to causes of action which the law already provided should survive at common law, and as conferring rights upon the personal representatives as distinguished from the heirs, and hence actions for personal torts do not survive: Slauson v. Schwacher, 4 Wash. 783, 31 Pac. 329, 31 Am. St. Rep. 948.

Under this section, and Rem. Code, § 1535, providing for the survival of certain causes of action, the death of a surety before the principal will not operate as a discharge of the former's liability: Donnerberg v. Oppenheimer, 15 Wash. 290, 46 Pac. 254.

The liability of a surety upon a supersedeas bond is continued after his death, by sections 193, 236, 967, providing that in certain cases where actions shall be prosecuted against the party if living, the same may be prosecuted against his representatives, which statute abrogates the common law rule that the death of a surety jointly liable with the principal ends the obligation as to both past and future defaults: Olson v. Seldovio Salmon Co., 89 Wash. 547, 154 Pac. 1107.

Under this section and section 183, of Rem. & Bal. Code, cause of action for wrongful death survives only against the wrongdoer and abates upon his death: Rinker v. Hurd, 69 Wash. 257, 124 Pac. 687.

Necessity of alleging that suit by executor or administrator is brought in representative capacity. Ann. Cas. 1916E, 114.

Executor or administrator as real party in interest by whom action must be brought. 64 L. R. A. 611.

Right of personal representative to sue in forma pauperis. 1 Ann. Cas. 805.

Joinder of executor or administrator as defendant in both personal and representative capacity. 3 Ann. Cas. 287.

Right of personal representative to assail validity of chattel mortgage. 2 Ann. Cas. 712.

Right of personal representative of grantor to set aside conveyance as fraudulent as to creditors. 18 Ann. Cas. 37; Ann. Cas. 1915B, 212.

Rights of personal representative to maintain action to quiet title to decedent's estate. Ann. Cas. 1913A, 966.

Right of personal representative to bring action of ejectment for lands of deceased. 15 Ann. Cas. 569; 18 L. R. A. 789.

Personal representative as necessary or proper party to foreclosure of mechanic's lien. Ann. Cas. 1918B, 16.

Right of administrator de bonis non to recover proceeds of personal property of the estate converted by his predecessor. 3 A. L. R. 1252.

Admissibility in evidence of admissions against interest by executor or administrator in pleading. 14 A. L. R. 89.

Declaratory judgments in matters respecting estates. 12 A. L. R. 76.

Right of executor or administrator to avoid contract or conveyance by decedent on ground of mental incapacity. 7 A. L. R. 237.

§ 968. Several Representatives Regarded as One.

In an action against several executors or administrators, they shall all be considered as one person representing their testator or intestate, and judgment may be given and execution issued against all of them who are defendants in the action, although the notice be served only on part of them, in the same manner and with like effect as if served on all, except as provided in the next section. [L. '69, p. 165, § 660; Cd. '81, § 719; 2 H. C., § 705.]

§ 969. Judgment by Default—Not Evidence of Assets.

When a judgment is given against an executor or administrator for want of answer, such judgment is not to be deemed evidence of assets in his hands, unless it appear that the complaint alleged assets, and that the notice was served upon him. [L. '69, p. 166, § 661; Cd. '81, § 720; 2 H. C., § 706.]

§ 970. Inventory may be Contradicted.

In an action against executors and administrators, in which the fact of their having administered the estate of their testator or intestate, or any part thereof, is put in issue, and the inventory of the property of the deceased returned by them is given in evidence, the same may be contradicted or avoided by evidence,—

1. That any property has been omitted in such inventory, or was not returned therein at its full value, or that since the return thereof such property has increased in value;

2. That such property has perished or been lost without the fault of such executors or administrators, or that it has been fairly and duly sold by them at a less price than the value so returned, or that since the return of the inventory such property has deteriorated in value. In such action the defendants cannot be charged for any things in action specified in their inventory, unless it appear that they have been collected, or with due diligence might have been. [L. '69, p. 166, § 662; Cd. '81, § 721; 2 H. C., § 707.]

§ 971. No Liability as Executor de Son Tort.

No person is liable to an action as executor of his own wrong for having taken, received, or interfered with the property of a deceased person, but is responsible to the executors or administrators of such deceased person for the value of all property so taken or received, and for all injury caused by his interference with the estate of the deceased. [L. '69, p. 166, § 663; Cd. '81, § 722; 2 H. C., § 708.]

Cited in 6 Wash. 203.

If a husband acts as executor of a deceased wife's will, but, at the time of his death, has not completed administration upon her estate, and the executors of his own will take possession and administer upon all the property the husband held, including the separate and community estate of the deceased wife, such administration is merely irregular and not void, nor do the ordinary rules relating to liability of executors de son tort apply thereto: Hill's Estate, In re, 6 Wash. 285, 33 Pac. 585.

§ 972. Executor of Executor—Limit of Powers of.

An executor of an executor has no authority as such to commence or maintain an action or proceeding relating to the estate of the testator of the first executor, or to take any charge or control thereof. [L. '69, p. 166, § 664; Cd. '81, § 723; 2 H. C., § 709.]

§ 973. Provisional Remedies, When Authorized.

In an action against an executor or administrator as such, the remedies of arrest and attachment shall not be allowed on account of the acts of his testator or intestate; but for his own acts as such executor or administrator, such remedies shall be allowed for the same causes in the manner and with like effect as in actions at law generally. [L. '69, p. 167, § 666; Cd. '81, § 724; 2 H. C., § 710.]

CHAPTER XI.

PROTECTION OF SURETIES.

§ 974. Notice to Creditor to Institute Action.

Any person bound as surety upon any contract in writing for the payment of money or the performance of any act, when the right of action has accrued, may require, by notice in writing, the creditor or obligee forthwith to institute an action upon the contract. [L. '54, p. 210, § 426; Cd. '81, § 644; 2 H. C., § 756.]

.See infra, § 9942 et seq., provisions for the release of sureties on official bonds.

Cited in 6 Wash. 304; 10 Wash. 428; 11 Wash. 5; 13 Wash. 332; 16 Wash. 551.

Neglect of Creditor to Proceed Against Surety After Notice: See Remington's Digest, Prin. & S., § 42.

This section has no application to a case where the principals on the bond are nonresidents, and it is not made to appear that they have property in the state liable to attachment: Seattle Crockery Co. v. Haley, 6 Wash. 302, 33 Pac. 650, 36 Am. St. Rep. 156.

A mere oral request upon the part of the surety to sue, and a promise upon the part of the creditor to comply, will not constitute a waiver of the notice in writing required by this section, when it appears that the demand for suit had been made some ten months before suit was actually brought by the creditor: Kittridge v. Stegmier, 11 Wash. 3, 39 Pac. 242.

The statute permitting sureties, in an action against them and their principals, to have the question of suretyship adjudicated is not a limitation of their rights as existing before its enactment, but is intended as an additional and more complete remedy than existed under the common law: Denny v. Sayward, 10 Wash. 422, 39 Pac. 119.

Unreasonable delay in suing the principal at the request of a surety is not shown where notice to sue was given some time in February and a waiver of the notice was given on the 3d of the next month: Rotting v. Cleman, 20 Wash. 116, 54 Pac. 935.

Sureties cannot escape liability because of the failure of the obligee to inform them of the existence of a judgment held by him against the principal, nor because of a representation by the obligee that their responsibility as sureties would be merely nominal: Oregon Nat. Bank v. Gardner, 13 Wash. 154, 42 Pac. 545.

NOTICE TO SUE.—If the payee forbear suing after request in writing by surety, as provided in this section, such delay will operate to discharge the liability: Harman v. Hale, 1 W. T. 422. A verbal request is insufficient: Id. Fraudulent conduct by payee which lulls the surety into groundless confidence and prevents him from obtaining indemnity is sufficient to discharge him: Id.

EXTENSION OF TIME.—If, after maturity of note, the holder thereof takes from the principals thereon a new note extending the time of payment of the debt, without the knowledge of the sureties, the latter are discharged: First Nat. Bank v. Harris, 7 Wash. 139, 34 Pac. 466.

If a contract for the extension of time of payment of a promissory note executed by two principal makers and their sureties is made with one of the principals only, such contract is valid, and if not assented to by the sureties, will result in their discharge: Warburton v. Ralph, 9 Wash. 537, 38 Pac. 140.

The request of a surety upon a promissory note that further time be granted him for payment will not estop him from claiming a discharge, when a contract for extension has been entered into with his principal without his knowledge or consent: Id.

If a payee, at the time of extending the time of payment of a promissory note, reserves his rights against sureties thereon, the extension will not operate as a discharge, although the sureties may not have been notified: Boston Nat. Bank v. Jose, 10 Wash. 185, 38 Pac. 1026.

§ 975. Surety Discharged.

If the creditor or obligee shall not proceed within a reasonable time to bring his action upon such contract, and prosecute the same to judgment and execution, the surety shall be discharged from all liability thereon. [L. '54, p. 210, § 427; Cd. '81, § 645; 2 H. C., § 757.]

Cited in 13 Wash. 332; 16 Wash. 551.

§ 976. Trial of Suretyship.

When any action is brought against two or more defendants upon a contract, any one or more of the defendants being surety for the others, the surety may, upon a written complaint to the court, cause the question of suretyship to be tried and determined upon the issues made by the parties at the trial of the cause, or at any time before or after the trial, but such proceedings shall not affect the proceedings of the plaintiff. [L. '54, p. 210, § 427; Cd. '81, § 646; 2 H. C., § 758.]

Cited in 13 Wash. 332; 18 Wash. 409; 54 Wash. 68.

Adjudication of Suretyship: See Remington's Digest, Prin. & S., § 57; Denny v. Sayward, 10 Wash. 422, 39 Pac. 119; McKee v. Whitworth, 15 Wash. 536, 46 Pac. 1045; Kirkland Land & Imp. Co. v. Jones, 18 Wash. 407, 51 Pac. 1043; First Nat. Bank v. Fowler, 54 Wash. 65, 102

Pac. 1038; Empire State Surety Co. v. Ballou, 66 Wash. 76, 118 Pac. 923; Puget Sound Bridge etc. Co. v. Guardian Casualty & Guar. Co., 90 Wash. 96, 155 Pac. 771.

Under this and the next section and section 3582, defining a person "primarily liable to be one who is absolutely required to pay the same," debtors who are expressly made principal contractors cannot avail themselves of the statute to determine equities between themselves, as against objection by the plaintiff: First Nat. Bank v. Fowler, 54 Wash. 65, 132 Pac. 1038.

This section is not a limitation of the rights of sureties as existing before its enactment, but is intended as an additional and more complete remedy than existed under the common law: Denny v. Sayward, 10 Wash. 422, 39 Pac. 119.

§ 977. Order to Exhaust Principal's Property.

If the finding upon such issue be in favor of the surety, the court shall make an order directing the sheriff to levy the execution upon and first exhaust the property of the principal before a levy shall be made upon the property of the surety, and the clerk shall indorse a memorandum of the order upon the execution. [L. '54, p. 211, § 429; Cd. '81, § 647; 2 H. C., § 759.]

§ 978. Subrogation of Surety.

When any defendant surety in a judgment or special bail or replevin [bail], or surety in a delivery bond or replevin bond, or any person being surety in any bond whatever, has been or shall be compelled to pay any judgment, or any part thereof, or shall make any payment which is applied upon such judgment by reason of such suretyship, or when any sheriff or other officer or other surety upon his official bond shall be compelled to pay any judgment, or any part thereof, by reason of any default of such officer, except for failing to pay over money collected, or for wasting property levied upon, the judgment shall not be discharged by such payment, but shall remain in force for the use of the bail, surety, officer, or other person making such payment, and after the plaintiff is paid, so much of the judgment as remains unsatisfied may be prosecuted to execution for his use. [L. '54, p. 211, § 430; Cd. '81, § 648; 2 H. C., § 760.]

Cited in 5 Wash. 696; 28 Wash. 34; 74 Wash. 547.

Right to Subrogation, in General: See Remington's Digest, Subrog., §§ 1—11.

This section preserves to the surety not only the judgment, but also the benefit of any levy made on the judgment debtor's property under an execution issued on the judgment: Murray v. Meade, 5 Wash. 693, 696, 32 Pac. 780.

When the subrogation of the surety on the bond under this section must be in severalty against the parties found liable:

Right of surety to subrogation on payment of debt due creditor as affected by fact of becoming surety for a consideration. Ann. Cas. 1913A, 565; Ann. Cas. 1918E, 660.

§ 979. Contribution Among Sureties.

Any one of several judgment defendants, and any one of several replevin bail having paid and satisfied the plaintiff, shall have the remedy provided in the last section against the codefendants and cosureties to collect of them the ratable proportion each is equitably bound to pay. [L. '54, p. 211, § 431; Cd. '81, § 649; 2 H. C., § 761.]

As to right of surety to contribution from cosurety: See Remington's Digest, Prin. & S., §§ 63, 64; Belond v. Guy, 20

Wash. 160, 54 Pac. 995; Shoemaker v. Stimson, 16 Wash. 1, 47 Pac. 218; Lindblom v. Johnston, 92 Wash. 171, 158

§ 980. Surety shall not Suffer Judgment.

No surety or his representative shall confess judgment or suffer judgment by default in any case where he is notified that there is a valid defense, if the principal will enter himself defendant to the action and tender to the surety or his representatives good security to indemnify him, to be approved by the court. [L. '54, p. 211, § 432; Cd. '81, § 650; 2 H. C., § 762.]

§ 981. Provisions Extended to Heirs of Sureties.

The foregoing provisions of this chapter shall extend to heirs, executors, and administrators of deceased persons, but the provisions of section 975, shall not operate against persons under legal disabilities. [L. '54, p. 211, § 433; Cd. '81, § 651; 2 H. C., § 763.]

CHAPTER XII.

DIVORCE AND ALIMONY.

§ 982. Grounds for Divorce.

Divorces may be granted by the superior court on application of the party injured, for the following causes:

1. When the consent to the marriage of the party applying for the divorce was obtained by force or fraud, and there has been no subsequent voluntary cohabitation.

2. For adultery on the part of the wife or of the husband, when unforgiven, and the application is made within one year after it shall have come to the knowledge of the party applying for a divorce.

3. Impotency.

4. Abandonment for one year.

5. Cruel treatment of either party by the other, or personal indignities rendering life burdensome.

6. Habitual drunkenness of either party, or the neglect or refusal of the husband to make suitable provisions for his family.

7. The imprisonment of either party in a state penal institution if complaint is filed during the term of such imprisonment.

8. A divorce may be granted to either or both of the parties in all cases where they have heretofore lived or shall hereafter live separate and apart for a period of five consecutive years or more. In all such cases, the divorce may be granted on the application of either husband or wife, and either husband or wife shall be considered the injured party and the period of five years or more shall be computed from the time the separation took place.

9. In case of incurable, chronic mania or dementia of either spouse having existed for five years or more, while under confinement by order of a court of record, the court may, in its discretion, grant a divorce. [L. '21, p. 331, § 1; Cf. L. 17, p. 353, § 1; L. '54, p. 405, § 1; Cd. '81, § 2000; L. '86, p. 120, § 1; L. '91, p. 42, § 1; 2 H. C., § 764.]

§ 982-1. Nonsupport—Stay of Proceedings Pending Prosecution.

When, in the opinion of the court, the previous or present conduct of either of the parties to a divorce action shows a probable violation of any of the criminal laws of the state relative to nonsupport, he may in his discretion, refuse to grant an interlocutory order until the suspected party is prosecuted and finally found guilty or innocent. [L. '21, p. 332, § 1.]

When there is any doubt as to the facts rendering a marriage void, either party may apply for, and on proof obtain, a decree of nullity of marriage. [Cf. L. '54, p. 406, § 2; Cd. '81, § 2001; L. '91, p. 42, § 2; 2 H. C., § 765.]

Under this section a divorced woman who remarries within six months may maintain the action where she did not know that the marriage was illegal, and was less in the wrong than the husband, who knew the facts as to the divorce: Sortore v. Sortore, 70 Wash. 410, 126 Pac. 915.

The statute providing for summons by publication against nonresidents in actions for divorce authorizes such summons in actions for annulment of the marriage, the legislature having invariably treated the two actions as belonging to one subject and established the same practice in both; and a legislative act treating of the same together does not embrace more than one subject, annulment being germane to a title which referred only to divorce: Piper v. Piper, 46 Wash. 671, 91 Pac. 189.

Where it appears that a woman entered into a contract of marriage in good faith without knowledge that the man was incompetent by reason of having another wife, the court has power to annul the marriage without regard to the form of action commenced by her for redress: Buckley v. Buckley, 50 Wash. 213, 96 Pac. 1079, 126 Am. St. Rep. 900.

§ 984. Resident may Apply.

Any person who has been a resident of the state for one year may file his or her complaint for a divorce or decree of nullity of marriage, under oath, in the superior court of the county where he or she may reside, and like proceedings shall be had thereon as in civil cases. § 987. Both Parties Deemed Applying.

Both parties shall be considered as applying for a divorce when the complaints of both are filed in the same action, and when the defendant, by his or her cross-complaint, also applies for divorce. [Cf. L. '54, p. 406, § 6; Cd. '81, § 2005; L. '91, p. 42, § 3; 2 H. C., § 769.]

Where both parties sustained their case, it is immaterial to which party the court granted the divorce as the less blame-worthy of the two: Weidert v. Weidert, 106 Wash. 410, 180 Pac. 135.

§ 988. Interlocutory Orders—Powers of Court—Appeal Within Ninety Days.

Pending the action for the divorce, the court, or judge thereof, may make, and by attachment enforce, such orders for the disposition of the persons, property and children of the parties as may be deemed right and proper, and such orders relative to the expenses of such action as will insure to the wife an efficient preparation of her case, and a fair and impartial trial thereof; at the conclusion of the trial the court must make and file findings of fact and conclusions of law. If it determines that no divorce shall be granted final judgment must thereupon be entered accordingly. If, however, the court determines that either party, or both, is entitled to a divorce an interlocutory order must be entered accordingly, declaring that the party in whose favor the court decides is entitled to a decree of divorce as hereinafter provided; which order shall also make all necessary provisions as to alimony, costs, care, custody, support and education of children and custody, management and division of property, which order as to the custody, management and division of property shall be final and conclusive upon the parties subject only to the right of appeal; but in no case shall such interlocutory order be considered or construed to have the effect of dissolving the marriage of the parties to the action, or of granting a divorce, until final judgment is entered: Provided, that the court shall, at all times, have the power to grant any and all restraining orders that may be necessary to protect the parties and secure justice. Appeals may be taken from such interlocutory order within ninety days after its entry. [L. '21, p. 332, § 2. Cf. L. '54, p. 406, § 7; Cd. '81, § 2006; L. '91, p. 43, § 4; 2 H. C., § 770.]

§ 988-1. Final Decree of Divorce.

At any time after six months have expired, after the entry of such interlocutory order, and upon the conclusion of an appeal, if taken therefrom, the court, on motion of either party, shall confirm such order and enter a final judgment granting an absolute divorce, from which no appeal shall lie. [L. '21, p. 333, § 2.]

§ 989. Decree—Disposition of Property.

In granting a divorce, the court shall also make such disposition of the property of the parties as shall appear just and equitable, having regard to the respective merits of the parties, and to the condition in which they will be left by such divorce, and to the party through whom the property was acquired, and to the burdens imposed upon it for the benefit of the children, and shall make provision for the guardianship, custody, and support and education of the minor children of such marriage. § 990. Divorce Dissolves Marriage as to Both Parties.

Whenever judgment of divorce from the bonds of matrimony is granted by the courts in this state, the court shall order a full and complete dissolution of the marriage as to both parties. [Cf. L. '54, p. 407, § 9; Cd. '81, § 2008; L. '91, p. 43, § 6; 2 H. C., § 772.]

The act prohibiting divorced parties from remarrying within six months after the decree, either within or without the state, renders a remarriage during such period void, if contracted in this state, or if contracted in a foreign country by persons domiciled in this state with the purpose of evading the laws of this state; but if the parties were, at the time of the remarriage, domiciled in the foreign country, the marriage would be valid here if valid in such country, our statute having no extraterritorial force as to marriage by nonresidents: State v. Fenn, 47 Wash. 561, 92 Pac. 417, 17 L. R. A. (N. S.) 800.

§ 994. Name of Wife Changed.

In all actions for a divorce, if a divorce be granted, the court may, for just and reasonable cause, change the name of the female, who shall thereafter be known and called by such name as the court shall in its order or decree appoint. [Cf. L. '54, p. 407, § 9; Cd. '81, § 2009; L. '91, p. 43, § 7; 2 H. C., § 773.]

§ 995. Prosecuting Attorney to Resist Un defended Actions—Associate shall not Appear.

Each party to any divorce action shall serve the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the action is commenced with copies of all pleadings, notice of trial, motions or orders therein, at the time of or immediately after their service upon the opposite party or his or her counsel, and in case the summons is served by publication a copy of the summons and complaint shall be served upon the prosecuting attorney immediately after the filing of the complaint in the county clerk's office. It shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney to appear upon the trial of every default or noncontested divorce case, and in such other divorce cases as the presiding judge may direct, in his county and advise the court, and to that end he shall have power upon order of the court to cause witnesses to be subpoenaed to testify at the trial, respecting any charges made in the complaint or answer or upon any vital matter touching the status of the parties or the performance or neglect of any duty by either, and the witness fees of such witnesses called by the prosecuting attorney shall be charged to the county. Neither the prosecuting attorney nor his deputy nor the law partner of either shall accept employment in any divorce case in his county or receive any fee or compensation from either party. [L. '21, p. 333, § 3; Cf. L. '54, p. 407, § 10; L. '79, p. 94, § 10; Cd. '81, § 2010; L. '85, p. 62, § 10; L. '91, p. 43, § 8; 2 H. C., § 774.]

Actions for divorce filed prior to the taking effect of this act shall be governed by the law applicable thereto at the time of the commencement of the action. [L. '21, p. 334, § 3.]

This "Act" refers to §§ 982, 982-1, 988, 988-1, 995-1 to 995-5.

§ 995-2. Modification of Order, Judgment or Decree Relative to Children.

Hereafter every action or proceeding to change or modify any final order, judgment or decree heretofore or hereafter made and entered in any divorce action or proceeding in relation to the care, custody or control, or the support and maintenance, of the minor child or children of the marriage shall be brought in the county where said minor child or children affected are then residing, or in the county where the parent or other person who has the care, custody or control of the said minor child or children affected is then residing. [L. '21, p. 334, § 4.]

§ 995-3. Hearing on Petition to Modify.

Upon the filing of a properly verified petition, to be entitled as in the original divorce action or proceedings, together with a certified copy of the order, judgment or decree sought to be changed or modified thereby, the superior court of the county in which said petition is filed shall have full and complete jurisdiction of the cause and shall thereupon order such notice of the hearing of said petition to be given as the court shall determine. [L. '21, p. 335, § 4.]

§ 995-4. Filing of Records and Files in Original Action.

The court shall have power to cause either party to said action or proceeding to file so much or all of the records and files in the original divorce action or proceeding as the court shall deem necessary or proper: and to make and enter all necessary or proper orders for a full hearing and determination of said petition. [L. '21, p. 335, § 4.]

§ 995-5. Filing of Order, etc., in County of the Original Action.

Upon a full hearing and determination of said petition the court shall make and enter such order, judgment or decree in said cause as the evidence and the law requires; a certified copy of such order, judgment or decree to be filed and entered in the county wherein said original divorce action or proceeding was had within thirty days thereof. [L. '21, p. 335, § 4.]

§ 996. Trial—Appeal—Proceedings.

In all instances where the superior court shall grant a divorce, it shall be for cause distinctly stated in the complaint, and proved, and found by the court, and the court shall state the facts found upon which the decree is rendered; and when either party shall signify a desire to appeal from any of the orders of the court, in the disposition of the property or of the children, the court shall certify the evidence adduced on the trial, and the supreme court shall be possessed of the whole case as fully as the superior court was, and may reverse, modify, or affirm said judgment, according to the real merits of the case. Under this section, the supreme court, on appeal by the husband from orders relating to alimony, has jurisdiction to grant suit money and attorney fees on the pending appeal, and before any final decree on the merits in the court below: Gallagher v. Gallagher, 65 Wash. 310, 118 Pac. 4.

Right to appeal from final decree of divorce. 13 Ann. Cas. 837.

The practice in civil actions shall govern all proceedings in the trial of actions for divorce, except that trial by jury is dispensed with. [L. '60, p. 320, § 13; Cd. '81, § 2012; L. '91, p. 44, § 9; 2 H. C., § 776.]

Under the provision of the statute dispensing with trial by jury in divorce cases, fraudulent vendees of the husband are not entitled to have the charge of their conspiracy with him to defraud his wife tried by a jury: Prouty v. Prouty, 4 Wash. 174, 29 Pac. 1049.

The requirement in the practice act of 1854, that in case of waiver of a jury the trial court shall render its decision in writing, stating conclusions of law and facts separately, does not apply in divorce cases: Madison v. Madison, 1 W. T. 60; neither party can demand a jury in a divorce case: Id.

CHAPTER XIII.

CHANGE OF NAME.

§ 998. Name may be Changed upon Petition.

Any person desiring a change of his name or that of his child or ward may apply therefor to the superior court of the county in which he resides, by petition setting forth the reasons for such change; thereupon such court, in its discretion, may order a change of the name, and thenceforth the new name shall be in place of the former. [L. '77, p. 132, § 638; Cd. '81, § 635; 2 H. C., § 777.]

CHAPTER I.

CERTIORARI, MANDAMUS AND PROHIBITION.

CERTIORARI.

§ 999. Parties, How Designated.

The party prosecuting a special proceeding may be known as the plaintiff and the adverse party as the defendant. [L. '95, p. 114, § 1.]

Cited in 15 Wash. 92; 16 Wash. 353; 21 Wash. 454; 24 Wash. 546; 50 Wash. 96; 57 Wash. 211; 66 Wash. 386; 70 Wash. 441.

Under this section it is not error to refuse to quash a proceeding commenced in the name of the real party in interest, instead of in the name of the state on his relation: State ex rel. Cicoria v. Corgiat, 50 Wash. 95, 96 Pac. 689.

An objection that an alternative writ of mandate did not run in the name of the state is met by the fact that it bears the title of the court and cause, which was "State of Washington on the relation," etc: State ex rel. Prudential Sav. & Loan Assoc. v. Martin, 101 Wash. 350, 172 Pac. 349.

This act furnishes a full and complete mode of procedure in certiorari proceedings, and necessarily repeals by implication prior statutes covering the same subject matter: Leavitt v. Chambers, 16 Wash. 353, 47 Pac. 755.

§ 1000. Judgment and Order in a Special Proceeding, Defined.

A judgment in a special proceeding is the final determination of the rights of the parties therein. The definitions of a motion and an order in a civil action are applicable to similar acts in a special proceeding. [L. '95, p. 115, § 2.]

Cited in 21 Wash. 255, 261.

A judgment of the superior court in habeas corpus proceedings remanding the prisoner is a final judgment from which an appeal to the supreme court will lie, in view of this section: Foye, In re, 21 Wash. 250, 57 Pac. 825; Baker, In re, 21 Wash. 259, 57 Pac. 827; Sylvester, In re, 21 Wash. 263, 57 Pac. 829.

§ 1001. Certiorari, Defined.

The writ of certiorari may be denominated the writ of review. [L. '95, p. 115, § 3.]

Cited in 21 Wash. 149; 28 Wash. 51.

For text treatment of "Certiorari," see 5 R. O. L. 249.

§ 1002. Grounds for Granting Writ.

A writ of review shall be granted by any court, except a police or justice court, when an inferior tribunal, board or officer, exercising judicial functions, has exceeded the jurisdiction of such tribunal, board or officer, or one acting illegally, or to correct any erroneous or void proceeding, or a proceeding not according to the course of the common law, and there is no appeal, nor in the judgment of the court, any plain, speedy and adequate remedy at law. [L. '95, p. 115, § 4.]

Cited in 18 Wash. 510; 19 Wash. 315; 26 Wash. 281; 32 Wash. 695; 34 Wash. 249; 35 Wash. 36, 126; 46 Wash. 304; 47 Wash. 509; 50 Wash. 655; 56 Wash. 356, 651; 73 Wash. 35, 36; 75 Wash. 95; 78 Wash. 560; 80 Wash. 190; 81 Wash. 364; 82 Wash. 34, 333; 90 Wash. 252; 91 Wash. 306.

A surety on the bond to discharge an attachment cannot be held upon a judgment upon additional causes of action added after the discharge of the attachment by amendment of the complaint introducing new causes of action, notwithstanding this section requiring the discharge bond to be conditioned to pay any judgment rendered against the defendant: Petri v. Manny, 99 Wash. 601, 170 Pac. 127.

§ 1005. Contents of Writ.

The writ of review must command the party to whom it is directed to certify fully to the court issuing the writ, at a specified time and place, a transcript of the record and proceedings (describing or referring to them with convenient certainty), that the same may be reviewed by the court, and requiring the party, in the meantime, to desist from further proceedings in the matter to be reviewed. of a city officer by writ of certiorari is an equitable proceeding, and the evidence cannot be reviewed unless settled in a statement of facts: Taylor v. City Council of Tacoma, 15 Wash. 92, 45 Pac. 641.

§ 1008. Service of Writ.

The writ may be served as follows, except where different directions respecting the mode of service thereof are given by the court granting it:—

1. Where it is directed to a person or persons by name or by his or her official title or titles, or to a municipal corporation, it must be served upon each officer or other person to whom it is directed, or upon the corporation, in the same manner as a summons;

2. Where it is directed to a court, or to the judges of a court, having a clerk appointed pursuant to law, service upon the court or the judges thereof may be made by filing the writ with the clerk. [L. '95, p. 116, § 10.]

§ 1009. Defective Return—How Perfected—Hearing—Judgment.

If the return of the writ be defective, the court may order a further return to be made. When a full return has been made, the court must hear the parties, or such of them as may attend for that purpose, and may thereupon give judgment, either affirming or annulling or modifying the proceedings below. § 1010. Questions Involving Merits—What are.

The questions involving the merits to be determined by the court upon the hearing are:—

1. Whether the body or officer had jurisdiction of the subject matter of the determination under review;

2. Whether the authority, conferred upon the body or officer in relation to that subject matter, has been pursued in the mode required by law, in order to authorize it or him to make the determination;

3. Whether, in making the determination, any rule of law affecting the rights of the parties thereto has been violated to the prejudice of the relator;

4. Whether there was any competent proof of all the facts necessary to be proved, in order to authorize the making of the determination;

5. If there was such proof, whether there was, upon all the evidence, such a preponderance of proof, against the existence thereof, rendered in an action in a court, triable by a jury, [as] would be set aside by the court, as against the weight of evidence. [L. '95, p. 116, § 12.]

MANDAMUS.

§ 1013. Mandamus, Defined.

The writ of mandamus may be denominated a writ of mandate. [L. '95, p. 117, § 15.]

For text treatment of "Mandamus," see 18 R. C. L. 78.

§ 1014. Courts Entitled to Issue—Grounds.

It may be issued by any court, except a justice's or a police court, to any inferior tribunal, corporation, board or person, to compel the performance of an act which the law especially enjoins as a duty resulting from an office, trust or station, or to compel the admission of a party to the use and enjoyment of a right or office to which he is entitled, and from which he is unlawfully precluded by such inferior tribunal, corporation, board or person. § 1016. Writ, Alternative or Peremptory.

The writ may be either alternative or peremptory. The alternative writ must state generally the allegation against the party to whom it is directed, and command such party, immediately after the receipt of the writ, or at some other specified time, to do the act required to be performed, or to show cause before the court at a specified time and place, why he has not done so. The peremptory writ must be in some similar form, except the words requiring the party to show cause why he has not done as commanded must be omitted and a return inserted. [L. '95, p. 117, § 18.]

Necessity of conformity of peremptory with alternative writ. Ann. Cas. 1912D, 671.

§ 1017. Notice.

When the application to the court is made without notice to the party, and the writ be allowed, the alternative must be first issued; and if the application be upon due notice and the writ be allowed, the peremptory writ may be issued in the first instance. The notice of the application, when given, must be at least ten days. The writ cannot be granted by default. The case must be heard by the court, whether the adverse party appear or not. [L. '95, p. 117, § 19.]

Under this section, a writ cannot be granted by default: State ex rel. Goss v.

Metaline-Falls Light & Water Co., 80 Wash. 652, 141 Pac. 1142.

§ 1018. Return of Writ—Answer.

On the return of the alternative, or the day on which the application for the writ is noticed, the party on whom the writ or notice has been served may show cause by answer, under oath, made in the same manner as an answer to a complaint in a civil action. [L. '95, p. 118, § 20.]

§ 1019. Question of Fact, How Determined.

If an answer be made which raises a question as to a matter of fact essential to the determination of the motion, and affecting the substantial rights of the parties, and upon the supposed truth of the allegation of which the application for the writ is based, the court may, in its discretion, order the question to be tried before a jury, and postpone the argument until such trial can be had, and the verdict certified to the court. The question to be tried must be distinctly stated in the order for trial, and the county must be designated in which the same shall be had. The order may also direct the jury to assess any damages which the appellant [applicant] may have sustained, in case they find for him. [L. '95, p. 118, § 21.]

French, 78 Wash. 260, 138 Pac. 869.

The fact that this section authorizes the court to order questions of fact in an application for mandamus to be tried before a jury would not excuse the applicant from replying or demurring to an answer therein until the cause had been assigned for trial by jury: Wilson v. Aberdeen, 25 Wash. 614, 66 Pac. 95.

An application for a writ of mandate does not require the court to either grant or reject it in toto: Shoultes v. Quast, 109 Wash. 510, 187 Pac. 356.

Peremptory Writ—Issuance on the Pleadings or on Demurrer: See Remington's Digest, Mand., § 91; State ex rel. Jefferson County v. Hatch, 36 Wash. 164, 78 Pac. 796; State ex rel. Billings v. Lamprey, 57 Wash. 84, 106 Pac. 501.

§ 1020. Applicant may Demur to Answer or Countervail It by Proof.

On the trial the applicant is not precluded by the answer from any valid objections to its sufficiency, and may countervail it by proof, either in direct denial or by way of avoidance. [L. '95, p. 118, § 22.]

Demurrer or Reply to Return or Answer: See Remington's Digest, Mand.,

§§ 86, 87; Wilson v. Aberdeen, 25 Wash. 614, 66 Pac. 95; State ex rel. Brown v. McQuade, 36 Wash. 579, 79 Pac. 207.

§ 1021. Motion for New Trial, Where Made.

The motion for new trial must be made in the court in which the issue of fact is tried. [L. '95, p. 118, § 23.]

§ 1022. Certification of Verdict—Hearing.

If no notice of a motion for new trial be given, or if given, the motion be denied, the clerk, within five days after rendition of the verdict or denial of the motion, must transmit to the court in which the application for the writ is pending, a certified copy of the verdict attached to the order of trial, after which either party may bring on the argument of the application, upon reasonable notice to the adverse party. [L. '95, p. 118, § 24.]

§ 1023. Court to Proceed to Hearing—Answer.

If no answer be made, the case must be heard on the papers of the applicant. If the answer raises only questions of law, or puts in issue immaterial statements not affecting the substantial rights of the party, the court must proceed to hear or fix a day for hearing the argument of the case. [L. '95, p. 118, § 25.]

Affidavits submitted by respondent upon the return of an alternative writ of prohibition cannot be considered where the respondent has not answered in the manner required by statute, as, under this section, the cause must be heard on the papers of the applicant if no answer be made: State ex rel. State Ins. Co. v. Superior Court, 14 Wash. 203, 44 Pac. 131.

§ 1024. Damages Awarded—Peremptory Mandate.

If judgment be given for the applicant he may recover the damages which he has sustained, as found by the jury or as may be determined by the court or referee, upon a reference to be ordered, together with costs; and for such damages and costs an execution may issue, and a peremptory mandate must also be awarded without delay. Dismissal of appeal in mandamus where question involved has become immaterial. 5 Ann. Cas. 626; Ann. Cas. 1912C, 247.

§ 1025. Service of Writ.

The writ must be served in the same manner as a summons in a civil action, except when otherwise expressly directed by order of the court. Service upon a majority of the members of any board or body is service upon the board or body, whether at the time of the service the board or body was in session or not. [L. '95, p. 119, § 27.]

Cited in 44 Wash. 544; 100 Wash. 287.

Under this section the copy of the writ need not be certified: State ex rel. Hackett v. Arnest, 100 Wash. 286, 170 Pac. 563.

§ 1026. Penalty for Disobeying Writ.

When a temporary mandate has been issued and directed to any inferior tribunal, corporation, board or person upon whom the writ has been personally served, has, without just excuse, refused or neglected to obey the same, the court may, upon motion, impose a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars. In case of persistence in a refusal or disobedience, the court may order the party to be imprisoned until the writ is obeyed, and may make any orders necessary and proper for the complete enforcement of the writ. [L. '95, p. 119, § 28.]

§ 93; State ex rel. O'Neil v. Wallace, 101 Wash. 410, 172 Pac. 581.

PROHIBITION.

§ 1027. Prohibition, Defined.

The writ of prohibition is the counterpart of the writ of mandate. It arrests the proceedings of any tribunal, corporation, board or person, when such proceedings are without or in excess of the jurisdiction of such tribunal, corporation, board or person. [L. '95, p. 119, § 29.]

§ 1028. Courts Entitled to Issue—Grounds.

It may be issued by any court, except police or justices' courts, to an inferior tribunal, or to a corporation, board or person, in all cases where there is not a plain, speedy and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law. It is issued upon affidavit, on the application of the person beneficially interested. [L. '95, p. 119, § 30.]

Prohibition does not lie to enforce a change of venue to the county of defendant's residence, where the fact of residence was denied and conflicting evidence offered, and the court was called upon to exercise its discretion as to changing the place of trial for the convenience of witnesses: State ex rel. Conley v. Superior Court, 106 Wash. 569, 181 Pac. 50.

Prohibition lies to compel a change of venue to the county of defendant's residence, since the remedy by appeal is inadequate: State ex rel. Owen v. Superior Court, 110 Wash. 49, 187 Pac. 708.

§ 1029. Writ may be Alternative or Peremptory.

The writ must be either alternative or peremptory. The alternative writ must state generally the allegations against the party to whom it is directed, and command such party to desist or refrain from further proceedings in the action or matter specified therein until the further order of the court from which it is issued, and to show cause before such court, at a specified time and place, why such party should not be absolutely restrained from any further proceedings in such action or matter. The peremptory writ must be in a similar form, except that the words requiring the party to show cause why he should not be absolutely restrained, etc., must be omitted and a return day inserted. [L. '95, p. 119, § 31.]

§ 1030. Provisions Relating to Mandate Applicable.

The provisions of sections 1013 to 1026, relating to writ of mandate, apply to this proceeding. [L. '95, p. 120, § 32.]

§ 1031. Writs of Review, Mandate and Prohibition Made Returnable, When.

Writs of review, mandate, and prohibition issued by the supreme court, or by a superior court, may, in the discretion of the court issuing the writ, be made returnable, and a hearing thereon be had at any time. [L. '95, p. 120, § 33.]

§ 1032. Rules of Practice and Proceedings.

Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the provisions of the Code of Procedure concerning civil actions are applicable to and constitute the rules of practice in the proceedings in this chapter. [L. '95, p. 120, § 34.]

CHAPTER II.

INFORMATION IN THE NATURE OF QUO WARRANTO.

§ 1034. Against Whom Filed.

An information may be filed against any person or corporation in the following cases:—

1. When any person shall usurp, intrude upon [into], or unlawfully hold or exercise any public office or franchise within the state, or any office in any corporation created by the authority of the state;

2. When any public officer shall have done or suffered any act, which, by the provisions of law, shall work a forfeiture of his office;

3. When several persons claim to be entitled to the same office or franchise, one information may be filed against any or all such persons in order to try their respective rights to the office or franchise;

4. When any association or number of persons shall act within this state as a corporation, without being legally incorporated;

5. Or where any corporation do or omit acts which amount to a surrender or a forfeiture of their rights and privileges as a corporation, or where they exercise powers not conferred by law. [Cf. L. '54, p. 216, §§ 468, 477; L. '77, p. 143, § 706; Cd. '81, § 702; 2 H. C., § 679.]

§ 1035. By Whom Filed.

The information may be filed by the prosecuting attorney in the superior court of the proper county, upon his own relation, whenever he shall deem it his duty to do so, or shall be directed by the court or other competent authority, or by any other person on his own relation, whenever he claims an interest in the office, franchise, or corporation which is the subject of the information. [L. '54, p. 216, § 469; Cd. '81, § 703; 2 H. C., § 680.]

Parties Plaintiff or Petitioners: See Remington's Digest, Quo. W., §§ 10—12. In General: State ex rel. Mitchell v. Horan, 22 Wash. 197, 60 Pac. 135.

— Public Officers: Mills v. State ex rel. Smith, 2 Wash. 566, 27 Pac. 560; State ex rel. Atty. Gen. v. Seattle Gas etc. Co., 28 Wash. 488, 68 Pac. 946, 70 Pac. 114; State ex rel. Powell v. Fassett, 69 Wash. 555, 125 Pac. 933.

— Private Persons: Mills v. State ex rel. Smith, 2 Wash. 566, 27 Pac. 560; State ex rel. White v. Point Roberts etc. Co., 42 Wash. 409, 85 Pac. 22; State ex rel. Gilbert v. Prosecuting Atty., 92 Wash. 484, 159 Pac. 761.

Ultimate discretion is vested in the court to order the prosecuting attorney to institute quo warranto proceedings, by this section; "may" being used not in the permissive, but in the alternative sense, and the statute being remedial and to be liberally construed: State ex rel. Gilbert v. Prosecuting Atty., 92 Wash. 484, 159 Pac. 761.

Under this section the attorney general has no authority, even under the common-law powers, if any, inhering in his office, to institute the action: State ex rel. Atty. Gen. v. Seattle Gas etc. Co., 28 Wash. 488, 68 Pac. 946, 70 Pac. 114.

An order overruling the prosecuting attorney's demurrer to a petition to require him to file an action in quo warranto, and directing him to make an investigation and exercise his discretionary power in the matter of commencing quo warranto, is not a final order in the proceeding, and is therefore not appealable: State ex rel. Cummings v. Blackwell, 91 Wash. 81, 157 Pac. 223.

Whenever any defendant shall be found guilty of any usurpation of or intrusion into or unlawfully exercising any office or franchise within this state, or any office in any corporation created by the authority of this state, or when any public officer thus charged shall be found guilty of having done or suffered any act which by the provisions of the law shall work a forfeiture of his office, or when any association or number of persons shall be found guilty of having acted as a corporation without having been legally incorporated, the court shall give judgment of ouster against the defendant or defendants, and exclude him or them from the office, franchise, or corporate rights, and in case of corporations, that the same shall be dissolved, and the court shall adjudge costs in favor of the plaintiff. not an abuse of discretion: Ridpath v. Sans Poil etc. Transportation Co., 26 Wash. 427, 67 Pac. 229.

Under this section a receiver may be appointed upon the involuntary dissolution of a corporation without a showing as to any necessity therefor: Conlan v. Oudin, 49 Wash. 240, 94 Pac. 1074.

When a temporary receiver should be appointed for a corporation, though solvent and prosperous, on account of dissensions; and the receivership will be made permanent in case the differences cannot be adjusted within a time limited: Boothe v. Summit Coal Min. Co., 55 Wash. 167, 104 Pac. 207, 19 Ann. Cas. 1255.

§ 1045. Action to Recover Escheated or Forfeited Property.

Whenever any property shall [escheat or] be forfeited to the state for its use, the legal title shall be deemed to be in the state from the time of the [escheat or] forfeiture, and an information may be filed by the prosecuting attorney in the superior court for the recovery of the property, alleging the ground on which the recovery is claimed, and like proceedings and judgment shall be had as in civil action for the recovery of the property. [L. '54, p. 218, § 480; Cd. '81, § 713; 2 H. C., § 690.]

§ 1046. Costs.

When an information is filed by the prosecuting attorney, he shall not be liable for the costs, but when it is filed upon the relation of a private person such person shall be liable for costs unless the same are adjudged against the defendant. [L. '54, p. 218, § 481; Cd. '81, § 714; 2 H. C., § 691.]

§ 1047. Information to Annul Patent, etc.

An information may be prosecuted for the purpose of annulling or vacating any letters patent, certificate, or deed granted by the proper authorities of this state, when there is reason to believe that the same were obtained by fraud, or through mistake or ignorance of a material fact, or when the patentee or those claiming under him have done or omitted an act in violation of the terms on which the letters, deeds, or certificates were granted, or have by any other means forfeited the interests acquired under the same. [L. '54, p. 218, § 482; Cd. '81, § 715; 2 H. C., § 692.]

§ 1048. Proceedings to Annul.

In such cases, the information may be filed by the prosecuting attorney upon his relation, or by any private person upon his relation, showing his interest in the subject matter; and the subsequent proceedings, judgment of the court, and awarding of costs shall conform to the above provisions, and such letters patent, deed, or certificate shall be annulled or sustained, according to the right of the case. [L. '54, p. 218, § 483; Cd. '81, § 716; 2 H. C., § 693.]

CHAPTER III.

CONTEMPTS AND THEIR PUNISHMENT.

§ 1049. Contempts, Defined.

The following acts or omissions, in respect to a court of justice or proceedings therein, are deemed to be contempts of court:—

1. Disorderly, contemptuous, or insolent behavior toward the judge while holding the court, tending to impair its authority, or to interrupt the due course of a trial or other judicial proceedings;

2. A breach of the peace, boisterous conduct, or violent disturbance tending to interrupt the due course of a trial or other judicial proceeding;

3. Misbehavior in office, or other willful neglect or violation of duty by an attorney, clerk, sheriff, or other person appointed or selected to perform a judicial or ministerial service;

4. Deceit, abuse of the process, or proceedings of the court by a party to an action, suit, or special proceeding;

5. Disobedience of any lawful judgment, decree, order, or process of the court;

6. Assuming to be an attorney or other officer of the court, and acting as such without authority in a particular instance;

7. Rescuing any person or property in the lawful custody of an officer, held by such officer under an order or process of such court;

8. Unlawfully detaining a witness or party to an action, suit, or proceeding while going to, remaining at, or returning from the court where the same is for trial;

9. Any other unlawful interference with the process or proceedings of a court;

10. Disobedience of a subpoena duly served, or refusing to be sworn or answer as a witness;

11. When summoned as a juror in a court, improperly conversing with a party to an action, suit, or proceeding to be tried at such court, or with any other person in relation to the merits of such action, suit or proceeding, or receiving a communication from a party or other person in respect to it, without immediately disclosing the same to the court;

12. Disobedience by an inferior tribunal, magistrate, or officer of the lawful judgment, decree, order, or process of a superior court, or proceeding in an action, suit, or proceeding contrary to law, after such action, suit, or proceeding shall have been removed from the jurisdiction of such inferior tribunal, magistrate, or officer. [L. '69, p. 167, § 667; Cd. '81, § 725; 2 H. C., § 778.]

§ 1055. Warrant, How Executed.

Whenever a warrant of arrest is issued pursuant to this chapter, the court or judicial officer shall direct therein whether the person charged may be let to bail for his appearance upon the warrant, or detained in custody without bail, and if he may be bailed, the amount in which he may be let to bail. Upon executing the warrant of arrest, the sheriff must keep the person in actual custody, bring him before the court or judicial officer, and detain him until an order be made in the premises, unless the person arrested execute and deliver to the sheriff, at any time before the return day of the warrant, a bond, with two sufficient sureties, to the effect that he will appear on such return day and abide the order or judgment of the court or officer thereupon. [L. '69, p. 169, § 673; Cd. '81, § 731; 2 H. C., § 784.]

§ 1056. Return of Warrant—Investigation.

The sheriff shall return the warrant of arrest and the bond, if any, given him by the defendant, by the return day therein specified. When the defendant has been brought up or appeared, the court or judicial officer shall proceed to investigate the charge by examining such defendant and witnesses for or against him, for which an adjournment may be had from time to time, if necessary. [L. '69, p. 169, § 674; Cd. '81, § 732; 2 H. C., § 785.]

§ 1061. Alias Warrant—Prosecution of Bond.

When the warrant of arrest has been returned served, if the defendant do not appear on the return day, the court or judicial officer may issue another warrant of arrest, or may order the bond to be prosecuted, or both. If the bond be prosecuted and the aggrieved party join in the action; and the sum specified therein be recovered, so much thereof as will compensate such party for the loss or injury sustained by reason of the misconduct for which the warrant was issued shall be deemed to be recovered for such party exclusively. [L. '69, p. 170, § 679; Cd. '81, § 737; 2 H. C., § 790.]

§ 1062. Appeal.

Either party to a judgment in a proceeding for a contempt may appeal therefrom in like manner and with like effect as from judgment in an action, but such appeal shall not have the effect to stay the proceedings in any other action, suit, or proceeding, or upon any judgment, decree, or order therein, concerning which or wherein such contempt was committed. Contempts of justices' courts are punishable in the manner specially provided for in the chapter relating to justices of the peace and to their practice and jurisdiction. [L. '69, p. 171, § 680; Cd. '81, § 738; 2 H. C., 791.]

§ 1064. Parents, etc., may have Writ.

Writs of habeas corpus shall be granted in favor of parents, guardians, masters, and husbands, and to enforce the rights and for the protection of infants and insane persons; and the proceedings shall in all cases conform to the provisions of this chapter. [L. '54, p. 214, § 456; Cd. '81, § 688; 2 H. C., § 733.]

§ 1065. Application for, How Made.

Application for the writ shall be made by petition, signed and verified either by the plaintiff or by some person in his behalf, and shall specify,—

1. By whom the petitioner is restrained of his liberty, and the place where (naming the parties if they are known, or describing them if they are not known);

2. The cause or pretense of the restraint, according to the best of the knowledge and belief of the applicant;

3. If the restraint be alleged to be illegal, in what the illegality consists. [L. '54, p. 212, § 422; Cd. '81, § 667; 2 H. C., § 712.]

§ 1066. By Whom Granted.

Writs of habeas corpus may be granted by the supreme court or superior court, or by any judge of either court, and upon application the writ shall be granted without delay. [L. '54, p. 212, § 436; Cd. '81, § 668; 2 H. C., § 713.]

Cited in 37 Wash. 260.

§ 1067. To Whom Directed—Contents of.

The writ shall be directed to the officer or party having the person under restraint, commanding him to have such person before the court or judge at such time and place as the court or judge shall direct to do and receive what shall be ordered concerning him, and have then and there the writ. [L. '54, p. 212, § 437; Cd. '81, § 669; 2 H. C., § 714.]

§ 1068. Delivery of Writ to Sheriff—Service.

If the writ be directed to the sheriff, it shall be delivered by the clerk to him without delay. [L. '54, p. 212, § 438; Cd. '81, § 670; 2 H. C., § 715.]

§ 1069. Service of Writ Directed to Person Other Than Sheriff.

If the writ be directed to any other person, it shall be delivered to the sheriff, and shall be by him served by delivering the same to such person without delay. [L. '54, p. 212, § 439; Cd. '81, § 671; 2 H. C., § 716.]

§ 1070. Service When Person not Found.

If the person to whom such writ is directed cannot be found or shall refuse admittance to the sheriff, the same may be served by leaving it at the residence of the person to whom it is directed, or by posting the same on [in] some conspicuous place, either on his dwelling-house or where the party is confined or under restraint. [L. '54, p. 212, § 440; Cd. '81, § 672; 2 H. C., § 717.]

§ 1071. Return—Attachment for Refusal.

The sheriff or other person to whom the writ is directed shall make immediate return thereof, and if he refuse after due service to make return, the court shall enforce obedience by attachment. [L. '54, p. 213, § 441; Cd. '81, § 673; 2 H. C., § 718.]

§ 1072. Substance and Form of Return.

The return must be signed and verified by the person making it, who shall state,—

1. The authority or cause of the restraint of the party in his custody;
2. If the authority shall be in writing, he shall return a copy and produce the original on the hearing;

3. If he has had the party in his custody, or under his restraint, and has transferred him to another, he shall state to whom, the time, place and cause of the transfer. He shall produce the party at the hearing, unless prevented by sickness or infirmity, which must be shown in the return. [L. '54, p. 213, § 442; Cd. '81, § 674; 2 H. C., § 719.]

§ 1073. Proceedings—Pleadings.

The court or judge, if satisfied of the truth of the allegation of sickness or infirmity, may proceed to decide on the return, or the hearing may be adjourned until the party can be produced, or for other good cause. The plaintiff may except to the sufficiency of or controvert the return, or any part thereof, or allege any new matter in evidence. The new matter shall be verified, except in cases of commitment on a criminal charge. The return and pleadings may be amended without causing a [any] delay. [L. '54, p. 213, § 443; Cd. '81, § 675; 2 H. C., § 720.]

In a habeas corpus to release a prisoner, a demurrer to the officer's return admits all the allegations thereof: Thorp v. Metzger, 77 Wash. 62, 137 Pac. 330.

§ 1074. Hearing and Determination.

The court or judge shall thereupon proceed in a summary way to hear and determine the cause, and if no legal cause be shown for the restraint or for the continuation thereof, shall discharge the party. [L. '54, p. 213, § 444; Cd. '81, § 676; 2 H. C., § 721.]

Hearing on Petition—Grant or Refusal: See Remington's Digest, Hab. Corp., § 12; Milecke, In re, 52 Wash. 312, 100 Pac. 743, 132 Am. St. Rep. 168, 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 259.

If a prisoner, rearrested after a release on a conditional pardon, is entitled to trial in habeas corpus proceedings to determine whether he has violated the conditions of the pardon, he cannot complain if he is awarded a trial before the court and the burden of proof is placed on the state: Spencer v. Kees, 47 Wash. 276, 91 Pac. 963.

§ 1075. Restrictions upon Inquiry.

No court or judge shall inquire into the legality of any judgment or process whereby the party is in custody, or discharge him when the term of commitment has not expired, in either of the cases following:—

1. Upon any process issued on any final judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction;

2. For any contempt of any court, officer or body having authority in the premises to commit; but an order of commitment, as for a contempt upon proceedings to enforce the remedy of a party, is not included in any of the foregoing specifications;

3. Upon a warrant issued from the superior court upon an indictment or information. [L. '54, p. 213, § 445; Cd. '81, § 677; L. '91, p. 82, § 1; 2 H. C., § 722.]

§ 1076. Admission to Bail Instead of Discharge.

No person shall be discharged from an order of commitment issued by any judicial or peace officer for want of bail, or in cases not bailable on account of any defect in the charge or process, or for alleged want of probable cause; but in all cases the court or judge shall summon the prosecuting witnesses, investigate the criminal charge, and discharge, admit to bail, or recommit the prisoner, as may be just and legal, and recognize witnesses when proper. § 1079. Officer not Liable, When.

No sheriff or other officer shall be liable to a civil action for obeying any writ of habeas corpus, or order of discharge made thereon. [L. '54, p. 214, § 449; Cd. '81, § 681; 2 H. C., § 726.]

§ 1080. Warrant to Prevent Removal.

Whenever it shall appear by affidavit that anyone is illegally held in custody or restraint, and that there is good reason to believe that such person will be carried out of the jurisdiction of the court or judge before whom the application is made, or will suffer some irreparable injury before compliance with the writ can be enforced, such court or judge may cause a warrant to be issued reciting the facts, and directed to the sheriff or any constable of the county, commanding him to take the person thus held in custody or restraint, and forthwith bring him before the court or judge, to be dealt with according to the law. [L. '54, p. 214, § 450; Cd. '81, § 682; 2 H. C., § 727.]

§ 1081. What Warrant may Include.

The court or judge may also, if the same be deemed necessary, insert in the warrant a command for the apprehension of the person charged with causing the illegal restraint. [L. '54, p. 214, § 451; Cd. '81, § 683; 2 H. C., § 728.]

§ 1082. Warrant, How Executed.

The officer shall execute the writ by bringing the person therein named before the court or judge, and the like return of proceedings shall be required and had as in case of writs of habeas corpus. [L. '54, p. 214, § 452; Cd. '81, § 684; 2 H. C., § 729.]

§ 1083. Temporary Orders.

The court or judge may make any temporary orders in the cause or disposition of the party during the progress of the proceedings that justice may require. The custody of any party restrained may be changed from one person to another, by order of the court or judge. [L. '54, p. 214, § 453; Cd. '81, § 685; 2 H. C., § 730.]

§ 1085. Writs—Issuance, Service and Return—Amendments.

All writs and other process authorized by this chapter shall be issued by the clerk of the court, and sealed with the seal of such court, and shall be served and returned forthwith, unless the court or judge shall specify a particular time for such return. And no writ or other process shall be disregarded for any defect therein, if enough is shown to notify the officer or person of the purport of the process. Amendments may be allowed and temporary commitments, when necessary. [L. '54, p. 214, § 455; Cd. '81, § 687; 2 H. C., § 732.]

CHAPTER V.

ASSIGNMENTS FOR THE BENEFIT OF CREDITORS.

§ 1086. Must be General—Effect of.

No general assignment of property by an insolvent, or in contemplation of insolvency, for the benefit of creditors, shall be valid unless it be made for the benefit of all his creditors in proportion to the amount of their respective claims; and after the payment of the costs and disbursements thereof, including the attorney fees allowed by law in case of judgment, out of the estate of the insolvent, such claim or claims shall be deemed as presented, and shall share pro rata with other claims as hereinafter provided. [Cf. L. '90, p. 83, § 1; 1 H. C., § 2741; L. '93, p. 247, § 1.]

Cited in 4 Wash. 259, 784; 5 Wash. 340, 345, 668, 669, 670, 672; 6 Wash. 42; 9 Wash. 64, 455; 24 Wash. 97; 44 Wash. 46, 516.

This act being in derogation of the common law, is to be strictly construed, and does not apply to corporations: Nyman v. Berry, 3 Wash. 734, 29 Pac. 557.

It is not a mere regulation of common law assignments, but an insolvent law, as it contains a provision whereby a debtor may be absolutely discharged of all his debts: Hyman v. Barmon, 6 Wash. 516, 33 Pac. 1076.

The title to this act embraces but one subject, which is sufficiently expressed in the title: Jensen-King-Byrd Co. v. Williams, 35 Wash. 161, 76 Pac. 934.

The lien of an attachment is not discharged by the subsequent filing of an assignment by the attachment debtor for the benefit of his creditors: Bierer v. Blurock, 9 Wash. 63, 36 Pac. 975.

A statutory assignment for the benefit of creditors, which had the effect of dissolving prior attachments in this state, cannot be set up as a dissolution of an attachment in the courts of a foreign state: Neufelder v. North British & Merc. Ins. Co., 10 Wash. 393, 39 Pac. 110, 45 Am. St. Rep. 793.

REQUISITES AND VALIDITY.—The state insolvency act is not suspended or superseded by the federal bankruptcy law when no bankruptcy proceedings are instituted: Jensen-King-Byrd Co. v. Williams, 35 Wash. 161, 76 Pac. 934.

Sales Creating Trust: See Remington's Digest, Assign. for B. C., § 2; Chapin v. Bokee, 4 Wash. 1, 29 Pac. 936; Puget Sound Warehouse Co. v. La Hue, 86 Wash. 395, 150 Pac. 630.

The Assignment and Requisites: See Remington's Digest, Assign. for B. C., §§ 3—8.

Right to Make Assignment: Nyman v. Berry, 3 Wash. 734, 29 Pac. 557; Thompson v. Huron Lumber Co., 4 Wash. 600, 30 Pac. 741, 31 Pac. 25; McKay v. Elwood, 12 Wash. 579, 41 Pac. 919; *Oleson v. § 1088. How Made, Procedure Thereafter.

The debtor shall annex to such assignment an inventory, under oath, of all his estate, real and personal, according to the best of his knowledge, and also a list of his creditors, with their postoffice address [es], and a list of the amount of their respective demands, but such inventory shall not be conclusive as to the amount of the debtor's estate. Every assignment shall be in writing, and duly acknowledged, in the same manner as conveyances of real estate, and recorded in the record of deeds of the county where the person making the same resides, or where the business in respect to which the same is made has been carried on. Upon the application of two or more creditors of said debtors therefor, by petition to the judge of the superior court of the county in which such assignment is or should be recorded, at any time, within thirty days from the making or recording of such assignment, it shall be the duty of said superior judge to direct the clerk of said superior court to order a meeting of the creditors of said debtor to choose an assignee of the estate of said debtor in lieu of the assignee named by the debtor in his assignment; and thereupon the clerk of said court shall forthwith give notice to all the creditors of said debtor to meet at his office at a time stated, not to exceed fifteen days from the date of such notice, to select one or more assignees in the place of the assignee named by the debtor in his assignment. Such creditors may appear in person or by proxy, and a majority in number and value of said creditors attending such meeting shall select one or more assignees; and in the event that no one shall receive a majority vote of said creditors, who represent at least one-half in amount of all claims represented at such meeting, then, and in that event, said clerk shall certify that fact to the judge of the superior court aforesaid, and thereupon said superior judge shall select and appoint an assignee. When such assignee shall have been selected by such creditors, or appointed by the superior judge, as herein provided, then the assignee named in the debtor's assignment shall forthwith make to the assignee elected by the creditors, or appointed by the superior judge, an assignment and conveyance of all the estate, real and personal that has been assigned or conveyed to him by said debtor; and such assignee so elected by the creditors or appointed by the superior judge, upon giving the bond required of an assignee by this chapter, shall possess all the powers and be subject to all the duties imposed by this chapter, as fully, to all intents and purposes, as though named in the debtor's assignment. From the time of the pending of an application to elect an assignee by the creditors, and until the time shall be terminated by an election or appointment as herein provided, no property of the debtor, except perishable property, shall be sold or disposed of by any assignee; but the same shall be safely and securely kept until the election or appointment of an assignee, as herein provided. No creditor shall be entitled to vote at any such meeting called for the purpose of electing an assignee, until he shall have presented to the clerk of the superior court, who shall preside at such meeting, a verified statement of his claim against the debtor. [L. '90, p. 83, § 3; 1 H. C., § 2743.]

Effect of failure to file inventory on right to attach property in hands of assignee for creditors. 26 L. R. A. 594.

§ 1089. Inventory and Valuation—Bond.

The assignee shall also forthwith file with the clerk of the superior court of the county where such assignment will be recorded a true and full inventory and valuation of said estate, under oath, as far as the same has come to his knowledge, and shall then and there enter into bonds to the state of Washington, for the use of the creditors, in double the amount of the inventory and valuation, with two or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by said clerk, for the faithful performance of said trust; and the assignee may thereupon proceed to perform any duties necessary to carry into effect the intention of said assignment. [L. '90, p. 85, § 4; 1 H. C., § 2744.]

§ 1090. Notice of Assignment.

The assignee shall forthwith give notice of such assignment, by publication in some newspaper in the county, if any, and if none, then in the nearest county thereto, which publication shall be continued at least six weeks; and shall forthwith send a notice by mail to each creditor of whom he shall be informed, directed to their usual place of residence, and notifying the creditors to present their claims, under oath, to him within three months thereafter. Co. v. Bothell, 10 Wash. 314, 38 Pac. 1118; Boston Nat. Bank v. Hammond, 21 Wash. 158, 57 Pac. 365.

§ 1091. List of Creditors.

At the expiration of three months from the time of first publishing notice, the assignee shall report and file with the clerk of the court a true and full list, under oath, of all such creditors of the assignor as shall have claims to be such, with a statement of their claims, and also an affidavit of publication of notice, and a list of the creditors, with their places of residence, to whom notice has been sent by mail, and the date of mailing, duly verified. [L. '90, p. 85, § 6; 1 H. C., § 2746.]

§ 1092. Exceptions to Claims.

Any person interested may appear within three months after filing such report, and file with said clerk any exceptions to the claim or demand of any creditor, and the clerk shall forthwith cause notice thereof to be given to the creditor, which shall be served [and returned] as in case of summons; and the court shall proceed to hear the proof and allegation of the parties in the premises, and shall render such judgment therein as shall be just, and may allow a trial by jury thereon. § 1100. Discharge of Assignor, When.

Whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court or judge thereof when the assignment is pending upon the final reports of the assignee chosen by the creditors or otherwise that the assignor has been guilty of no fraud in making an assignment or concealment or diversion of the property or any part thereof, in order to keep the same beyond the reach of creditors, and has acted justly and fairly in all respects; that the estate has been made to realize the fullest amount possible and that the expenses of the assignment have been paid. The judge of the court having jurisdiction of the matter shall, upon the allowance of the final account of the assignee, make an order discharging the assignor or assignors as the case may be from any further liability on account of any indebtedness existing prior to the making of such assignment, and thereafter such assignor shall be freed from any liability on account of any unsatisfied portion of the indebtedness existing prior to the making of the assignment. § 1101. Sheriff not to be Receiver or Assignee.

It shall be unlawful for the judge of any court of record or the creditors of an insolvent debtor to appoint the sheriff of the county receiver or assignee in any case of insolvency or assignment. [L. '93, p. 462, § 1.]

Cited in 7 Wash. 77.

§ 1102. Right of Exemption.

Hereafter any person making a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, under any statute of this state, shall have the right to claim, and have set aside to him, as exempt from the operation of such assignment, all real and personal property which is, at the time of such assignment, exempt from levy by execution or attachment, under the laws of this state. [L. '97, p. 6, § 1.]

Cited in 45 Wash. 618.

§ 1103. How Claimed—Objections.

Such assignor shall, if he desires to claim the benefit of the last preceding section, state in such assignment, or in the inventory annexed thereto, what property he claims as exempt, giving a description thereof sufficient for identification. Any creditor of such assignor who believes any of the property so claimed as exempt is not so in fact shall have the right to make objection to such exemption claim at any time prior to the expiration of the time for presentment of claims against such assignor to his assignee. Such objection shall be made by delivering to the assignor and the assignee, and filing with the clerk of the court having jurisdiction of the assignment, a notice in writing, clearly pointing out the part or parts of such exemption claim objected to, and the ground of such objection. When the time above provided for the service and filing of objections has expired, the assignor, upon application to said court, shall have a right to the summary hearing of the said objections, and at such hearing the court shall determine and adjudge to the assignor his lawful exemptions. If any part of the exemptions claimed by the assignor shall be denied, the court shall direct the assignee to pay, out of the funds in his hands, the costs of the hearing, if any, as a part of the expenses of the assignment proceedings. The court may, at its discretion, if it find any claim made for exemption to be fraudulent and made in bad faith, deny such exemption. If no objection to the said exemption claim is served and filed prior to the expiration of the time for presentment of claims to the assignee, the assignor shall be entitled as of course to an order setting aside to him the exemptions claimed by him as aforesaid, and it shall be the duty of the assignee forthwith to deliver the same to him. CHAPTER I.

THE FORECLOSURE OF CHATTEL MORTGAGES.

§ 1104. Chattel Mortgage—How Foreclosed.

Any mortgage of personal property, when the debt to secure which the mortgage was given is due, may be foreclosed by notice and sale as herein provided; or it may be foreclosed by action in the superior court having jurisdiction in the county in which the property is situated. [Cf. L. '75, p. 46, § 18; L. '79, p. 105, § 6; Cd. '81, § 1991; 1 H. C., § 1650.]

Actions to Foreclose: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., §§ 67—72.

Nature and Form: Moody v. Noyes, 15 Wash. 128, 45 Pac. 732.

The right to foreclose is not lost by the delay of a mortgagee in possession if the statute of limitations has not run: Brockway v. Abbott, 37 Wash. 263, 79 Pac. 924.

§ 68. — Grounds and Conditions Precedent: Gilbert Hunt Mfg. Co. v. Wheeler, 15 Wash. 594, 47 Pac. 26; Kidder v. Beavers, 33 Wash. 635, 74 Pac. 819; Slyfield v. Willard, 43 Wash. 179, 86 Pac. 392; Hopkins v. Crane, 50 Wash. 636, 97 Pac. 772.

§ 69. — Defenses: Weir v. Rathbun, 12 Wash. 84, 40 Pac. 625; Snively v. Matheson, 12 Wash. 88, 40 Pac. 628, 50 Am. St. Rep. 877; Hinchman v. Point Defiance R. Co., 14 Wash. 349, 44 Pac. 867; Washington Bank of Walla Walla v. Fidelity Abstract etc. Co., 15 Wash. 487, 46 Pac. 1036, 55 Am. St. Rep. 902, 37 L. R. A. 115; Mahoney v. Crockett, 37 Wash. 252, 79 Pac. 933.

§ 70. — Parties: Ephraim v. Kelleher,

§ 1106. Service of Notice, How Made.

Such notice shall be placed in the hands of the sheriff or other proper officer, and shall be personally served in the same manner as is provided by law for the service of a summons: Provided, that if the mortgagor cannot be found in the county where the mortgage is being foreclosed, it shall not be necessary to advertise the notice or affidavit in a newspaper; but the general publication directed in the next section shall be sufficient service upon all the parties interested, and such notice shall be sufficient authority for the officer to take such property into his immediate possession. [Cf. L. '75, p. 47, §§ 20, 21; L. '79, p. 106, § 8; Cd. '81, § 1993; 1 H. C., § 1652.]

Taking Custody of Property: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., § 65; Meacham Arms Co. v. Strong, 3 W. T. 61, 13 Pac. 245; Nettleton v. Evans, 67 Wash. 227, 121 Pac. 54; Allen v. Morris, 87 Wash. 268, 151 Pac. 827; Kato v. Union Oil Co. of California, 92 Wash. 473, 159 Pac. 692.

A constable has no authority to foreclose a chattel mortgage by notice and sale, under this section: Pickle v. Smalley, 21 Wash. 473, 58 Pac. 581; Jacobson v. Aberdeen Packing Co., 26 Wash. 175, 66 Pac. 419.

"Such notice" refers to the mortgagee's original notice or warrant to the sheriff to foreclose the mortgage, and not to the notice to be served on the mortgagor, in view of sections 1106, 1107, providing for notice to the mortgagor to follow seizure: Allen v. Morris, 87 Wash. 268, 151 Pac. 827.

§ 1107. Publication—Sale, How Conducted.

After notice has been served upon the mortgagor, it must be published in the same manner and for the same length of time as required in cases of the sale of like property on execution, and the sale shall be conducted in the same manner. [Cf. L. '75, p. 47, § 22; L. '79, p. 106, § 9; Cd. '81, § 1994; 1 H. C., § 1653.]

Cited in 87 Wash. 273; 89 Wash. 504, 506; 97 Wash. 487.

§ 1108. Purchaser's Title.

The purchaser shall take all interest which the mortgagor had in the said mortgaged property upon which the said mortgage operated. [Cf. L. '75, p. 47, § 23; L. '79, p. 106, § 10; Cd. '81, § 1995; 1 H. C., § 1654.]

Cited in 97 Wash. 487.

Title and Rights of Purchaser: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., § 78; First Nat. Bank of Seattle v. Woolery, 6 Wash. 215, 33 Pac. 357; Lawrence v. Times Printing Co., 22 Wash. 482, 61 Pac. 166; Larson v. Anderson, 97 Wash. 484, 166 Pac. 774.

Without deciding whether a chattel mortgage of abstract books covers photographic reproductions unlawfully taken by the mortgagor and sold to a third person, a decree of foreclosure and sheriff's sale particularly describing the books only, does not pass title to the copies, or authorize a possessory action to recover the copies: Wintler Abstract & Loan Co. v. Sears, 108 Wash. 461, 184 Pac. 309, 7 A. L. R. 152.

§ 1109. Officer's Bill of Sale, Effect of.

The officer conducting the sale shall execute to the purchaser a bill of sale of the property, which bill of sale shall be effectual to carry the whole title and interest purchased, and if any balance of the purchase price remain, it shall be disposed of in the same manner as surplus proceeds of sales are on execution. [Cf. L. '75, p. 47, § 24; L. '79, p. 106, § 11; Cd. '81, § 1996; 1 H. C., § 1655.]

Wash. 215, 33 Pac. 357; Hamilton v. Carter, 12 Wash. 510, 41 Pac. 911; Hinchman v. Point Defiance R. Co., 14 Wash. 349, 44 Pac. 867; Dubuque v. Stich, 16 Wash. 641, 48 Pac. 344.

Fees and Costs: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., § 80; Howard v. Gemming, 10 Wash. 1, 38 Pac. 748; Jacobson v. Aberdeen Packing Co., 26 Wash. 175; 66 Pac. 419.

§ 1110. Foreclosure Contested—Injunction.

The right of the mortgagee to foreclose, as well as the amount claimed to be due, may be contested by any person interested in so doing, and the proceedings may be transferred to the superior court, for which purpose an injunction may issue if necessary. [Cf. L. '75, p. 47, § 28; L. '79, p. 106, § 12; Cd. '81, § 1997; 1 H. C., § 1656.]

Cited in 4 Wash. 259; 13 Wash. 257; 33 Wash. 640, 643; 50 Wash. 121, 122; 78 Wash. 137; 87 Wash. 271; 90 Wash. 14; 106 Wash. 168.

Restraining Foreclosure: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., § 63; Meacham

Arms Co. v. Swartz, 2 W. T. 412, 7 Pac. 859; West Coast Grocery Co. v. Stinson, 13 Wash. 255, 43 Pac. 35; Kidder v. Beavers, 33 Wash. 635, 74 Pac. 819.

§ 1111. Action Before Maturity of Debt.

Where the debt is not due for which the mortgage is given, and the mortgagee has reasonable cause to believe that the mortgage property will be destroyed, lost, or removed, he shall have the right to an immediate action in the superior court of the county having jurisdiction where the property is situated, for the recovery of his debt, and the court may make any order it may deem fit, in order to secure said property so as to make the same available for the satisfaction of said debt. [L. '79, p. 106, § 13; Cd. '81, § 1998; 1 H. C., § 1657.]

Option and Election to Foreclose: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., § 61; Frank v. Pickle, 2 W. T. 55, 3 Pac. 584; Fitch v. Goetjen, 83 Wash. 355, 145 Pac. 447; Case Threshing Machine Co. v. Shroll, 100 Wash. 212, 170 Pac. 564.

See, also, Skookum Lbr. Co. v. Sacajawea Lbr. & Shingle Co., 107 Wash. 356, 181 Pac. 914, 187 Pac. 410.

A chattel mortgage that is made due by the election of the mortgagee may be foreclosed by statutory notice, without proceeding by action under sections 1104 and 1109: Allen v. Morris, 87 Wash. 268, 151 Pac. 827.

Injunction and Receiver: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., § 74; Schoonover v. Condon, 12 Wash. 475, 41 Pac. 195; Euphrat v. Morrison, 39 Wash. 311, 81 Pac. 695; Libert v. Unfried, 47 Wash. 182, 91 Pac. 774.

§ 1112. Mortgagee may Take Possession—Sale.

A mortgage[e] of personal property, where a debt for the security of which the mortgage has been given has become due, or if the debt is not yet due, and the mortgagee has reasonable ground to believe that his debt is insecure, and that by allowing the property longer to remain in the hands of the mortgagor he would be in danger of losing his debt or security, may have the property taken from the possession of the mortgagor, and sold in the manner provided in this chapter. [L. '79, p. 105, § 4; Cd. '81, § 1989; 1 H. C., § 1658.]

Cited in 47 Wash. 184, 186; 69 Wash. 153; 87 Wash. 271; 100 Wash. 213.

Taking Possession: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., § 73; McClellan v. Gaston, 18 Wash. 472, 51 Pac. 1062; Bancroft-Whitney Co. v. Gowan, 24 Wash. 66, 63 Pac. 1111.

A proceeding by a chattel mortgagee to preserve his security, under this section, does not have the effect of an election to declare the whole debt due or accelerate the maturity of the debt, where he did not allege such an election, the notes did not provide for an acceleration of the maturity of the debt in such case: Haggard v. Sanglin, 69 Wash. 151, 124 Pac. 373.

Exercise of Power of Sale: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., § 64; Sheehan v. Levy, 1 Wash. 149, 23 Pac. 802; Richter v. Buchanan, 48 Wash. 32, 92 Pac. 782; Woodward v. Lutsch, 69 Wash. 59, 129 Pac. 393.

Where property covered by a chattel mortgage was left in the possession of the mortgagors and one of them delivered it to a third party, no title passed. While the mortgage was not foreclosed, the mortgagors could have recovered the possession; or if the possession of such third party endangered the security of the mortgagee, they could have the property taken into possession, and held for disposal, as prescribed by the above section: Silsby v. Aldridge, 1 Wash. 117, 23 Pac. 836; Kerron v. Northern Pac. Lbr. & Mfg. Co., 1 Wash. 241, 24 Pac. 445.

If a mortgagee of chattels has taken possession thereof for alleged breach of the condition providing for payment, he is entitled to retain possession as against a subsequent assignment by mortgagor for the benefit of creditors, until it is determined by legal proceedings that the assignee has the superior right thereto: Sanders v. Main, 9 Wash. 46, 36 Pac. 1049; following Marsh v. Wade, 1 Wash. 538, 20 Pac. 578; State ex rel. Arthur Mach. Co. v. Superior Court, 7 Wash. 77, 34 Pac. 430; State ex rel. Hunt v. Superior Court, 8 Wash. 210, 35 Pac. 1087, 25 L. R. A. 354.

If a chattel mortgage on a stock of goods provides for payment out of sales of the goods and the mortgagee takes possession, his lien will apply to goods after acquired mingled with the stock, although not in terms covered by the mortgage: Armstrong v. Ford, 10 Wash. 64, 38 Pac. 866.

Where the possession of goods is taken under a chattel mortgage the fact that it contains no affidavit of good faith will not affect the mortgagee's right: Reed v. Bank of Commerce, 8 Wash. 539, 36 Pac. 484. See Sligh v. Shelton etc. R. Co., 20 Wash. 16, 54 Pac. 763.

Right of chattel mortgagee to take possession under insecurity clause. Ann. Cas. 1914B, 1097.

§ 1113. Foreclosure of Chattel Mortgages—Application of Chapter II.

The provisions contained in chapter II of this title, so far as the same shall be applicable, shall govern in actions for the foreclosure of chattel mortgages or bills of sale creating liens on personal property. [Cf. L. '69, p. 147, § 572; Cd. '81, § 618; 2 H. C., § 636.]

Cited in 1 Wash. 546; 4 Wash. 249; 47 Wash. 163.

§ 1114. Remedies of Mortgagee—Decree—Sale—Deficiency.

The mortgagee or holder of the lien may proceed upon his mortgage or lien, [or] if there be a separate obligation in writing to pay the same, secured by said mortgage or lien, he may bring suit upon such separate promise. When he proceeds on the mortgage, if there be a specific agreement therein contained for the payment of a certain sum, or there is a separate obligation for the said sum, in addition to a decree of sale of mortgaged property, judgment shall be rendered for the amount due upon said mortgage or other instrument, the payment of which is thereby secured. The decree shall direct the sale of the mortgaged property, and if the proceeds of said sale be insufficient under the execution, the sheriff is authorized to levy upon and sell other property of the mortgage debtor, not exempt from execution, for the sum remaining unsatisfied. [Cf. L. '69, p. 147, § 572; Cd. '81, § 619; 2 H. C., § 637.]

Cited in 1 Wash. 546; 12 Wash. 87; 54 Wash. 230, 235.

This section and that immediately preceding it provide for the foreclosure of chattel mortgages, and assimilate such foreclosure to that of mortgages on real property: Byrd v. Forbes, 3 W. T. 318, 13 Pac. 715.

ELECTION OF REMEDY—RESIDUE. The payee may, at his option, recover either a money judgment or proceed to foreclose upon a written instrument constituting not only a mortgage, but also a note and mortgage: Frank v. Pickle, 2 W. T. 55, 3 Pac. 584. When judgment is not satisfied by a sale of mortgaged premises under a decree of foreclosure, it is the duty of the sheriff to proceed at once to make the residue by levy upon and sale of other property: Hays v. Miller, 1 W. T. 143.

A first mortgage lien is not in any way affected by a sale of the mortgaged property under a second mortgage: Binnian v. Baker, 6 Wash. 50, 32 Pac. 1008.

Judgment: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., § 75; Sheehan v. Levy, 1 Wash. 149, 23 Pac. 802; Weir v. Rathbun, 12 Wash. 84, 40 Pac. 625; Hopkins v. Perry, 96 Wash. 57, 164 Pac. 773.

The withholding of an order of sale upon a decree of foreclosure of a chattel mortgage for five months does not constitute laches: Hamilton v. Carter, 12 Wash. 510, 41 Pac. 911.

In an action to foreclose a mortgage securing a contract, against a party to the contract and one claiming an interest in the property, a joint personal judgment cannot be entered against both defendants: Hopkins v. Crane, 50 Wash. 636, 97 Pac. 772.

A decree of foreclosure cannot be collaterally attacked on the ground that property was not a proper subject of chattel mortgage, and of foreclosure sale: Dubuque v. Stich, 16 Wash. 641, 48 Pac. 344.

In an action to foreclose a mortgage given to secure the plaintiff against loss by breach of a contract, it is not necessary that damages from the breach be ascertained before suit brought, jurisdiction to foreclose necessarily including the determination of the amount for which foreclosure be awarded: Hopkins v. Crane, 50 Wash. 636, 97 Pac. 722.

Deficiency and Personal Liability: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., §§ 66, 75-1; Mitchell, Lewis & Staver Co. v. O'Neil, 16 Wash. 108, 47 Pac. 235; Bradley Eng. & Mach. Co. v. Muzzy, 54 Wash. 227, 103 Pac. 37, 18 Ann. Cas. 1072; Lee v. Pasco Theatre Co., 93 Wash. 204, 160 Pac. 435.

Right to deficiency judgment in action to foreclose chattel mortgage. 18 Ann. Cas. 1075.

§ 1115. Sale of Mortgagor's Interest Under Process—Notice.

The interest of the mortgagor, subject, however, to the lien of the mortgagee, may be sold under any process of law issuing out of any superior or justice of the peace court in this state: Provided, however, that if the party who has said mortgage reside in this state, or has an agent herein, and the same is known to the officer executing such process, he shall serve upon him or his agent personally, or by mailing to him or to his agent, if their postoffice is known, a notification of the intended sale, at the time such mortgaged property is seized under said process, or within five days thereafter. Said property shall not be sold within less than thirty days after its seizure, and the officer executing such process must post in three public places, near the place where the said property is to be sold, a notice of the time and place of such sale, at the time he seizes said property under said process. [L. '79, p. 105, § 5; Cd. '81, § 1990; 1 H. C., § 1659.]

Manner and Conduct of Sale: See Remington's Digest, Chat. Mtg., § 77; Hamilton v. Carter, 12 Wash. 510, 41 Pac. 911.

SALE OF MORTGAGOR'S INTEREST UNDER PROCESS OF LAW.—A mortgagor's interest in goods may be taken in execution, and the provisions of the above section are inconsistent with the idea that after levy by the sheriff, the mortgagee can demand and take possession: Byrd v. Forbes, 3 W. T. 318, 13

Pac. 715. Mortgaged property in the hands of the mortgagor can be taken possession of by process of attachment, and the property can be taken into actual custody of the sheriff: Marsh v. Wade, 1 Wash. 538, 20 Pac. 578. Any interest that the mortgagor may have in the mortgaged property in the hands of the mortgagee can also be reached by process of garnishment; that is to say, the mortgagee can be garnished for any interest that may exist after his mortgage is satisfied, but the possession of the honest mortgagee cannot be disturbed: Marsh v. Wade, 1 Wash. 538, 20

Pac. 578. An unexpired mortgage is a mortgage still, regardless of where the possession lies: Id.

NOTICE TO MORTGAGEE.—The provisions of the above section concerning the sheriff's notice to the mortgagee are mandatory, but do not affect the validity of the sale: Byrd v. Forbes, 3 W. T. 318, 13 Pac. 715. A sheriff is not liable for noncompliance with the above section, where it did not appear that, being well informed of the mortgagee's address, he failed to notify him of a levy upon mortgaged chattels, and where it did not appear that the mortgagee lost his security or suffered damage from the sheriff's acts: Byrd v. Forbes, 3 W. T. 318, 13 Pac. 715.

CHAPTER II.

FORECLOSURE OF MORTGAGES ON REAL ESTATE.

§ 1116. Foreclosure—Venue.

When default is made in the performance of any condition contained in a mortgage, the mortgagee or his assigns may proceed in the superior court of the county where the land, or some part thereof, lies, to foreclose the equity of redemption contained in the mortgage. § 1121. Execution to Enforce Decree.

A decree of foreclosure of mortgage or other lien may be enforced by execution as an ordinary judgment or decree for the payment of money. The execution shall contain a description of the property described in the decree. The sheriff shall indorse upon the execution the time when he receives it, and he shall thereupon forthwith proceed to sell such property, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy the judgment, interest and costs upon giving the notice prescribed in section 582. The sale of real property under execution has been governed, since its enactment, by this section, whether the execution was issued under a judgment rendered prior or subsequent thereto: Whitworth v. McKee, 32 Wash. 83, 72 Pac. 1046.

§ 1123. Levy upon and Sale of Other Property.

In all actions of foreclosure where there is a decree for the sale of the mortgaged premises or property, and a judgment over for any deficiency remaining unsatisfied after applying the proceeds of the sale of mortgaged property, further levy and sales upon other property of the judgment debtor may be made under the same execution. [Cf. L. '69, p. 148, § 573; L. '73, p. 151, § 571; L. '77, p. 129, § 623; Cd. '81, § 620 in part, last part in following section.]

§ 1124. Publication of Notice.

When sales of other property not embraced in the mortgage or decree of sale are made under the execution to satisfy any deficiency remaining due upon judgment, two weeks' publication of notice of such sale shall be sufficient. Such notice shall be published in a newspaper printed in the county where the property is situated, and if there be no newspaper published therein, then in the most convenient newspaper having a circulation in said county. [Cf. L. '69, p. 148, § 574; Cd. '81, § 621; 2 H. C., § 631.]

This section seems to be superseded by § 582, supra, relating to notice of sales on execution, which is made applicable by sections 1120 and 1121, supra.

The plaintiff shall not proceed to foreclose his mortgage while he is prosecuting any other action for the same debt or matter which is secured by the mortgage, or while he is seeking to obtain execution of any judgment in such other action; nor shall he prosecute any other action for the same matter while he is foreclosing his mortgage or prosecuting a judgment of foreclosure. This section is in derogation of the common law, and to be strictly construed, so far as it restricts the remedy; and its object must be held to prevent a multiplicity of suits and save expense and not to prevent a deficiency judgment: Hays v. Miller, 1 W. T. 143.

The fact that a mortgagee prosecuted another action for the same matter while foreclosing his mortgage, although contrary to the provisions of this section, cannot be urged by way of collateral attack upon the judgment of foreclosure:

Rohrer v. Snyder, 29 Wash. 199, 69 Pac. 748.

In an action brought to foreclose a chattel mortgage, an attachment cannot be issued and levied upon other property, in anticipation of an unknown deficiency, in view of this section: Advance Thresher Co. v. Schimke, 47 Wash. 162, 91 Pac. 645.

§ 1126. Installments not Due—Proceedings.

Whenever a complaint is filed for the foreclosure of a mortgage upon which there shall be due any interest or installment of the principal, and there are other installments not due, if the defendant pay into the court the principal and interest due, with costs, at any time before the final judgment, proceedings thereon shall be stayed, subject to be enforced upon a subsequent default in the payment of any installment of the principal or interest thereafter becoming due. In the final judgment, the court shall direct at what time and upon what default any subsequent execution shall issue. [Cf. L. '54, p. 208, § 414; L. '69, p. 147, § 569; Cd. '81, § 615; 2 H. This section does not apply where, by reason of default of breach, the mortgagor has declared the whole principal sum due, in accordance with the provisions of the mortgage; since such provisions are valid and must be given force, and consequently no other installments are due: Knisell v. Brunet, 60 Wash. 610, 111 Pac. 894.

Where the mortgage provides for foreclosure only after maturity of the principal, no right to foreclose an installment of overdue interest is given by this section: Bank v. Doherty, 29 Wash. 233, 69 Pac. 732, 92 Am. St. Rep. 933.

CHAPTER III.

LIENS OF MECHANICS AND MATERIALMEN.

§ 1129. Who may have Lien.

Every person performing labor upon or furnishing material to be used in the construction, alteration or repair of any mining claim, building, wharf, bridge, ditch, dyke, flume, tunnel, well, fence, machinery, railroad, street railway, wagon road, aqueduct to create hydraulic power or any other structure or who performs labor in any mine or mining claim or stone quarry, has a lien upon the same for the labor performed or material furnished by each, respectively, whether performed or furnished at the instance of the owner of the property subject to the lien or his agent; and every contractor, subcontractor, architect, builder or person having charge, of the construction, alteration or repair of any property subject to the lien as aforesaid, shall be held to be the agent of the owner for the purposes of the establishment of the lien created by this chapter: Provided, that whenever any railroad company shall contract with any person for the construction of its road, or any part thereof, such railroad company shall take from the person with whom such contract is made a good and sufficient bond, conditioned that such person shall pay all laborers, mechanics, and materialmen, and persons who supply such contractors with provisions, all just dues to such persons or to any person to whom any part of such work is given, incurred in carrying on such work, which bond shall be filed by such railroad company in the office of the county auditor in each county in which any part of such work is situated. And if any such railroad company shall fail to take such bond, such railroad company shall be liable to the persons herein mentioned to the full extent of all such debts so contracted by such contractor. [L. '93, p. 32, § 1; L. '05, p. 229, § 1.]

This act works a repeal of 1 Hill's Code, section 1671, which provides that should the owner of any land desire to prevent the lien from attaching, he may do so by giving notice in writing, posted in some conspicuous place upon said land or improvement, to the effect that he will not be responsible for said improvement: Stetson-Post Mill Co. v. Brown, 21 Wash. 619, 59 Pac. 507, 75 Am. St. Rep. 862.

Effect of Change or Repeal of Lien Laws: See Remington's Digest, Mech. Liens, § 3; Seattle & Walla Walla R. Co. v. Ah Kow, 2 W. T. 36, 3 Pac. 188; Hopkins v. Jamieson-Dixon Mill Co., 11 Wash. 308, 39 Pac. 815.

The title to laws of 1893, page 32, section 1, "An act creating and providing for the enforcement of liens for labor and material," is not sufficiently broad to include a clause rendering a railroad contractor liable for "provisions" furnished to him in the prosecution of the work, since "materials" as used in the lien laws, means something that becomes part of the finished structure: Armour & Co. v. Western Const. Co., 36 Wash. 529, 78 Pac. 1106.

§ 1131-1. Liens on Orchards—Right to Lien.

Any person or corporation who shall do or cause to be done any labor upon any orchard or orchard lands, in pruning, spraying, cultivating and caring for the same, at the request of the owner thereof, or his agent, shall have a lien upon such orchard and orchard lands for such work and labor so performed. [L. '17, p. 410, § 1.]

§ 1131-2. Notice of Orchard Lien—Requisites.

Any person or corporation claiming the benefit of this chapter, must within forty days after the close of such work or labor for each season during which such work and labor is done, file for record with the county auditor of the county in which said work and labor was performed and in which said land or part thereof is situated, a claim of lien which shall be in substance in accordance with the provisions of section 1134, so far as the same is applicable, which said claim of lien shall be verified as in said section provided, and such lien may be enforced in a civil action in the same manner as near as may be, provided in section 1140. [L. '17, p. 410, § 2.]

§ 1131-3. Limitation on Action—Costs and Attorney's Fees.

Any action to foreclose such claim of lien shall be brought within eight calendar months after the filing of such claim for lien as provided in section 1131-2 and in any such action brought to enforce such lien, the court shall allow as part of the costs the money paid for making, filing and recording such claim of lien and a reasonable attorney's fee. [L. '17, p. 411, § 3.]

§ 1132. Priority Over Subsequent Encumbrances.

The liens created by this chapter are preferred to any lien, mortgage or other encumbrance which may attach subsequently to the time of the commencement of the performance of the labor, or the furnishing of the materials for which the right of lien is given by this chapter, and are also preferred to any lien, mortgage or other encumbrance which may have attached previously to that time, and which was not filed or recorded so as to create constructive notice of the same prior to that time, and of which the lien claimant had no notice. § 1133. Prerequisites—Duplicate Statements to be Furnished.

Every person, firm or corporation furnishing materials or supplies to be used in the construction, alteration or repair of any mining claim, building, wharf, bridge, ditch, dike, flume, tunnel, well, fence, machinery, railroad, street railway, wagon road, aqueduct to create hydraulic power or any other building, or any other structure, or mining claim or stone quarry, shall, not later than five (5) days after the date of the first delivery of such materials or supplies to any contractor or agent, deliver or mail to the owner or the reputed owner of the property, on, upon or about which such materials or supplies are to be used, a notice in writing, stating in substance and effect that such person, firm or corporation has commenced to deliver materials and supplies for use thereon, with the name of the contractor or agent ordering the same, and that a lien may be claimed for all materials and supplies furnished by such person, firm or corporation for use thereon; and no further notice to the owner shall be necessary. No materialman's lien shall be enforced unless the provisions of this act have been complied with. [L. '11, p. 376, § 1. Cf. L. '09, p. 71 § 1.]

The term "agent" must be construed as meaning agent of the owner and not of the contractor and includes a lessee in possession under obligation to make the improvements, as agent of the owner: Hays v. Montesano Mill Co., 85 Wash. 604, 148 Pac. 881.

This section did not impliedly repeal the provisions of sections 1182, 1183, governing the subject of mechanics' liens on boats and vessels; repeals by implication not being favored, and the later act not being a complete law on the subject: Hewitt-Lea Lumber Co. v. Chesley, 68 Wash. 53, 122 Pac. 993.

Rem. & Bal. Code, section 1133, requiring notice of the furnishing of materials for certain enumerated structures to be given to the owner, having been amended by Rem. 1915 Code, section 1133, by omitting therefrom the words "steamer, vessel, boat," it was the intention to dispense with the necessity of notice to owners of boats, and the same would therefore not come within the general terms "or any other building or any other structure," contained in the amending act: Siler Mill Co. v. Nelson Co., 94 Wash. 477, 162 Pac. 590.

A duplicate statement of materials furnished for the construction of a building, mailed June 6, 1911, in compliance with, and one day prior to the taking effect of Laws of 1911, page 376, section 1, amending the law relating to duplicate statements was premature and ineffective for any purpose; since the amendatory act of 1911 was not retroactive: *Walker v. § 1134. Requisites of Claim, Form, Time of Filing.

No lien created by this chapter shall exist, and no action to enforce the same shall be maintained, unless within ninety days from the date of the cessation of the performance of such labor or of the furnishing of such materials, a claim for such lien shall be filed for record as hereinafter provided, in the office of the county auditor of the county in which the property, or some part thereof to be affected thereby, is situated. Such claim shall state, as nearly as may be, the time of the commencement and cessation of performing the labor, or furnishing the material, the name of such person who performed the labor, or furnished the material, the name of the person by whom the laborer was employed (if known) or to whom the material was furnished, a description of the property to be charged with the lien sufficient for identification, the name of the owner, or reputed owner if known, and if not known, that fact shall be mentioned, the amount for which the lien is claimed, and shall be signed by the claimant, or by some person in his behalf, and be verified by the oath of the claimant, or some person in his behalf, to the effect that the affiant believes the claim to be just; in case the claim shall have been assigned the name of the assignee shall be stated; and such claim of lien may be amended in case of action brought to foreclose the same, by order of the court, as pleadings may be, in so far as the interests of third parties shall not be affected by such amendment. A claim for lien substantially in the following form shall be sufficient:—

—, claimant, vs. —

Notice is hereby given that on the — day (date of commencement of performing labor or furnishing material) — at the request of — commenced to perform labor (or to furnish material to be used) upon — (here describe property subject to the lien) of which property the owner, or reputed owner, is — (or if the owner or reputed owner is not known, insert the word “unknown”), the performance of which labor (or the furnishing of which material) ceased on the — day of —; that said labor performed (or material furnished) was of the value of — dollars, for which labor (or material) the undersigned claims a lien upon the property herein described for the sum of — dollars. (In case the claim has been assigned, add the words “and — is assignee of said claim,” or claims, if several are united.)

— — Claimant.

State of Washington, }
County of —, } ss.

—, being sworn, says: I am the claimant (or attorney of the claimant) above named; I have heard the foregoing claim read and know the contents thereof, and believe the same to be just.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this — day of —.

Any number of claimants may join in the same claim for the purpose of filing the same and enforcing their liens, but in such case the amount claimed by each original lienor, respectively, shall be stated: Provided, it shall not be necessary to insert in the notice of claim of lien provided for by this chapter any itemized statement or bill of particulars of such claim. § 1135. Recording Claim.

The county auditor must record the claims mentioned in this chapter in a book to be kept by him for that purpose, which record must be indexed as deeds and other conveyances are required by law to be indexed. [L. '93, p. 35, § 6.]

§ 1136. Assignment of Lien.

Any lien or right of lien created by law and the rights of action to recover therefor, shall be assignable so as to vest in the assignee all rights and remedies of the assignor, subject to all defenses thereto that might be made if such assignment had not been made. [L. '93, p. 35, § 7.]

The assignment by the contractor of his claim against the owner will not deprive him of the right to assert a lien upon the premises, when the assignment was given merely as security for indebtedness. Potvin v. Denny Hotel Co., 9 Wash. 316, 37 Pac. 320, 38 Pac. 1002.

The lien given by statute (§ 1947, Code 1881) is personal to the laborer; and where the laborer combines with his own claim one assigned him by another laborer, he loses all right to take benefit of foreclosure: Dexter, Horton & Co. v. Sparkman, 2 Wash. 165, 25 Pac. 1070.

Although the inchoate right of lien cannot be assigned, yet where the lien is perfected by the filing of notice thereof, the assignment of the claim will give the assignee the benefit of the security: Casey v. Ault, 4 Wash. 167, 29 Pac. 1048.

The foregoing adjudications were made prior to the enactment of this section.

§ 1137. Segregation of Claims.

In every case in which one claim is filed against two or more separate pieces of property owned by the same person, or owned by two or more persons who jointly contracted for the labor or material for which the lien is claimed, the person filing such claim must designate in the claim the amount due him on each piece of property, otherwise the lien of such claim is postponed to other liens. The lien of such claim does not extend beyond the amount designated as against other creditors having liens upon either of such pieces of property. [L. '93, p. 35, § 8.]

§ 1138. Limitations of Actions.

No lien created by this chapter binds the property subject to the lien for a longer period than eight calendar months after the claim has been filed unless an action be commenced in the proper court within that time to enforce such lien; or, if credit be given, then eight calendar months after the expiration of such credit; and in case such action be not prosecuted to judgment within two years after the commencement thereof, the court, in its discretion, may dismiss the same for want of prosecution, and the dismissal of such action or a judgment rendered therein, that no lien exists, shall constitute a cancellation of the lien. Where mechanics' liens that were subsequent to a mortgage were foreclosed without making the mortgagee a party, he is not bound, and the liens expire if suit is not commenced within the eight months limited by Rem. Code, § 1138: Gile Investment Co. v. Fisher, 104 Wash. 613, 177 Pac. 710.

§ 1139. Extent of Contractor's Liability—Rights of Owner.

The contractor shall be entitled to recover upon the claim filed by him only such amount as may be due him according to the terms of his contract, after deducting all claims of other parties for labor performed and materials furnished; and in all cases where a claim shall be filed under this chapter for labor performed or materials furnished to any contractor, he shall defend any action brought thereupon at his own expense; and during the pendency of such action, the owner may withhold from the contractor the amount of money for which the claim is filed; and in case of judgment against the owner or his property, upon the lien, the owner shall be entitled to deduct from any amount due or to become due by him to the contractor, the amount of the judgment and costs, and if the amount of such judgment and costs shall exceed the amount due by him to the contractor or if the owner shall have settled with the contractors in full, he shall be entitled to recover back from the contractor the amount, including costs for which the lien is established in excess of any sum that may remain due from him to the contractor. This section is not a limitation upon the right of the owner to protect his property, and does not require judgment upon a lien to entitle the owner to indemnity: Simpson v. Sisters of Charity of the House of Providence, 108 Wash. 82, 182 Pac. 937.

§ 1140. Foreclosure—Parties.

The liens provided by this chapter, for which claims have been filed, may be foreclosed and enforced by a civil action in the court having jurisdiction; in any action brought to foreclose a lien, all persons who, prior to the commencement of such action, have legally filed claims of liens against the same property, or any part thereof shall be joined as parties, either plaintiff or defendant; and no person shall begin an action to foreclose a lien upon any property while a prior action begun to foreclose another lien on the same property is pending, but if not made a party plaintiff or defendant to such prior action, he may apply to the court to be joined as a party thereto, and his lien may be foreclosed in such action; and no action to foreclose a lien shall be dismissed at the instance of a plaintiff therein to the prejudice of another party to the suit who claims a lien. [L. '93, p. 36, § 11.]

The pendency of a mortgage foreclosure will not prevent the commencement of an action to foreclose a mechanic's lien on the same property, since this section, providing that no person shall begin such an action "while a prior action begun to foreclose another lien on the same property is pending," relates only to other mechanics' liens: Nason v. Northwestern Milling & P. Co., 17 Wash. 142, 49 Pac. 235.

An action to foreclose a mechanic's lien under this section is an equitable action and a jury trial is not demandable: Powell v. Nolan, 27 Wash. 318, 67 Pac. 712, 68 Pac. 389.

§ 1141. Rank of Liens—Attorney's Fees.

In every case in which different liens are claimed against the same property, the court, in the judgment, must declare the rank of such lien or class of liens, which shall be in the following order:—

1. All persons performing labor;
2. All persons furnishing material;
3. The subcontractors;
4. The original contractor.

And the proceeds of the sale of the property must be applied to each lien or class of liens in the order of its rank; and personal judgment may be rendered in an action brought to foreclose a lien against any party personally liable for any debt for which the lien is claimed, and if the lien be established, the judgment shall provide for the enforcement thereof upon the property liable as in case of foreclosure of mortgages; and the amount realized by such enforcement of the lien shall be credited upon the proper personal judgment, and the deficiency, if any remaining unsatisfied, shall stand as a personal judgment, and may be collected by execution against the party liable therefor. The court may allow, as part of the costs of the action, the moneys paid for filing or recording the claim, and a reasonable attorney's fee in the superior and supreme courts. [L. '93, p. 37, § 12.]

§ 1142. Personal Action.

Nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed to impair or affect the right of any person to whom any debt may be due for labor performed or material furnished to maintain a personal action to recover such debt against the person liable therefor. [L. '93, p. 37, § 13.]

§ 1143. Lien not Discharged by Taking Note.

The taking of a promissory note or other evidence of indebtedness for any labor performed or material furnished for which lien is created by law, shall not discharge the lien therefor, unless expressly received as payment and so specified therein. [L. '93, p. 37, § 14.]

Cited in 65 Wash. 14; 74 Wash. 88; 94 Wash. 550.

Where work is done on a building under an oral agreement that part cash and a note for the balance would be received in payment for the work, a mechanic's lien is waived if it was so specified in the note, under this section: Ward v. Thorndyke, 65 Wash. 11, 117 Pac. 593.

Under this section, a lien for installing an elevator in a building is not waived by the taking of a promissory note under a contract which merely provided for payment "in terms of a promissory note" and which expressly reserved a lien "until final payment": Llewellyn Iron Works v. Littlefield, 74 Wash. 86, 132 Pac. 867, Ann. Cas. 1915A, 959.

§ 1144. Material Exempt from Attachment, etc., When.

Whenever material shall have been furnished for use in the construction, alteration or repair of property subject to a lien created by this chapter, such material shall not be subject to attachment, execution, or other legal process, to enforce any debt due by the purchaser of such material, except a debt due for the purchase money thereof, so long as in good faith the said material is about to be applied in the construction, alteration or repair of such property. [L. '93, p. 37, § 15.]

The fact that a materialman, who has furnished building material to a contractor, has filed notice of lien against the owner of the building in which it is to be used, will not, when the lien claim has not been paid, vest the title to such material in the owner of the building so as to render it liable to execution on judgments against him: Potvin v. Wickersham, 15 Wash. 646, 47 Pac. 25.

Under 1 H. C., § 1675, exempting from execution material designed in good faith to be used in the construction of a building, such material will be exempt, although the completion of the building has been delayed for a number of years pending litigation, and whether the material is to be used by the one engaged in the construction of the building at the time of its purchase or by one succeeding to his rights: Id.

§ 1145. Community Interest, How Subjected.

The claim of lien, when filed as required by this chapter, shall be notice to the husband or wife of the person who appears of record to be the owner of the property sought to be charged with the lien, and shall subject all the community interest of both husband and wife to said lien. [L. '93, p. 38, § 16.]

§ 1146. When Land not Subject to Lien—Power of Court.

When, for any reason the title or interest in the land, upon which the property subject to the lien is situated cannot be subjected to the lien, the court may order the sale and removal from the land of the property subject to the lien to satisfy the lien. [L. '93, p. 38, § 17.]

by and sees materials furnished for improvements made thereon by third parties in ignorance of his rights, under a lease of the premises by his vendee, he is estopped from claiming a forfeiture as to the improvements, and they may be removed and sold under this section: Bell v. Swallow Land, L. & T. Co., 20 Wash. 602, 56 Pac. 401.

This section has application only to cases where the work or material was furnished at the instance of the owner of less than the fee, and not to liens placed by the owner of premises subject to prior mortgages: Gile Investment Co. v. Fisher, 104 Wash. 613, 177 Pac. 713.

LIENS OF EMPLOYEES.

§ 1149. Laborer's Lien on Property, Franchises, etc.

Every person performing labor for any person, company or corporation, in the operation of any railway, canal or transportation company, or any water, mining or manufacturing company, sawmill, lumber or timber company, shall have a prior lien on the franchise, earnings, and on all the real and personal property of said person, company or corporation, which is used in the operation of its business, to the extent of the moneys due him from such person, company or corporation, operating said franchise or business, for labor performed within six months next preceding the filing of his claim therefor, as hereinafter provided; and no mortgage, deed of trust or conveyance shall defeat or take precedence over said lien. CHAPTER V.

LIENS ON CHATTELS.

§ 1154. Lien on Chattels for Labor and Material.

Every person, firm or corporation who shall have performed labor or furnished material in the construction or repair of any chattel at the request of its owner, shall have a lien upon such chattel for such labor performed or material furnished, notwithstanding the fact that such chattel be surrendered to the owner thereof: Provided, however, that no such lien shall continue, after the delivery of such chattel to its owner, as against the rights of third persons who, prior to the filing of the lien notice as hereinafter provided for, may have acquired the title to such chattel in good faith, for value and without actual notice of the lien. Section 1182, infra, was not repealed by implication by this act, §§ 1154 to 1157a: Erickson v. Perica, 113 Wash. 510, 194 Pac. 963.

A plumber doing work upon a soda water fountain is not entitled to a lien under the provisions of Laws of 1905, page 137, section 1, giving a lien to blacksmiths, wagon-makers, machinists, and boiler-makers, expending labor on any chattel; as "machinist" does not include a plumber: Modern Plumbing & Heating Co. v. American Soda Fountain Co., 57 Wash. 148, 106 Pac. 628, 135 Am. St. Rep. 975.

§ 1155. Notice of Lien on Chattel.

In order to make such lien effectual the lien claimant shall, within sixty days from the date of delivery of such chattel to the owner, file in the office of the auditor of the county in which such chattel is kept, a lien notice, which notice shall state the name of the claimant, the name of the owner, a description of the chattel upon which the claimant has performed labor or furnished material, the amount for which a lien is claimed and the date upon which such expenditure of labor or material was completed, which notice shall be signed by the claimant or someone on his behalf, and may be in substantially the following form:

Chattel Lien Notice.

_____, Claimant, against
_____, Owner.

Notice is hereby given that _____ has and claims a lien upon [here insert description of chattel], owned by _____ for the sum of _____ dollars, for and on account of labor, skill and material expended upon said — which was completed upon the — day of —, 19—.

§ 1156. Ownership—Priority of Lien.

The liens created by this chapter are preferred to any lien, mortgage or other encumbrance which may attach subsequently to the time of the commencement of the performance of the labor, or the furnishing of the materials for which the right of lien is given by this chapter, and are also preferred to any lien, mortgage or other encumbrance which may have attached previously to that time, and which was not filed or recorded so as to create constructive notice of the same prior to that time, and of which the lien claimant has no notice. A prior chattel mortgage is superior to the lien given by section 1154, and "any lien thereon" in this section refers to a reservation of title or lien in aid of ownership, and not to a chattel mortgage; and in view of the subsequent act, section 3780, infra, reaffirming the standing of chattel mortgages under sections 3779—3789, infra, which was not intended to be impliedly repealed by the chattel lien law: Rothweiler v. Winton Motor Car Co., 92 Wash. 215, 158 Pac. 737.

When the vendor of an automobile was authorized to contract for the work, so as to create a lien upon it superior to the title of the vendee, under this section: Barbour v. Hodge, 99 Wash. 578, 170 Pac. 115.

§ 1157. Enforcement of Lien.

The lien herein provided for may be enforced against all persons having a junior or subsequent interest in any such chattel, by notice and sale in the same manner that a chattel mortgage is foreclosed or by decree of any court in this state exercising original equity jurisdiction in the county wherein such chattel may be, in an action commenced within nine months after the filing of such lien notice, and if no such action shall be commenced within such time such lien shall cease. § 1157a. Priority of Labor Over Material Liens—Personal Judgment—Deficiency.

In every case originating in or removed to a court of competent jurisdiction, in which different liens are claimed against the same property, the court, in the judgment, must declare the rank of such lien or class of liens, which shall be in the following order:

1. All persons performing labor;
2. All persons furnishing material;

And the proceeds of the sale of the property must be applied to each lien or class of liens in the order of its rank; and personal judgment may be rendered in an action brought to foreclose a lien, against any party personally liable for any debt for which the lien is claimed, and if the lien be established, the judgment shall provide for the enforcement thereof upon the property liable as in case of foreclosure of mortgages; and the amount realized by such enforcement of the lien shall be credited upon the proper personal judgment, and the deficiency, if any, remaining unsatisfied, shall stand as a personal judgment, and may be collected by execution against the party liable therefor. The court may allow, as part of the costs of the action, the moneys paid for filing or recording the claim, and a reasonable attorney's fee in the action. [L, '17, p. 231, § 5.]

§ 1158. Filing of Notice.

Upon presentation of such lien notice to the auditor of any county, and the payment to him of fifteen cents, he shall file the same, and indorse thereon the time of the reception, the number thereof, and shall enter the same in a suitable book or file (but need not record the same). Such book or file shall have herewith an alphabetic index, in which the county auditor shall index such notice by noting the name of the owner, name of lien claimant, description of property, date of lien (which shall be the date upon which such expenditure of labor, skill or material was completed), date of filing and when released, the date of release. SECURITY FOR LABOR, ETC., ON PUBLIC WORKS.

§ 1159. Contractor's Bond—Filing.

Whenever, any board, council, commission, trustees or body acting for the state or any county or municipality or any public body shall contract with any person or corporation to do any work for the state, county or municipality, or other public body, city, town or district, such board, council, commission, trustees or body shall require the person or persons with whom such contract is made to make, execute and deliver to such board, council, commission, trustees or body a good and sufficient bond, with two or more sureties, or with a surety company as surety, conditioned that such person or persons shall faithfully perform all the provisions of such contract and pay all laborers, mechanics and subcontractors and materialmen, and all persons who shall supply such person or persons, or subcontractors, with provisions and supplies for the carrying on of such work, which bond shall be filed with the county auditor of the county where such work is performed or improvement made, except in cases of cities and towns, in which cases such bond shall be filed with the clerk or comptroller thereof, and any person or persons performing such services or furnishing material to any subcontractor shall have the same right under the provisions of such bond as if such work, services or material was furnished to the original contractor: Provided, however, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to any money loaned or advanced to any such contractor, subcontractor or other person in the performance of any such work. [L. '15, p. 61, § 1. Cf. L. '09, p. 716, § 1; L. '88, p. 15, § 1; 1 H. C., § 2415; L. '97, p. 57, § 1.]

Constitution, article IX, section 2, providing that "the entire revenue derived from the common-school fund and the state tax for common schools shall be exclusively applied to the support of the common schools," is not violated by this section, requiring bonds to be taken by school districts as municipal corporations from contractors for payment of mechanics, etc., as neither of these funds need be trenched upon to pay judgments against such districts, they having other resources: Pacific Mfg. Co. v. School District, 6 Wash. 121, 33 Pac. 68.

The fact that the legislature in amending this section added a proviso that the act shall not apply to money loaned or advanced does not show that it construed the former law to include such items: American Savings Bank & Trust Co. v. National Surety Co., 104 Wash. 663, 177 Pac. 646.

A person loaning money to a contractor on county highway work is not entitled to file a claim against the contractor's bond conditioned in the exact language of this section, to pay . . . all persons supplying the contractor with provisions or supplies, "all just debts, dues and demands" incurred in the performance of the work; since the quoted words refer to the classes of persons named, and do not include creditors or persons loaning money: American Savings Bank & Trust Co. v. National Surety Co., 104 Wash. 663, 177 Pac. 646.

The vendor in a conditional sales contract of machinery sold to a contractor for a municipal power plant may pursue the property under the contract, and is not restricted to a remedy by action upon the contractor's bond, under this section: Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. v. Ellensbury, 108 Wash. 533, 185 Pac. 811.

Estoppel of Principal or Sureties to Claim Lien: See Remington's Digest, Mech. Liens, § 109; Spears v. Lawrence, 10 Wash. 368, 38 Pac. 1049, 45 Am. St. Rep. 789; Morse v. Ward, 69 Wash. 351, 125 Pac. 140; Dixon v. Parker, Moran & Parker, 102 Wash. 101, 172 Pac. 856.

An irrigation district is a municipal corporation, within the meaning of this section, since the words "other municipal corporation" were not used in any restricted sense, as defined by hard-and-fast rules, but to all public corporations created by general law and exercising governmental functions: Brown Brothers v. Columbia Irr. Dist., 82 Wash. 274, 144 Pac. 74.

This section is applicable to contracts by a county for road improvements, under Laws of 1893, page 301, although the county may be liable for only one-third of the cost of constructing the road, and the balance of cost is assessable against abutting property: Rounds v. Whatcom County, 22 Wash. 106, 60 Pac. 139.

Requisites and Validity: See Remington's Digest, Mun. Corp., § 157; Ihrig v. Scott, 5 Wash. 584, 32 Pac. 466; Wadsworth v. School District, 7 Wash. 485, 35 Pac. 371; *De Mattos v. See, also, Western Hdw. & Metal Co. v. Maryland Casualty Co., 105 Wash. 54, 177 Pac. 703, 181 Pac. 700.

The creditors of a subcontractor on state work cannot maintain an action upon his bond, not required by any statute, but given to the principal contractor to secure performance of the subcontract, since there is no privity between the parties to the action; even though such bond was conditioned, in part, in the language of this section, following the language of the principal contractor's bond to the state: Spokane Merchants' Assn. v. Pacific Surety Co., 86 Wash. 489, 150 Pac. 1054.

A bond under this section covers fuel for steam shovel used in excavating; also the services performed by teams with drivers furnished to the contractor, together with hay and grain to feed the horses: National Surety Co. v. Bratnober Lumber Co., 67 Wash. 601, 122 Pac. 337.

Moneys loaned to a state contractor for the purpose of, and actually used for, the payment of labor performed and materials furnished for the construction of a state bridge, for which the surety on the contractor's bond would have been liable, are debts and demands secured by the bond, for which notice of claim against the bond may be filed under this section: Title Guaranty & Surety Co. v. Coffman, Dobson & Co., 97 Wash. 211, 166 Pac. 620.

Liabilities on Contractors' Bonds—In General: See Remington's Digest, Mech. Liens, § 110; Stetson & Post Mill Co. v. McDonald, 5 Wash. 496, 32 Pac. 108; Sheard v. United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., 58 Wash. 29, 107 Pac. 1024, 109 Pac. 276; Crane Co. v. United States Fid. & Guar. Co., 74 Wash. 91, 132 Pac. 872.

Sureties cannot escape liability from the fact that the bond was not signed by the contractor, when it has been delivered by him to, and accepted by, the other contracting party with the knowledge and consent of the sureties: Eureka Sandstone Co. v. Long, 11 Wash. 161, 39 Pac. 446.

A bond given under the provisions of an act for the protection of those furnishing labor and materials to a contractor upon public improvements, is an official bond: Ihrig v. Scott, 13 Wash. 559, 43 Pac. 633.

A contractor's bond, reciting that it is given in compliance with the statute requiring bonds for the benefit of specified persons, must be held to be intended as a statutory bond, and not an agreement making the surety a joint principal with the contractor on city work without right to the defenses of a surety: Pasco v. Pacific Coast Casualty Co., 101 Wash. 496, 172 Pac. 566.

A bond given to secure the faithful performance of a contract to furnish all labor and material for an improvement guarantees payment of a subcontractor doing work on the job for which the subcontractor had a lien, although the contract did not expressly provide for a bond to secure performance: Island Gun Club v. National Sur. Co., 101 Wash. 185, 172 Pac. 209.

The surety, when liable for the amount of the contract price which was paid to it upon a dispute arising, and which it paid to the contractor, after notice that a subcontractor had not been paid and had a claim for a lien exceeding the sum paid over: Island Gun Club v. National Sur. Co., 101 Wash. 185, 172 Pac. 209.

The amount due from a surety on a contractor's bond under this section draws interest at eight per cent, where so provided in the contract evidencing the debt secured by the bond, as the interest was a legal part of the debt: Puget Sound State Bank v. Gallucci, 82 Wash. 445, 144 Pac. 698, Ann. Cas. 1916A, 767.

§ 1159-1. Notice to Contractor—Condition Precedent to Action.

Every person, firm or corporation furnishing materials, supplies or provisions to be used in the construction, performance, carrying on, prosecution or doing of any work for the state, or any county, city, town, district, municipality or other public body, shall, not later than ten days after the date of the first delivery of such materials, supplies or provisions to any subcontractor or agent of any person, firm or corporation having a subcontract for the construction, performance, carrying on, prosecution or doing of such work, deliver or mail to the contractor a notice in writing stating in substance and effect that such person, firm or corporation has commenced to deliver materials, supplies or provisions for use thereon, with the name of the subcontractor or agent ordering or to whom the same is furnished and that such contractor and his bond will be held for the payment of the same, and no suit or action shall be maintained in any court against the contractor or his bond to recover for such material, supplies or provisions or any part thereof unless the provisions of this act have been complied with. [L. '15, p. 525, § 1.]

Duplicate statements to contractor, see supra, § 1133.

Cited in 99 Wash. 425; 104 Wash. 358; 105 Wash. 56, 254, 488, 490; 106 Wash. 265.

Actual knowledge on the part of the contractor on county work that materials are being furnished does not dispense with the necessity of notice under this section: Cascade Lumber & Shingle Co. v. Wright, 99 Wash. 421, 169 Pac. 833.

A notice given after commencing to furnish lumber is sufficient to bind the contractor as to all deliveries subsequent to the notice, when they were not made under a specific contract for a fixed quantity at a given price: Id.

It will be assumed that the judicial definition of "supplies" prior to this section giving a right of action on a contractor's bond, was incorporated therein on the passage of that act: Ledingham v. Blaine, 105 Wash. 253, 177 Pac. 783.

Where a subcontract on county highway work was not consented to and filed with the county commissioners as required by the principal contract, the subcontractor was merely the agent of the principal contractor for the purchase of supplies, and not a subcontractor within the meaning of this section: Cascade Construction Co. v. Snohomish County, 105 Wash. 484, 178 Pac. 470.

A subcontractor to haul all the sand, gravel and cement used on county road work agrees to furnish labor, and is not within this section, requiring notice within ten days to the principal contractor of the furnishing of "materials, supplies or provisions": Bishop v. Ryan Construction Co., 106 Wash. 254, 180 Pac. 126.

§ 1160. Liability for Failure to Take Bond.

If any board of county commissioners of any county, or mayor and common council of any incorporated city or town, or tribunal transacting the business of any municipal corporation shall fail to take such bond as herein required, such county, incorporated city or town, or other municipal corporation, shall be liable to the persons mentioned in section 1159, to the full extent and for the full amount of all such debts so contracted by such contractor. [L. '88, p. 15, § 2; 1 H. C., § 2416; L. '09, p. 717, § 2.]

Cited in 7 Wash. 280, 282; 9 Wash. 429; 22 Wash. 110; 28 Wash. 93; 55 Wash. 264; 82 Wash. 276, 279, 283, 284, 447; 98 Wash. 414; 108 Wash. 541, 542.

The fact that the first section of this act refers, as amended, to municipal corporations, or "other public bodies," while this section, fixing liability for failure to take the bond omits "other public bodies," does not show that an irrigation district, being a public body, is not a municipal corporation, and so not amenable to this section, under the rule of expressio unius est exclusio alterius: Brown Brothers v. Columbia Irr. Dist., 82 Wash. 274, 144 Pac. 74.

This section does not limit a party to this remedy where machinery was sold under a conditional sales contract to be used in the construction of public works: Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co. v. Ellensburg, 108 Wash. 533, 185 Pac. 811.

Liability of municipality or officer for failure to take bond from contractor. Ann. Cas. 1917B, 1089; L. R. A. 1915F, 629.

§ 1161. Conditions of Bond—Action on.

The bond mentioned in section 1159 shall be in an amount equal to the full contract price agreed to be paid for such work or improvement, and shall be to the state of Washington, except in cases of cities and towns, in which cases such municipalities may by general ordinance fix and determine the amount of such bond and to whom such bond shall run: Provided, the same shall not be for a less amount than twenty-five per cent (25%) of the contract price of any such improvement, and may designate that the same shall be payable to such city, and not to the state of Washington, and all such persons mentioned in said section 1159 shall have a right of action in his, her, or their own name or names on such bond for work done by such laborers or mechanics, and for materials furnished or provisions and goods supplied and furnished in the prosecution of such work, or the making of such improvements; Provided, that such persons shall not have any right of action on such bond for any sum whatever, unless within thirty (30) days from and after the completion of the contract with an acceptance of the work by the affirmative action of the board, council, commission, trustees, officer, or body acting for the state, county or municipality, or other public body, city, town or district, the laborer, mechanic or subcontractor, or materialman, or person claiming to have supplied materials, provisions or goods for the prosecution of such work, or the making of such improvement, shall present to and file with such board, council, commission, trustees or body acting for the state, county or municipality, or other public body, city, town or district, a notice in writing in substance as follows:

To (here insert the name of the state, county or municipality or other public body, city, town or district):

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned (here insert the name of the laborer, mechanic or subcontractor, or materialman, or person claiming to have furnished labor, materials or provisions for or upon such contract or work) has a claim in the sum of — dollars (here insert the amount) against the bond taken from — (here insert the name of the principal and surety or sureties upon such bond) for the work of — (here insert a brief mention or description of the work concerning which said bond was taken).

Such notice shall be signed by the person or corporation making the claim or giving the notice, and said notice, after being presented and filed, shall be a public record open to inspection by any person, and in any suit or action brought against such surety or sureties by any such person or corporation to recover for any of the items hereinbefore specified, the claimant shall be entitled to recover in addition to all other costs, attorney's fees in such sum as the court shall adjudge reasonable: Provided, however, that no attorney's fees shall be allowed in any suit or action brought or instituted before the expiration of thirty days following the date of filing of the notice hereinbefore mentioned: Provided further, that any city may avail itself of the provisions of this act, notwithstanding any charter provisions in conflict herewith: And provided further, that any city or town may impose any other or further conditions and obligations in such bond as may be deemed necessary for its proper protection in the fulfillment of the terms of the contract secured thereby, and not in conflict herewith. A materialman's right of action on a bond given under section 1159, is assignable: Gilmore v. Westerman, 13 Wash. 390, 43 Pac. 345; Moody v. Westerman, 13 Wash. 709, 43 Pac. 347.

An action on the bond of a contractor, given under section 1159, is not barred by the procuring of a judgment against the contractor personally prior to the institution of suit upon his bond: Fischer v. Quigley, 8 Wash. 327, 35 Pac. 1071.

A complaint against principal and sureties upon a contractor's bond given in compliance with section 1159, but which had not been signed by the principal, is not demurrable on the ground of misjoinder of parties defendant, for the reason that the obligations of the parties and the rights of the plaintiff are identical, although founded in the case of the principal on the contract, and in the case of the sureties upon the bond: Eureka Sandstone Co. v. Long, 11 Wash. 161, 39 Pac. 446.

All bonds issued and given prior to June 12, 1915, which embody the terms and provisions prescribed and provided for and which conform to and comply with the terms and provisions of that certain act entitled, "An act relating to contractors and bonds upon public works, and amending sections 1159 and 1161 of Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington," passed the House February 8, 1915, passed the senate February 24, 1915, and passed notwithstanding the governor's veto on March 3, 1915, shall have the same legal force and effect and be construed, and the rights and liabilities of all parties thereto and thereunder shall be the same as though the said act entitled, "An act relating to contractors and bonds upon public works, and amending section 1159 and 1161 of Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington" had been in full force and effect at the time any such bond was given, and the courts of this state shall give to such bonds the same force and effect and no other or greater force and effect than would have been given had the said act entitled: "An act relating to contractors and bonds upon public works, and amending sections 1159 and 1161 of

Remington & Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington'' been in force and effect at the time such bond was signed and given. [L. '15, p. 548, § 1]

In a suit by a surety on a contractor's bond, to preserve the twenty per cent reserve provided for the protection of creditors, in which creditors are brought in and awarded judgment against the surety, attorney's fees cannot be allowed as provided for by this section in actions upon the contractor's bond, as the suit is not such an action: Maryland Casualty Co. v. Washington Nat. Bank, 92 Wash. 497, 159 Pac. 689.

One general notice of claim against two bonds of a contractor on county road work substantially complies with this section, and is sufficient although it covers two contracts and bonds for distinct portions of the improvement, where the items charged against each project were segregated, all the parties were the same in each case, and the work was sublet to the claimant to be performed as a whole: Bishop v. Ryan Construction Co., 106 Wash. 254, 180 Pac. 126.

Such a claim is not rendered uncertain by acknowledgment of a cash payment without specifying its application; since the law would make the application pro rata: Bishop v. Ryan Construction Co., 106 Wash. 254, 180 Pac. 126.

CHAPTER VII.

LIENS UPON LOGS AND OTHER TIMBER.

§ 1162. Who may have Liens.

Every person performing labor upon, or who shall assist in obtaining or securing sawlogs, spars, piles, cordwood, shingle-bolts, or other timber, and the owner or owners of any tugboat, or towboat, which shall tow or assist in towing, from one place to another within this state, any sawlogs, spars, piles, cordwood, shingle-bolts, or other timber, and the owner or owners of any team or any logging engine, which shall haul or assist in hauling from one place to another within this state, any sawlogs, spars, piles, cordwood, shingle-bolts, or other timber, and the owner or owners of any logging or other railroad over which sawlogs, spars, piles, cordwood, shingle-bolts, or other timber shall be transported and delivered, shall have a lien upon the same for the work or labor done upon, or in obtaining, or securing, or for services rendered in towing, transporting, hauling, or driving, the particular sawlogs, spars, cordwood, shingle-bolts, or other timber in said claim of lien described, whether such work, labor or services was done, rendered or performed at the instance of the owner of the same or his agent. The cook in a logging camp shall be regarded as a person who assists in obtaining or securing the timber herein mentioned. [L. '07, p. 14, § 1. Cf. L. '60, p. 340, § 1; L. '77, p. 217, § 3; L. '79, p. 100, § 2; Cd. '81, § 1941; 1 H. C., § 1679; L. '93, p. 428, § 1; L. '95, p. 175, § 1.]

A statutory right of lien given loggers for labor in getting out logs becomes such a part of the contract for such labor as to be unaffected by the repeal of the statute pending the enforcement of the lien: Garneau v. Port Blakely Mill Co., 8 Wash. 467, 36 Pac. 463; Hopkins v. Jamieson-Dixon Mill Co., 11 Wash. 308, 39 Pac. 815.

§ 1163. Lien on Lumber—Lumber, Defined.

Every person performing work or labor or assisting in manufacturing sawlogs and other timber into lumber and shingles, has a lien upon such lumber while the same remains at the mill where it was manufactured, or in the possession or under the control of the manufacturer, whether such work or labor was done at the instance of the owner of such logs or his agent or any contractor or subcontractor of such owner. The term lumber, as used in this chapter, shall be held and be construed to mean all logs or other timber sawed or split for use, including beams, joists, planks, boards, shingles, laths, staves, hoops, and every article of whatsoever nature or description manufactured from sawlogs or other timber. [Cf. L. '77, p. 217, § 4; Cd. '81, § 1942; 1 H. C., § 1680; L. '93, p. 19, § 1; L. '93, p. 428, § 2.]

§ 1164. Lien for Stumpage.

Any person who shall permit another to go upon his timber land and cut thereon sawlogs, spars, piles, or other timber, has a lien upon the same for the price agreed to be paid for such privilege, or for the price such privilege would be reasonably worth in case there was no express agreement fixing the price. [Cf. L. '77, p. 217, § 5; Cd. '81, § 1943; 1 H. C., § 1681; L. '93, p. 429, § 3.]

§ 1165. Preferred Liens.

The liens provided for in this chapter are preferred liens and are prior to any other liens, and no sale or transfer of any sawlogs, spars, piles or other timber or manufactured lumber or shingles shall divest the lien thereon as herein provided, and as between liens provided for in this chapter those for work and labor shall be preferred: Provided, that as between liens for work and labor claimed by several laborers on the same logs or lot of logs the claim or claims for work or labor done or performed on the identical logs proceeded against to the extent that said logs can be identified, shall be preferred as against the general claim of lien for work and labor recognized and provided for in this chapter. [Cf. L. '77, p. 217, § 6; Cd. '81, § 1944; 1 H. C., § 1682; L. '93, p. 429, § 4.]

Wash. 170, 32 Pac. 294; Du Bois Lumber Co. v. Dietderich, 97 Wash. 1, 165 Pac. 884.

§ 1166. Limitation of Filing Lien for Labor.

The person rendering the service of [or] doing the work or labor named in sections 1162 and 1163 of this chapter is only entitled to the liens as provided herein for services, work or labor for the period of eight calendar months, or any part thereof next preceding the filing of the claim, as provided in section 1169 of this chapter. [Cf. L. '77, p. 217, § 7; Cd. '81, § 1945; 1 H. C., § 1683; L. '93, p. 429, § 5.]

"Section 1169" substituted for "section 8" of the act of 1893, while "section 7" [§ 1168, infra] was evidently intended.

§ 1167. Limitation of Filing Lien for Stumpage.

The person granting the privilege mentioned in section 1164 of this chapter is only entitled to the lien as provided therein for sawlogs, spars, piles and other timber cut during the eight months next preceding the filing of the claim, as herein provided in the next succeeding section of this chapter. [Cf. L. '77, p. 217, § 8; Cd. '81, § 1946; 1 H. C., § 1684; L. '93, p. 429, § 6.]

§ 1168. Filing of Claim for Labor, etc.

Every person within thirty days after the close of the rendition of the services, or after the close of the work or labor mentioned in the preceding sections (1162, 1163) claiming the benefit hereof, must file for record with the county auditor of the county in which such sawlogs, spars, piles and other timber were cut, or in which such lumber or shingles were manufactured, a claim containing a statement of his demand and the amount thereof, after deducting as nearly as possible all just credits and offsets, with the name of the person by whom he was employed, with a statement of the terms and conditions of his contract, if any, and in case there is no express contract, the claim shall state what such service, work or labor is reasonably worth; and it shall also contain a description of the property to be charged with the lien sufficient for identification with reasonable certainty, which claim must be verified by the oath of himself or some other person to the effect that the affiant believes the same to be true, which claim shall be substantially in the following form:—

— Claimant, vs. —.

§ 1169. Filing of Claim for Stumpage.

Every person mentioned in section 1164 claiming the benefit thereof must file for record with the county auditor of the county in which such sawlogs, spars, piles, or other timber were cut, a claim in substance the same as provided in the next preceding section of this chapter and verified as therein provided. [Cf. L. '77, p. 218, § 10; Cd. '81, § 1948; 1 H. C., § 1686; L. '93, p. 431, § 8.]

§ 1170. Recording Claim.

The county auditor must record any claim filed under this act in a book kept by him for that purpose, which record must be indexed, as deeds and other conveyances are required by law to be indexed, and for which he may receive the same fees as are allowed by law for recording deeds and other instruments. [Cf. L. '77, p. 218, § 11; Cd. '81, § 1949; 1 H. C., § 1687; L. '93, p. 431, § 9.]

§ 1171. Limitation of Actions.

No lien provided for in this chapter binds any sawlogs, spars, piles or other timber, or lumber and shingles, for a longer period than eight calendar months after the claim as herein provided has been filed, unless a civil action be commenced in a proper court, within that time, to enforce the same: Provided, however, that in case such civil action so commenced should for any cause other than the merits, be nonsuited or dismissed, then the lien shall continue for the term of one calendar month, if the said eight months have expired, to permit the commencement of another action thereon, which shall be as effective in prolonging the lien as if it had been entered during the term of eight months hereinbefore stated. [Cf. L. '77, p. 218, § 12; L. '79, p. 100, § 5; Cd. '81, § 1950; 1 H. C., § 1688; L. '93, p. 431, § 10.]

§ 1172. Jurisdiction—Procedure.

The liens provided for in this chapter shall be enforced by a civil action in the superior court of the county wherein the lien was filed, and shall be governed by the laws regulating the proceedings in civil actions touching the mode and manner of trial, and the proceedings and laws to secure property so as to hold it for the satisfaction of any lien that be against it; except as hereinafter otherwise provided. [Cf. L. '97, p. 218, § 13; Cd. '81, § 1951; 1 H. C., § 1689; L. '93, p. 431, § 11.]

§ 1173. Sheriff as Receiver.

The sheriff of the county wherein the lien is filed shall be the receiver when one is appointed, and the superior court upon a showing made shall appoint such receiver without notice, who shall be allowed such fees as may seem just to the court, which fees shall be accounted for by such sheriff as other fees collected by him in his official capacity: Provided, that at any time when any property is in the custody of such sheriff under the provisions of this act, and any person claiming any interest therein, may deposit with the clerk of the court in which such action is pending, a sum of money in an amount equal to the claim sued upon, together with one hundred ($100) dollars, to cover costs and interest, (unless the court shall make an order fixing a different amount to cover such costs and interest, then such an amount as the court shall fix to secure such costs and interest, which such action is being prosecuted) and shall have the right to demand and receive forthwith from such sheriff the possession and custody of such property: Provided, that in no action brought under the provisions of this act shall costs be allowed to lienholders unless a demand has been made for payment of his lien claim before commencement of suit, unless the court shall find the claimants at time of bringing action had reasonable ground to believe that the owner or the person having control of the property upon which such lien is claimed was attempting to defraud such claimant, or prevent the collection of such lien. Necessity of demand for payment before suit: See Fraser v. Rutherford, 26 Wash. 658, 67 Pac. 366.

Under this section demand before the filing of the lien will entitle the claimant to costs: Sumpter v. Burnham, 51 Wash. 599, 99 Pac. 752.

§ 1174. Answer of Defendant—Hearing.

If the defendant or defendants appear in a suit to enforce any lien provided by this chapter he or they shall make their answer on the merits of the complaint, and any motion or demurrer against the said complaint must be filed with the answer; and no motion shall be allowed to make complaint more definite and certain, if it appear to the court that the defendant or defendants have or should have knowledge of the facts, or that it can be made more certain and definite by facts which will appear necessarily in the testimony; but the case, unless the court sustains the demurrer to the complaint, shall be heard on the merits as speedily, as possible, and amendments of the pleadings, if necessary, shall be liberally allowed. [L. '93, p. 432, § 13.]

Cited in 13 Wash. 159; 29 Wash. 404.

In loggers' lien complaint where the claim of each plaintiff is separately pleaded, if any of the causes of action are well pleaded a general demurrer to the complaint for want of sufficient facts should be overruled: Chevret v. Mechanics' Mill & Lbr. Co., 4 Wash. 721, 31 Pac. 24.

An answer setting up a tender "at the time of the filing of the lien" and plaintiff's failure to make a demand before such filing, dispenses with plaintiff's proof of the filing of the lien, which defendant had denied on information and belief: Sumpter v. Burnham, 51 Wash. 599, 99 Pac. 752.

§ 1175. Enforcement of Lien Against Whole or Part.

Any person who shall bring a civil action to enforce the lien herein provided for, or any person having a lien as herein provided for, who shall be made a party to any such civil action, has the right to demand that such lien be enforced against the whole or any part of the sawlogs, spars, piles or other timber or manufactured lumber or shingles upon which he has performed labor or which he has assisted in securing or obtaining, or which he has cut on his timber land during the eight months next preceding the filing of his lien, for all his labor upon or for all his assistance in obtaining or securing said logs, spars, piles or other timber, or in manufacturing said lumber or shingles during the whole or any part of the eight months mentioned in section 1168, or for timber cut during the whole or any part of the eight months above mentioned. And where proceedings are commenced against any lot of sawlogs, spars, piles or other timber or lumber or shingles as herein provided, and some of the lienors claim liens against the specific logs, spars, piles or other timber or lumber or shingles proceeded against, and others against the same generally, to secure their claims for work and labor, the priority of the liens shall be determined as hereinbefore provided. [Cf. L. '77, p. 218, § 14; Cd. '81, § 1952; 1 H. C., § 1690; L. '93, p. 432, § 14.]

§ 1176. Errors not to Invalidate Lien, When.

No mistake or error in the statement of the demand, or of the amount of credits and offsets allowed, or of the balance asserted to be due to claimant, nor in the description of the property against which the claim is filed, shall invalidate the lien, unless the court finds that such mistake or error in the statement of the demand, credits and offsets or of the balance due was made with intent to defraud, or the court shall find that an innocent third party without notice, direct or constructive, has, since the claim was filed, become the bona fide owner of the property lienied upon. and that the notice of claim was so deficient that it did not put the party upon further inquiry, in any manner. [L. '93, p. 433, § 15.]

Amendments and Immaterial Defects:

§ 1177. Innocent Third Party, Who is.

It shall be conclusively presumed by the court that a party purchasing the property lienied upon within thirty days given herein to claimants wherein to file their liens, is not an innocent third party, nor that he has become a bona fide owner of the property lienied upon, unless it shall appear that he has paid full value for the said property, and has seen that the purchase money of the said property has been applied to the payment of such bona fide claims as are entitled to liens upon the said property under the provisions of this chapter, according to the priorities herein established. [L. '93, p. 433, § 16.]

Persons Liable: See Remington's Digest, Logs. § 24; Proulx v. Stetson & Post Mill Co., 6 Wash. 478, 33 Pac. 1067; Duggan v. Washougal Land etc. Co., 10 Wash. 84, 38 Pac. 856; McCoy v. Spithill, 13 Wash. 158, 42 Pac. 546; Livingstone v. Lovgren, 27 Wash. 102, 67 Pac. 599; Douglass v. Woodbury Lumber Co., 101 Wash. 668, 172 Pac. 906.

The latter part of this section is not open to objection that it seeks, without due process of law, to dispose of the purchase money, and vest in the buyer the authority to apply it to such claims as he may see fit to consider bona fide and entitled to liens on the property sold, in violation of the constitution, article I, §§ 3—16: McCoy v. Spithill, 13 Wash. 158, 42 Pac. 546.

Under this section, mortgagees taking the crop after the adjudication of the lien, although without actual notice of it, take subject to all the rights of the lienholder, and are liable for the amount of the lien: Hubbard v. Johnson, 89 Wash. 310, 154 Pac. 457, Ann. Cas. 1918C, 84.

In such case, it is immaterial whether the action be one to foreclose the lien or recover damages for destroying or confusing the identity of the crop: Hubbard v. Johnson, 89 Wash. 310, 154 Pac. 457, Ann. Cas. 1918C, 84.

§ 1178. Joinder—Costs.

Any number of persons claiming liens under this chapter may join in the affidavit in section 1168 provided, and may join in the same action, and when separate actions are commenced the court may consolidate them. The court shall also allow as part of the costs the moneys paid for filing, making and recording the claim, and a reasonable attorney's fee for each person claiming a lien. [L. '01, p. 20, § 1. Cf. L. '77, p. 219, § 15; Cd. '81, § 1953; 1 H. C., § 1691; L. '93, p. 433, § 17.]

The joinder of several claimants' liens in one notice of lien, where the character of the claims is the same, the property is proceeded against and each claim is separately stated, as authorized by section 1691, 1 Hill's Code, which provides for the joinder in one action of foreclosure by persons claiming liens against the same property: Chevret v. Mechanics' Mill & Lbr. Co., 4 Wash. 721, 31 Pac. 24.

Where a number of loggers have filed liens on a certain boom of logs they may all join in the action: Peterson v. Say- ward, 9 Wash. 503, 37 Pac. 657; and damages may be recovered in the lien foreclosure or by separate action: Id.

As to attorney's fees in cases of joinder of action: See Ivall v. Willis, 17 Wash. 645, 50 Pac. 467.

§ 1179. Judgment, Enforcement of.

In each civil action judgment must be rendered in favor of each person having a lien for the amount due to him, and the court or judge thereof shall order any property subject to the lien herein provided for to be sold by the sheriff of the proper county in the same manner that personal property is sold on execution, and the court or judge shall apportion the proceeds of such sale to the payment of each judgment, according to the priorities established in this act pro rata in its class according to the amount of such judgment. [Cf. L. '77, p. 219, § 16; Cd. '81, § 1954; 1 H. C., § 1692; L. '93, p. 434, § 18.]

§ 1180. Sale as Personalty.

The court or judge may order any property subject to a lien as in this chapter provided to be sold by the sheriff as personal property is sold on execution either before or at the time judgment is rendered, as provided in section next preceding, and the proceeds of such sale must be paid into court, to be applied as in said section directed. [Cf. L. '77, p. 219, § 17; Cd. '81, § 1955; 1 H. C., § 1693; L. '93, p. 434, § 19.]

§ 1181. Damages for Eloigning or Removing Marks, etc.—Recoverable, When.

Any person who shall eloin, injure or destroy, or who shall render difficult, uncertain or impossible of identification any sawlogs, spars, piles, shingles or other timber upon which there is a lien as herein provided, without the express consent of the person entitled to such lien, shall be liable to the lienholder for the damages to the amount secured by his lien, and it being shown to the court in the civil action to enforce said lien, it shall be the duty of the court to enter a personal judgment for the amount in such action against the said person, provided he be a party to such action, or the damages may be recovered by a civil action against such person. [Cf. L. '77, p. 219, § 18; Cd. '81, § 1956; 1 H. C., § 1694; L. '93, p. 434, § 20.]

CHAPTER VIII.

LIENS ON STEAMERS, BOATS, ETC.

§ 1182. Vessels, etc., Liable for Liens.

All steamers, vessels and boats, their tackle, apparel and furniture, are liable—

1. For service rendered on board at the request of, or under contract with, their respective owners, charterers, masters, agents or consignees.

2. For work done or material furnished in this state for their construction, repair or equipment at the request of their respective owners, charterers, masters, agents, consignees, contractors, subcontractors, or other person or persons having charge in whole or in part of their construction, alteration, repair or equipment; and every contractor, builder or person having charge, either in whole or in part, of the construction, alteration, repair or equipment of any steamer, vessel or boat, shall be held to be the agent of the owner for the purposes of this chapter, and for supplies furnished in this state for their use, at the request of their respective owners, charterers, masters, agents or consignees, and any person having charge, either in whole or in part, of the purchasing of supplies for the use of any such steamer, vessel or boat, shall be held to be the agent of the owner for the purposes of this chapter.

3. For their wharfage and anchorage within this state.

4. For nonperformance or malperformance of any contract for the transportation of persons or property between places within this state, or to or from places within this state, made by their respective owners, masters, agents or consignees.

5. For injuries committed by them to persons or property within this state, or while transporting such persons or property to or from this state. Demands for these several causes constitute liens upon all steamers, vessels and boats, and their tackle, apparel and furniture, and have priority in the order of the subdivisions hereinbefore enumerated, and have preference over all other demands; but such liens continue in force only for a period of three years from the time the cause of action accrued. [L. '01, p. 21, § 1. Cf. L. '58, p. 29, § 1; L. '77, p. 216, § 1; Cd. '81, § 1939; 1 H. C., § 1678.]

A contract to build a vessel not being a maritime contract, the foreclosure of liens therefor under this section is not within the jurisdiction of admiralty, and is properly brought against a foreign owner in a state court: Siler Mill Co. v. Nelson Co., 94 Wash. 477, 162 Pac. 590.

Lien for construction of vessel. Ann. Cas. 1915D, 47, 54.

§ 1183. Enforcement of Liens.

Such liens may be enforced, in all cases of maritime contracts or service, by a suit in admiralty, in rem, and the law regulating proceedings in admiralty shall govern in all such suits; and in all cases of contracts or service not maritime, by a civil action in any district court of this territory. The court, in virtue of its inherent equity power, has jurisdiction, in a pending action to foreclose liens for the construction of a ship, to release the property and substitute therefor a deposit of money or a bond; this section simply providing that the liens may be foreclosed in a civil action, and being silent as to the matter of substitution of security: State ex rel. Eureka Cedar Lumber & Shingle Co. v. Superior Court, 107 Wash. 620, 182 Pac. 607.

§ 1184. Liens for Services of Stevedores.

All steamers, vessels and boats, their tackle, apparel and furniture shall be held liable at all ports and places within this state or within the jurisdiction of the courts of this state or within the jurisdiction of the courts of the United States in said state for services rendered by stevedores, longshoremen or others engaged in the loading, unloading, stowing or dunnaging of cargo in or from any steamer, vessel or boat in any harbor or at any other place within said state, or within the jurisdiction of the courts thereof as above stated, and said steamers, vessels and boats shall further be liable as per their contracts for all services performed upon wharfs or landing places by stevedores, longshoremen or others: Provided, that such services must have been so performed in and about and be connected with the loading, unloading, dunnaging or stowing of said cargo. [L. '01, p. 136, § 1.]

§ 1185. Priority.

Demands for wages and all sums due under contracts or otherwise for the performance of all or any of the services mentioned in the last preceding section shall constitute liens upon all steamers, vessels and boats, their tackle, apparel and furniture, and shall have priority over all other demands save and excepting the demands mentioned in the first three subdivisions of section 1182, supra, to which said demands the lien hereby provided shall be subordinate: Provided, that such liens shall only continue in force for the period of three years from the date when such work was done or the last services performed by such stevedores, longshoremen or others. [L. '01, p. 137, § 2.]

§ 1186. Suits in Rem.

The liens hereby created may be enforced by a suit, in rem, and the law regulating like proceedings shall govern in all such suits. [L. '01, p. 137, § 3.]

§ 1187. Liens for Towage and Dunnage.

Whenever the owner, charterer, or any person or corporation operating, managing or controlling any steamship, vessel or boat shall willfully fail, neglect or refuse to carry out or perform any express contract or portion thereof for the towing, loading, unloading, dunnaging or stevedoring of such steamship, vessel or boat, any person or persons, firm or corporation sustaining thereby any loss or damage which is capable of definite ascertainment shall have a lien upon such steamship, vessel or boat for said loss or damage. The rank and priority of the lien hereby created and the manner of its enforcement shall be fixed, controlled and regulated by the provisions of the existing law pertaining to liens for similar services already performed. [L. '03, p. 286, § 1.]

CHAPTER IX.

LIENS ON FARM PRODUCTS.

§ 1188. Farm Laborers' and Landlords' Liens.

Any person who shall do labor upon any farm or land, in tilling the same or in sowing or harvesting or threshing any grain, as laborer, contractor, or otherwise, or laboring upon, or securing or assisting in securing or housing any crop or crops sown, raised, or threshed thereon during the year in which said work or labor was done, such person shall have a lien upon such crops as shall have been raised upon all or any of such land, for such work or labor, and every landlord shall have a lien upon the crops grown or growing upon the demised lands of any year for the rents accrued or acquiring for such year, whether the same is paid wholly or in part in money or specific articles of property, or products of the premises, or labor, and also for the faithful performance of the lease: and the lien created by the provisions of this section shall be a preferred lien, and shall be prior to all other liens. [Cf. L. '79, p. 150, § 1; Cd. '81, § 1975; L. '86, p. 114, § 1; L. '91, p. 144, § 1; 1 H. C., § 1695.]

§ 1189. Priority of Liens.

The liens provided for in the last section are preferred liens, and are prior to any other liens or encumbrance upon said crop or crops, except that the interest of any lessor in any portion of the crop raised where the premises are leased in consideration of a share of the crop raised, shall not be subject to such lien. § 1190. Time for Filing—Lien for Rents—How Enforced.

Any person claiming the benefit of this chapter must, within forty days after the close of said work and labor, or after the expiration of the term, or after the expiration of each year of the lease, for which any lands were demised, file for record with the county auditor of the county in which said work and labor was performed, or said demised lands are situated, a claim which shall be in substance in accordance with the provisions of section 1168, so far as the same may be applicable, which said claim shall be verified as in said section provided, and said liens may be enforced in a civil action in the same manner, as near as may be, as provided in section 1172: Provided, that the lien hereby created in favor of landlords for rents shall apply when the lease has been recorded, and the recording of the lease shall dispense with the necessity of filing or recording any other notice or claim of lien for rents during the leasehold period. Any claim for damages to the landlord for failure of faithful performance of the lease must be filed and recorded at the time and in the manner heretofore specified. [L. '19, p. 521, § 1. Cf. L. '79, p. 150, § 3; Cd. '81, § 1977; L. '86, p. 115, § 2; L. '88, p. 130, § 1; 1 H. C., § 1696.]

Under this section giving farm laborers liens, all may join in filing claims, but the verification may be made by one of the number: Pain v. Isaacs, 10 Wash. 173, 38 Pac. 1038.

A notice of lien describing products as eight hundred and fifty sacks of wheat raised on certain described premises, without locating or describing the sacks, is insufficient, and cannot be amended: Dexter v. Olsen, 40 Wash. 199, 82 Pac. 286.

Under the statute requiring a notice of lien on farm crops to contain a description of the property to be charged [see supra, § 1168], sufficient for identification, lien claims upon a crop of wheat are insufficient where the only description of the subject matter was the legal description of the land and a "certain crop" grown thereon: Northwestern Grain Co. v. Kerr Gifford Warehouse Co., 76 Wash. 689, 136 Pac. 1154.

Evidence held insufficient to sustain findings that laborers' contracts to clear land had been fully performed and that they quit work because ordered to do so: Zizich v. Holman Security Inv. Co., 77 Wash. 392, 137 Pac. 1028, 139 Pac. 57.

Under this section a lien may be filed after the rent has accrued not later than the time fixed, and is not void as premature because filed before the expiration of the year: McLeod v. Russell, 59 Wash. 676, 110 Pac. 626.

§ 1190a. Provisions Extended to Farm Laborers.

All rights secured to the holders of liens upon logs, under the provisions of chapter VII, shall inure to the benefit of those holding liens under the provisions of this chapter, and the said lienholders hereunder, shall have the same right to have their liens recorded, the same right of foreclosure, of joinder of parties, of judgment over against the person primarily liable, and against any person who shall injure or impair their lien or any of their rights, as are above secured to the holders of liens upon logs, under said chapter VII. [Cd. '81, § 1978.]

"This chapter" in the Code of 1881 included chapters IX, XIV and XV of this Title; but this section relates only to chapter IX.

CHAPTER X.

LIENS FOR STORAGE AND ADVANCE CHARGES.

§ 1191. When Lien Exists.

Whenever property upon which charges for advances, freight, transportation, wharfage, or storage, due and unpaid, and a lien shall remain and be held in store by the person or persons in whose favor such lien exists uncalled for, it shall be lawful for such person or persons to cause such property to be sold as is herein provided. [Cd. '81, § 1980; 1 H. C., § 1699.]

Maritime liens for advances. 70 L. R. A. 367, 414, 439.

§ 1192. Sale of Livestock, etc. for Charges.

If said property consists of livestock, the maintenance of which at the place where kept is wasteful and expensive in proportion to the value of the animals, or other of the perishable property liable, if kept, to destruction, waste, or great depreciation, the person or persons having such lien may sell the same upon giving ten days' notice. [Cd. '81, § 1981; 1 H. C., § 1700; see L. '63, p. 421, § 2.]

§ 1193. Sale of Other Property.

All other property upon which such charges may be unpaid, due, and a lien, after the same shall have remained in store uncalled for for a period of thirty days after such charges shall have become due, may be sold by the person or persons having a lien for the payment of such charges upon giving ten days' notice: Provided, that where the property can be conveniently divided into separate lots or parcels, no more lots or parcels shall be sold than shall be sufficient to pay the charges due on the day of sale, and the expenses of the sale. [Cd. '81, § 1982; 1 H. C., § 1701.]

§ 1194. Application of Proceeds of Sale.

The moneys arising from sales made under the provisions of this chapter shall first be applied to the payment of the costs and expenses of the sale, and then to the payment of the lawful charges of the person or persons having a lien thereon for advances, freight, transportation, wharfage, or storage, for whose benefit the sale shall have been made; the surplus, if any, shall be retained, subject to the future lawful charge of the person or persons for whose benefit the sale was made, upon the property of the same owner still remaining in store uncalled for, if any there be, and to the demand of the owner of the property who shall have paid such charges or otherwise satisfied such lien, and all moneys remaining uncalled for, for the period of three months, shall be paid to the county treasurer, and shall remain in his hands a special fund for the benefit of the lawful claimant thereof. [Cd. '81, § 1983; 1 H. C., § 1702.]

Where a carrier has sold goods for a sum in excess of its lien for freight and wharfage charges, the court may properly order the excess turned over to the county treasurer, under this section, subject to the order of the party entitled thereto: Koyukuk Mining Co. v. Van De Vanter, 30 Wash. 385, 70 Pac. 966.

§ 1195. Special Contract not Affected.

Nothing in this chapter contained shall be so construed as to alter or affect the terms of any special contract in writing, made by the parties, as to the advances, affreightment, wharfage, or storage; but when any such special contract shall have been made, its terms shall govern, irrespective of this chapter. [Cd. '81, § 1984; 1 H. C., § 1703.]

§ 1196. Notices, How Given.

All notices required under this chapter shall be given as is or may be by law provided in cases of sales of personal property upon execution. [Cd. '81, § 1985; 1 H. C., § 1704.]

CHAPTER XI.LIENS FOR KEEPING LIVESTOCK.*§ 1197. Creation of Lien.

Any farmer, ranchman, herder of cattle, tavern-keeper, livery and boarding-stable keeper or any other person, to whom any horses, mules, cattle or sheep shall be intrusted for the purpose of feeding, herding, pasturing, and training, caring for or ranching, shall have a lien upon said horses, mules, cattle or sheep for such amount that may be due for said feeding, herding, pasturing, training, caring for, and ranching, and shall be authorized to retain possession of said horses, mules or cattle or sheep, until said amount is paid. [L. '09, p. 636, § 1. Cf. L. '91, p. 151, § 1; 1 H. C., § 1705.]

§ 1198. Enforcement.

Any person having a lien under the provisions of the last preceding section may enforce the same by an action in any court of competent jurisdiction; and said property may be sold on execution for the purpose of satisfying the amount of such judgment and costs of sale, together with the proper costs of keeping the same up to the time of said sale. [L. '91, p. 151, § 2; 1 H. C., § 1706.]

The "last preceding section" applies to the act of 1891, page 151, § 1, which expressly excepted "stolen stock" from liens for keeping, and omitted the words "any other person." Otherwise it was the same as § 1197.

§ 1199. Possession to Secure Lien—Sale—Notice.

Any person having a lien under the provisions of section 1197 for feeding, herding, pasturing, training, caring for, or ranching any horses, mules, cattle or sheep, shall retain such animal for a period of ten (10) days, at the expiration of which time, if the owner of such animal does not satisfy such lien, the sheriff or any constable may sell such animal at public auction after giving the owner ten days' notice of the time and place of such sale by delivering a copy of such notice to the owner, or in case personal service cannot be had, by publishing same in a newspaper of general circulation in said county where said feeding, herding, pasturing, training, caring for, and ranching was furnished; if there be no paper of general circulation in said county, then by posting notices of the time and place of such sale in three conspicuous places in said county, and after satisfying the lien and costs that may accrue, any residue remaining shall be paid to the owner of said animal or person who may be lawfully entitled to the same. [L. '09, p. 636, § 2.]

§ 1200. No Waiver by Delivery—Action to Enforce.

Whenever any horses, mules, cattle or sheep shall be intrusted for the purpose of feeding, herding, pasturing, training, caring for, and ranching to any farmer, ranchman, herder of cattle, tavern-keeper, livery or boarding-stable keeper, continuously for some time, either definite or indefinite, the voluntary delivery of the same to the owner or his agent shall not waive or defeat the lien provided for in section 1197, and the person having such lien may enforce his lien against said property in any court of competent jurisdiction at any time within ten (10) days after parting with the possession thereof: Provided, that such lien shall not attach to the interest nor affect the rights of a third person who may have acquired an interest in or title to an animal against which a lien is claimed, for value and without knowledge of the claimed lien, while such animal is not in possession of the claimant. [L. '09, p. 637, § 3.]

CHAPTER XII.

LIENS OF INNKEEPERS AND THEIR LIABILITY.

§ 1201. Lien upon Baggage, etc.

Hereafter all hotel-keepers, innkeepers, lodging-house keepers, and boarding-house keepers in this state shall have a lien upon the baggage, property, or other valuables of their guests, lodgers, or boarders brought into such hotel, inn, lodging-house, or boarding-house by such guests, lodgers, or boarders, for the proper charges due from such guests, lodgers, or boarders for their accommodation, board, or lodging, and such other extras as are furnished at their request, and shall have the right to retain in their possession such baggage, property, or other valuables until such charges are fully paid, and to sell such baggage, property, or other valuables for the payment of such charges in the manner provided in the next succeeding section of this chapter. § 1202. Sale to Satisfy Lien—Notice.

Whenever any baggage, property, or other valuables which have been retained by any hotel-keeper, innkeeper, lodging-house keeper, or boarding-house keeper in his possession by virtue of the provision of the next preceding section of this chapter shall remain unredeemed for the period of three months after the same shall have been so retained, then it shall be lawful for such hotel-keeper, innkeeper, lodging-house keeper, or boarding-house keeper to sell such baggage, property, or other valuables at public auction, after giving the owner thereof ten days' notice of the time and place of such sale, through the postoffice, or by advertising in some newspaper published in the county where such sale is made, or by posting notices in three conspicuous places in such county, and out of the proceeds of such sale to pay all legal charges due from the owner of such baggage, property, or valuables, including proper charges for storage of the same, and the overplus, if any, shall be paid to the owner upon demand. [L. '90, p. 96, § 2; 1 H. C., § 2711.]

§ 1203. Responsibility Limited.

No innkeeper who constantly has in his inn an iron safe or suitable vault in good order, and fit for the safe custody of money, bank notes, jewelry, articles of gold and silver manufacture, precious stones and bullion, and who keeps a copy of this section, printed by itself in large, plain Roman type, and framed, constantly and conspicuously suspended in the office, barroom, saloon, reading, sitting, and parlor room of his inn, and also a copy printed by itself in ordinary-sized plain Roman type, posted upon the inside of the entrance door of every public sleeping-room of his inn, shall be liable for the loss of any such article suffered by any guest, unless such guest has first offered to deliver such property lost by him to such innkeeper for custody in such iron safe or vault and such innkeeper has refused or neglected to receive and deposit such property in his safe or vault, and to give such guest a receipt therefor: Provided, that all doors to rooms furnished to guests shall be provided with slide-bolts inside of such rooms on all doors; otherwise he shall be liable; but every innkeeper shall be liable for any loss of the above enumerated articles by a guest in his inn, when caused by the theft or negligence of the innkeeper or any of his servants. [L. 90, p. 95, § 1; 1 H. C., § 2712.]

Cited in 53 Wash. 447, 450.

A hotel-keeper is not exempted from liability for the loss of property of guests under this section, where he failed to keep an iron safe or vault in good order for the custody of valuables, and failed to post a copy of the statute in the sleeping-rooms, as required by the act: Watt v. Kilbury, 53 Wash. 446, 102 Pac. 403.

CHAPTER XIII.LIENS FOR RENT.*§ 1203-1. Lien for Rent—Property Subject—Extent of Lien.

Any person to whom rent may be due, his executors, administrators, or assigns shall have a lien for such rent which is paramount to, and has preference over, all other liens except liens for taxes, general and special liens of labor and mortgages or conditional bills of sale duly recorded prior to tenancy upon personal property of the tenant which has been used or kept on the rented premises, except property of third persons delivered to or left with the tenant for storage, repair, manufacture or sale, and such property exempt from execution by the laws of the state of Washington. Such liens shall not be for more than two months' rent due or to become due, nor for any rent or installment thereof which has been due for more than two months; that no writing or recording shall be necessary to create such lien; and if such property be removed from the rented premises and not returned to the owner, agent, executor, administrator, or assign said lien shall continue and be a superior lien on the property so removed for ten days from the date of its removal, and said lien may be enforced against the property wherever found. In the event the property contained in the rented premises be destroyed by fire or other elements, the lien shall extend to any money that may be received by the tenant as indemnity for the destruction of said property, nor shall the lien be lost by the sale of the said property, except merchandise sold in the usual course of trade or to purchasers without notice of the tenancy. The provisions of this act shall not apply to, nor shall it be enforced against, the property of tenants in dwelling-houses or apartments or any other place that is used exclusively as a home or residence of the tenant and his family. [L. '17, p. 769, § 1.]

§ 1203-2. Enforcement.

Said lien may be enforced in the same manner as the foreclosure of a chattel mortgage in the superior court of the county in which the property or any portion thereof is situated. [L. '17, p. 770, § 2.]

CHAPTER XIV.

PREFERENCE RIGHTS OF EMPLOYEES.

§ 1204. Priority of Wages, etc., in Insolvency.

In all assignments of property made by any person to trustees or assignees on account of the inability of the person at the time of the assignment to pay his debts, or in proceedings in insolvency the wages of the miners, mechanics, salesmen, servants, clerks, or laborers employed by such persons to the amount of one hundred dollars each, and for services rendered within sixty days previously, are preferred claims, and must be paid by such trustees or assignees before any other creditor or creditors of the assignor. [L. '77, p. 233, § 34; Cd. '81, § 1972; 1 H. C., § 3122.]

Cited in 17 Wash. 186.

Who are laborers, employees or servants within meaning of statutes giving preference to wages. 18 L. R. A. 305.

Preference of wages over lien creditors of corporation in hand of receiver in absence of statutory provision therefor. 5 L. R. R. 690.

§ 1205. Preference on Death of Employer.

In case of the death of any employer, the wages of each miner, mechanic, salesman, clerk, servant, and laborer for services rendered within sixty days next preceding the death of the employer, not exceeding one hundred dollars, rank in priority next after the funeral expenses, expenses of the last sickness, the charges and expenses of administering upon the estate, and the allowance to the widow and infant children, and must be paid before other claims against the estate of the deceased person. [L. '77, p. 223, § 35; Cd. '81, § 1973; 1 H. C., § 3123.]

§ 1206. Notice and Presentment of Claims.

In cases of executions, attachments, and writs of similar nature issued against any person, except for claims for labor done, any miners, mechanics, salesmen, servants, clerks, and laborers who have claims against the defendant for labor done, may give notice of their claims and the amount thereof, sworn to by the person making the claim to the creditor and the officer executing either of such writs at any time before the actual sale of property levied on, and unless such claim is disputed by the debtor or a creditor, such officer must pay to such person, out of the proceeds of the sale, the amount each is entitled to receive for services rendered within sixty days next preceding the levy of the writ, not exceeding one hundred dollars. If any or all the claims so presented and claiming preference under this chapter are disputed by either the debtor or a creditor, the person presenting the same must commence an action within ten days from [for] the recovery thereof, and must prosecute his action with due diligence, or be forever barred from any claim of priority of payment thereof; and the officer shall retain possession of so much of the proceeds of the sale as may be necessary to satisfy such claim, until the determination of such action; and in case judgment be had for the claim or any part thereof, carrying costs, the costs taxable therein shall likewise be a preferred claim, with the same rank as the original claim. [L. '77, p. 223, § 36; Cd. '81, § 1974; 1 H. C., § 3124.]

Parties having claims for services, which, under this section, they are authorized to maintain against a judgment creditor who has levied upon the property of their employer, may properly join in the same action to enforce their claims: Gleason v. Tacoma Hotel Co., 16 Wash. 412, 47 Pac. 894.

Where laborers had prior liens upon sawlogs, which were sold and sawed up and produced a fund which it was the duty of the purchaser to apply in satisfaction of the liens, a garnishment of the purchaser is ineffectual, even though the logs were in the purchaser's possession at the time the writ was served and answered, this section giving priority to the laborers' liens: Du Bois Lumber Co. v. Dietderich, 97 Wash. 1, 165 Pac. 884.

CHAPTER XV.

THE CONSTRUCTION OF STATUTES RELATING TO LIENS.

§ 1208. Construction of Lien Law.

In construing the provisions of the lien law, words used in the masculine gender include the feminine and neuter, the singular number includes the plural, and the plural the singular; the word "person" includes a corporation as well as a natural person, and the word "writing" includes printing. [L. '77, p. 224, § 37; Cd. '81, § 1979; 1 H. C., § 1707.]

§ 1209. Extent of Lien Law.

This act establishes the law of this state respecting the subject to which it relates, and its provisions and all proceedings under it are to be liberally construed with a view to effect its object. [L. '77, p. 224, § 39; Cd. '81, § 1979; 1 H. C., § 1980.]

"This act" in Laws of 1877, refers to liens of mechanics, loggers, and others, now covered in this title.

§ 1214. Who Disqualified.

The following persons shall not be examined as witnesses:—

1. A husband shall not be examined for or against his wife without the consent of the wife, nor a wife for or against her husband without the consent of the husband; nor shall either, during marriage or afterwards, without the consent of the other, be examined as to any communication made by one to the other during marriage. But this exception shall not apply to a civil action or proceeding by one against the other, nor to a criminal action or proceeding for a crime committed by one against the other;

2. An attorney or counselor shall not, without the consent of his client, be examined as to any communication made by the client to him, or his advice given thereon in the course of professional employment;

3. A clergyman or priest shall not, without the consent of the person making the confession, be examined as to any confession made to him in his professional character in the course of discipline enjoined by the church to which he belongs;

4. A regular physician or surgeon shall not, without the consent of his patient, be examined in a civil action as to any information acquired in attending such patient, which was necessary to enable him to prescribe for the patient;

5. A public officer shall not be examined as a witness as to communications made to him in official confidence, when the public interest would suffer by the disclosure. [Cf. L. '54, p. 187, § 294; L. '73, p. 107, § 385; L. '79, p. 118, § 1; Cd. '81, § 392; L. '86, p. 73, § 1; 2 H. C., § 1649.]

CHAPTER II.

THE MANNER OF COMPELLING THE ATTENDANCE OF WITNESSES.

§ 1215. Witnesses—Compelling Attendance.

No person shall be obliged to attend as a witness before any court of record, judge, justice of the peace, commissioner, referee, or other officer, in any civil action or proceeding out of the county in which he resides, unless his residence be within twenty miles of such court, judge, justice of the peace, commissioner, referee, or other officer; and no person shall be obliged to attend as a witness in any civil action or proceeding in a justice's court, unless his residence be within twenty miles of such court, whether within the county or not. Nor shall any person be compelled to attend as a witness in any civil action or proceeding, unless the fees be paid or tendered to him which are allowed by law for one day's attendance as a witness; and for traveling to and returning from the place where he is required to attend, provided such fees be demanded by him at the time of service of the subpoena. [L. '54, p. 187, § 295; L. '63, p. 156, § 332; L. '69, p. 104, § 388; Cd. '81, § 393; L. '91, p. 33, § 2; 2 H. C., § 1650.]

Attendance of Witness: See Remington's Digest, Witn., §§ 1—3. Authority to compel attendance: United States v. Small, 3 W. T. 478, 17 Pac. 739; Wiseman v. Eastman, 21 Wash. 163, 57 Pac. 398; State ex rel. Hopkins v. Kennan, 33 Wash. 247, 74 Pac. 381, 99 Am. St. Rep. 949.

§ 2. Place Where Attendance may be Required: State ex rel. Timm v. Trounce, 5 Wash. 804, 32 Pac. 750.

§ 3. Subpoena—Application and Proceedings: State ex rel. Carraher v. Graves, 13 Wash. 485, 43 Pac. 376; State ex rel. Peterson v. Superior Court, 67 Wash. 370, 121 Pac. 836.

§ 1216. Subpoena Duces Tecum.

The subpoena may require not only the personal attendance of the person to whom it is directed at a particular time and place to testify as a witness, but may also require him to bring with him any books, documents, or things under his control; but no public officer or person having the possession or control of public records or papers which by law are required to be kept in any particular office or place shall be compelled to produce the same in any court. [L. '54, p. 188, § 296; Cd. '81, § 394; 2 H. C., § 1651.]

Cited in 59 Wash. 656; 84 Wash. 486.

The violation of an order of the court to produce certain books belonging to a bank for which a receiver had been appointed is not subject to punishment for contempt, although committed by the president of the bank, where the affidavit used as a basis for the contempt proceedings fails to show that it was within the power of the party prosecuted to comply with the order: State ex rel. Olson v. Allen, 14 Wash. 684, 45 Pac. 644.

The fact that proof subsequently introduced upon the trial tends to show that one charged with contempt of court had books in his possession which he was ordered to produce, but that he violated the order, is immaterial when such fact is not sufficiently shown by the affidavit used as a basis for the proceeding: Id.

Failure to produce the document raises a presumption that they are what the adverse party claims them to be, and it is for the jury to determine whether the witness complied with the subpoena: Thomas v. Fox, 51 Wash. 250, 98 Pac. 663.

A witness subpoenaed duces tecum cannot refuse to produce books which are shown to be material, on the ground of their immateriality, if they are not confidential or of a privileged character: State ex rel. Spokane & Eastern Trust

Under this section, a person residing in another county cannot be adjudged guilty of contempt of court for refusing to obey the summons until it has first been made to appear that his residence is within twenty miles of such court: State ex rel. Timm v. Trounce, 5 Wash. 804, 32 Pac. 750.

It is not an abuse of discretion to refuse a new trial on account of the absence overseas of a witness, where it appears that the witness was prosecuting attorney of another county, who, under this section, could not be compelled to attend as a witness, and the case had been at issue for about two years and no move made to take depositions: Eberhart v. Murphy, 110 Wash. 158, 188 Pac. 17.

Co. v. Superior Court, 109 Wash. 634, 187 Pac. 358, 9 A. L. R. 157.

A showing that books were necessary to enable a referee to make his findings of fact and report upon an accounting and that no other source was accessible, is sufficient to justify the issuance of a subpoena duces tecum: State ex rel. Spokane & Eastern Trust Co. v. Superior Court, 109 Wash. 634, 187 Pac. 358, 9 A. L. R. 157.

A witness subpoenaed duces tecum cannot refuse to produce the documents on the ground of their inadmissibility or of their weight as evidence: State ex rel. Spokane & Eastern Trust Co. v. Superior Court, 109 Wash. 634, 187 Pac. 358, 9 A. L. R. 157.

Noncompliance with a subpoena duces tecum cannot be excused on the ground of the inconvenience to the witness: State ex rel. Spokane & Eastern Trust Co. v. Superior Court, 109 Wash. 634, 187 Pac. 358, 9 A. L. R. 157.

It is not a valid objection to a subpoena duces tecum to produce the books of a bank before a referee that they contain confidential communications with other parties which may be made public, since it is presumed that the referee will not permit any such improper use of the records: State ex rel. Spokane & Eastern Trust Co. v. Superior Court, 109 Wash. 634, 187 Pac. 358, 9 A. L. R. 157.

Inconvenience or expence as excuse for disobeying subpoena duces tecum. 9 A. L. R. 163.

§ 1217. Subpoena—Issuance.

The subpoena shall be issued as follows:

1. To require attendance before a court of record or at the trial of an issue therein, such subpoena may be issued in the name of the state of Washington and be under the seal of the court before which the attendance is required or in which the issue is pending: Provided, that such subpoena may be issued with like effect by the attorney of record of the party to the action in whose behalf the witness is required to appear, and the form of such subpoena in each case may be the same as when issued by the court except that it shall only be subscribed by the signature of such attorney;

2. To require attendance out of such court before a judge, justice of the peace, commissioner, referee or other officer authorized to administer oaths or to take testimony in any matter under the laws of this state, it shall be issued by such judge, justice of the peace, commissioner, referee or other officer before whom the attendance is required;

3. To require attendance before a commissioner appointed to take testimony by a court of any other state, territory or county it may be issued by any judge or justice of the peace in places within their respective jurisdiction. [Cf. L. '54, p. 188, § 297; Cd. '81, § 395; 2 H. C., § 1652; L. '95, p. 189 § 1.]

§ 1218. Service, Proof of.

Such subpoena may be served by any suitable person over eighteen years of age, by exhibiting and reading it to the witness, or by giving him a copy thereof, or by leaving such copy at the place of his abode. When service is made by any other person than an officer authorized to serve process, proof of service shall be made by affidavit. [L. '54, p. 188, § 298; L. '53, p. 156, § 334; L. '69, p. 105, § 391; Cd. '81, § 396; 2 H. C., § 1653.]

§ 1219. Person in Court Required to Testify.

A person present in court, or before a judicial officer, may be required to testify in the same manner as if he were in attendance upon a subpoena issued by such court or officer. [L. '54, p. 188, 299; Cd. '81, § 397; 2 H. C., § 1654.]

§ 1220. Liability and Penalty for Failure to Attend.

If any person duly served with a subpoena, and obliged to attend as a witness, shall fail to do so, without any reasonable excuse, he shall be liable to the aggrieved party for all damages occasioned by such failure, to be recovered in a civil action. Such failure to attend as required by the subpoena shall also be considered a contempt, and, upon due proof, the witness may be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, and stand committed until said fine and costs are paid, or until discharged by due course of law. [L. '54, p. 188, §§ 300, 301; Cd. '81, §§ 398, 399; 2 H. C., § 1655.]

See notes to § 1215.

Cited in 13 Wash. 487.

§ 1221. Attachment for Witness.

The court, judge, justice of the peace, or other officer, in such case, may issue an attachment to bring such witness before them to answer for contempt, and also testify as witness in the cause in which he was subpoenaed. [L. '54, p. 188, § 302; Cd. '81, § 400; 2 H. C., § 1656.]

A judge of the superior court has no jurisdiction to compel by attachment the attendance of a nonresident witness, who is outside of the jurisdiction, for the purpose of taking his deposition, although a subpoena was served upon him while he was temporarily within the county: State ex rel. Hopkins v. Kennan, 33 Wash. 247, 74 Pac. 381, 99 Am. St. Rep. 949.

§ 1222. To Whom Directed, How Executed.

Such attachment may be directed to the sheriff or any constable of any county in which the witness may be found, and shall be executed in the same manner as a warrant; and the fees of the officer for issuing and serving the same shall be paid by the person against whom the same was issued, unless he show reasonable cause, to the satisfaction of the justice, for his omission to attend; in which case the party requiring such attachment shall pay all such costs. [L. '91, p. 33, § 3; 2 H. C., § 1657.]

§ 1223. Testimony of Prisoner, How Obtained.

If the witness be a prisoner confined in a jail or prison within this state, an order for his examination in prison, upon deposition, or for his temporary removal and production before a court or officer, for the purpose of being orally examined, may be issued. [L. '54, p. 189, § 303; Cd. '81, § 401; 2 H. C., § 1658.]

§ 1224. Affidavit to Procure Order.

Such order can only be made upon affidavit, showing the nature of the action or proceeding, the testimony expected from the witness, and its materiality. [L. '54, p. 189, § 304; Cd. '81, § 402; 2 H. C., § 1659.]

CHAPTER III.THE EXAMINATION OF PARTIES.*§ 1225. Examination of Adverse Party as Witness.

A party to an action or proceeding may be examined as a witness, at the instance of the adverse party, or of one of several adverse parties, and for that purpose may be compelled in the same manner and subject to the same rules of examination as any other witness to testify at the trial, or he may be examined on a commission. [L. '54, p. 189, § 305; Cd. '81, § 403; 2 H. C., § 1660.]

This section, and section 1229, infra, expressly authorize the examination of the adverse party as a witness, and the rebuttal of his evidence by adverse testimony, although he was called as the party's own witness at the opening of the trial: Thomas v. Fos, 51 Wash. 250, 98 Pac. 663.

§ 6. Application: Murrilla v. Guis, 51 Wash. 93, 98 Pac. 100.

§ 7. Order—Making and Requisites in General: Livesley v. O'Brien, 6 Wash. 553, 34 Pac. 134.

§ 1226. Interrogatories to Adversary.

Instead of the examination being had at the trial, as provided by the last section, the plaintiff, at the time of filing his complaint or afterwards, and the defendant, at the time of filing his answer or afterwards, may file in the clerk's office interrogatories for the discovery of facts and documents material to the support or defense of the action, to be answered on oath by the adverse party. [L. '54, p. 189, § 306; Cd. '81, § 404; 2 H. C., § 1661.]

Cited in 14 Wash. 135; 17 Wash. 391; 35 Wash. 245—247; 44 Wash. 31, 37; 80 Wash. 215; 81 Wash. 31; 106 Wash. 694.

Right to new trial, as affected by failure to propound interrogatories under sections 1226, 1227, or to have the complaint made more specific in that respect, such neglect amounting to a lack of due diligence: Potts v. Potts, 81 Wash. 27, 142 Pac. 448.

Doubted, whether the production of documentary evidence can be enforced by interrogatories under this section, in view of section 1262, infra: Cully v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 35 Wash. 241, 77 Pac. 202.

A complaint upon a mutual open account, containing an itemized statement, need not be made more definite and certain where further information so far as permissible was obtainable by interrogatories to the adversary, under this section: Connecticut Investment Co. v. Yokom, 106 Wash. 693, 180 Pac. 926.

Interrogatories—Objections and Exceptions: See Remington's Digest, Discov., § 8; Du Clos v. Batcheller, 17 Wash. 389, 49 Pac. 483; Brooke v. Boyd, 80 Wash. 213, 141 Pac. 357, Ann. Cas. 1916B, 359; Tacoma & Eastern Lumber Co. v. Field & Co., 100 Wash. 79, 170 Pac. 360.

Doubted whether the production of documents can be enforced under this section, in view of section 1262 making provision for their inspection: Cully v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 35 Wash. 241, 77 Pac. 202.

Waiver of right to demand interrogatories: See Murrilla v. Guis, 51 Wash. 93, 98 Pac. 100.

Right under statute to an order for the examination of an adverse party to enable one to frame his pleadings. L. R. A. 1918C, 593.

Such interrogatories shall be served in the manner provided by law for the service of summons, or by service upon the attorney of the party to be interrogated, and the answers thereto shall be served and filed within twenty days after such service unless for cause shown a further time be allowed by the court. A private corporation may be interrogated in the same manner as individuals, and it shall not be excused for a failure to answer any proper interrogatory unless it shall show that no one in its employ or connected with, or interested in it, can give the desired answer or information. [Cf. L. '54, p. 189, § 307; Cd. '81, § 405; 2 H. C., § 1662; L. '97, p. 288, § 1.]

§ 1228. Examination on Trial Notwithstanding Interrogatories.

A party to an action or proceeding, having filed interrogatories to be answered by the adverse party, as prescribed by the last two sections, shall not thereby be precluded from examining such adverse party as a witness at the trial, nor from taking his deposition to be read at the trial. [Cf. L. '54, p. 189, § 308; Cd. '81, § 406; L. '91, p. 34, § 4; 2 H. C., § 1663.]

§ 1229. Testimony not Conclusive.

The testimony of a party, upon examination at the trial, or by deposition, or upon interrogatories filed, may be rebutted by adverse testimony. [Cf. L. '54, p. 189, § 309; Cd. '81, § 407; L. '91, p. 34, § 5; 2 H. C., § 1664.]

§ 1230. Penalty for Refusal to Answer or Give Testimony.

If a party refuse to attend and testify at the trial, or to give his deposition, or to answer any interrogatories filed, his complaint, answer or reply may be stricken out, and judgment taken against him, and he may also, in the discretion of the court, be proceeded against as in other cases for a contempt: Provided, that the preceding sections shall not be construed so as to compel any person to answer any question where such answer may tend to criminate himself. [Cf. L. '54, p. 190, § 310; Cd. '81, § 408; L. '91, p. 34, § 6; 2 H. C., § 1665.]

Cited in 4 Wash. 326; 6 Wash. 553; 44 Wash. 31, 32, 42.

Failure to Answer Interrogatories: See Remington's Digest, Discov., § 10; Le May v. Baxter, 11 Wash. 649, 40 Pac. 122; Livesley v. O'Brien, 6 Wash. 553, 34 Pac. 134; Waite v. Wingate, 4 Wash. 324, 30 Pac. 81; Fischer v. Woodruff, 25 Wash. 67, 64 Pac. 923, 87 Am. St. Rep. 742; Knapp v. Order of Pendo, 38 Wash. 601, 79 Pac. 209; Fidelity Nat. Bank v. Adams, 38 Wash. 75, 80 Pac. 284; Lawson v. Black Diamond Coal Min. Co., 44 Wash. 26, 86 Pac. 1120; Haas v. Washington Water Power Co., 93 Wash. 291, 160 Pac. 954.

Default is properly taken against plaintiffs who refuse to answer interrogatories submitted by defendants calling for facts material to the defense: Saar v. Weeks, 105 Wash. 628, 178 Pac. 819.

The only judgment authorized is one of dismissal of plaintiff's action, where no default is taken for his failure to reply to an affirmative defense, and no proof is introduced in support of the matters alleged in such defense: Waite v. Wingate, 4 Wash. 324, 30 Pac. 81.

This section authorizes courts to grant default judgments upon the failure of a party to answer interrogatories filed, where the interrogatories go to all the issues in the case, and where the refusal to answer may be taken as an admission of the facts at issue, and is not invalid and unconstitutional: Capps v. Frederick, 44 Wash. 38, 86 Pac. 1128.

§ 1230-1. Physical Examination in Personal Injury Cases.

On or before the trial of any action brought to recover damages for injury to the person, the court before whom such action is pending may from time to time, on application of any party therein, order and direct an examination of the person injured as to the injury complained of by a competent physician or physicians, surgeon or surgeons, in order to qualify the person or persons making such examination to testify in the said cause as to the nature, extent and probable duration of the injury complained of: and the court may in such order direct and determine the time and place of such examination: Provided, this section shall not be construed to prevent any other person or physician from being called and examined as a witness as heretofore. [L. '15, p. 236, § 1.]

Physical Examination: See Remington's Digest, Discov., § 11; Lane v. Spokane Falls & Northern R. Co., 21 Wash. 119, 57 Pac. 367, 75 Am. St. Rep. 821, 46 L. R. A. 153; Smith v. Spokane, 16 Wash. 403, 47 Pac. 888; Myrberg v. Baltimore etc. R. Co., 25 Wash. 364, 65 Pac. 539; Helbig v. Grays Harbor Elec. Co., 37 Wash. 130, 79 Pac. 612; Dunkin v. Hoquiam, 56 Wash. 47, 105 Pac. 149.

In an action for personal injuries, it is not error to refuse a physical examination of the plaintiff, before any issue had been framed as to the extent of the injuries or any showing made as to the

CHAPTER IV.

DEPOSITIONS.

§ 1231. Cases in Which Deposition may be Taken.

The testimony of a witness may be taken by deposition, to be read in evidence in an action, suit, or proceeding commenced and pending in any court in this state, in the following cases:—

1. When the witness resides out of the county, and more than twenty miles from the place of trial;
2. When the witness is about to leave the county, and go more than twenty miles from the place of trial, and there is a probability that he will continue absent when the testimony is required;
3. When the witness is sick, infirm, or aged, so as to make it probable that he will not be able to attend at the trial;
4. When the witness resides out of the state. [L. '54, p. 190, § 313; L. '69, p. 108, § 404; L. '77, p. 89, § 411; Cd. '81, § 409; 2 H. C., § 1666.]

§ 1232. Time for Taking.

Either party may commence taking testimony by depositions at any time after service of summons upon the defendants. [L. '77, p. 90, § 412; Cd. '81, § 410; 2 H. C., § 1667.]

Cited in 110 Wash. 165; 111 Wash. 69, 71.

§ 1233. Before Whom Taken Within States—Notice.

Either party may have the deposition of a witness taken in this state before any judge of the superior court, justice of the peace, clerk of the supreme or superior court[s], mayor of a city or notary public, by serving on the adverse party or his attorney previous notice of the time and place of examination. The notice shall be served such time before the time when the deposition is to be taken as to allow the adverse party sufficient time by the usual route of travel to attend, and three days for preparation, exclusive of the day of service, and the examination may, if so stated in the notice, be adjourned from day to day. The notice shall specify the action or proceeding, the name of the court or tribunal in which the deposition is to be used, and the time and place of taking the deposition. It shall be served upon the adverse party, his agent, or attorney of record, or be left at his usual place of abode. [L. '54, p. 190, § 314; Cd. '81, § 411; L. '88, p. 29, § 1; L. '91, p. 34, § 7; 2 H. C., § 1668.]

Necessity and sufficiency of naming witness in notice of taking deposition. Ann. Cas. 1918A, 950.

§ 1234. Time for Notice may be Limited.

The court, or a judge thereof, or in an action or proceedings before a justice of the peace, the justice, may, upon sufficient cause being shown by affidavit, prescribe a shorter time for notice than that specified in the last preceding section. A copy of the order shortening the time must be served with the notice. [L. '91, p. 35, § 8; 2 H. C., § 1669.]

§ 1235. Witnesses Subpoenaed and Compelled to Attend.

Any witness may be subpoenaed and compelled, by any officer authorized to take depositions, to appear and give his deposition at any place within twenty miles of the abode of such witness, in like manner as he may be subpoenaed and compelled to attend as a witness in any court, and he shall suffer the same penalties for a failure to attend as are prescribed in section 1220. [Cf. L. '54, p. 192, § 321; Cd. '81, § 422; L. '91, p. 35, § 9; 2 H. C., § 1670.]

§ 1236. Superior Court may Compel Attendance.

The superior court shall have power to compel the attendance of witnesses, within this state, before notaries public, justices of the peace or any other person authorized by the laws of this state to take depositions in causes pending in any court of the state, or in any court of any other state, or in any court of the United States, or in any court of a foreign country. [L. '01, p. 23, § 1.]

Cited in 59 Wash. 657.

§ 1237. Application for Order.

The officer before whom the deposition is to be taken in case of the refusal of any witness to attend or testify shall report to the superior court in and for the county in which the witness resides, or is found, by petition, that due notice has been given of the time and place of taking the depositions and that the witness has been summoned in the same manner that witnesses are now summoned to appear and testify in the superior court of this state; and the fees and mileage of the witness has been paid, or tendered to the witness, for his attendance and testimony, and that the witness has failed and refused to attend or testify before such officer, in the cause mentioned in the notice and the subpoena; and ask an order of the court compelling the witness to attend and testify before such officer. [L. '01, p. 23, § 2.]

Cited in 59 Wash. 657.

§ 1238. Citation—Contempt.

The court upon the petition of the officers, and the payment of the regular docket fee of four dollars ($4) shall enter an order directing the witness to appear before the officer making the report, at a time and place to be fixed by the court in such order, and then and there give his testimony in such cause. A copy of which order shall be served upon the witness in the same manner that summons and complaints are now served; and on failure or refusal of the witness to obey such order such witness shall be dealt with as for contempt. [L. '01, p. 24, § 3.]

§ 1239. Before Whom Taken Out of the State.

Depositions may be taken out of the state by a judge, justice, or chancellor or clerk of any court of record, a justice of the peace, notary public, mayor, or chief magistrate of any city or town, or any person authorized by a special commission from any court [of record] of this state. [Cf. L. '54, p. 193, § 322; L. '77, p. 90, § 414; Cd. '81, § 412; 2 H. C., § 1671.]

Cited in 111 Wash. 69.

§ 1240. Commission to Take—How Issued.

Any superior court in this state, or any judge thereof, is authorized to grant a commission to take depositions within or without this state. The commission must be issued to a person or persons therein named, by the clerk, under the seal of the court granting the same, and depositions under it may be taken upon written interrogatories or upon oral questions or partly upon oral and partly upon written interrogatories. Before any such commission shall be granted, the person intending to apply therefor shall serve upon the adverse party a notice of his intention to make such application, stating the time when and the place where such application will be made, which notice shall be served in the same manner and for the same time as provided in section 1233, unless the court or judge, for sufficient cause shown by affidavit, prescribe a shorter time. At the time the application is presented, the court or judge shall settle the interrogatories, if any have been served and the parties have not settled the same. The clerk, upon issuing the commission, shall attach the interrogatories thereto, if any have been agreed upon or settled by the court, and immediately forward the same to the commissioner. At least five days' notice must be given to the party or witness to be examined out of the state, in case such examination shall be had upon oral interrogatories, and the person before whom the deposition of the witness shall be taken shall have the same power to compel the attendance of such parties or witnesses as any person authorized to take such deposition within this state. [Cf. L. '54, p. 193, § 323;

L. '73, p. 114, §§ 412, 413; L. '77, p. 90, § 415; Cd. '81, §§ 413, 414; L. '91, p. 35, § 10; 2 H. C., § 1672; L. '97, p. 206, § 1.]

§ 1241. Notice to Nonresident Party.

When the party against whom the deposition is to be read is absent from or a nonresident of the state, and has no agent or attorney of record therein, he may be notified of the taking of the deposition [or] of the application for a commission, by publication. The publication must be made three consecutive weeks, in some newspaper printed in the county where the action or proceeding is pending, if there be any printed in such county, and if not, in some newspaper printed in this state, of general circulation in that county. The publication must contain all that is required in the written or printed notice, and may be proved in the manner prescribed in case of the publication of summons. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 415; L. '91, p. 35, § 11; 2 H. C., § 1673.]

§ 1242. How Taken and Certified.

The deposition shall be written by the officer taking the same, or by the witness, or by some disinterested person, in the presence and under the direction of such officer. When completed, it shall be carefully read to or by the witness, corrected if desired, and subscribed by him. If taken upon notice, it shall be certified by the officer substantially as follows:—

State of Washington, }
County of —, } ss.

I, A B, justice of the peace in and for said county (or judge, clerk, etc., as the case may be), do hereby certify that the above deposition was taken before me, and reduced to writing by myself (or witness, as the case may be), at —, in said county, on the — day of —, 18—, at — o'clock, in pursuance of notice hereto annexed; that the above-named witness, before examination, was sworn (or affirmed) to testify the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, and that the said deposition was carefully read to (or by) said witness, and then subscribed by him.

A B, Justice of the Peace.

Dated at — the — day of —, 18—.

If the deposition be taken upon a commission, the commission [er] shall testify [certify] it in substantially the same manner, and annex to it the commission and interrogatories. [Cf. L. '54, p. 191, § 315; Cd. '81, § 416; L. '91, p. 36, § 12; 2 H. C., § 1674.]

§ 1244. Use of on Trial—Objections.

Such deposition may be used by either party upon the trial, or other proceeding, against any party giving or receiving the notice, subject to all legal exceptions to the competency or credibility of the witness, or the manner of taking the deposition. But if the parties attend at the examination, no objection to the form of an interrogatory shall be made at the trial, unless the same was taken at the time of the examination. It shall be the duty of the person taking the deposition to propound to the witness every question proposed by either party, and to note all objections to the form of any interrogatory, and when any interrogatory is objected to on account of form, unless the form is amended and the objection waived, he shall write after the question, and before the answer, the words "objected to"; and when any witness declines to answer a question on the ground that it will [tend to] criminate himself, that fact shall also be noted after the question, if written down. The deposition may be taken in the form of a narrative, or by question and answer, or partly in either form, as either party present at the examination shall require. When taken by question and answer, the officer shall first write down the question and then the answer, as nearly as may be, in the language of the witness; but when the deposition is read to the witness previous to signing it, he shall be permitted to amend his answer to any question, or any part of his deposition; such amendment, however, unless both parties shall otherwise agree, shall not be made by way of interlining or erasing, but shall be added at the end of the deposition under the title, "amendment by the witness," and such amendment shall intelligibly refer to the part so amended. § 1245. Shall not be Used, When.

If it appear at the trial that the reason for taking the deposition no longer exist, the deposition shall not be read in evidence, unless the party offering it show that another of the causes specified by section 1231 then exists, or that the witness is dead, or cannot safely attend at the trial on account of sickness, age, or other bodily infirmity. [Cf. L. '54, p. 192, § 318; Cd. '81, § 419; L. '91, p. 36, § 14; 2 H. C., § 1677.]

§ 1246. Depositions Taken in One Cause may be Used in Another, When.

When the plaintiff in any action shall discontinue it, or when it shall be dismissed for any cause, and another action shall afterward be commenced for the same cause between the same parties, or their respective representatives, all depositions lawfully taken in the first action may be used in the other, in the same manner and subject to the same conditions and objections as if originally taken for such other action: Provided, that the deposition shall have been duly filed in the court where the first action was pending, and shall have remained in the custody of the court from the termination of the first action until the commencement of the other. [L. '54, p. 192, § 319; Cd. '81, § 420; H. C., § 1678.]

Admissibility of deposition given in action for personal injury in another action growing out of the same injury or accident, in which the deponent is not available. L. R. A. 1916A, 990.

§ 1247. Certified Testimony of Deceased or Absent Witness.

The testimony of any witness, deceased, or out of the state, or for any other sufficient cause unable to appear and testify, given in a former action or proceeding, or in a former trial of the same cause or proceeding when reported by a stenographer, or reduced to writing, and certified by the trial judge, upon three days' notice to the opposite party or parties, together with service of a copy of the testimony proposed to be used may be given in evidence in the trial of any civil action or proceeding, where it is between the same parties and relates to the same matter. [L. '05, p. 50, § 1.]

Cited in 54 Wash. 260; 72 Wash. 291; 87 Wash. 135; 90 Wash. 597, 598; 91 Wash. 142.

Under this section, both direct and cross examinations are admissible at a subsequent trial, if not subject to any objection which was properly made and improperly overruled on the first trial in favor of the same party making the same objection: Scribner v. Palmer, 90 Wash. 595, 156 Pac. 531.

This section does not render certified copy admissible, where the deposition of the witness was duly taken out of the state for use at the trial and had been published without objection; the intent of the statute being to require reasonable diligence to otherwise procure the testimony of the witness: Kennedy v. Canadian Pac. R. Co., 87 Wash. 134, 151 Pac. 252.

Under this section it is not necessary that notice be given of an intention to recertify testimony that was certified by the trial judge to be used on an appeal: Knutson v. Moe Brothers, 72 Wash. 290, 130 Pac. 347.

The stenographer's evidence as to the testimony of an absent witness, given at a former trial, is inadmissible where the witness did not refresh her memory from her shorthand notes, but read directly from a transcript of the notes made by herself or dictated to a phonograph: Duffy v. Blake, 91 Wash. 140, 157 Pac. 480.

Evidence given at a former trial in an action upon a note by a holder in due course is not admissible in a subsequent action by the maker against the payee for fraud in its procurement, under this section: Duffy v. Blake, 91 Wash. 140, 157 Pac. 480.

§ 1248. When may be Used on Appeal.

When any action shall have been appealed from one court to another, and is to be tried anew in the appellate court, all depositions lawfully taken to be used in the court from which the appeal was taken may be used in the appellate court in the same manner and subject to such exceptions for informality or irregularity, and none other, as were taken in writing to such depositions in the court below; and when an action is removed from one court to another by change of venue, all depositions previously taken in the action must be certified to the court to which the action is removed, and may be used in that court in the same manner and subject to the same exceptions as if originally taken for use therein. [Cf. L. '54, p. 192, § 320; Cd. '81, § 421; L. '91, p. 37, § 15; 2 H. C., § 1679.]

CHAPTER V.

PERPETUATION OF TESTIMONY.

§ 1249. Application for Order to Examine Witnesses.

When any person shall be desirous to perpetuate the testimony of any witness he shall make a statement in writing, setting forth briefly and substantially his title, claim or interest in or to the subject concerning which he desires to perpetuate the evidence, and the names of all the persons interested or supposed to be interested therein, and also the name of the witness proposed to be examined, which statement shall be under oath, and filed in the superior court. If the subject of the proposed deposition relate to real property within this state, the statement shall be filed in the county where the lands, or any part thereof, lie; in other cases, in the county where the parties interested, or some of them, reside. Upon such statement, an application may be made to such court, or judge thereof, to allow the examination of such witness. [Cf. L. '54, p. 193, § 327; L. '77, p. 93, § 425; Cd. '81, § 423; L. '91, p. 37, § 17; 2 H. C., § 1688.]

The court or judge shall appoint a time and place for hearing such application, and shall order notice thereof and of the statement to be served on all persons mentioned therein as adversely interested in the matter; the notice shall be served personally on all those living in the state at least twenty days before the time of hearing the application; upon those who are not residents of the state, it shall be served by publication or otherwise, in the same manner as a notice is served upon a nonresident. [L. '54, p. 194, § 328; L. '77, p. 93, § 426; Cd. '81, § 424; 2 H. C., § 1689.]

§ 1251. Order for Examination—Commission.

If upon hearing of the parties, or of the applicant alone, should no adverse party appear, the court or judge shall be satisfied that there is sufficient cause for taking the deposition, an order shall be made allowing the examination of the witness; and such court or judge may direct a commission to issue therefor in like manner as a commission to take the testimony of witnesses in actions or proceedings pending in such court. [Cf. L. '54, p. 194, § 329; Cd. '81, § 425; L. '91, p. 37, § 18; 2 H. C., § 1690.]

§ 1252. How Taken and Returned.

The deposition of such witness, whether residing in this state or not, shall be taken upon written interrogatories filed by the applicant and cross-interrogatories filed by any party adversely interested, if he shall think fit, and it shall be taken and returned substantially in the same manner as if taken upon commission to be used in any cause pending in the same court. [L. '54, p. 194, § 330; Cd. '81, § 426; 2 H. C., § 1691.]

§ 1253. Return and Filing—How Used—Objections.

The deposition, when returned, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the court by whom the commission was issued; and if a trial be had between the person at whose request the deposition was taken and the person named in the statement, or any of them, or their successors in interest, upon proof of the death or insanity of the witness, or his inability to attend the trial by reason of age, sickness or settled infirmity, the deposition, or a certified copy thereof, may be used by either party, subject to all legal objections. But if the parties attend at the examination, no objections to the form of the interrogatory shall be made at the trial, unless the same were taken at the time of the examination. [L. '54, p. 194, § 331; Cd. '81, § 427; 2 H. C., § 1692.]

CHAPTER VI.

DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE.

§ 1254. Court Records, etc., as Evidence.

The records and proceedings of any court of the United States, or any state or territory, shall be admissible in evidence in all cases in this state when duly authenticated by the attestation of the clerk, prothonotary, or other officer having charge of the records of such court, with the seal of such court annexed. [L. '54, p. 195, § 334; Cd. '81, § 430; 2 H. C., § 1680.]

In an action on a foreign judgment, the judgment-roll is admissible in evidence, although it appears therefrom that subsequent to the entry of judgment the return was amended so as to show that defendant had been duly served, but without personal notice to the defendant of the proposed amendment, where the judgment was by default, and the statute of the state in which judgment was had did not require personal notice in such cases: Cunningham v. Spokane Hydraulic Min. Co., 20 Wash. 450, 55 Pac. 756, 72 Am. St. Rep. 113.

An answer stricken out on motion of a defendant is not competent as an admission to prove any of the facts stated therein, as the same is functus officio, and its admissions are not binding on the defendant: Wiley v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 60 Wash. 597, 111 Pac. 801.

Authenticated Copies of Judicial Records and Proceedings: See Remington's Digest, Evid., § 115.

A certified record of probate proceedings in another county is admissible in an action by the executors of the estate in an action to recover possession of property: Gilmore v. Baker Co., 12 Wash. 468, 41 Pac. 124.

In an action for a malicious prosecution of a charge before a justice of the peace, where a change of venue was had to the next nearest justice, the transcript of the docket, showing plaintiff's discharge, is properly admitted in evidence where sufficient appears to show that such justice had acquired jurisdiction of the case: Kerstetter v. Thomas, 36 Wash. 620, 79 Pac. 290.

Upon an issue as to the reasonableness of attorney's fees rendered in an estate, a copy of the administrator's final account is competent to prove the amount of the estate: Griggs v. Wayne, 100 Wash. 459, 171 Pac. 230.

Upon a prosecution for being an habitual criminal, proof of an original conviction of robbery in another state by a certified copy of the record thereof is expressly authorized by this section: State v. Rowan, 84 Wash. 158, 146 Pac. 374.

§ 1255. Faith Given to Judgments of Other States.

Judgment for debt rendered in any other state or any territory against any person or persons residents of this state at the time of the rendition of such judgment shall not be of any higher character as evidence of indebtedness than the original claim or demand upon which such judgment is rendered, unless such judgment shall be rendered upon personal service of summons, notice, or other due process against the defendant therein. This section merely intended to make a distinction between judgments in personam and in rem; and does not militate against the giving of full faith and credit to a judgment of a sister state rendered upon a warrant of attorney to confess judgment, as the same is a judgment in personam: Miller v. Miller, 90 Wash. 333, 156 Pac. 8.

§ 1260½. Ordinances as Evidence.

All ordinances passed by any city council or board of trustees or other municipal corporation within the state of Washington shall be recorded in a book to be kept for that purpose by the city clerk, or clerk of such board of trustees or municipal corporation of such city, and when so recorded the record thereof so made shall be received in any court of this state as prima facie evidence of the due passage of such ordinances as recorded, and this chapter shall apply as well to all ordinances heretofore as hereafter so passed and recorded. And when the ordinances of any city or town are printed by authority of such municipal corporation, the printed copies thereof shall be received as prima facie evidence that such ordinances as printed and published were duly passed. [Cd. '81, § 2062; 1 H. C., § 766.]

Presumptions and Evidence: See Remington's Digest, Mun. Corp., § 53; Seattle v. Doran, 5 Wash. 482, 32 Pac. 105, 1002; Seattle v. Pearson, 15 Wash. 575, 46 Pac. 1053; New Whatcom v. § 1261. Certified Copy of Tax Deeds.

Whenever it shall be necessary in any action in any court of law or equity, wherein the title to any real estate is in controversy, to prove the conveyance to any county of such real estate in pursuance of a foreclosure of a tax certificate and sale thereunder, a copy of the tax deed issued to the county containing a description of such real estate, exclusive of the description of all other real estate therein described, certified by the county auditor of the county wherein the real estate is situated, to be such, shall be admitted in evidence by the court, and shall be proof of the conveyance of the real estate in controversy to such county, to the same extent as would a certified copy of the entire record of such tax deed. [L. '05, p. 266, § 1.]

§ 1262. Order for Inspection and to Take Copy of Writings, etc.

Any court, or judge thereof, in which an action is pending may, upon notice, order either party to give to the other, within a specified time, an inspection and copy, or permission to take a copy of any book, document, or paper in his possession, or under his control, containing evidence relating to the merits of the action or defense therein. If compliance with the order be refused, the court may exclude the book, document, or paper from being given in evidence, or if wanted as evidence by the party applying, may direct the jury to presume it to be such as he alleges it to be, and the court may also punish the party refusing as for contempt. This section shall not be construed to prevent a party from compelling another to produce books, papers, or documents where he is examined as a witness. [L. '54, p. 195, § 332; Cd. '81, § 428; 2 H. C., § 1686.]

Certiorari does not lie to review an order for the inspection of papers, made under this section, since there is an adequate remedy by appeal from the final judgment: State ex rel. Seattle General Contract Co. v. Superior Court, 56 Wash. 649, 106 Pac. 150, 28 L. R. A. (N. S.) 516.

An order for the inspection of papers under this section is not a final order from which an appeal can be taken directly: State ex rel. Seattle General Contract Co. v. Superior Court, 56 Wash. 649, 106 Pac. 150, 28 L. R. A. (N. S.) 516.

This section does not warrant striking the answer and entering a default judgment for failure to produce and attach to the answer certain correspondence called for by the plaintiff: Lawson v. Black Diamond Coal Min. Co., 44 Wash. 26, 86 Pac. 1120.

If either party, at any time before trial, allow the other an inspection of any writing material to the action, whether mentioned in the pleadings or not, and deliver to him a copy thereof, with notice that he intends to read the same in evidence on the trial of the cause, it may be so read without proof of its genuineness or execution, unless denied by affidavit before commencement of the trial. If such denial be made of any writing not mentioned in the pleadings, the court may give time to either party to procure evidence, when necessary for the furtherance of justice. [L. It is not error to admit in evidence papers and documents which respondent had the right, upon demand, to have produced by the appellant, regardless of whether or not they were wrongfully taken or obtained: Johnson v. Pearson, 109 Wash. 147, 186 Pac. 667.

CHAPTER VII.

OATHS AND AFFIRMATIONS.

§ 1264. Who Authorized to Take and Administer Oaths.

Every court, judge, clerk of a court, justice of the peace, or notary public is authorized to take testimony in any action, suit, or proceeding, and such other persons in particular cases as authorized by law. Every such court or officer is authorized to administer oaths and affirmations generally, and every such other persons in such particular case as authorized. [L. '69, p. 378, § 1; 2 H. C., § 1693.]

§ 1265. Oath, How Administered.

An oath may be administered as follows: The person who swears holds up his hand, while the person administering the oath thus addresses him: "You do solemnly swear that the evidence you shall give in the issue (or matter) now pending between — and — shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you God." If the oath be administered to any other than a witness giving testimony, the form may be changed to: "You do solemnly swear you will true answers make to such questions as you may be asked," etc. [L. '69, p. 378, § 2; 2 H. C., § 1694.]

Failure to comply with exact form of oath prescribed by law as affecting binding character of oath. 5 Ann. Cas. 723.

§ 1266. Form Varied to Suit Witnesses' Opinion.

Whenever the court or officer before which a person is offered as a witness is satisfied that he has a peculiar mode of swearing connected with or in addition to the usual form of administration, which in witness' opinion, is more solemn or obligatory, the court or officer may, in its discretion, adopt that mode. [L. '69, p. 379, § 3; 2 H. C., § 1695.]

§ 1267. Form Adapted to Suit Religious Belief.

When a person is sworn who believes in any other than the Christian religion, he may be sworn according to the [peculiar] ceremonies of his religion, if there be any such. [L. '69, p. 379, § 4; 2 H. C., § 1696.]

Where an oath has been administered to a Chinese witness according to the custom and religion of his country, the subsequent administration to him of an oath in the form prescribed by statute is not prejudicial error: State v. Gin Pon, 16 Wash. 425, 47 Pac. 961.

§ 1268. Affirmation, Form of.

Any person who has conscientious scruples against taking an oath may make his solemn affirmation, by assenting, when addressed, in the following manner: "You do solemnly affirm that," etc., as in section 1265. [L. '69, p. 379, § 5; 2 H. C., § 1697.]

§ 1269. Affirmation Equivalent to Oath—Perjury.

Whenever an oath is required, an affirmation as prescribed in the last section is to be deemed equivalent thereto, and a false affirmation is to be deemed perjury equally with a false oath. [L. '69, p. 379, § 6; 2 H. C., § 1698.]

CHAPTER VIII.

THE RESTORATION OF LOST RECORDS.

§ 1270. Substitution of Copy.

Whenever a pleading, process, return, verdict, bill of exceptions, order, entry, stipulation, or other act, file, or proceeding in any action or proceeding pending in any court of this state shall have been lost or destroyed by fire or otherwise, or is withheld by any person, such court may, upon the application of any party to such action or proceeding, order a copy or substantial copy thereof to be substituted. [L. '90, p. 337, § 1; 2 H. C., § 1699.]

Cited in 87 Wash. 592.

Where an information is lost, the substitution of a new information at the trial, which is given a new number, is not an institution of a new prosecution: State v. McFadden, 42 Wash. 1, 84 Pac. 401.

If instructions, certified by the clerk as part of the record and purporting to be

"instructions of the court," were not in fact the instructions by the court, which were lost, respondent's remedy is not by a motion to strike, but by showing the facts by supplemental record, and bringing up a copy of the lost record, which may be substituted below pursuant to this section: State v. Schuman, 87 Wash. 590, 152 Pac. 3.

§ 1271. Court Records Lost or Destroyed—How Replaced.

Whenever the record required by law of the proceedings, judgment, or decree in any action or other proceeding of any court in this state in which a final judgment has been rendered, or any part thereof, is lost or destroyed by fire or otherwise, such court may, upon the application of any party interested therein, grant an order authorizing such record or parts thereof to be supplied or replaced,—

1. By a certified copy of such original record or part thereof, when the same can be obtained;

2. By a duly certified copy of the record in the supreme court of such original record of any action or proceeding that may have been removed to the supreme court, and remain recorded or filed in said supreme court;

3. By the original pleadings, entries, papers, and files in such action or proceeding, when the same can be obtained;

4. By an agreement in writing, signed by all the parties to such action or proceeding, their representatives or attorneys, that a substituted copy of such original record is substantially correct. [L. '90, p. 338, § 2; 2 H. C., § 1700.]

Cited in 88 Wash. 550, 551.

Under this section a copy of a recorded deed, certified by the recording officer over the seal of his office, is admissible in evidence without proof of the genuineness of the signatures to the original deed: Chrast v. O'Connor, 41 Wash. 360, 83 Pac. 238.

A certified copy of a recorded instrument is admissible in evidence as an admission: Pearce v. Greek Boys' Min. Co., 48 Wash. 38, 92 Pac. 773. lost records in a justice's court: State ex rel. Brockway v. Whitehead, 88 Wash. 549, 153 Pac. 349.

This section authorizes a restoration of § 1272. Action to Restore—Proceedings.

Whenever the record required by law, or any part thereof, or the proceeding or judgment or decree in any action or other proceeding of any court in this state in which the final judgment has been rendered is lost or destroyed by fire or otherwise, and such loss cannot be supplied or replaced as provided in the last preceding section, any person or party interested therein may make a written application to the court to which said record belongs, setting forth the substance of the record so lost or destroyed, which application shall be verified in the manner provided for the verification of pleadings in a civil action, and thereupon summons shall issue, and actual service, or service by publication, shall be made upon all persons interested in or affected by said original judgment or final entry, in the manner provided by law for the commencement of civil actions, provided the parties may waive the issuing or service of summons, and enter their appearance to such application; and upon the hearing of such application, without further pleadings, if the court finds that such record has been lost or destroyed, and that it is enabled, by the evidence produced, to find the substance, or effect thereof, material to the preservation of the rights of the parties thereto, it shall make an order allowing a record, which record shall recite the substance and effect of said lost or destroyed record, or part thereof, and the same shall thereupon be recorded in said court, and shall have the same effect as the original record would have if the same had not been lost or destroyed, so far as it concerns the rights of the parties so making the application, or persons or parties so served with summons, or entering their appearance, or persons claiming under them by a title acquired subsequently to the filing of the application. [L. '90, p. 338, § 3; 2 H. C., § 1701.]

§ 1273. Hearing on Application—Evidence.

Upon the hearing of the application provided in the last preceding section, the court may admit in evidence oral testimony, and any complete or partial abstract of such record, docket entries, or indices, and any other written evidence of the contents or effect of such records and published reports concerning such actions, or proceedings, when the court is of opinion that such abstracts, writings, and publications were fairly and honestly made before the loss of such records occurred. [L. '90, p. 339. § 4; 2 H. C., § 1702.]

Parol proof of contents of lost or destroyed judicial records. Ann. Cas. 1916D, 248.

Degree of proof requisite to establish fact and contents of lost instrument which is to constitute muniment of title. L. B. A. 1918B, 879.

§ 1274. Lost Records—Time Extended for Appeal, When.

Whenever a lost or destroyed judgment or order is one to which either party has a right to a proceeding in error or of appeal, the time intervening between the filing of the application mentioned in section 1272 and the final order of the court thereon shall be excluded in computing the time within which such proceeding or appeal may be taken as provided by law. [L. '90, p. 339, § 5; 2 H. C., § 1703.]

§ 1275. Costs.

The costs to be taxed upon an application to restore a lost or destroyed record shall be the same as are provided for like service in civil actions, and may be adjudged against either or any party to such proceeding or application, or may, in the discretion of the court, be apportioned between such parties. [L. '90, p. 339, § 6; 2 H. C., § 1704.]

§ 1276. Restoration of Lost or Destroyed Probate Records.

In case of the loss or destruction by fire or otherwise of the records, or any part thereof, of any probate court, or superior court having probate jurisdiction, the superior court may proceed, upon its own motion, or upon application in writing of any party in interest, to restore the records, papers, and proceedings of either of said courts relating to the estates of deceased persons, including recorded wills, wills probated or filed for probate in such courts, all marriage records, and all other records and proceedings, and for the purpose of restoring said records, wills, papers, or proceedings, or any part thereof, may cause citations or other process to be issued to any and all parties to be designated by him, and may compel the attendance in court of any and all witnesses whose testimony may be necessary to the establishment of any such record or part thereof and the production of any and all written or documentary evidence which may be by him deemed necessary in determining the true import and effect of the original record, will, paper, or other document belonging to the files of said court; and may make such orders and decrees establishing such original record, will, paper, document, or proceeding, or the substance thereof, as to him shall seem just and proper. [L. '90, p. 340, § 7; 2 H. C., § 1705.]

§ 1277. Costs, by Whom Paid.

The costs incurred in the superior courts in proceedings under this chapter shall be paid by the party or parties interested in such proceedings, or in whose behalf such proceedings are instituted. [L. '90, p. 340, § 8; 2 H. C., § 1706.]

Sections 1278 to 1340, both inclusive, of Rem. & Bal. Code, being part of the old Probate Code, are repealed by L. '17, p. 707, § 223.

CHAPTER I.

DESCENT.

§ 1341. Descent of Real Property—Rule of.

When any person shall die seised of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, or any right thereto, or entitled to any interest therein, in fee simple, or for the life of another, not having devised the same, they shall descend subject to the debts as follows:—

1. If the decedent leaves a surviving husband or wife, and only one child, or the lawful issue of one child, in equal shares to the surviving husband or wife and child, or issue of such child; if the decedent leaves a surviving husband or wife, and more than one child living, or one child living and the lawful issue of one or more deceased children, one-third to the surviving husband or wife, and the remainder in equal shares to his children and to the lawful issue of any deceased child by right of representation. If there be no child of the decedent living at his death, the remainder goes to all of his lineal descendants; and if all the descendants are in the same degree of kindred to the decedent, they share equally; otherwise they take according to the right of representation;

2. If the decedent leaves no issue, the estate goes in equal shares to the surviving husband or wife, and to the decedent's father and mother, if both survive. If there be no father nor mother, then one-half goes in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of the decedent, and to the children of any deceased brothers or sisters, by right of representation. If decedent leaves no issue, nor husband nor wife, the estate must go to his father and mother;

3. If there be no issue, nor husband nor wife, nor father and mother, nor either, then in equal shares to the brothers and sisters of the decedent, and to the children of any deceased brother or sister, by right of representation;

4. If the decedent leaves a surviving husband or wife and no issue, and no father nor mother, nor brother nor sister, the whole estate goes to the surviving husband or wife;

5. If the decedent leaves no issue, nor husband nor wife, and no father nor mother, nor brother nor sister, the estate must go to the next of kin, in equal degree, excepting that when there are two or more collateral kindred in equal degree, but claiming through different ancestors, those who claim through the nearest ancestors must be preferred to those claiming through an ancestor more remote, however;

6. If the decedent leaves several children, or one child and the issue of one or more other children, and any such surviving child dies under age, and not having been married, all the estate that comes to the deceased child by inheritance from such decedent descends in equal shares to the other children of the same parent, and to the issue of any such other children who are dead, by right of representation;

7. If, at the death of such child, who dies under age, not having been married, all the other children of his parents are also dead, and any of them have left issue, the estate that came to such child by inheritance from his parent descends to the issue of all other children of the same parent and if all the issue are in the same degree of kindred to the child, they share the estate equally; otherwise they take according to the right of representation;

8. If the decedent leaves no husband, wife, or kindred, the estate escheats to the state, for the support of common schools in the county in which the decedent resided during lifetime, or where the estate may be situated. [L. '75, p. 53, § 1; Cd. '81, § 3302; 1 H. C., § 1480.]

Effect of adoption of child, see infra, § 1699.

For former laws on the subject of this chapter see: L. '54, pp. 305-308; L. '57, p. 24; L. '59, p. 7; L. '60, pp. 221-223; L. '63, pp. 261-264, Abb. R. P. S., pp. 373, 377.

It seems that this section fails to expressly provide for the descent of real estate in case the deceased left children and no husband or wife. The following from the Codes of 1854 and 1863 may be controlling when the deceased left children but no surviving spouse: "1st. In equal shares to his children, and to the issue of any deceased child, by right of representation, and if there be no child of the intestate living at the time of his death, his estate shall descend to all his other lineal descendants; and if all the same descendants are in the same degree of kindred to the intestate, they shall have the estate equally, otherwise they shall take according to representation." See Laws 1854, p. 306, § 231, subdiv. 1; Laws 1863, p. 261, § 340, subdiv. 1.

This section applies only to the separate property of a husband or wife, inasmuch as the next section governs the descent of community property: Morgan v. Bell, 3 Wash. 554, 28 Pac. 925, 16 L. R. A. 614.

The passage of this act regulating the descent of property did not operate to prevent the act passed on the same day relating to adoption from becoming a law, but the two must be construed together as one act: Wilbur's Estate, In re, 14 Wash. 242, 44 Pac. 262.

§ 1342. Descent of Community Property.

Upon the death of either husband or wife, one-half of the community property shall go to the survivor, subject to the community debts, and the other half shall be subject to the testamentary disposition of the deceased husband or wife, subject also to the community debts. In case no testamentary disposition shall have been made by the deceased husband or wife of his or her half of the community property, it shall descend equally to the legitimate issue of his, her, or their bodies. If there be no issue of said deceased living, or none of their representatives living, then the said community property shall all pass to the survivors to the exclusion of collateral heirs, subject to the community debts, the family allowance, and the charges and expenses of administration. § 1343. Tenancy in Dower and by Curtesy Abolished.

The provisions of section 1341 as to the inheritance of the husband and wife from each other, apply only to the separate property of the decedents, and take the place of tenancy in dower and tenancy by curtesy, which are hereby abolished. [L. '75, p. 55, § 3; Cd. '81, § 3304; 1 H. C., § 1482.]

This section is not void for the reason that it is not embraced within the objects of the law within which it is found and enacted: Richards v. Bellingham Bay L. Co., 54 Fed. 209.

The inchoate right of dower is not such a vested right or interest as cannot be taken away by legislative action: Richards v. Bellingham Bay L. Co., supra; and dower as it existed in Washington territory prior to the Laws of 1879, page 79, section 18, which abolished dower, was not a right "established, accrued, or accruing," as to which, by section 31, such act was not to be construed as operating retrospectively: Richards v. Bellingham Bay L. Co., supra.

At a time when the right of dower existed in Washington territory, a husband conveyed land without joining his wife in the deed, and, at the time of his death, this section and section 6897, infra, were in force, abolishing dower. Held, that the widow was not entitled to dower in the land so conveyed (47 Fed. 854, affirmed): Richards v. Bellingham Bay L. Co., supra.

This section limits the operation of section 1341, supra, in husbands and wives inheriting from each other, to separate property: Fort's Estate, In re, 14 Wash. 10, 44 Pac. 104.

§ 1344. Survivorship Between Joint Tenants Abolished.

If partition be not made between joint tenants, the parts of those who die first shall not accrue to the survivors, but descend, or pass by devise, and shall be subject to debts and other legal charges, or transmissible to executors or administrators, and be considered, to every intent and purpose, in the same view as if such deceased joint tenant had been tenants in common: Provided, that community property shall not be affected by this section. § 1352. Value of Estate Advanced.

If the value of the estate so advanced shall be expressed in the conveyance, or in the charge thereof made by the intestate, or in the acknowledgment by the party receiving it, it shall be considered of that value in the division and distribution of the estate; otherwise it shall be estimated at its value when given. [L. '75, p. 57, § 11; Cd. '81, § 3312; 1 H. C., § 1491.]

§ 1353. Death of Descendant to Whom Advancement Made.

If any child or lineal descendant so advanced, shall die before the intestate, leaving issue, the advancement shall be taken into consideration in the division and distribution of estate, and the amount thereof shall be allowed accordingly by the representatives of the heir so advanced, as so much received towards their share of the estate in like manner as if the advancement had been made directly to them. § 1356-1. Inheritance from Step-parent.

If a person die leaving a surviving spouse and issue by a former spouse and leaving a will whereby all or substantially all the deceased's property passes to the surviving spouse or having before death conveyed all or substantially all his or her property to the surviving spouse, and afterwards the latter die without heirs and without disposing of his or her property by will so that except for this act the same would all escheat, the issue of the spouse first deceased shall take and inherit from the spouse last deceased the property so acquired by will or conveyance or the equivalent thereof in money or other property. [L. '19, p. 680, § 1.]

Section 1356-1 shall be retroactive as to estates unadministered or in course of administration and undistributed. [L. '19, p. 681, § 2.]

§ 1356-3. Escheats in Default of Legal Heirs.

Except as provided in section 1356-1, if a person die intestate leaving no husband or wife or descendant or parent or ancestor, and no descendant of a parent or of a parent's parent, his estate shall escheat to the state for the support of the common schools. [L. 19, p. 681, § 3.]

§ 1357. Administration of Escheated Estates.

Such estates shall be administered and settled in the same manner as other estates. If at the expiration of eighteen months after the issuance of letters of administration no heirs shall have appeared and established their claim thereto, the court having jurisdiction of such estate shall render a decree escheating all the property and effects of such decedent to the state of Washington. [L. '07, p. 253, § 2.]

Cited in 87 Wash. 71.

§ 1358. Personal Property to be Sold.

After any estate shall have been escheated as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the administrator thereof, under the supervision and direction of the court, to sell all the personal property, such sales to be made in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as the court may deem to the best advantage to the estate. The proceeds of such personal property shall be first exhausted before any real property shall be subjected to the debts of decedent, expenses of administration, or the satisfaction of liens thereon. [L. '07, p. 254, § 3.]

§ 1359. Tax Commission—Powers in Relation to Escheats.

The state board of tax commissioners shall have supervision of all matters relating to escheats. Whenever the said board shall have information that any person possessed of property within this state has died intestate and without known heirs, said board, or any member thereof, may apply to the court for the appointment of an administrator, or take such other steps as it may deem proper. No sale of any property of such estate, except perishable goods or settlement of any final account, shall be made or be valid until after fifteen days' notice thereof in writing shall have been first served upon the said board of tax commissioners. Said board, or any member thereof, may demand of any administrator, other officer or person having charge of or being in possession of such estate or property, or any portion thereof, and it shall be the duty of such officer or person to furnish said board, or any member thereof, any information or copies of any papers, vouchers, claims or reports in his possession, relating thereto, and failure or refusal so to do shall be cause for his removal by the court. [L. '07, p. 254, § 4.]

§ 1360. Account of Administrator—Lists of Property.

Upon the settlement of any escheated estate, and before the discharge of the administrator, officer or person in charge thereof, all moneys in his hands shall be paid to the state treasurer who shall issue his receipt therefor in duplicate, one of which shall be filed with the state board of tax commissioners, and he shall prepare a duplicate list accurately describing all real property so escheated, one of which shall be filed with the said state board of tax commissioners and one in the office of the commissioner of public lands. [L. '07, p. 254, § 5.]

§ 1361. Record of Escheats.

The state board of tax commissioners shall keep a record in which shall be entered memoranda of all matters and proceedings in relation to escheats, and in which shall be entered a description of all real property escheated, and they shall also keep an account of all moneys collected and paid into the state treasury under the provisions of this act. [L. '07, p. 255, § 6.]

§ 1362. Escheats to Permanent School Fund.

All escheats shall inure to and become a part of the permanent common school fund of the state, and all escheated real property shall be managed, sold and handled in the manner provided by law for the management, disposition and sale of the state common school funds. [L. '07, p. 255, § 7.]

§ 1363. Attorney General—Duty as to Escheats.

It shall be the duty of the attorney general and of the several county attorneys of the state to advise and assist the said state board of tax commissioners in any and all of the matters and proceedings that may be had under the provisions of this act. [L. '07, p. 255, § 8.]

CHAPTER II.

DISTRIBUTION.

§ 1364. Distribution of Separate Personal Estate.

When any person shall die possessed of any separate personal estate, or of any right or interest therein not lawfully disposed of by his last will, the same shall be applied and distributed as follows:—

1. The widow, if any, shall be allowed all articles of her apparel or ornament, according to the degree and estate of her husband, and such provisions and other necessities, for the use of herself and family under her care, as shall be allowed and ordered in pursuance of the provisions of any law; and this allowance shall be made as well when the widow receives the provision made for her in the will of her husband as when he dies intestate;

2. The personal estate remaining after such allowance shall be applied to the payment of the debts of the deceased, with the charges for the funeral and the settling of the estate;

3. The residue, if any, of the personal estate shall be distributed among the same persons as would be entitled to the real estate by section 1341, and in the same proportion as provided, excepting as herein further provided;

4. If the intestate leave a husband and issue, the husband shall be entitled to one-half the residue;

5. If there be no issue, the husband shall be entitled to the whole of the residue;

6. If the intestate leave a widow and issue, the widow shall be entitled to one-half of said residue;

7. If there be no issue, the widow shall be entitled to the whole of the residue;

8. If there be no husband, widow, or kindred of the intestate, the said personal estate shall escheat to the state, for the use of common schools in the particular county in which the intestate shall have resided at time of death. [L. '75, p. 57, § 15; Cd. '81, § 3316; 1 H. C., § 1495.]

used in the law of descent applies to personalty as well as land, especially in view of this section: Fort's Estate, In re, 14 Wash. 10, 44 Pac. 104.

§ 1365. Effect of Advancement Where Widow and Issue Survive.

If the intestate leave a widow and issue, and any relation have received an advancement from the intestate in his lifetime, the value of such advancement shall not be taken into consideration in computing the one-half part to be assigned to the widow, but she shall be entitled to the one-half part only of the said residue, after deducting the value of the advancement. § 1366. Real Property Vests in Whom—Rights of Heirs in.

When a person dies seised of lands, tenements or hereditaments, or any right thereto or entitled to any interest therein in fee or for the life of another, his title shall vest immediately in his heirs or devisees, subject to his debts, family allowance, expenses of administration and any other charges for which such real estate is liable under existing laws. No administration of the estate of such decedent and no decree of distribution or other finding or order of any court shall be necessary in any case to vest such title in the heirs or devisees, but the same shall vest in the heirs or devisees instantly upon the death of such decedent: Provided that no person shall be deemed a devisee until the will has been probated. The title and right to possession of such lands, tenements, or hereditaments so vested in such heirs or devisees, together with the rents, issues and profits thereof, shall be good and valid against all persons claiming adversely to the claims of any such heirs, or devisees, excepting only the executor or administrator when appointed, and persons lawfully claiming under such executor or administrator; and any one or more of such heirs or devisees, or their grantees, jointly or severally, may sue for and recover their respective shares or interests in any such lands, tenements, or hereditaments and the rents, issues and profits thereof, whether letters testamentary or of administration be granted or not, from any person except the executor or administrator and those lawfully claiming under such executor or administrator. charged with said debts: Smith's Estate, In re, 25 Wash. 539, 66 Pac. 93.

Under this section, the claim for advances made by a second wife to liquidate debts owing at the time of the first wife's death cannot be asserted against the deceased wife's community interest, twenty years after the death of the first wife, no letters having been issued upon her estate: Mason's Estate, In re, 95 Wash. 564, 164 Pac. 205.

§ 1369. "Heirs," Meaning of.

The word "heirs" shall be construed as meaning the person or persons to whom land, tenements and hereditaments descend as defined in sections from 1341 to 1355, both inclusive. [L. '95, p. 198, § 4.]

§ 1370. Community Interests.

This act shall apply to community real property and also to separate estate; and upon the death of either husband or wife, title of all community real property shall vest immediately in the person or persons to whom the same shall go, pass, descend or be devised, as provided in section 1342, subject to all the charges mentioned in section 1366 of this act. [L. '95, p. 199, § 5.]

I.

JURISDICTION AND POWERS OF THE COURT.

§ 1371. Jurisdiction.

The superior courts in the exercise of their jurisdiction of matters of probate shall have power to probate or refuse to probate wills, appoint administrators, executors and guardians of insane and incompetent persons and minors, and administer and settle all such estates, award processes and cause to come before them all persons whom they may deem it necessary to examine, and order and cause to be issued all such writs as may be proper or necessary, and do all things proper or incident to the exercise of such jurisdiction. [L. '17, p. 642, § 1. Cf. L. '54, p. 309, § 3; L. '73, p. 253, § 3; Cd. '81, § 1299; L. '91, p. 380, § 1; 2 H. C., § 845.]

See Const., Art. IV, § 6.

Jurisdiction of Courts—In General: See Remington's Digest, Ex. & Ad., § 4; Scott v. McNeal, 5 Wash. 309, 31 Pac. 873, 34 Am. St. Rep. 863; Wilbur's Estate v. Bingham, 8 Wash. 35, 35 Pac. 407, 40 Am. St. Rep. 886; Dooley v. Russell, 10 Wash. 195, 38 Pac. 1000; Furth v. United States Mtg. & T. Co., 13 Wash. 73, 42 Pac. 523; State ex rel. Warren v. Ayer, 17 Wash. 127, 49 Pac. 226; Wagner v. Alderson, 91 Wash. 157, 157 Pac. 476.

The jurisdiction of the superior court in matters of probate being confined to matters incidental to the settlement of the estates of decedents and of estates under control of guardians, its power cannot be invoked to determine controversies between third parties which in no way affect the interests of the estate itself: Winston v. Crowe, 28 Wash. 65, 68 Pac. 174.

§ 1372. Books of Record to be Kept by Clerk.

There shall be kept in the office of the clerk of the superior court the following books of record for probate matters:

(1) A journal, in which shall be entered all orders, decrees and judgments made by the court, or the judge thereof, and the minutes of the court, in probate proceedings.

(2) A record of wills, in which shall be recorded all wills admitted to probate.

(3) A record of letters testamentary and of administration, in which all letters testamentary and of administration shall be recorded.

(4) A record of bonds, in which all bonds and obligations required by law to be approved by the court or judge in matters of probate shall be recorded.

(5) A record of claims, in which at least one page shall be given to each estate or case, wherein shall be entered, under the title of each estate or case, in separate columns properly ruled: 1, the names of claimants against the estate; 2, the date of filing proof of claim; 3, the amount claimed; 4, the amount allowed; 5, the date of allowance; 6, the nature of the claim; 7, the amount paid; 8, the number of the voucher for each payment; 9, the date of filing the voucher; 10, the date of disallowance and of notice of disallowance.

(6) A memorandum of the files, in which at least one page shall be given to each estate or case, wherein shall be noted each paper filed in the case, except proof of claims and vouchers noted in record of claims, and the date of filing each paper.

(7) A record of marriages, in which certificates of all marriages solemnized in the county shall be recorded. [L. '17, p. 642, § 2.]

II.

NOTICES AND CITATIONS.

§ 1373. Notices—Manner of Giving.

Whenever a personal notice is required to be given to any party to a proceeding in matters of probate, and other proceedings under this act, and no other mode of giving notice is prescribed, it may be given in the manner required for the service of summons in civil actions or by citation issued from the court, signed by the clerk and under the seal of the court, directed to the sheriff of the proper county, requiring him to cite such person to appear before the court or judge, as the case may be, at a time and place to be named in such citation. In the body of the citation shall be briefly stated the nature or character of the proceedings. [L. '17, p. 643, § 3.]

A citation directed to the executor personally and not as executor, is sufficient to give jurisdiction: Murphy's Estate, In re, 98 Wash. 548, 168 Pac. 175.

Persons entitled to notice of probate of will. Ann. Cas. 1914B, 427.

§ 1374. Service of Notice.

The officer to whom the citation is directed shall serve it by delivering a copy to the person or persons named therein, and shall return the original to the court according to its direction, indorsing thereon the time and manner of service. [L. '17, p. 644, § 4.]

§ 1375. Time of Service.

In all cases in which citations are issued from the superior court in probate and other proceedings under this act, they shall be served at least ten days before the time at which they are made returnable, except when issued from the court in cases where the law requires the judge to issue them upon his own motion, and he does so issue them; and in such cases they shall be served in sufficient time to allow the person served to be in attendance on the court. [L. '17, p. 644, § 5.]

III.

VENUE.

§ 1376. Venue.

Wills shall be proved and letters testamentary or of administration shall be granted:

(1) In the county of which deceased was a resident or had his place of abode at the time of his death.

(2) In the county in which he may have died, or in which any part of his estate may be, he not being a resident of the state.

(3) In the county in which any part of his estate may be, he having died out of the state, and not having been a resident thereof at the time of his death. [L. '17, p. 644, § 6.]

§ 1377. Conflicting Jurisdictions.

When the estate of the deceased is in more than one county, he not having been a resident of the state at the time of his death, the superior court of that county in which the application is first made for letters testamentary or of administration shall have exclusive jurisdiction of the settlement of the estate. [L. '17, p. 644, § 7.]

§ 1378. Retention of Jurisdiction.

All orders, settlements, trials and other proceedings, under this act shall be had or made in the county in which letters testamentary or of administration were granted. [L. '17, p. 644, § 8.]

IV.

CUSTODY, PROOF AND PROBATE OF WILLS.

§ 1379. Delivery of Will by Custodian—Penalty.

Any person having the custody or control of any will shall, within thirty days after he shall have received knowledge of the death of the testator or testatrix, deliver said will to the superior court having jurisdiction, or to the person named in the will as executor or executrix; and any executor or executrix having in his custody or control any will shall within forty days after he received knowledge of the death of the testator or testatrix either present the same for probate to the court having jurisdiction, or present the same to such court with his written refusal to serve as such executor or executrix; any person who shall willfully violate any of the provisions of this section with intent to injure or defraud any person shall be deemed guilty of a gross misdemeanor, and any person who shall without reasonable excuse violate any of the provisions of this section shall be liable to any person interested in the will for damages caused by such neglect. [L. '17, p. 645, § 9.]

Duty to Produce: See Remington's Digest, Wills, § 16-1; Myers v. Exchange National Bank, 96 Wash. 244, 164 Pac. 951, L. R. A. 1918A, 67.

A right of action under this section for damages against any person having custody of a will, for failure to deliver the will for probate within thirty days after the death of the testator, is an action upon the statute for a penalty, under section 159, subdivision 6, supra, which must be commenced within three years after the cause of action arose: Myers v. Exchange National Bank, 96 Wash. 244, 164 Pac. 951, L. R. A. 1918A, 67.

Necessity for Probate.—Where a non-resident testator dies leaving real estate in this state, it is necessary that his will be probated here: Shufeldt v. Hughes, 55 Wash. 246, 104 Pac. 253.

§ 1380. Application for Probate—Hearing—Order.

Applications for the probate of a will and for letters testamentary, or either, may be made to the judge of the court having jurisdiction and the court may immediately hear the proofs and either probate or reject such will as the testimony may justify. Upon such hearing the court shall make and cause to be entered a formal order, either establishing and probating such will, or refusing to establish and probate the same, and such order shall be conclusive as against all the world except in the event of a contest of such will as hereinafter provided. All testimony in support of the will shall be reduced to writing, signed by the witnesses, and certified by the judge of the court. [L. '17, p. 645, § 10.]

Time for Probate: See Remington's Digest, Wills, § 30; Sullivan's Estate, In re, 40 Wash. 202, 82 Pac. 297, 111 Am. St. Rep. 895; Peirce's Estate, In re, 63 Wash. 437, 115 Pac. 835; State ex rel. Woods v. Superior Court, 76 Wash. 27, 135 Pac. 494.

Nuncupative Wills—Amendment.—Upon the probate of a nuncupative will, the court may, in the exercise of its sound discretion, permit the alleged will and records to be amended to conform to the facts found: Miller's Estate, In re, 47 Wash. 253, 91 Pac. 967, 125 Am. St. Rep. 904, 14 Ann. Cas. 1163, 13 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1092.

§ 1381. Commission to Take Testimony of Attesting Witnesses.

If any witness be prevented by sickness from attending at the time any will is produced for probate, or reside out of the state or more than thirty miles from the place where the will is to be proven, such court may issue a commission annexed to such will, and directed to any judge, justice of the peace, notary public, or other person, empowering him to take and certify the attestation of such witness. [L. '17, p. 645, § 11.]

§ 1382. Proof in Case of Death or Insanity of Witness.

When one of the witnesses to any such will shall be examined and the other witness or witnesses are dead, insane, or their residence be unknown, then proof shall be taken of the handwriting of the testator and of the witness dead, insane, or whose residence is unknown, and all such other circumstances as would tend to prove such will.

If it should appear to the satisfaction of the court that all the subscribing witnesses to any such will are dead, insane, or their residence unknown, the court shall take and receive proof of the handwriting of the testator and subscribing witnesses, to the will and such other facts and circumstances as would tend to prove such will. [L. '17, p. 646, § 12.]

or death of one or more witnesses.
Ann. Cas. 1914C, 902.

Proof of signature of testator when attesting witnesses are dead. 44
L. R. A. 142.

§ 1383. Filing and Recording Wills.

All wills shall be recorded in the book kept for that purpose, within thirty days after probate, and the original wills shall be carefully filed with the clerk, but may be withdrawn on the order of the court. [L. '17, p. 646, § 13.]

Failure to record a will does not relieve a purchaser of taking notice of the interests of devisees where the will was probated in the county in which the land is located: Horton v. Barto, 57

Wash. 477, 107 Pac. 191, 135 Am. St. Rep.

§ 1384. Record as Evidence.

The record of any will made, probated and recorded as herein provided, and the exemplification of such record by the clerk in whose custody the same may be, shall be received as evidence, and shall be as effectual in all cases as the original would be if produced and proven [L. '17, p. 646, § 14.]

V.WILL CONTESTS.*§ 1385. Contests—Time of Filing—Issues Triable.

If any person interested in any will shall appear within six months immediately following the probate or rejection thereof, and by petition to the superior court having jurisdiction contest the validity of said will, or appear to have the will proven which has been rejected, he shall file a petition containing his objections and exceptions to said will, or to the rejection thereof. Issue shall be made up, tried and determined in said court respecting the competency of the deceased to make a last will and testament, or respecting the execution by a deceased of such last will and testament under restraint or undue influence or fraudulent representations, or for any other cause affecting the validity of such will.

If no person shall appear within the time aforesaid, the probate or rejection of such will shall be binding and final as to all the world: Provided, however, every infant, person absent from the United States or of unsound mind, in whom a right to contest any will heretofore probated or rejected exists by virtue of any prior law, shall have one year from and after this act goes into effect within which to initiate such contest: Provided further, that this act shall not have the effect of shortening the period given by any prior law to persons other than those mentioned in the last above proviso, within which to contest any will probated or rejected prior to the going into effect of this act. [L. '17, p. 646, § 15.]

§ 1388. Revocation of Probate.

If, upon the trial of said issue, it shall be decided that the will is for any reason invalid, or that it is not sufficiently proved to have been the last will of the testator, the will and probate thereof shall be annulled and revoked, and thereupon and thereafter the powers of the executor or administrator with the will annexed shall cease, but such executor or administrator shall not be liable for any act done in good faith previous to such annulling or revoking. [L. '17, p. 647, § 18.]

§ 1389. Costs.

If the probate be revoked or the will annulled, assessment of costs shall be in the discretion of the court. If the will be sustained, the court may assess the costs against the contestant, which costs may in the discretion of the court include a reasonable attorney's fee. [L. '17, p. 648, § 19.]

Under this section substituting a discretionary power to award costs in will contests for the arbitrary rule of Rem. Code, section 1313, requiring costs to be awarded against an unsuccessful contestant, it is an abuse of discretion to award costs against a contestant who made out a prima facie showing of probable cause for contesting a will, it being made to appear that the testator had executed a prior will in favor of contestant and had probably been unduly influenced to execute a later will: Eichlers' Estate, In re, 102 Wash. 497, 173 Pac. 435.

LOST OR DESTROYED WILLS.

§ 1390. Taking Proof—Lost Wills—Judgment—Recording.

Whenever any will be lost or destroyed, the superior court shall have power to take proof of the execution and validity of such will and to establish the same, notice to all persons interested having been first given. Such proof shall be reduced to writing and signed by the witnesses and filed with the clerk of court.

No will shall be allowed to be proved as a lost or destroyed will unless the same shall be proved to have been in existence at the time of the death of the testator, or be shown to have been fraudulently destroyed in the lifetime of the testator, nor unless its provisions shall be clearly and distinctly proved by at least two witnesses, and when any such will shall be so established, the provisions thereof shall be distinctly stated in the judgment establishing it, and such judgment shall be recorded as wills are required to be recorded. Executors of such will or administrators with the will annexed may be appointed by the court in the same manner as is herein provided with reference to original wills presented to the court for probate. [L. '17, p. 648, § 20.]

If, before or during the pendency of an application to prove a lost or destroyed will, letters of administration shall have been granted on the estate of the testator, or letters testamentary of any previous will of the testator shall have been granted, the court shall have authority to restrain the administrators or executors so appointed, from any acts or proceedings which would be injurious to the legatees or devisees claiming under the lost or destroyed will. [L. '17, p. 648, § 21.]

VII.

FOREIGN WILLS.

§ 1392. Foreign Wills—Admission to Probate in This State.

Wills probated in any other state or territory of the United States, or in any foreign country or state, shall be admitted to probate in this state on the production of a copy of such will and of the original record of probate thereof, authenticated by the attestation of the clerk of the court in which such probate was made; or if there be no clerk, by the attestation of the judge thereof, and by the seal of such officers, if they have a seal. Where a deed to a devisee was made at the same time the will was executed, and the will recited that the property had been deeded to him, the grantee, to whom the deed was delivered at once, takes under the deed and not under the will, so that his estate is not defeated by a contest of the will, under the forfeiture clause in the will: White v. Chellew, 108 Wash. 628, 185 Pac. 621.

Where title to land devised had passed under a deed to the devisee, delivered during the testator's lifetime, it would not be forfeited by the grantee's contest of the will, under the forfeiture clause in the will in case of contests by beneficiaries: White v. Chellew, 108 Wash. 526, 185 Pac. 619.

§ 1396. Interest on devises.

No interest shall be allowed or calculated on any devise contained in any will unless such will expressly provide for such interest. [L. '17, p. 650, § 26.]

§ 1397. Testator's Signature by Subscribing Witness.

Every person who shall sign the testator's or testatrix's name to any will by his or her direction shall subscribe his own name as a witness to such will and state that he subscribed the testator's name at his request. [L. '17, p. 650, § 27.]

§ 1398. Revocation, How Effected.

No will in writing, except in cases hereinafter mentioned, nor any part thereof, shall be revoked except by a subsequent will in writing, or by burning, canceling, tearing, or obliterating the same, by the testator or testatrix, or in his or her presence, by his or her consent or direction. [L. '17, p. 650, § 28.]

§ 1399. Subsequent Marriage of Testator—Divorce.

If, after making any will, the testator shall marry and the wife, or husband, shall be living at the time of the death of the testator, such will shall be deemed revoked, unless provision shall have been made for such survivor by marriage settlement, or unless such survivor be provided for in the will or in such way mentioned therein as to show an intention not to make such provision, and no other evidence to rebut the presumption of revocation shall be received. A divorce, subsequent to the making of a will, shall revoke the will as to the divorced spouse. [L. '17, p. 650, § 29.]

§ 1400. Agreements to Convey not to Effect Revocation.

A bond, covenant, or agreement made for a valuable consideration by a testator to convey any property, devised or bequeathed in any last will previously made, shall not be deemed a revocation of such previous devise or bequest, but such property shall pass by the devise or bequest, subject to the same remedies on such bond, covenant, or agreement, for specific performance or otherwise, against devisees or legatees, as might be had by law against the heirs of the testator or his next of kin, if the same had descended to him. [L. '17, p. 650, § 30.]

Sale of real property specifically devised as revocation of devise. Ann. Cas. 1913B, 56.

§ 1401. Charges or Encumbrances not to Effect Revocation.

A charge or encumbrance upon any real or personal estate for the purpose of securing the payment of money, or the performance of any covenant or agreement, shall not be deemed a revocation of any will relating to the same estate, previously executed. The devises and legacies therein contained shall pass and take effect, subject to such charge or encumbrance. [L. '17, p. 650, § 31.]

§ 1402. Intestacy as to Children not Named.

If any person make his last will and die leaving a child or children or descendants of such child or children not named or provided for in such will, although born after the making of such will or the death of the testator, every such testator, as to such child or children not named or provided for, shall be deemed to die intestate, and such child or children or their descendants shall be entitled to such proportion of the estate of the testator, real and personal, as if he had died intestate, and the same shall be assigned to them, and all the other heirs, devisees and legatees shall refund their proportional part. [L. '17, p. 651, § 32.]

§ 1403. Advancements.

If such child or children or their descendants, shall have an equal proportion of the testator's estate bestowed on them in the testator's lifetime, by way of advancement, they shall take nothing by virtue of the provisions of the preceding section. Nothing shall be considered an advancement unless charged in writing by the decedent as an advancement, or acknowledged in writing as such by the child or other successor or heir. [L. '17, p. 651, § 33.]

§ 1404. Death of Devisee Before Testator.

When any estate shall be devised to any child, grandchild, or other relative of the testator, and such devisee shall die before the testator, having lineal descendants, such descendants shall take the estate, real and personal, as such devisee would have done in case he had survived the testator. A spouse is not a relative under the provisions of this section. [L. '17, p. 651, § 34.]

A wife is not a "relative" of her husband: Renton's Estate, In re, 10 Wash. 533, 89 Pac. 145.

§ 1405. Revival of Prior Will by Revocation of Subsequent.

If, after making any will, the testator shall duly make and execute a second will, the destruction, cancellation, or revocation of such second will shall not revive the first will unless it appears by the terms of such revocation that it was his intention to revive and give effect to the first will, or unless he shall duly republish his first will. § 1406. Nuncupative Wills.

No nuncupative will shall be good when the estate bequeathed exceeds the value of two hundred dollars ($200) unless the same be proved by two witnesses who were present at the making thereof, and it be proven that the testator, at the time of pronouncing the same, did bid some person present to bear witness that such was his will, or to that effect, and such nuncupative will was made at the time of the last sickness. Nothing herein contained shall prevent any mariner at sea or soldier in the military service from disposing of his wages or other personal property by nuncupative will. No real estate shall be devised by a nuncupative will. [L. '17, p. 651, § 36.]

§ 1407. Proof of Nuncupative Will.

No proof shall be received of any nuncupative will unless it be offered within six months after speaking the testamentary words, nor unless the words or the substance thereof be first committed to writing, and in all cases a citation issued to the widow or next of kin of the deceased that they may contest the will if they think proper. [L. '17, p. 652, § 37.]

This section refers to the testimony and not merely to the petition offering the will; and failure to offer the proofs within six months is not excused by delay in consequence of the several pleas of the next of kin; in view of the provision that the court may immediately receive the proofs when the will is exhibited: Greenleaf's Estate, In re, 69 Wash. 478, 125 Pac. 789.

The probate of a nuncupative will is properly denied where no proof was offered within six months after speaking the words, as expressly required by this section: Brown's Estate, In re, 101 Wash. 314, 172 Pac. 247.

The probate of a will is void for want of jurisdiction when no notice to the widow or next of kin was given under this section: Sullivan's Estate, In re, 40 Wash. 202, 82 Pac. 297, 111 Am. St. Rep. 895.

§ 1408. Devises, etc., to Subscribing Witnesses.

All beneficial devises, legacies, and gifts whatever, made or given in any will to a subscribing witness thereto, shall be void unless there are two other competent witnesses to the same; but a mere charge on the estate of the testator for the payment of debts shall not prevent his creditors from being competent witnesses to his will. If such witness, to whom any beneficial devise, legacy or gift may have been made or given, would have been entitled to any share in the testator's estate in case the will is not established, then so much of the estate as would have descended or would have been distributed to such witness shall be saved to him as will not exceed the value of the devise or bequest made to him in the will; and he may recover the same from the devisees or legatees named in the will in proportion to and out of the parts devised and bequeathed to him. [L. '17, p. 652, § 38.]

§ 1409. Devise of Land, What Passes.

Every devise of land in any will shall be construed to convey all the estate of the devisor therein which he could lawfully devise, unless it shall clearly appear by the will that he intended to convey a less estate. [L. '17, p. 652, § 39.]

See, also, White v. Chellew, 108 Wash. 526, 185 Pac. 619.

§ 1410. Estates for Life—Remainders.

If any person, by last will, devise any real estate to any person for the term of such person's life, such devise vests in the devisee an estate for life, and without the remainder is specially devised, it shall revert to the heirs at law of the testator. [L. '17, p. 653, § 40.]

§ 1411. After-acquired Estates.

Any estate, rights or interest in lands acquired by the testator after the making of his or her will shall pass thereby, and in like manner as if owned at the time of making the will, if such manifestly appear by the will to have been the intention of the testator. [L. '17, p. 653, § 41.]

§ 1412. Contribution Among Legatees and Heirs.

When any testator in his last will shall give any chattel or real estate to any person, and the same shall be taken in execution for the payment of the testator's debts, then all the other legatees, devisees and heirs shall refund their proportional part of such loss to such person from whom the bequest shall be taken. [L. '17, p. 653, § 42.]

§ 1413. Enforcement by Court.

When any devisees, legatees or heirs shall be required to refund any part of the estate received by them, for the purpose of making up the share, devise or legacy of any other devisee, legatee or heir, the superior court, upon the petition of the person entitled to contribution or distribution of such estate, may order the same to be made and enforce such order. [L. 17, p. 653, § 43.]

§ 1414. Codicils Included in Term "Will."

The term "will," as used in this chapter, shall be so construed as to include all codicils attached to any will. [L. '17, p. 653, § 44.]

§ 1415. Intent of Testator Controlling.

All courts and others concerned in the execution of last wills shall have due regard to the direction of the will, and the true intent and meaning of the testator, in all matters brought before them. [L. '17, p. 653, § 45.]

LETTERS TESTAMENTARY AND OF ADMINISTRATION.

§ 1417. Letters to Executors—Refusal to Serve.

After probate of any will, letters testamentary shall be granted to the persons therein appointed executors. If a part of the persons thus appointed refuse to act, or be disqualified, the letters shall be granted to the other persons appointed therein. If all such persons refuse to act, letters of administration with the will annexed shall be granted to the person to whom administration would have been granted if there had been no will. [L. § 1418. Objections to Executors Named.

Any person interested in a will may file objections in writing to the granting of letters testamentary to the persons named as executors, or any of them, and the objection shall be heard and determined by the court. [L. '17, p. 654, § 48.]

§ 1419. Community Property, How Administered.

A surviving spouse shall be entitled to administer upon the community property, notwithstanding any provisions of the will to the contrary, if the court find such spouse to be otherwise qualified; but if such surviving spouse do not make application for such appointment within forty days immediately following the death of the deceased spouse, he or she shall be considered as having waived his or her right to administer upon such community property. If any person, other than the surviving spouse, make application for letters testamentary on such property, prior to the expiration of such forty days, then the court, before making any such appointment, shall require notice of such application to be given the said surviving spouse, for such time and in such manner as the court may determine, unless such applicant show to the satisfaction of the court that there is no surviving spouse or that he or she has in writing waived the right to administer upon such community property. § 1420. Minority or Absence of Executor—Removal of Disqualification.

If the executor be a minor or absent from the state, letters of administration with the will annexed shall be granted, during the time of such minority or absence, to some other person unless there be another executor who shall accept the trust, in which case the estate shall be administered by such other executor until the disqualification shall be removed, when such minor, having arrived at full age, or such absentee, having returned, shall be admitted as joint executor with the former. [L. '17, p. 654, § 50.]

§ 1421. Revocation of Letters by Discovery of Will.

If after letters of administration are granted a will of the deceased be found and probate thereof be granted, the letters shall be revoked and letters testamentary or of administration with the will annexed, shall be granted. [L. '17, p. 655, § 51.]

§ 1422. Annulment of Letters.

The court appointing any executor or administrator shall have authority for any cause deemed sufficient, to cancel and annul such letters and appoint other executors or administrators in the place of those removed. [L. '17, p. 655, § 52.]

§ 1423. Effect of Death of Executor.

No executor of an executor shall, as such, be authorized to administer upon the estate of the first testator, but on the death of the sole or surviving executor of any last will, letters of administration with the will annexed, on the estate of the first testator left unadministered, shall be issued. [L. '17, p. 655, § 53.]

§ 1424. Powers of Executor—Associates Disqualified.

When any of the executors named shall not qualify or having qualified shall become disqualified or be removed, the remaining executor or executors shall have the authority to perform every act and discharge every trust required by the will, and their acts shall be effectual for every purpose. [L. '17, p. 655, § 54.]

§ 1425. Administrators With Will Annexed—Authority.

Administrators with the will annexed shall have the same authority as the executor named in the will would have had, and their acts shall be as effectual for every purpose. [L. '17, p. 655, § 55.]

Letters testamentary and of administration with the will annexed shall be signed by the clerk of the court, and under the seal of the court, and a copy of the will shall be attached to the letters. [L. '17, p. 655, § 56.]

§ 1427. Record and Certification of Letters.

The clerk shall record, in a well-bound book kept for that purpose, all letters testamentary and of administration before they are delivered to the executors or administrators, and shall certify on such letters that they have been so recorded. [L. '17, p. 655, § 57.]

§ 1428. Copies as Evidence.

Copies of such letters, or copies of the records thereof, certified by the clerk, and under the seal of the superior court, shall be received as evidence in any court in this state. [L. '17, p. 656, § 58.]

§ 1429. Form of Letters Testamentary.

Letters testamentary to be issued to executors under the provisions of this chapter may be in the following form:

State of Washington, County of —.

In the superior court of the county of —.

Whereas, the last will of A B, deceased, was, on the — day of —, A. D., —, duly exhibited, proven, and recorded in our said superior court, a copy of which is hereto annexed; and whereas, it appears in and by said will that C D is appointed executor thereon, and, whereas, said C D has duly qualified, now, therefore, know all men by these presents, that we do hereby authorize the said C D to execute said will according to law.

Witness my hand and the seal of said court this — day of —, A. D. 19—. [L. '17, p. 656, § 59.]

§ 1430. Form With Will Annexed.

Letters of administration with the will annexed shall be in substantially the same form as provided for letters testamentary. [L. '17, p. 656, § 60.]

§ 1431. Persons Entitled to Letters.

Administration of the estate of the person dying intestate shall be granted to some one or more of the persons hereinafter mentioned, and they shall be respectively entitled in the following order:

(1) The surviving husband or wife, or such person as he or she may request to have appointed.

(2) The next of kin in the following order: 1, child or children; 2, father or mother; 3, brothers or sisters; 4, grandchildren.

(3) One or more of the principal creditors.

(4) If the persons so entitled shall neglect for more than forty days after the death of the intestate to present a petition for letters of administration, or if there be no relatives or next of kin or they waive their right, or if there be no principal creditor or creditors, then the court may appoint any suitable person to administer such estate. § 1433. Notice of Hearing.

When a petition for letters of administration or for letters of administration with the will annexed shall be filed, the clerk must give notice thereof, by causing notices to be posted in at least three public places in the county, one of which must be at the place where the court is held, containing the name of the decedent, the name of the applicant and the time at which the petition will be heard. Such notice shall be given at least ten days before the time fixed for such hearing, and the clerk shall have authority to fix the time of such hearing: Provided, however, no notice of hearing need be given or posted if the petition be presented by or on behalf of the surviving husband or wife, and on the presentation of such petition by or on behalf of the surviving husband or wife, the court may at once make appointment and cause letters of administration to be issued: Provided, further, that if there be a surviving spouse and the petition is presented by anyone other than the surviving spouse prior to forty days after the death of the intestate, notice to such surviving spouse shall be given as hereinbefore provided. [L. '17, p. 657, § 63.]

Proof of the posting of notices of the administration of an estate is sufficient where the person posting the same makes affidavit that the notices have been posted in three public places, although the affidavit does not specifically point out the places of such posting: Scott v. McNeal, 5 Wash. 309, 31 Pac. 873, 34 Am. St. Rep. 863.

§ 1434. Special Notice to Heirs, Legatees or Devisees.

At any time after the issuance of letters testamentary or of administration upon the estate of any decedent, any person interested in said estate as heir, devisee or legatee, or attorney for such heir, devisee or legatee, may serve upon the executor or administrator (or upon the attorney for such executor or administrator) and file with the clerk of the court wherein the administration of such estate is pending, a written request stating that he desires special notice of any or all of the following named matters, steps or proceedings in the administration of said estate, to wit:

- (1) Filing of petitions for sales, leases or mortgages of any property of the estate.
- (2) Filing of accounts.
- (3) Filing of petitions for distribution.
- (4) Petitions by the executor or administrator for family allowances and homesteads.

Such request shall state the postoffice address of such heir, devisee or legatee, or his attorney, and thereafter a brief notice of the filing of any of such petitions or accounts, except petitions for sale of perishable property, or other personal property which will incur expense or loss by keeping, shall be addressed to such heir, devisee or legatee, or his attorney, at his stated postoffice address, and deposited in the United States postoffice, with the postage thereon prepaid, at least five days before the hearing on such petition or account; or personal service of such notices may be made on such heir, devisee or legatee, or attorney, not less than five days before such hearing, and such personal service shall be equivalent to such deposit in the postoffice, and proof of mailing or of personal service must be filed with the clerk before the hearing of such petition or account. If upon the hearing it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that the said notice has been regularly given, the court shall so find in its order or judgment, and such judgment shall be final and conclusive. [L. '17, p. 657, § 64.]

Cited in 108 Wash. 327.

§ 1435. Form of Letters of Administration.

Letters of administration shall be signed by the clerk, and be under the seal of the court, and may be substantially in the following form:

State of Washington, County of —

Whereas, A. B., late of — on or about the — day of — A. D., — died intestate, leaving at the time of his death, property in this state subject to administration: Now, therefore, know all men by these presents, that we do hereby appoint — administrator upon said estate, and whereas said administrator has duly qualified, hereby authorize him to administer the same according to law.

Witness my hand and the seal of said court this — day of —, A. D., 19—. [L. '17, p. 658, § 65.]

§ 1436. Oath.

Before letters testamentary or of administration are issued to the executor or administrator, he must take and subscribe an oath, before some person authorized to administer oaths, that he will perform, according to law, the duties of his trust as executor or administrator, which oath must be recorded. [L. '17, p. 659, § 66.] •

§ 1437. Bond—Increase or Reduction.

Every person to whom letters testamentary or of administration are directed to issue must, before receiving them, execute a bond to the state of Washington, except as hereinafter provided, with such surety, or sureties, as the court may judge sufficient, which bond shall be in a sum to be fixed by the court, and which bond must be conditioned that the executor or administrator shall faithfully execute the duties of the trust according to the law, and such bond shall be approved by the court. The court may at any time and for any reason require the executor or administrator to give additional bonds, the same to be conditioned and to be approved as above provided: Provided, the court may allow a reduction of the bond upon proper showing. [L. '17, p. 659, § 67.]

§ 1438. Sureties—Citation and Examination—Costs.

Before the judge approves any bond required under this chapter, and after its approval, he may, of his own motion, or upon the motion of any person interested in the estate, supported by affidavit that the sureties, or some one or more of them, are not worth as much as they have justified to, order a citation to issue, requiring such sureties to appear before him at a designated time and place, to be examined touching their property and its value; and the judge must, at the same time, cause notice to be issued to the executor or administrator, requiring his appearance on the return of the citation, and on its return he may examine the sureties and such witnesses as may be produced touching the property of the sureties and its value; and if upon such examination he is satisfied that the bond is insufficient he must require sufficient additional security. If the bond and sureties are found by the court to be sufficient, the costs incident to such hearing shall be taxed against the party instituting such hearing. As a part of such costs the sureties appearing shall be allowed such fees and mileage as witnesses are allowed in civil proceedings: Provided, that when the citation herein referred to is issued on the motion of the court, no costs shall be imposed. [L. '17, p. 659, § 68.]

§ 1439. Waiver of Bond by Will.

When it is expressly provided in the will that no bonds shall be required of the executor, letters testamentary may issue and sale of real estate be made and confirmed without any bond, unless the court for good cause requires one to be executed; but the executor may at any time afterwards, if it appear from any cause necessary or proper, be required to file a bond, as in other cases. [L. '17, p. 660, § 69.]

§ 1440. Additional Bond.

Any person interested may at any time by verified petition to the court, or otherwise, complain of the sufficiency of any bond or sureties thereon, and the court may upon such petition, or upon its own motion, and with or without hearing upon the matter, require the executor or administrator to give a new, or additional bond, or bonds, and in all such matters the court may act in its discretion and make such orders and citations as to it may seem right and proper in the premises. [L. '17, p. 660, § 70.]

§ 1441. Sureties—Persons Excluded.

No judge of the superior court, no sheriff, clerk of a court, or deputy of either, and no attorney at law shall be taken as surety on any bond required to be taken in any proceeding in probate. [L. '17, p. 660, § 71.]

§ 1442. Record of Bonds.

The clerk shall record in a book kept for that purpose all bonds given by executors and administrators, and preserve the originals in regular file. [L. '17, p. 660, § 72.]

§ 1443. Defective Bonds—Successive Recoveries.

No bond required under the provisions of this chapter, and intended as such bond, shall be void for want of form, recital or condition; nor shall the principal or surety on such account be discharged, but all the parties thereto shall be held and bound to the full extent contemplated by the law requiring the same, to the amount specified in such bond. In all actions on such defective bond the plaintiff may state its legal effect in the same manner as though it were a perfect bond. The bond shall not be void upon the first recovery, but may be sued and recovered upon, from time to time, by any person aggrieved in his own name, until the whole penalty is exhausted. [L. '17, p. 660, § 73.]

Leave of court as prerequisite to action on bond of executor or administrator.
2 A. L. R. 563.

§ 1444. Revocation of Letters—Citation and Hearing.

Whenever the court has reason to believe that any executor or administrator has wasted, embezzled, or mismanaged, or is about to waste, or embezzle the property of the estate committed to his charge, or has committed, or is about to commit a fraud upon the estate, or is incompetent to act, or is permanently removed from the state, or has wrongfully neglected the estate, or has neglected to perform any acts as such executor or administrator, or for any other cause or reason which to the court appears necessary, it shall have power and authority, after citation and hearing to revoke such letters. The manner of the citation and of the service of the same and of the time of hearing shall be wholly in the discretion of the court, and if the court for any such reasons revokes such letters the powers of such executor or administrator shall at once cease, and it shall be the duty of the court to immediately appoint some other executor or administrator, as in this act provided. [L. '17, p. 661, § 74.]

§ 1445. Hearings in Chambers.

The applications and acts authorized by the foregoing section in this chapter may be heard and determined in court or at chambers. All orders made therein must be entered upon the minutes of the court. [L. '17, p. 661, § 75.]

§ 1446. Powers of Remaining Executors.

If there be more than one executor or administrator of an estate, and the letters to part of them be revoked or surrendered, or a part die or in any way become disqualified, those who remain shall perform all the duties required by law. [L. '17, p. 661, § 76.]

§ 1447. Administrator de Bonis Non.

If the executor or administrator of an estate shall die, resign, or the letters be revoked before the settlement of the estate, letters of administration of the goods remaining unadministered shall be granted to those to whom administration would have been granted if the original letters had not been obtained, or the person obtaining them had renounced administration, and the administrator de bonis non shall perform the like duties and incur the like liabilities as the former executors or administrators. [L. '17, p. 661, § 77.]

Administrators de Bonis Non: See Remington's Digest, Ex. & Ad., § 46; Griffin v. Warburton, 23 Wash. 231, 62 Pac. 765; Denton v. Schneider, 80 Wash. 506, 142 Pac. 9; Griffith v. James, 91 Wash. 607, 158 Pac. 251.

Where an administrator de bonis non completes the administration commenced by a deceased executrix and also administers her estate, the statutory fees or commissions on final accounting should be prorated between the two estates, and he should not receive commissions on the value of household goods that did not come into his possession, nor upon the interest of the deceased executrix in corporate stock that was never freed from the debts of the estate or distributed: Johnston's Estate, In re, 107 Wash. 25, 181 Pac. 209.

An administrator de bonis non is not responsible on his final accounting for the amount of an unexplained penciled memorandum "money $631.49" in the inventory, which was a duplicate of the inventory theretofore filed, the only fair inference from the record being that it was money realized from the other property inventoried: Johnston's Estate, In re, 107 Wash. 25, 181 Pac. 209.

§ 1448. Accounting on Death or Resignation.

If any executor or administrator resign, or his letters be revoked, or he die, he or his representatives shall account for, pay, and deliver to his successor or to the surviving or remaining executors or administrators, all money and property of every kind, and all rights, credits, deeds, evidences of debt, and papers of every kind, of the deceased, at such time and in such manner as the court shall order on final settlement with such executor or administrator or his legal representatives. [L. '17, p. 662, § 78.]

§ 1449. Delinquent Executors—Proceedings Against.

The succeeding administrator, or remaining executor or administrator, may proceed by law against any delinquent former executor or administrator, or his personal representatives, or the sureties of either, or against any other person possessed of any part of the estate. [L. '17, p. 662, § 79.]

§ 1450. Limitation on Action Against Sureties.

All actions against sureties shall be commenced within six years after the revocation or surrender of letters of administration or death of the principal. [L. '17, p. 662, § 80.]

X.SPECIAL ADMINISTRATORS.*§ 1451. Appointment of Special Administrator.

When, by reason of an action concerning the proof of a will, or from any other cause, there shall be a delay in granting letters testamentary or of administration, the judge may, in his discretion, appoint a special administrator (other than one of the parties) to collect and preserve the effects of the deceased; and in case of an appeal from the decree appointing such special administrator, he shall, nevertheless, proceed in the execution of his trust until he shall be otherwise ordered by the appellate court. [L. '17, p. 662, § 81.]

Under a section authorizing the appointment of a special administrator other than one of the parties, the executor of the will is disqualified, being a "party" within the meaning of the statute: Hartley v. Lord, 38 Wash. 432, 80 Pac. 554.

Appointment and powers of administrators pendente lite. 6 Ann. Cas. 263.

§ 1452. Bond.

Every such administrator shall, before entering on the duties of his trust, give bond, with sufficient surety or sureties, in such sum as the judge shall order, payable to the state of Washington, with condition as required of an executor or in other cases of administration. [L. '17, p. 663, § 82.]

§ 1453. Powers and Duties.

Such special administrator shall collect all the goods, chattels, and debts of the deceased, and preserve the same for the executor or administrator who shall thereafter be appointed; and for that purpose may commence and maintain suits as an administrator, and may also sell such perishable and other goods as the court shall order sold, and make family allowances under the order of the court, and he shall be allowed such compensation for his services as the said court shall deem reasonable. [L. '17, p. 663, § 83.]

§ 1454. Succession by Executor or Administrator.

Upon granting letters testamentary or of administration the power of the special administrator shall cease, and he shall forthwith deliver to the executor or administrator all the goods, chattels, money and effects of the deceased in his hands, and the executor or administrator may be admitted to prosecute any suit commenced by the special administrator, in like manner as an administrator de bonis non is authorized to prosecute a suit commenced by a former executor or administrator. [L. '17, p. 663, § 84.]

§ 1455. Nonliability to Creditors.

Such special administrator shall not be liable to an action by any creditor of the deceased, and the time for limitation of all suits against the estate shall begin to run from the time of granting letters testamentary or of administration in the usual form, in like manner as if such special administration had not been granted. [L. '17, p. 663, § 85.]

§ 1456. Rendition of Account.

The special administrator shall also render an account, under oath, of his proceedings, in like manner as other administrators are required to do. [L. '17, p. 663, § 86.]

XI.

QUALIFICATIONS OF EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

§ 1457. Qualifications—Persons Disqualified.

The following persons are not qualified to act as executors or administrators. Corporations, nonresidents of this state, minors, persons of unsound mind, or who have been convicted of any felony or of a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude: Provided, that trust companies regularly organized under the laws of this state and national banks when authorized so to do may act as administrators or guardians of the estate of minors or other incompetents upon petition of any person having a preference right to such appointment and may act as executors or guardians when so appointed by will. But no trust company or national bank shall be entitled to qualify as such executor or guardian under any will hereafter drawn by it, or its agents or employees, and no salaried attorney of any such company shall be allowed any attorney fee for probating any such will, or in relation to the administration or settlement of any such estate, and no part of any attorney fee shall inure, directly or indirectly, to the benefit of any trust company or national bank. And when any person to whom letters testamentary or of administration have been issued becomes disqualified to act because of leaving the state, becoming of unsound mind, or being convicted of any crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, the court having jurisdiction shall revoke his or her letters. Provided, a person named as executor in any last will and testament may be appointed to act as such executor whether he be a resident of this state or not: Provided further, that such nonresident executor shall file a bond to be approved by the court and appoint an agent or attorney in the county where such estate is being probated, upon whom service of all papers may be made; such appointment to be in writing and filed by the clerk with other papers of such estate. [L. '17, p. 663, § 87.]

PARTNERSHIPS.

§ 1458. Partnership Property—Inventory—Rights of Surviving Partner.

The executor or administrator of the estate of a deceased person who was a member of a copartnership, shall include in the inventory, in a separate schedule, the whole of the property of such copartnership; and the appraisers shall estimate the value thereof and also the value of such deceased person's individual interest in the partnership property.

The whole of the partnership property shall be administered by such executor or administrator, unless the surviving partner shall within five days from the filing of the inventory, or such further time as the court may allow, apply for the administration thereof. If he so apply, he shall be entitled to administer the partnership property if the court find him to be qualified. If letters of administration be issued to such partner, he shall give such bond as the court may require. He shall be denominated the administrator of the partnership and shall give such notice to the partnership creditors as general administrators are required to give and shall settle the partnership estate in the same manner as is or shall be provided for the settlement of estates of deceased persons except he shall account to the general executor or administrator for the interest of the deceased in the partnership property. [L. '17, p. 664, § 88.]

This section merely fixes a limit within which the application may be made and does not prohibit consideration of an application made before the filing of the inventory: State ex rel. Keasal v. Superior Court, 76 Wash. 291, 136 Pac. 147.

The right of partnership creditors to enforce their claims against surviving partners being postponed under this section, until after the settlement of the deceased partner's estate, the running of the statute of limitations against such claims would be suspended during such period: Brigham-Hopkins Co. v. Gross, 20 Wash. 218, 54 Pac. 1127; Brigham-Hopkins Co. v. Gross, 30 Wash. 277, 70 Pac. 480.

§ 1459. Purchase of Interest by Survivor—Protection Against Liabilities.

The surviving partner, whether he be administrator or not, shall have the right at any time to petition the court to purchase the interests of such deceased in any or all of the personal property of the partnership. Upon such petition being presented it shall be the duty of the court, in such manner as it may see fit, to learn and by order to fix the value of the interest of the deceased over and above all partnership debts and obligations, in such partnership personal property, and the terms and conditions upon which such surviving partner may purchase, and thereafter such surviving partner shall have the preference right for such length of time as the court may fix, to purchase the interest of such deceased partner at the price and upon the terms and conditions fixed by the court.

It shall be the duty of the court to make such orders as it may deem proper or necessary to protect the estate of the deceased against any liability for partnership debts or obligations. [L. '17, p. 665, § 89.]

§ 1460. Survivor to Operate Business.

The court shall have authority, in instances where it is deemed advisable, to authorize the administrator of the partnership property to continue to operate any going business pending the settlement of the partnership estate or the purchase by the surviving partner of the interest of the deceased partner. [L. '17, p. 666, § 90.]

§ 1461. Survivor Failing to Act.

In case the surviving partner is not appointed administrator of the partnership property, the administration thereof shall devolve upon the executor or administrator and the court shall have power to require the surviving partner to deliver the partnership property and evidences thereof to the administrator or executor. [L. '17, p. 666, § 91.]

XIII.

SETTLEMENT OF ESTATES WITHOUT ADMINISTRATION.

§ 1462. Settlement Without Court Intervention—Order of Distribution—Mismanagement—Citation.

In all cases where it is provided in the last will and testament of the deceased that the estate shall be settled in a manner provided in such last will and testament, and that such estate shall be settled without the intervention of any court or courts, and where it duly appears to the court, by the inventory filed, and other proof, that the estate is fully solvent, which fact may be established by an order of the court on the filing of the inventory, it shall not be necessary to take out letters testamentary or of administration, except to admit the will to probate and to file a true inventory of all the property of such estate and give notice to creditors and to the state board or person having charge of the collection of inheritance tax, in the manner required by existing laws. After the probate of any such will and the filing of such inventory all such estates may be managed and settled without the intervention of the court, if the last will and testament shall so provide. But when the estate is ready to be closed the court, upon application, shall have authority and it shall be its duty, to make and cause to be entered a decree finding and adjudging that all debts have been paid, finding and adjudging also the heirs and those entitled to take under the will and distributing the property to the persons entitled to the same, such decree to be made after notice given as provided for like decrees in the estates of persons dying intestate: Provided, however, in all cases, if the party named in such will as executor shall decline to execute the trust or shall die or be otherwise disabled for any cause from acting as such executor, then letters testamentary or of administration shall issue and the estate be settled as in other cases: And provided further, if the person named in the will shall fail to execute the trust faithfully and to take care and promote the interest of all parties, then, upon petition of a creditor of such estate, or of any of the heirs, or of any person on behalf of any minor heir, it shall be the duty of the court to cite such person having the management of such estate to appear before such court, and if, upon hearing of such petition it shall appear that the trust in such will is not faithfully discharged, and that the parties interested, or any of them have been or are about to be damaged by such actual doings of the executor, then, in the discretion of the court, administration may be had and required as is now required in the administration of estates, and in all such cases the costs of the citation and hearing shall be charged against the party failing and neglecting to execute the trust as required in such will. [L. '17, p. 666, § 92.]

Withdrawing Estate from Administration: See Remington's Digest, Ex. & Ad., § 3; Newport v. Newport, 5 Wash. 114, 31 Pac. 428; Miller v. Borst, 11 Wash. 260, 39 Pac. 662; State ex rel. Cox v. Superior Court, 21 Wash. 575, 59 Pac. 483; Boyer v. Robinson, 26 Wash. 117, 66 Pac. 119; MacDonald's Estate, In re, 29 Wash. 422, 69 Pac. 1111; State ex rel. Phinney v. Superior Court, 21 Wash. 186, 57 Pac. 337; Bayer v. Bayer, 83 Wash. 430, 145 Pac. 433.

Where trustees of the property of an estate, instead of executors, have been appointed by a will, the probate court has no jurisdiction of the questions involving the management of the estate, but the same are cognizable in equity: Seattle v. McDonald, 26 Wash. 98, 66 Pac. 145; Moore v. Kirkman, 19 Wash. 605, 54 Pac. 24; McDonald's Estate, In re, 29 Wash. 422, 69 Pac. 1111; Smith v. Smith, 15 Wash. 239, 46 Pac. 249.

This section making provision for a final accounting by trustees under a non-intervention will governs every case in which the trust was not fully executed prior to the time the act took effect, notwithstanding Rem. Code, section 1444, provided for no such accounting: Cornett's Estate, In re, 102 Wash. 254, 173 Pac. 44.

The will is not a "nonintervention" will unless the intention to dispense with administration be shown by express words or necessary implication: Shufeldt v. Hughes, 55 Wash. 246, 104 Pac. 253.

Creditors of estates under nonintervention wills must present claims, in view of this section, requiring such executors to give notice to creditors and to pay claims within one year thereafter, and Id., p. 673, § 107, requiring every executor to give notice to creditors to present claims within six months, and barring all claims not so presented: First Security & Loan Co. v. Englehart, 107 Wash. 86, 181 Pac. 13.

The nonintervention will law does not relate merely to the procedure, but vests the title in the executors, as trustees (irrespective of the terms used, and independent of any participation of the court, except in the case of mismanagement), and hence the Law of 1897, chapter 98, section 2, requiring any such executor to file an inventory within thirty days and providing for the settlement of the estate by the court if it is insolvent, is unconstitutional as impairing vested rights: State ex rel. Phinney v. Superior Court, 21 Wash. 186, 57 Pac. 337.

This section has no application to the proceeds or avails of life insurance made payable to the deceased's estate, executors or administrators; in view of the later act, section 569, exempting the proceeds of life insurance policies from all liability for any debt: German-Amer. State Bank v. Godman, 83 Wash. 231, 145 Pac. 221.

The presentation of a claim to the court is not a condition precedent to an action against executors under a nonintervention will, in view of Rem. Code, § 1444, and this, notwithstanding the proviso to the section to the effect that all claims must be paid within one year after notice to creditors: Schubach v. Redelsheimer, 92 Wash. 124, 158 Pac. 739.

Insufficient Grounds for Removal of Trustees: Hooper's Estate, In re, 76 Wash. 72, 135 Pac. 813.

The superior court has jurisdiction to entertain an application by the executor for an order of distribution of the estate which was in effect a construction of the will and within its general jurisdiction, in view of a trustee's right to maintain an action for directions, and the power of the court to direct and control trusts: Bayer v. Bayer, 83 Wash. 430, 145 Pac. 433.

Power to Convey Real Estate Without Order of Court: See Fulmer v. Gable, 73 Wash. 684, 132 Pac. 641.

Under Rem. Code, § 1448, creditors must present their claims to the executor of a nonintervention will within one year after publication of notice to creditors, as in other cases, or they will be barred: Foley v. McDonnell, 48 Wash. 272, 93 Pac. 321.

When a complaint for partition against an executrix of a nonintervention will is insufficient as a claim for equitable relief, under this section: Bishop v. Locke, 92 Wash. 90, 158 Pac. 997.

§ 1463. Powers of Nonintervention Executors.

Executors acting under wills such as are mentioned in the last preceding section shall have power, after the filing of an inventory of the estate, if the said estate has been adjudged solvent, to mortgage, lease, sell and convey the real and personal property of the testator without an order of the court for that purpose and without notice, approval or confirmation, and in all other respects administer and settle the estate without the intervention of the court. [L. '17, p. 667, § 93.]

§ 1464. Right to Possession and Management.

Every executor or administrator shall, after having qualified, by giving bond as hereinbefore provided, have a right to the immediate possession of all the real as well as personal estate of the deceased, and may receive the rents and profits of the real estate until the estate shall be settled or delivered over, by order of the court, to the heirs or devisees, and shall keep in tenantable repair all houses, buildings and fixtures thereon, which are under his control. [L. '17, p. 667, § 94.]

XIV.

THE INVENTORY AND EFFECTS OF DECEASED PERSONS.

§ 1465. Inventory of Estate—Appraisement.

Every executor or administrator shall make and return, upon oath, into the court, within one month after his appointment, a true inventory of all of the property of the estate which shall have come into his hands, and within thirty days after filing such inventory he shall make application to the court to appoint three disinterested persons to appraise the property so inventoried, and it shall be the duty of the court to appoint such appraisers. Such appraisers shall receive as compensation for their services each the sum of three dollars ($3) per day and mileage. If any part of the estate shall be in another county than that in which letters are issued, appraisers residing in such county may be appointed by the court having jurisdiction of the case, or, if most advisable, the same appraisers may act: Provided, that the court may appoint persons to appraise the estate at the time or any time after the appointment of the administrator: And provided further, that where it is shown by the filing of such inventory, or other proof, to the satisfaction of the court, that the whole estate consists of personal property of less value than two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) exclusive of moneys, drafts, checks, bonds, or other securities of fixed value, an appraisalment may be dispensed with in the discretion of the court. [L. '19, p. 51, § 1. Cf. L. '17, p. 668, § 95.]

Right to appeal from order relating to inventory of deceased's estate. Ann. Cas. 1913C, 860.

§ 1466. Oath and Duties of Appraisers.

Before proceeding to the discharge of their duties the appraisers shall take and subscribe an oath, before any officer authorized to administer oaths, to be attached to the inventory, that they will honestly and impartially appraise the property which shall be exhibited to them, according to the best of their knowledge and ability; they shall proceed to estimate and appraise the property, and set down each article separately, with the value thereof in dollars and cents, in figures, opposite the respective articles: Provided, however, household articles need not be separately mentioned. The inventory shall contain all the estate of the deceased, real and personal, a statement of all credits, partnership and other interests, bonds, mortgages, notes, moneys, and other securities for the payment of money belonging to the deceased, specifying the name of the debtor in each security, the date, the sum originally payable, the indorsements thereon, if any, and their dates, and the sum which, in the judgment of the appraisers, may be collectible on each debt, interest or security. [L. '17, p. 668, § 96.]

§ 1467. Claims Against Personal Representatives.

The naming of any person as executor in a will, or the appointment of any person as administrator, shall not operate as a discharge from any just claim which the testator or intestate had against the executor or administrator, but the claim shall be included in the inventory and the executor and administrator shall be liable to the same extent as he would have been had he not been appointed executor or administrator. [L. '17, p. 669, § 97.]

§ 1468. Discharge of Testator's Debt a Specific Bequest.

The discharge or bequest in a will of any debt or demand of the testator against any executor named in his will or against any person shall not be valid against the creditors of the deceased, but shall be construed as a specific bequest of such debt or demand, and the amount thereof shall be included in the inventory, and shall, if necessary, be applied in payment of his debts; if not necessary for that purpose, it shall be paid in the same manner and proportions as other specific legacies. [L. '17, p. 669, § 98.]

§ 1469. Failure to Return Inventory—Revocation of Letters.

If any executor or administrator shall neglect or refuse to return the inventory within the period prescribed, or within such further time, not exceeding three months, as the court may allow, the court may revoke the letters testamentary or of administration; and the executor or administrator shall be liable on his bond to any party interested for the injury sustained by the estate through his neglect. [L. '17, p. 669, § 99.]

This section is directory instead of mandatory, and the authority of the court to remove in case of a failure of the executor to comply rests in its sound legal discretion: Clancy v. McElroy, 30 Wash. 567, 70 Pac. 1095.

§ 1470. Additional Inventory—Further Assets.

Whenever property not mentioned in any inventory shall come to the knowledge and possession of the executor or administrator, he shall cause the same to be appraised in the manner prescribed in this act, and an additional inventory to be returned, subscribed and sworn to as is provided in this act, as soon as practicable after the discovery thereof, and the making of such inventory may be enforced, after notice, by attachment to which may be added the revocation of the letters. [L. '17, p. 669, § 100.]

§ 1471. Liability for Embezzlement.

If any person, before the granting of letters testamentary or of administration, shall embezzle or alienate any of the moneys, goods, chattels, or effects of any deceased person, he shall stand chargeable, and be liable to the executor or administrator of the estate, in the value of the property so embezzled or alienated, together with any damage occasioned thereby, to be recovered for the benefit of the estate. [L. '17, p. 670, § 101.]

One innocently coming into the possession of property under claim of ownership by an alleged gift from the deceased is not liable for double damages under Rem.

Code, § 1460, superseded by this section: Jackson v. Lamar, 67 Wash. 385, 121 Pac. 857.

§ 1472. Concealed or Embezzled Property—Proceedings for Discovery.

The court shall have authority to bring before it any person or persons suspected of having in his possession or having concealed, embezzled, conveyed or disposed of any of the property of the estate, or who has in his possession or within his knowledge any conveyances, bonds, contracts, or other writings which contain evidence of or may tend to establish the right, title, interest or claim of the deceased in and to any property. If such person be not in the county in which the letters were granted, he may be cited and examined either before the court of the county where found or before the court issuing the order of citation, and if he be found innocent of the charges he shall be entitled to recover costs of the estate, which costs shall be fees and mileage of witnesses, statutory attorney's fees, and such per diem and mileage for the person so charged as allowed to witnesses in civil proceedings. Such party may be brought before the court by means of citation such as the court may choose to issue, and if he refuse to answer such interrogatories as may be put to him touching such matters, the court may commit him to the county jail, there to remain until he shall be willing to make such answers. [L. '17, p. 670, § 102.]

The provision that all interrogatories shall be in writing and signed by the party examined does not require that interrogatories be prepared in toto before the hearing, but the court may require the matter to proceed summarily by questions reduced to writing and answered in writing in the presence of the court: Main v. Hadfield, 41 Wash. 504, 84 Pac. 12.

XV.

PROVISIONS FOR THE SUPPORT OF THE FAMILY.

§ 1473. Provisions in Lieu of Homestead and Exemptions.

If it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court that no homestead has been claimed in the manner provided by law, either prior or subsequent to the death of the person whose estate is being administered, then the court, upon such notice as may be determined by the court, upon being satisfied that the funeral expenses, expenses of last sickness and of administration have been paid or provided for, and upon petition for that purpose, shall award and set off to the surviving spouse, if any, property of the estate, either community or separate, not exceeding the value of three thousand dollars ($3,000), exclusive of any mortgage or mechanic's, laborer's or materialmen's or vendor's liens upon the property so set off, which property so set off shall include the home and household goods, if any, and such award shall be made by an order or judgment of the court and shall vest the absolute title, and thereafter there shall be no further administration upon such portion of the estate so set off, but the remainder of the estate shall be settled as other estates. The order or judgment of the court making the award or awards provided for in this section shall be conclusive and final, except on appeal and except for fraud. The awards in this section provided shall be in lieu of all homestead provisions of the law and of exemptions. [L. '17, p. 670, § 103.]

Rights of Surviving Husband: See Remington's Digest, Home., § 21; Wortman v. Vorhies, 14 Wash. 152, 44 Pac. 129; Feas' Estate, In re, 30 Wash. 51, 70 Pac. 270; Moyses v. Nyboe, 90 Wash. 257, 155 Pac. 1036.

This section enlarging the homestead rights of each spouse upon the death of the other does not entitle a surviving wife to a homestead in the undivided half of community property that had not been selected as a homestead in the husband's lifetime, and had become vested in his heirs by descent prior to the taking effect of the act of 1917; since it would impair vested rights: Bloor's Estate, In re, 109 Wash. 554, 187 Pac. 396.

Under this section the judgment cannot be attacked by motion to vacate it after time for appeal has expired, where the court had jurisdiction of the parties and subject matter and there was no claim of fraud: Hamilton's Estate, In re, 108 Wash. 326, 184 Pac. 337.

Homestead Rights of Surviving Wife: See Remington's Digest, Home., § 22; Eyres' Estate, In re, 7 Wash. 291, 34 Pac. 831; Anderson v. Stadlmann, 17 Wash. 433, 49 Pac. 1070; Austin v. Clifford, 24 Wash. 172, 64 Pac. 155; Murphy's Estate, In re, 46 Wash. 574, 90 Pac. 916; Fairfax v. Walters, 66 Wash. 583, 120 Pac. 81; Clark v. Baker, 76 Wash. 110, 135 Pac. 1025.

See, also, Bloor's Estate, In re, 109 Wash. 554, 187 Pac. 396.

Rights of Children or Heirs: See Remington's Digest, Home., § 23; Stewin v. Thrift, 30 Wash. 36, 75 Pac. 116; Hedemark's Estate, In re, 77 Wash. 525, 137 Pac. 1031.

See, also, Bloor's Estate, In re, 109 Wash. 554, 187 Pac. 396.

Rem. Code, § 1464, did not place any limitation on the power of sale, and an order setting the estate apart vests full title: Scott v. Stark, 75 Wash. 610, 135 Pac. 643.

Rem. Code, § 1464, was not impliedly repealed by section 528 et seq., providing for the selection by the surviving spouse of a homestead of the value of $1,000 out of the real property of the deceased; since the acts are not repugnant and repeals by implication are not favored: Scott v. Stark, 75 Wash. 610, 135 Pac. 643.

A contract between a husband and wife providing that upon the death of either, the survivor shall not receive any right or interest in the separate property of the other, is to be strictly construed, and does not prevent a widow from taking advantage of this section, since, in the case of real property, the wife's interest could be conveyed only by deed: Scott v. Stark, 75 Wash. 610, 135 Pac. 643.

Although Rem. Code, § 1464, restricting a widow's allowance to $1,000 was repealed by the probate code of 1917 without saving existing rights, this and the next section, making the allowance $3,000 will be treated as a rewriting or amendment of existing laws, in view of section 1589, infra: Lavenberg's Estate, In re, 104 Wash. 515, 177 Pac. 328.

A nonresident widow is entitled to the allowance of $3,000, under this and the next section; since the law is not strictly a homestead or exemption law, but is based on charity to prevent dependency and is to be liberally construed; the widow being in no sense a contending party as to creditors: Lavenberg's Estate, In re, 104 Wash. 515, 177 Pac. 328.

§ 1474. Homestead Awarded—Additional Provisions.

In event a homestead has been, or shall be selected in the manner provided by law, whether the selection of such homestead result in vesting the complete or partial title in the survivor, it shall be the duty of the court, upon petition of any person interested, and upon being satisfied that the value thereof does not exceed two thousand dollars ($2,000), exclusive of mortgages, mechanic's, laborer's, materialmen's or vendor's liens thereon, to enter a decree, upon such notice as the court may determine, setting off and awarding such homestead to the survivor, thereby vesting the title thereto in fee simple in the survivor. In addition thereto, the court, upon being satisfied that the funeral expenses, expenses of last sickness and of administration have been paid or provided for, shall set off and award to such survivor, other property, either separate, or community, not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) in value, exclusive of all such liens. If the value of the homestead, exclusive of all such liens, be less than two thousand dollars ($2,000), the court shall set off and award additional property, either separate or community, in lieu of such deficiency, so that the value of the homestead, exclusive of all such liens, when added to the value of the other property awarded, exclusive of all such liens, shall equal three thousand dollars ($3,000). Said decree shall particularly describe the said homestead and other property so awarded, and such homestead and other property so awarded shall not be subject to further administration, and such decree shall be conclusive and final, except on appeal, and except for fraud, and such awards shall be in lieu of all further homestead rights and of all exemptions: Provided, that the awards in this and the next preceding section provided for, shall not be taken from separate property of the deceased, which is otherwise disposed of by will, where there is no minor child living as the issue of the surviving spouse and the deceased. [L. '17, p. 671, § 104.]

The former statute authorizing the setting aside of a homestead to a widow by the probate court, from the community real property did not require the appointment of appraisers to determine the value: Smith v. Ferry, 43 Wash. 460, 86 Pac. 658.

§ 1475. Provision for Minor Children.

If there be no surviving spouse, the court shall award and set aside to the minor child or children, if any, and in such proportions as he considers proper, property of the estate as the court may consider necessary for the care and support of said minor or minors until they become of legal age, not exceeding in value the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000). [L. '17, p. 672, § 105.]

§ 1476. Further Allowance for Maintenance.

In addition to the awards herein provided for, the court may make such further reasonable allowance of cash out of the estate as may be necessary for the maintenance of the family according to their circumstances, during the progress of the settlement of the estate, and any such allowance shall be paid by the executor or administrator in preference to all other charges, except funeral charges, expenses of last sickness and expenses of administration. XVI.

CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATE.

§ 1477. Notice to Creditors—Limitation.

Every executor or administrator shall, immediately after his appointment, cause to be published in some newspaper printed in the county, if there be one, if not, then in such newspaper as may be designated by the court, a notice that he has been appointed and has qualified as such executor or administrator, and therewith a notice to the creditors of the deceased, requiring all persons having claims against the deceased to serve the same on the executor or administrator or his attorney of record, and file with the clerk of the court, together with proof of such service, within six months after the date of the first publication of such notice. Such notice shall be published not less than once in each week for three successive weeks, or for such further time as the court may direct. If a claim be not filed within the time aforesaid, it shall be barred. Proof by affidavit of the publisher of the publication of such notice shall be filed with the court: Provided, however, in cases where all the property is awarded to the widow, husband or children as in this act provided, the notice to creditors herein provided for may be omitted. The statutes of limitation are not extended, in case of the death of a debtor, by provisions requiring notice to creditors and the presentment of claims within one year thereafter, as the latter sections give that right only to claims not already barred by the general statute of limitations: Bank of Montreal v. Buchanan, 32 Wash. 480, 73 Pac. 482.

The statute of nonclaim is mandatory and requires that claims against estates be presented within six months: First Security & Loan Co. v. Englehart, 107 Wash. 86, 181 Pac. 13.

Under this section claims presented and allowed within six months, not filed with the clerk of the court until three months after the statutory six months period had expired, are barred and it is error to order their payment: Thompson's Estate, In re, 110 Wash. 635, 188 Pac. 784.

Where claims against an estate were allowed within the six months period for presenting claims, it will be presumed that they were filed before they were allowed, although there was no record of the time: Thompson's Estate, In re, 110 Wash. 635, 188 Pac. 784.

Filing claim as an unsecured one as a waiver of mortgage or other lien. 2 A. L. R. 1132.

§ 1478. Affidavit of Claimant.

Every claim served and filed as above provided shall be supported by the affidavit of the claimant that the amount is justly due, that no payments have been made thereon, and that there are no offsets to the same to the knowledge of the claimant. [L. '17, p. 673, § 108.]

Pocock, 92 Wash. 625, 159 Pac. 771; Harvey v. Pocock, 100 Wash. 263, 170 Pac. 545; Empson v. Fortune, 102 Wash. 16, 172 Pac. 873.

Under this section requiring every claim filed to be supported by affidavit, an unsupported claim is ineffectual: First Security & Loan Co. v. Englehart, 107 Wash. 86, 181 Pac. 13.

§ 1479. Allowance and Rejection of Claims—Failure to Act.

When a claim, accompanied by the affidavit required in the preceding section has been served and filed, it shall be the duty of the executor or administrator to indorse thereon his allowance or rejection, with the day and date thereof. If he allow the claim, it shall be presented to the judge of the court, who shall in the same manner indorse on it his allowance or rejection. If the executor or administrator reject the claim in whole or in part, he shall notify the claimant forthwith of said rejection and file in the office of the clerk an affidavit showing such notification and the date thereof. Such notification shall be by personal service or registered mail.

If the executor or administrator shall neglect for the period of sixty days after service upon him or his attorney to act upon any such claim, the claimant may take the matter up before the court and the court may require the executor or administrator to act on such claim and in its discretion may impose costs and attorney's fees. [L. '17, p. 673, § 109.]

§ 1480. Effect of Allowance of Claim.

Every claim which has been allowed by the executor or the administrator and the said judge, shall be ranked among the acknowledged debts of the estate to be paid in the course of administration. [L. '17, p. 674, § 110.]

Judgment and Enforcement: See Remington's Digest, Ex. & Ad., §§ 154, 155; Hill v. Lowman, 15 Wash. 503, 46 Pac. 1042; Spokane v. Costello, 57 Wash. 183, 106 Pac. 764; Collins v. Denny Clay Co., 41 Wash. 136, 82 Pac. 1012.

A finding that two claims had been filed, allowed and paid cannot be sustained where the record fails to show either of them, and they had never been filed: Thompson's Estate, In re, 110 Wash. 635, 188 Pac. 784.

An order approving an administrator's final account showing the payment of certain allowed claims, is sufficient as an allowance of the claims by the court: Thompson's Estate, In re, 110 Wash. 635, 188 Pac. 784.

§ 1481. Judge as Creditor of Estate.

Any judge of a court may present a claim against the estate of any decedent for allowance; and if the executor or administrator allows such claim, he shall, in writing, designate some other judge of the superior court, who shall have the same power to allow or reject it as he would have, had letters issued in his court; and the claimant shall have, in the event of his claim being rejected, all the rights incident to any other creditor against the estate. [L. '17, p. 674, § 111.]

§ 1482. Suit on Rejected Claims.

When a claim is rejected by either the executor, administrator, or the court, the holder must bring suit in the proper court against the executor or administrator within thirty days after notification of the rejection, otherwise the claim shall be forever barred. [L. '17, p. 674, § 112.]

The act requiring suits on claims against estates of decedents within three months after rejection of the claims does not apply by analogy to claims against the estate of an incompetent person, and the same are not barred three months after rejection: Clough v. Monro, 86 Wash. 507, 150 Pac. 1190.

§ 1485. Limitation Tolled by Vacancy.

The time during which there shall be a vacancy in the administration shall not be included in any limitations herein prescribed. [L. '17, p. 674, § 115.]

§ 1486. Actions Pending at Death—Substitution.

If any action be pending against the testator or intestate at the time of his death, the plaintiff shall within ninety days after first publication of notice to creditors, serve on the executor or administrator a motion to have such executor or administrator, as such, substituted as defendant in such action, and, upon the hearing of such motion, such executor or administrator shall be so substituted, unless, at or prior to such hearing, the claim of plaintiff, together with costs, be allowed by the executor or administrator and the court. After the substitution of such executor or administrator, the court shall proceed to hear and determine the action as in other civil cases. [L. '17, p. 674, § 116.]

Cited in 102 Wash. 159, 160.

This section applies to actions pending in the superior court, and does not repeal section 1743, infra, relating to substitutions in the supreme court upon the death of party after final judgment in the superior court: Mohney v. Davis, 102 Wash. 158, 171 Pac. 919.

Suit Already Pending: See Remington's Digest, Ex. & Ad., § 73; Reed v. Miller, 1 Wash. 426, 25 Pac. 334; Strong v. Eldridge, 8 Wash. 895, 36 Pac. 696; Mcgrath v. Gilmore, 15 Wash. 558, 46 Pac. 1032; First Nat. Bank v. Cunningham, 72 Wash. 532, 130 Pac. 1148.

§ 1487. Partial Allowance of Claim.

Whenever any claim shall have been filed and presented to an executor or administrator and the court, and a part thereof shall be allowed, the amount of such allowance shall be stated in the indorsement. If the creditor shall refuse to accept the amount so allowed in satisfaction of his claim, he shall recover no costs in any action he may bring against the executor or administrator, unless he shall recover a greater amount than that offered to be allowed, exclusive of interest and costs. [L. '17, p. 675, § 117.]

§ 1488. Judgment Against Executor—Effect.

The effect of any judgment rendered against any executor or administrator shall be only to establish the amount of the judgment as an allowed claim. [L. '17, p. 675, § 118.]

Under this section, creditors whose claims have been allowed and established, have no such right to, or lien upon, chattels mortgaged by the deceased as to be entitled to question the validity of the mortgage as between the parties thereto: Spokane Merchants' Assn. v. First National Bank of Colville, 86 Wash. 367, 150 Pac. 434, L. R. A. 1918A, 323.

Where executors are liable in their representative capacity, the judgment must provide for payment in due course of administration, and not by execution: Collins v. Denny Clay Co., 41 Wash. 136, 82 Pac. 1012.

This section applies only to judgments rendered against the deceased in his life time, and not to a judgment of affirmance against the administratrix after she was substituted as appellant: Wynne v. Harvey, 109 Wash. 1, 186 Pac. 310.

Where, pending appeal, the judgment debtor died and the administratrix was substituted, judgment of affirmance was against the administratrix in her representative capacity, and the claim need not be presented within one year, in view of this section: Wynne v. Harvey, 109 Wash. 1, 186 Pac. 310.

§ 1489. Judgment Against Decedent—Presentation—Lien.

When any judgment has been rendered against the testator or intestate in his lifetime, no execution shall issue thereon after his death, but it shall be presented to the executor or administrator, as any other claim, but need not be supported by the affidavit of the claimant, and if justly due and unsatisfied, shall be paid in due course of administration: Provided, however, that if it be a lien on any property of the deceased, the same may be sold for the satisfaction thereof, and the officer making the sale shall account to the executor or administrator for any surplus in his hands. [L. '17, p. 675, § 119.]

§ 1490. Claims of Personal Representatives.

If the executor or administrator is himself a creditor of the testator or intestate, his claim, duly authenticated by affidavit, shall be filed and presented for allowance or rejection to the judge of the court, and its allowance by the judge shall be sufficient evidence of its correctness. This section shall apply to nonintervention and all other wills. [L. '17, p. 675, § 120.]

No contest can be waived by an executor on presentation of his claim against the estate until a rejection of the claim by the judge, and then only by suit on the rejected claim, for the bringing of which the executor must resign: Parkes' Estate, In re, 105 Wash. 586, 178 Pac. 830.

Estate, In re, 105 Wash. 586, 178 Pac. 830.

A petition filed by the executor of an estate, seeking to establish a claim in his favor against the estate, if treated as a complaint, is demurrable where it contains no allegation that a verified claim therefor was filed and presented to the judge as required by this section, which is mandatory: Parkes' Estate, In re, 105 Wash. 586, 178 Pac. 830.

§ 1491. Resignation or Removal—Notice.

In case of resignation or removal for any cause of any executor or administrator, and the appointment of another or others, after notice has been given by publication as required by law, by such executor or administrator first appointed, to persons to file their claims against the estate, it shall be the duty of the judge of the court to cause notice of such resignation or removal and such new appointment to be published two successive weeks in the same newspaper in which the original notice was published, if the publication of such paper is at the time continued, and if not, then in some other newspaper published in the county, or if there be no newspaper published in such county, then in a newspaper published in the state and of general circulation in the county, but the time between the resignation or removal and such publication shall be deducted from the time within which claims shall be filed unless such time shall have expired before such resignation or removal. [L. '17, p. 675, § 121.]

XVII.SALES AND MORTGAGES BY EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.*§ 1492. Authority for Sale or Mortgage.

The court may order real or personal property sold or mortgaged for the purposes hereinafter mentioned but no sale or mortgage of any property of an estate shall be made except under an order of the court, unless otherwise provided by law. [L. '17, p. 676, § 122.]

§ 1493. Personal Property Sale—Mortgage or Pledge of.

The court may at any time order any personal property of the estate sold for the preservation of such property or for the payment of the debts of the estate or the expenses of administration or for the purpose of discharging any obligation of the estate or for any other reason which may to the court seem right and proper, and such order may be made either upon or without petition therefor, and such sales may be either at public auction or private sale and with or without notice of such sale, as the court may determine, and upon such terms and conditions as the court may decide upon. No notice of petition for sale of any personal property need be given, except as provided in section 1434 hereof, unless the court expressly orders such notice.

Where personal property is sold prior to appraisement, the sale price shall be deemed the value for appraisal. Personal property may be mortgaged or pledged for the same reasons and purposes, and in the same manner as is hereinafter provided for real property. [L. '17, p. 676, § 123.]

§ 1494. Real Property—Sale or Mortgage—Petition—Notice—Hearing.

Whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that any portion or all of the real property should be sold or mortgaged for the purpose of raising money to pay the debts and obligations of the estate, the expenses of administration, inheritance tax or for the support of the family, the court may order the sale or mortgage of such portion of the real property as appears to the court necessary for the purpose aforesaid. It shall be the duty of the executor or administrator to present a petition to the court giving a description of all the property of the estate and its character, the amount of the debts, expenses and obligations of the estate and such other things as will tend to assist the court in determining the necessity for the sale or mortgage and the amount thereof. Unless the court shall by order expressly so provide, no notice of the hearing of such petition for sale or mortgage need be given, except as provided in section 1434 hereof; if, however, the court should order notice of such hearing, it shall determine upon the kind, character and time thereof. At the hearing of such petition the court may have brought before it such testimony or information as it may see fit to receive, for the purpose of determining whether it should order any of the property of the estate sold or mortgaged. The absence of any allegation in the petition shall not deprive the court of jurisdiction to order said sale or mortgage, and the court may, if it see fit, order such sale or mortgage or both without any petition having been previously presented. [L. '17, p. 677, § 124.]

§ 1495. Order Directing Mortgage—Irregularities—Effect.

If the court should determine that it is necessary or proper, for any of the said purposes, to mortgage any or all of said property, it may make an order directing the executor or administrator to mortgage such thereof as it may determine upon, and such order shall contain the terms and conditions of such transaction and authorize the executor or administrator to execute and deliver his note or notes and secure the same by mortgage, and thereafter it shall be the duty of such executor or administrator to comply with such order. The executor or administrator shall not deliver any such note, mortgage or other evidence of indebtedness until he has first presented same to the court and obtained its approval of the form. Every mortgage so made and approved shall be effectual to mortgage and encumber all the right, title and interest of the said estate in the property described therein at the time of the death of the said decedent, or acquired by his estate, and no irregularity in the proceedings shall impair or invalidate any mortgage given under such order of the court and approved by it. [L. '17, p. 677, § 125.]

§ 1496. Order Directing Sale.

If the court should determine that it is necessary to sell any or all of the real estate for the purposes mentioned in this act, then it may make and cause to be entered an order directing the executor or administrator to sell so much of the real estate as the court may determine necessary for the purposes aforesaid. Such order shall give a particular description of the property to be sold and the terms of such sale and shall provide whether such property shall be sold at public or private sale. The court shall order sold that part of the real estate which is generally devised, rather than any part which may have been specifically devised, but the court may, if it appears necessary, sell any or all of the real estate so devised. After the giving of such order it shall be the duty of the administrator or executor to sell such real estate in accordance with the order of the court and as in this act provided with reference to the public or private sales of real estate. [L. '17, p. 678, § 126.]

§ 1497. Sales at Public Auction—Notice.

When real property is directed to be sold at public auction, notice of the time and place of such sale shall be posted in not less than three public places in the county where the property or some part thereof is situated, at least twenty days before the day of sale, and such notice shall be published in some newspaper published in said county, if there be one, and if none, then in such newspaper or newspapers as the court may by order direct, once a week for three successive weeks before such sale, in which notices the property ordered sold shall be described with proper certainty. At the time and place named in such notices for the said sale, the executor or administrator shall proceed to sell the property upon the terms and conditions ordered by the court, and to the highest and best bidder. All sales of real estate at public auction shall be made at the front door of the courthouse of the county in which the lands are, unless the court shall by order otherwise direct. [L. '17, p. 678, § 127.]

§ 1498. Postponement of Sale—Notice.

The executor or administrator, should he deem it for the best interests of all concerned, may postpone such sale to a time fixed but not to exceed twenty days, and such postponement shall be made by proclamation of the executor or administrator at the time and place first appointed for the sale; if there be an adjournment of such sale for more than three days, then it shall be the duty of the executor or administrator to cause written notice of such adjournment to be posted at the place of posting the original notices of sale in addition to making such proclamation. [L. '17, p. 679, § 128.]

§ 1499. Private Sale of Realty—Notice—Bids.

When a sale of real property is ordered to be made at private sale, notice of the same must be posted in three public places in the county in which the property or part thereof is situated, and published in a newspaper, if there be one printed in the same county; if none, then in such newspaper as the court may direct; such notice to be posted at least two weeks and be published once a week for at least two successive weeks before the day on or after which the sale is to be made, in which the lands and tenements to be sold must be described with common certainty. The notice must state the day on or after which the sale will be made and the place where offers or bids will be received. The day last referred to must be at least fifteen days from the first publication of notice and the sale must not be made before that day, but must be made within six months thereafter. The bids or offers must be in writing, and may be left at the place designated in the notice or delivered to the executor or administrator personally, or may be filed in the office of the clerk of the court to which the return of sale must be made, at any time after the first publication of the notice and before the making of the sale. If it be shown that it will be for the best interest of the estate the court or judge may, by an order, shorten the time of notice, which shall not, however, be less than one week, and may provide that the sale may be made on or after a day less than fifteen, but not less than eight days from the first publication of the notice of sale, and the sale may be made to correspond with such order. [L. '17, p. 679, § 129.]

§ 1500. Sale must Bring Ninety Per Cent of Appraised Value—Reappraisements.

No sale of real estate at private sale shall be confirmed by the court unless the sum offered is at least ninety per cent of the appraised value thereof, nor unless such real estate shall have been appraised within one year immediately prior to such sale. If it has not been so appraised, or if the court is satisfied that the appraisal is too high or too low, appraisers may be appointed, and they must make an appraisal thereof in the same manner as in the case of the original appraisal of the estate, and which appraisal may be made at any time before the sale or the confirmation thereof. [L. '17, p. 680, § 130.]

§ 1501. Return of Sale—Approval—Order for Resale.

The executor or administrator making any sale of real estate, either at public or private sale, shall within ten days after making such sale file with the clerk of the court his return of such sale, the same being duly verified. At any time after the expiration of ten days from the filing of such return the court may without notice approve and confirm such sale and direct proper instruments of transfer to be executed and delivered. But if the court shall be of the opinion that the proceedings were unfair, or that the sum obtained was disproportionate to the value of the property sold, or if made at private sale that it did not sell for at least ninety per cent of the appraised value as in the preceding section provided, and that a sum exceeding said bid by at least ten per cent exclusive of the expense of a new sale, may be obtained, the court may refuse to approve or confirm such sale and may order a resale. On a resale, notice shall be given and the sale shall be conducted in all respects as though no previous sale had been made. [L. '17, p. 680, § 131.]

§ 1502. Offer of Increased Bid—Duty of Court.

If, at any time before confirmation of any such sale, any person shall present to the court or file with the clerk of the court a bid on such property for an amount equal to ten per cent higher than the bid upon which sale was made by the executor or administrator, and shall deposit with the court or the clerk not less than twenty per cent of such bid, the same to be forfeited to the estate unless such bidder shall comply with his bid, then it shall be the duty of the court to cause the former successful bidder to be informed of such increased bid and to give such former successful bidder an opportunity to raise his bid higher than the bid of said subsequent bidder, and if such former successful bidder fails within the time fixed by the court to raise his bid as aforesaid, the property may be sold to such subsequent bidder, or if such first successful bidder should raise his bid as herein provided then the property may be sold to him. [L. '17, p. 681, § 132.]

§ 1503. Order for Conveyance.

Upon the confirmation of any such sale the court shall direct the executor or administrator to make, execute and deliver instruments conveying the title to the person to whom such property may be sold, and such instruments of conveyance shall be deemed to convey all the estate, rights and interests of the testator or intestate at the death of the deceased, and any interest acquired by the estate. [L. '17, p. 681, § 133.]

§ 1504. Confirmation Conclusive as to Regularity.

No petition or allegation thereof for the sale of real estate shall be considered jurisdictional, and confirmation by the court of any sale shall be absolutely conclusive as to the regularity of all proceedings leading up to and including such sale, and no instrument of conveyance of real estate made after confirmation of sale by the court shall be open to attack upon any grounds whatsoever except for fraud, and the confirmation by the court of any such sale shall be conclusive proof that all statutory provisions and all orders of the court with reference to such sale have been complied with. § 1509. Sale of Decedent's Contract Interest in Lands.

If the deceased person at the time of his death was possessed of a contract for the purchase of lands, his interest in such lands under such contract may be sold on the application of his executor or administrator in the same manner as if he died seized of such lands; and the same proceedings may be had for that purpose as are prescribed in this act in respect to lands of which he died seized, except as hereinafter provided. [L. '17, p. 683, § 139.]

§ 1510. Purchaser's Bond to Secure Payments.

Such sale shall be made subject to all payments that may thereafter become due on such contract, and if there be any such payments thereafter to become due such sale shall not be confirmed by the court until the purchaser shall have executed a bond to the executor or administrator for his benefit and indemnity, and for the benefit and indemnity of the persons entitled to the interest of the deceased in lands so contracted for, in double the whole amount of the payments thereafter to become due on such contract, with such sureties as the court shall approve. [L. '17, p. 683, § 140.]

§ 1511. Conditions of Bond.

Such bond shall be conditioned that the purchaser will make all payments for such land as shall become due after the date of such sale, and will fully indemnify the executor or administrator and the person so entitled against all demands, costs and charges and expenses, by reason of any covenant or agreement contained in such contract; but if there be no payments thereafter to become due on such contract, no bond shall be required of the purchaser. [L. '17, p. 683, § 141.]

§ 1512. Assignment of Decedent's Contract.

Upon the confirmation of such sale, the executor or administrator shall execute to the purchaser an assignment of the contract, which assignment shall vest in the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, all the right, title and interest of the persons entitled to the interest of the deceased in the land sold at the time of the sale, and such purchaser shall have the same rights and remedies against the vendor of such lands as the deceased would have had if living. § 1514. Sale or Mortgage to Effect Redemption.

If it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court that it will be to the interest of the estate of any deceased person to sell or mortgage other personal estate or to sell or mortgage other real estate of the decedent than that mortgaged by him to redeem the property so mortgaged, the court may order the sale or mortgaging of any personal estate, or the sale or mortgaging of any real estate of the decedent which it may deem expedient to be sold or mortgaged for such purpose, which sale or mortgaging shall be conducted in all respects as other sales or mortgages of like property ordered by the court. [L. '17, p. 684, § 144.]

§ 1515. Sale of Mortgaged Property, if Redemption Inexpedient.

If such redemption be not deemed expedient, the court shall order such property to be sold at public or private sale, which sale shall be with the same notice and conducted in the same manner as required in other cases of real estate or personal property provided for in this act, and shall be sold subject to such mortgage, and the executor or administrator shall thereupon execute a conveyance thereof to the purchaser, which conveyance shall be effectual to convey to the purchaser all the right, title, and interest which the deceased had in the property, and the purchase money, after paying the expenses of the sale, shall be applied to the residue in due course of administration. [L. '17, p. 684, § 145.]

§ 1516. Sales Directed by Will.

When property is directed by will to be sold, or authority is given in the will to sell property, the executor may sell any property of the estate without the order of the court, and without any notice, and it shall not be necessary under such circumstances to make any application to the court with reference to such sales or have the same confirmed by the court. [L. '17, p. 684, § 146.]

POWERS AND DUTIES OF EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

§ 1517. Powers and Duties.

It shall be the duty of every executor or administrator to settle the estate in his hands as rapidly and as quickly as possible, without sacrifice to the estate. He shall collect all debts due the deceased and pay all debts as hereinafter provided. He shall be authorized in his own name to maintain and prosecute such actions as pertain to the management and settlement of the estate, and may institute suit to collect any debts due the estate or to recover any property, real or personal, or for trespass of any kind or character. [L. '17, p. 685, § 147.]

COLLECTION AND MANAGEMENT OF ESTATE—IN GENERAL: See Remington's Digest, Ex. & Ad., §§ 37—47. Representation of Decedent: Smith v. Northern Pac. R. Co., 22 Wash. 500, 61 Pac. 255.

Legatees under a will who objected to the consummation of an investment in bonds and preferred that the executors forfeit a deposit thereon cannot hold an executor personally liable for the deposit on the ground that they failed to obtain permission of the court to make the investment, where there would have been no loss if the investment had been consummated, as such executor proposed and wished to do: McDonald's Estate, In re, 110 Wash. 366, 188 Pac. 523.

Right of personal representative to bring ejectment for lands of deceased: 15 Ann. Cas. 569; 18 L. R. A. 789.

Necessity that executor or administrator, in action brought by him, allege that suit is brought in representative capacity. Ann. Cas. 1916E, 114.

§ 1519. Waste, Conversion and Trespass.

Executors and administrators may maintain actions against any person who shall have wasted, destroyed, taken, carried away, or converted to his own use the goods of their testator or intestate in his lifetime; also may maintain actions for trespass committed on the estate of the deceased during his lifetime. [L. '17, p. 685, § 149.]

Railroad fill upon a street changing the grade and interfering with access, to the damage of the abutting owner of improved property, who owns the fee of the street, is a trespass for which the right of action survives, under this section: Seward v. Spokane & Seattle R. Co., 64 Wash. 516, 117 Pac. 263.

§ 1520. Actions on Torts of Decedent.

Any person, or his personal representatives, shall have an action against the executor or administrator of any estate or intestate who in his lifetime shall have wasted, destroyed, taken, or carried away, or converted to his own use, the goods and chattels of any such person, or committed any trespass on the real estate of such person. [L. '17, p. 685, § 150.]

§ 1521. Actions on Bonds of Prior Representatives.

Any administrator may in his own name, for the benefit of all parties interested in the estate, maintain actions on the bond of an executor or of any former administrator of the same estate. [L. '17, p. 685, § 151.]

§ 1522. Compromise of Claims.

The court shall have power to authorize the executor or administrator to compromise and compound any claim owing to the estate. [L. '17, p. 686, § 152.]

§ 1523. Recovery of Decedent's Fraudulent Conveyances.

When there shall be a deficiency of assets in the hands of an executor or administrator, and when the deceased shall in his lifetime have conveyed any real estate, or any rights, or interests therein, with intent to defraud his creditors or to avoid any right, duty or debt of any person, or shall have so conveyed such estate, which deeds or conveyances by law are void as against creditors the executor or administrator may, and it shall be his duty to, commence and prosecute to final judgment any proper action for the recovery of the same, and may recover for the benefit of the creditors all such real estate so fraudulently conveyed, and may also, for the benefit of the creditors, sue and recover all goods, chattels, rights and credits which may have been so fraudulently conveyed by the deceased in his lifetime, whatever may have been the matter of such fraudulent conveyance. [L. '17, p. 686, § 153.]

The rights of an executor to set aside the fraudulent conveyances of the decedent for the benefit of creditors, under this section, are the same as though the creditors were prosecuting the action against the fraudulent transferee during the lifetime of the deceased: Daniels v. Spear, 65 Wash. 121, 117 Pac. 737.

Under this section, the widow of the deceased has no interest in the action as an heir, although the property conveyed by the deceased was community property, of which the husband had sole control under section 6892, infra; since it cannot be said that she did not receive the benefit of the conveyance: Daniels v. Spear, 65 Wash. 121, 117 Pac. 737.

Right of personal representative to set aside fraudulent conveyance by decedent. 18 Ann. Cas. 37; Ann. Cas. 1915B, 212.

XIX.

ACCOUNTS OF EXECUTORS AND ADMINISTRATORS AND PAYMENT OF DEBTS.

§ 1524. Promise to Pay Decedent's Debts.

No executor or administrator shall be chargeable upon any special promise to answer damages, or to pay the debts of the testator or intestate out of his own estate, unless the agreement for that purpose, or some memorandum or note thereof, is in writing and signed by such executor or administrator, or by some other person by him thereunto specially authorized. [L. '17, p. 686, § 154.]

§ 1525. Chargeable With Whole Estate.

Every executor and administrator shall be chargeable in his accounts with the whole estate of the deceased which may come into his possession. He shall not be responsible for loss or decrease or destruction of any of the property or effects of the estate, without his fault. [L. '17, p. 686, § 155.]

§ 1526. Allowance of Expenses.

He shall be allowed all necessary expenses in the care, management and settlement of the estate. [L. '17, p. 687, § 156.]

§ 1527. Uncollectible Debts of Estate—Purchase by Executor of Claims.

No executor or administrator shall be accountable for any debts due the estate, if it shall appear that they remain uncollected without his fault. No executor or administrator shall purchase any claim against the estate he represents, but however the executor or administrator may make application to the court for permission to purchase certain claims, and if it appears to the court to be for the benefit of the estate that such purchase shall be made, the court may make an order allowing such claims and directing that the same may be purchased by the executor or administrator under such terms as the court shall order, and such claims shall thereafter be paid as are other claims, but the executor or administrator shall not profit thereby. [L. '17, p. 687, § 157.]

§ 1528. Compensation—Attorney's Fees.

Where no compensation shall have been provided by will, or the executor shall renounce his claim thereto, he shall be allowed such compensation as to the court shall seem just and reasonable, based on the services rendered; and the like compensation shall be allowed to administrators. In all cases where it is necessary for such executor or administrator to employ an attorney, such attorney shall be allowed such compensation as to the court shall seem just and reasonable. [L. '17, p. 687, § 158.]

The allowance of $1,025 for fees of an attorney for an executrix of an estate, appraised at $144,000, is excessive and should be reduced to $500, where $115,000 of the appraised property proved to be of little or no value: Johnston's Estate, In re, 107 Wash. 25, 181 Pac. 209.

An administrator is not to be deprived of his statutory compensation by reason of irregularities, where he was not guilty of fraud and administered the estate with great ability and resourcefulness in the face of financial difficulties: Johnston's Estate, In re, 107 Wash. 25, 181 Pac. 209.

The appraised value of the estate is only the prima facie value of figuring an administrator's statutory commissions, which should be based upon the total cash received from all sources, plus the value of real estate conveyed in satisfaction of debts, and plus the appraised value of household goods administered; and where that amounts to the sum of $39,831.24, the statutory commission is $1,633.24: Johnston's Estate, In re, 107 Wash. 25, 181 Pac. 209.

§ 1529. Reports—Contents.

Within thirty days after the expiration of the time for filing of claims of creditors, the executor or administrator shall make, verify by his oath, and file with the clerk of the court a report of the affairs of the estate. Such report shall contain a statement of the claims filed and allowed and all those rejected, and if it be necessary to sell or mortgage any property for the purpose of paying debts or settling any obligations against the estate or expenses of administration or allowance to the family, he may in such report set out the facts showing such necessity and ask for such sale or mortgage; such report shall likewise state the amount of property, real and personal, which has come into his hands, and give a detailed statement of all sums collected by him, and of all sums paid out, and it shall state such other things and matters as may be proper or necessary to give the court full information regarding any transactions by him done or which should be done. Such executor or administrator may, however, make, verify, and file, prior to the expiration of the time for the presentation of claims, any reports which in his judgment would be proper or which the court may order to be made. § 1530. Notice of Hearing—Settlement by Court.

It shall not be necessary for the executor or administrator to give any notice of the hearing of any report prior to the final report, except as in section 1434 provided, but the court may require notice of the hearing of any such report. If the court does not require such notice to be given, then at any time after ten days following the filing of any report, other than the final report, the court may hear and settle such report. [L. '17, p. 688, § 160.]

§ 1531. Final Report and Petition for Distribution.

When the estate shall be ready to be closed, such executor or administrator shall make, verify and file with the court his final report and petition for distribution. Such final report and petition shall, among other things, show that the estate is ready to be settled, and shall show any moneys collected since the previous report, and any property which may have come into the hands of the executor or administrator since his previous report, and debts paid, and generally the condition of the estate at that time. It shall likewise set out the names and addresses, as nearly as may be, of all the legatees and devisees in the event there shall have been a will, and the names and addresses, as nearly as may be, of all the heirs who may be entitled to share in such estate, and shall give a particular description of all the property of the estate remaining undisposed of, and shall set out such other matters as may tend to inform the court of the condition of the estate, and it may ask the court for a settlement of the estate and distribution of property and the discharge of the executor or administrator. If the executor or administrator has been discharged without having legally closed the estate, without having legally obtained an adjudication as to the heirs, or without having legally procured a decree of distribution or final settlement the court may in its discretion upon petition of any person interested, cause all such steps to be taken in such estate as were omitted or defective. [L. '17, p. 688, § 161.]

§ 1532. Time and Place of Hearings—Notice.

When such final report and petition for distribution, or either, shall have been filed, the court shall fix a day for the hearing of the same, which day must be at least twenty-five days subsequent to the day of the first publication and posting of notices of such hearing as hereinafter provided. Notice of the time and place fixed for such hearing shall be given by the executor or administrator by publishing the same at least once a week for three successive weeks preceding the time fixed for such hearing, such publication to be in such paper as the court may order, and such notice shall be posted in three public places in the county at least twenty-five days preceding the time fixed for such hearing, and which shall state in substance that a final report and petition for distribution have, or either thereof has, been filed with the clerk of the court, and that the court is asked to settle such report, distribute the property to the heirs or persons entitled to the same, and discharge the executor or administrator, and it shall give the time and place fixed for the hearing of such final report and petition and shall be signed by the executor or administrator or the clerk of the court and be posted and published or caused to be posted and published as aforesaid. [L. '19, p. 59, § 1. Cf. L. '17, p. 689, § 162.]

Notice of distribution in probate proceedings as jurisdictional. 37 L. B. A. (N. S.) 368.

§ 1533. Hearing on Final Report—Decree of Distribution.

Upon the date fixed for the hearing of such final report and petition for distribution, or either thereof, or any day to which such hearing may have been adjourned by the court, if the court be satisfied that the notice of the time and place of hearing has been given as provided herein, it may proceed to the hearing aforesaid. Any person interested may file objections to the said report and petition for distribution, or may appear at the time and place fixed for the hearing thereof and present his objections thereto. The court may take such testimony as to it appears proper or necessary to determine whether the estate is ready to be settled, and whether the transactions of the executor or administrator should be approved, and to determine who are the legatees or heirs or persons entitled to have the property distributed to them, and the court shall, if it approves such report, and finds the estate ready to be closed, cause to be entered a decree approving such report, find and adjudge the persons entitled to the remainder of the estate, and that all debts have been paid, and by such decree shall distribute the real and personal property to those entitled to the same. The court may, upon such final hearing, partition among the persons entitled thereto, the estate held in common and undivided, and designate and distribute their respective shares; or assign the whole or any part of said estate to one or more of the persons entitled to share therein. That the person or persons to whom said estate is assigned shall pay or secure to the other parties interested in said estate their just proportion of the value thereof as determined by the court from the appraisement, or from any other evidence which the court may require.

If it shall appear to the court at or prior to any final hearing that the estate cannot be fairly divided, then the whole or any part of said estate may be sold or mortgaged in the manner provided by law for the sale or mortgaging of property by executors or administrators and the proceeds thereof distributed to the persons entitled thereto as provided in the final decree. Upon the production of receipts from the beneficiaries or distributees for their portions of the estate, the court shall, if satisfied with the correctness thereof, adjudge the estate closed and discharge the executor or administrator.

The court shall have authority to make partition, distribution and settlement of all estates in any manner which to the court seems right and proper, to the end that such estates may be administered and distributed to the persons entitled thereto. No estate shall be partitioned, nor sale thereof made where partition is impracticable, except upon a hearing before the court and upon the testimony of at least three disinterested witnesses previously appointed by the court for the purpose of viewing such property to be partitioned or sold. The court shall fix the values of the several pieces or parcels to be partitioned at the time of making such order of partition or sale; and may order the property sold and the proceeds distributed, or may order partition and distribute the several pieces or parcels, subject to such charges or burdens as shall be proper and equitable.

The provisions of this section shall be concurrent with and not in derogation of other existing statutes as to partition of property. [L. '21, p. 243, § 1. Cf. L. '17, p. 689, § 163.]

An heir who assigned to the administrator all her interest in the estate in consideration of an agreement to pay her a sum equal to her proportionate share on final distribution, has no such interest in the estate as to be entitled to appeal from the final settlement allowing claims and distributing the estate, her remedy being solely on her contract: Thompson's Estate, In re, 110 Wash. 635, 188 Pac. 784.

§ 1534. Representation of Minor by Guardian.

If there be any minor interested in the estate who has no legally appointed guardian, the court shall appoint some disinterested person to represent such minor, with reference to such final report and petition for distribution, who, on behalf of the minor, may contest the same as any other person interested might contest it, and who shall be allowed by the court reasonable compensation for his services. [L. '17, p. 690, § 164.]

§ 1535. Agent for Nonresident Distributee.

When any estate shall have been distributed by decree of the court as provided in this chapter, to any person residing out of this state, and having no agent therein, and it shall be necessary that some person should be authorized to take possession and charge of the same for the benefit of such absent person, the court may appoint an agent for that purpose, and authorize him to take charge of such estate. [L. '17, p. 690, § 165.]

This act is within the inherent legislative power of the state to control the inheritance and descent of property, and does not violate the constitutional inhibition against the taking or sale of property without due process of law: Bickford v. Stewart, 55 Wash. 278, 104 Pac. 263, 34 L. R. A. (N. S.) 623.

Under this section, and Rem. & Bal. Code, § 1592, providing that notice could be given personally, any reasonable notice was sufficient, and a notice personally served on the nonresident, as a summons is served, thirty-three days prior to the time for the partition, together with notice to the agent appointed to act, is a reasonable notice: Ponti v. Hoffman, 87 Wash. 137, 151 Pac. 249.

§ 1536. Agent's Bond and Compensation.

Such agent shall give a bond to the state of Washington, to be approved by the court, conditioned faithfully to manage and account for such estate, before he shall be authorized to receive the same, and the court appointing such agent may allow a reasonable sum out of the estate for his services and expenses. [L. '17, p. 691, § 166.]

§ 1537. Sale of Unclaimed Share.

When the estate shall have remained in the hands of the agent unclaimed for three years, it shall be sold under order of the court, and the proceeds, after deducting the expenses of the sale and allowance to the agent, to be fixed by the court, shall be paid into the county treasury. When the payment is made the agent shall take triplicate receipts, one of which he shall file with the county auditor, and another with the court. [L. '17, p. 691, § 167.]

§ 1538. Liability of Agent.

The agent shall be liable on his bond for the care and preservation of the estate while in his hands, and for the payment of the proceeds of sale as required by the preceding section, and may be sued thereon by any person interested. [L. '17, p. 691, § 168.]

§ 1539. Claimant for Proceeds of Sale—Escheat to State.

If any person shall within four years immediately following the payment of said money as aforesaid to the treasurer, appear and claim the money paid into the treasury, the court making the distribution, being first satisfied of his right, shall order the payment of such money, and, upon the presentation of a certified copy of the order to the county auditor, he shall draw his warrant on the county treasurer for the amount. If no such claim be made within the four year period last above mentioned the said money shall escheat to the state. [L. '17, p. 691, § 169.]

§ 1540. Receipts for Expenses and Charges—Filing.

In rendering his accounts or reports the executor or administrator shall produce receipts for the expenses and charges which he shall have paid, which receipts shall be filed and remain in court; however, he may be allowed any item of expenditure, not exceeding twenty ($20), for which no receipt is produced, if such item be supported by his own oath, but such allowances without receipts shall not exceed the sum of three hundred dollars ($300) in any one estate. [L. '17, p. 691, § 170.]

§ 1541. Order for Payment of Debts.

The debts of the estate shall be paid in the following order:

- (1) Funeral expenses in such amount as the court shall order.
- (2) Expenses of the last sickness, in such amount as the court shall order.
- (3) Wages due for labor performed within sixty days immediately preceding the death of the decedent.
- (4) Debts having preference by the laws of the United States.
- (5) Taxes, or any debts or dues owing to the state.
- (6) Judgments rendered against the deceased in his lifetime which are liens upon real estate on which executions might have been issued at the time of his death, and debts secured by mortgages in the order of their priority.
- (7) All other demands against the estate. [L. '17, p. 692, § 171.]

Under this section, the wife's liability for her husband's funeral expenses is secondary and not primary, and in the absence of an express promise, cannot be enforced until the creditor has exhausted his remedy against the estate: Butterworth v. Bredemeyer, 74 Wash. 524, 133 Pac. 1061.

PRIORITIES: See Remington's Digest,

§ 1542. Mortgage and Judgment Preferences.

The preference given in the preceding section to a mortgage or judgment shall only extend to the proceeds of the property subject to the lien of such mortgage or judgment. [L. '17, p. 692, § 172.]

§ 1543. Allowance to Precede Payment.

No claim against the estate shall be paid until the same shall first have been allowed by both the executor or administrator and the court. [L. '17, p. 692, § 173.]

§ 1544. Payments in Case Estate Insufficient.

If the estate shall be insufficient to pay the debts of any class, each creditor shall be paid in proportion to his claim, and no other creditor of any lower class shall receive any payment until all those of the preceding class shall have been fully paid. [L. '17, p. 692, § 174.]

§ 1545. Expense of Monument.

Executors and administrators of the estate of any deceased person are hereby authorized, by and with the consent of the court, to expend a reasonable amount out of the estate of the decedent to erect a monument or tombstone suitable to mark the grave or crypt of the said decedent, and the expense thereof shall be paid as the expenses of administration are paid. [L. '17, p. 692, § 175.]

§ 1546. Payment of Claims—Liability of Personal Representatives.

Whenever a decree shall have been made by the court for the payment of creditors, the executor or administrator shall be personally liable to each creditor for his claim or the dividend thereon, except when his inability to make the payment thereof from the property of the estate shall result without fault upon his part. The executor or administrator shall likewise be liable on his bond to each creditor. [L. '17, p. 693, § 176.]

§ 1547. Action on Unpaid Claim—Contribution.

If, after the accounts of the executor or administrator have been settled and the property distributed, it shall appear that there is a creditor or creditors whose claim or claims have been duly filed and not paid or disallowed, the said claim or claims shall not be a lien upon any of the property distributed, but the said creditor or creditors shall have a cause of action against the executor or administrator and his bond, for such an amount as such creditor or creditors would have been entitled to receive had the said claim been duly allowed and paid, and shall also have a cause of action against the distributees and creditors for a contribution from them in proportion to the amount which they have received. If the executor or administrator or his sureties be required to make any payment in this section provided for, he or they shall have a right of action against said distributees and creditors to compel them to contribute their just share. [L. '17, p. 693, § 177.]

§ 1548. Order Maturing Claim not Due.

If there be any claim not due the court may in its discretion, after hearing upon such notice as may be determined by it, mature such claim and direct that the same be paid in the due course of the administration. [L. '17, p. 693, § 178.]

§ 1549. Contingent and Disputed Claims.

If there be any contingent or disputed claim against the estate, the amount thereof, or such part thereof as the holder would be entitled to, if the claim were established or absolute, shall be paid into the court, where it shall remain to be paid over to the party when he shall become entitled thereto; or if he fail to establish his claim, to be paid over or distributed as the circumstances of the case may require. [L. '17, p. 693, § 179.]

Cited in 108 Wash. 653.

§ 1550. Letters After Final Settlement.

A final settlement of the estate shall not prevent a subsequent issuance of letters of administration, should other property of the estate be discovered, or if it should become necessary and proper from any cause that letters should be again issued. [L. '17, p. 694, § 180.]

Cited in 108 Wash. 653.

The approval of an administrator's final account is not prevented by the pendency of an appeal upon a disputed claim, the amount of which was deposited with the clerk to abide the result of the suit; since by this section, a final settlement does not prevent subsequent letters in case other property is discovered: Smith's Estate, In re, 108 Wash. 652, 185 Pac. 618.

XX.

DISTRIBUTION PRIOR TO SETTLEMENT AND ADVANCEMENT.

§ 1551. Application for Premature Distribution.

At any time after six months from the date of the first publication of notice to creditors, any heir, legatee, or devisee, may present his petition to the court praying that the legacy or share of the estate to which he is entitled may be given to him, upon his giving bond with security for the payment of his proportion of the debts of the estate, inheritance tax, expenses of administration, support of the family, or other obligations of the estate. [L. '17, p. 694, § 181.]

§ 1552. Notice.

Notice of the application shall be given to the executor of administrator and to all persons interested in the estate in the same manner that notice is required to be given of the settlement of the final account of the executor or administrator and petition for distribution. [L. '17, p. 694, § 182.]

§ 1553. Resistance of Application.

The executor, administrator, or any person interested in the estate may appear and resist the application; or any other heir, legatee, or devisee may make a similar application for himself. [L. '17, p. 694, § 183.]

§ 1554. Order Setting off Share of Estate—Bond to Secure Payment.

If, on the hearing of such petition or petitions, it appear to the court that the estate is but little in debt and that the shares of the parties applying may be allowed and set off to him or them without injury to the creditors of the estate, the court may make a decree establishing such petitioner or petitioners to be heirs or legatees or devisees and set off to him or them by a decree his or her portion of such estate: Provided, each one of them shall first execute and deliver to the executor or administrator a bond in such sum as may be designated by the court, and with sureties to be approved by the court, which bond shall be conditioned for the payment by the devisee or legatee or heir, whenever required, of his portion of the debts, expenses of administration, inheritance tax, allowance to the family and other obligations of the estate. [L. '17, p. 694, § 184.]

§ 1555. Costs.

The cost of the proceedings authorized by the preceding section shall be paid by the applicant, or if there be more than one, shall be equally apportioned among them. [L. '17, p. 695, § 185.]

§ 1556. Enforcing Repayment by Distributee.

Whenever any bond has been executed and delivered under the provisions of the preceding sections and the court shall determine that it is proper and necessary to require payment of any part of the money thereby secured, he may make an order requiring the payment and direct the executor or administrator to take such proceedings as may be necessary to enforce such payments, and such executor or administrator may, if the court so order, institute suit on the said bond for the collection of such sums. [L. '17, p. 695, § 186.]

§ 1557. Advancements, Determination of.

All questions as to advancements made, or alleged to have been made, by the deceased to any heirs may be heard and determined by the court before any distribution is made as in this act provided and the same shall be specified in the decree of distribution. [L. '17, p. 695, § 187.]

XXI.

SPECIFIC PERFORMANCE OF DECEDENT'S CONTRACT.

§ 1558. Order for Conveyance.

If any person, who is bound by contract, in writing, to convey any real property, shall die before making the conveyance, the superior court of the county in which the estate is being administered, may upon application of the executor or administrator, without notice, make an order authorizing and directing the executor or administrator to convey such real property to the person entitled thereto. [L. '17, p. 695, § 188.]

A similar section was not impliedly repealed by section 1366, supra: Griggs Land Co. v. Smith, 46 Wash. 185, 89 Pac. 477.

A similar act did not abridge the equitable jurisdiction of courts to enforce specific performance in such cases against the heir: Christ Church v. Beach, 7 Wash. 65, 33 Pac. 1053.

Contracts of Decedent: See Remington's Digest, Ex. & Ad., § 49; Sander-Boman Real Estate Co. v. Yesler's Estate, 2 Wash. 429, 27 Pac. 269; Hyde v. Heller, 10 Wash. 586, 39 Pac. 249; Richardson v. Harkness, 59 Wash. 474, 110 Pac. 9.

§ 1559. Petition—Notice to Executor.

If the executor or administrator fail to make such application, then any person claiming to be entitled to such conveyance under such contract, may present a petition setting forth the facts upon which such claim is predicated, and the court, or the judge thereof, shall make an order appointing a time for hearing such petition, and shall also order notice thereof and of the time of the hearing to be personally served upon the executor or administrator, by delivery to him of a copy of the same, together with a copy of the petition. If personal service cannot be had upon the executor or administrator, such service shall be made as the court may direct. [L. '17, p. 696, § 189.]

§ 1560. Hearing.

At the time appointed for such hearing, or at such other time as the same may be adjourned to, upon proof of service of the notice as herein provided, the court shall proceed to a hearing and determine the matter. [L. '17, p. 696, § 190.]

§ 1561. Conveyance Under Order of Court.

A conveyance executed under the provisions of this act shall so refer to the order authorizing the conveyance that the same may be readily found, but need not recite the record in the case generally, and the conveyance made in pursuance of such order shall pass to the grantee all the estate, right, title and interest contracted to be conveyed by the deceased, as fully as if the contracting party himself were still living and executed the conveyance in pursuance of such contract. [L. '17, p. 696, § 191.]

§ 1562. Certified Copy of Order—Filing.

A certified copy of the order shall be recorded with the deed in the office of the auditor of the county where the lands are, and shall be conclusive evidence of the correctness of the proceedings and of the authority of the executor or administrator to make such conveyance. [L. '17, p. 696, § 192.]

§ 1563. Actions in Case of Death of Person Entitled.

If the person to whom the conveyance was to be made shall die before the commencement of the proceedings according to the provisions of this act or before the completion of the conveyance, any person who would have been entitled to the conveyance under him, as heir, devisee, or otherwise, in case the conveyance had been made according to the terms of the contract, or the executor or administrator of such deceased person, for the benefit of persons entitled, may commence such proceedings, or prosecute the same if already commenced; and the conveyance shall be so made as to vest the estate in the persons who would have been entitled to it, or in the executor or administrator for their benefit. [L. '17, p. 696, § 193.]

§ 1564. Depositions of Witnesses.

The testimony of witnesses concerning the claim may be taken by deposition whenever the deposition of such witnesses might be taken to be used in the trial of a civil action. The notice of the time and place of taking such deposition, and the manner of such taking, shall be governed as is provided for in civil actions. [L. '17, p. 697, § 194.]

XXII.

APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIANS FOR MINORS, INSANE AND MENTALLY INCOMPETENT PERSONS.

§ 1565. Authority to Appoint Guardians.

The superior court of each county shall have power to appoint guardians for the persons and estates, or either thereof, of minors, insane and mentally incompetent persons resident of the county, and guardians for the estates of all such persons who are nonresidents of the state but who have property in such county needing care and attention. § 1567. Petition—Notice—Consent of Minor—Foreign Guardian.

When a petition duly verified is presented to the superior court, showing that a person resident of the county where the petition is filed is a minor or is insane or mentally incompetent and needs the care and attention of a guardian, or that such person has property in the county needing care and attention of a guardian, or showing that such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person is a nonresident of the state and has property in the county needing care and attention of a guardian, and praying for appointment of a guardian for the person and property, or either, of such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person, the court shall thereupon make an order setting a time for the hearing of such petition and directing the clerk of the court to issue a notice stating that such petition has been filed and the time and place of hearing thereof and that all persons interested shall appear at such time and place and show cause why a guardian should not be appointed for the person and estate, or either thereof, of such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person: Provided, however, if such petition be made by a parent asking the appointment of himself as guardian of his minor child under the age of fourteen years, or, if a petition be accompanied by the written consent of a minor over the age of fourteen years, consenting to the appointment of the guardian asked for, or should a minor, insane or mentally incompetent person be a nonresident of the state and the petition be by any foreign guardian of such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person, then the court may at once upon presentation of such petition, and without notice of hearing thereof, appoint such guardian. Upon the mental incompetency of the husband, the wife should be appointed guardian of the community property owned by them; and it is an abuse of discretion to refuse her petition and appoint a stranger, where the property consisted of a ranch yielding a rental income, she had for several years largely borne the burden of its management and was of fair business ability: Wood, In re, 110 Wash. 630, 188 Pac. 787.

§ 1568. Service of Notice.

If the petition be with reference to the appointment of any guardian mentioned in the preceding section, except guardians for the property of nonresidents of the state, then the notice of hearing provided for in the preceding section shall be personally served upon the person having the custody, care and control of such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person, or the person with whom such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person resides, and if such minor, insane, or mentally incompetent person be over the age of fourteen years, then such notice shall be personally served upon such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person also. If such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person be in the care, custody or control of any officer or institution, then such notice shall be served upon such officer or head of such institution. The notice herein provided for shall be served at least ten days prior to the time set for such hearing, and proof, as in civil actions provided, of such service shall be made and filed in the proceedings. § 1569. Service by Publication—Appointment by Court.

If such petition be for the appointment of a guardian to the property of any minor, insane or mentally incompetent person, who resides without the state of Washington, then the petitioner shall make an affidavit stating the fact of such nonresidence, and unless the petitioner be a nonresident guardian, the notice hereinbefore provided for shall be served by publication in some newspaper printed and of general circulation in the county where the petition is filed, and such publication shall be for once a week for not less than three successive weeks prior to the time set for such hearing, and proof of such publication shall be made and filed as in other cases. At the time fixed for such hearing, if the court be satisfied that the publication has been made, it may proceed to the hearing and to the appointment of the guardian. [L. '17, p. 699, § 199.]

§ 1570. Substitute Notice.

In all cases for the appointment of guardian where the notice cannot be given as in this act provided, the court may require such notice as to it may seem right and proper and take such proceedings as it shall determine upon with reference to the appointment of such guardian. XXIII.

POWERS AND DUTIES OF GUARDIANS OF MINORS, INSANE OR MENTALLY INCOMPETENT PERSONS OR THEIR ESTATES.

§ 1572. Guardians Under Court Control—Legal Age.

Guardians herein provided for shall at all times be under the general direction and control of the court making the appointment. For the purposes of this act, males shall be of full and legal age when they shall be twenty-one years old, and females shall be deemed of full and legal age when they are eighteen years old or at any age under eighteen, when, with the consent of the parent or guardian, or the person under whose care or government they may be, they shall have been legally married. [L. '17, p. 699, § 202.]

§ 1573. Oath and Bond of Guardian—Successive Recoveries on Bond.

Before letters of guardianship are issued, each guardian shall take and subscribe an oath and file a bond, with sureties to be approved by the court, payable to the state of Washington, in such sum as the court may fix, and such bond shall be conditioned substantially as follows:

The condition of this obligation is such, that if the above bound A. B., who has been appointed guardian for C. D., shall faithfully discharge the office and trust of such guardian according to law and shall render a fair and just account of his guardianship to the superior court for the county of —, from time to time as he shall thereto be required by such court, and comply with all orders of the court, lawfully made, relative to the goods, chattels, moneys, care, management and education of such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person, or his or her property, and render and pay to such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person all moneys, goods, chattels, title papers and effects which may come into the hands or possession of such guardian, at such time and in such manner as the court may order or adjudge, then this obligation shall be void, otherwise to be and remain in full force and effect.

The said bond shall be for the use of such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person, and shall not become void upon the first recovery, but may be put in suit from time to time against all or any one of the obligors, in the name and for the use and benefit of any person entitled by the breach thereof, until the whole penalty shall be recovered thereon. The court may require an additional bond whenever for any reason it may appear to the court that such additional bond should be given. [L. '17, p. 700, § 203.]

§ 1575. Inventory—Accounts—Payment of Debts—Education of Ward.

It shall be the duty of the guardian of any estate:

(1) To make out and file, within three months after his appointment, a full inventory, verified by oath, of the real and personal estate of his ward, with the value of the same, and failing so to do, it shall be the duty of the court to remove him and appoint a successor.

(2) To manage the estate for the best interest of his ward.

(3) To render on oath to the proper court an account of his receipts and of his expenditures, with vouchers therefor, at least once in every two years, and whenever cited to do so, and failing so to do, he shall receive no allowances for services, and be liable to said ward on his bond in damages for ten per cent. of the whole amount of the estate, both real and personal in his hands belonging to such ward.

(4) At the expiration of his trust fully to account for and pay over to the proper person all the estate of said ward remaining in his hands.

(5) To pay all just debts due from such ward out of the estate in his hands, and to collect all debts and demands due such ward, and in case of doubtful debts, to compound the same, and to appear for and defend, or cause to be defended, all suits against such ward.

(6) When any ward has no father or mother, or such father or mother is unable or fails to educate such ward, it shall be the duty of his guardian to provide for him such education as the amount of his estate may justify. [L. 17, p. 701, § 205.]

A guardian for an insane person is liable for money lost through the failure of a bank where, by a specific order, he was directed to invest the money upon real estate security to be approved by the court, and without such approval he invested it in certificates of deposit of such bank, where it remained until the bank failed; and it was immaterial that the trial judge was orally informed of such investment: Jiskra's Estate, In re, 108 Wash. 187, 182 Pac. 961.

Where a guardian for an insane person was ordered to invest moneys collected for the current year in certificates of deposit of a certain bank, which was a bank of good repute, and the next year was ordered to invest collections in certificates of deposit without specifying the bank, he was justified in considering the order as a continuing one and in investing the funds in the same bank, and is not liable for the loss of the funds through failure of the bank: Jiskra's Estate, In re, 108 Wash. 190, 182 Pac. 959.

§ 1576. Representation of Ward—Compromises.

Guardians of minors, insane or mentally incompetent persons, or their property, shall have power and authority to represent their wards in all matters, and may sue and be sued as such guardian, and such wards shall be bound by any compromise or settlement made by such guardian: Provided, the court shall have ordered or approved such action of the guardian. Before making any such compromise or settlement, the guardian shall file with the court which appointed him a petition setting out the nature of the suit, claim or dispute, together with the reasons for settling or compromising the same, and the court, either with or without notice of hearing, may make such order on such petition as shall appear proper. [L. '17, p. 701, § 206.]

An order entered without notice, authorizing a guardian to compromise a suit instituted by the ward after he became of age, is void, under Rem. Code, §§ 1631 and 1636, providing that the trust expires when the ward becomes twenty-one, and making it the guardian's duty to then § 1577. Action Against Estate—Rejection of Claim.

No holder of a claim, demand or judgment against an estate of a person under guardianship shall maintain an action thereon or enforce same, unless the claim, demand or judgment shall have been first presented to such guardian and by him rejected in whole or in part. A failure or neglect to allow a claim for thirty days after the same is presented shall be deemed a rejection thereof. [L. '17, p. 702, § 207.]

§ 1578. Judgments—Rank as Claims.

No judgment entered against such guardian or the estate or person of any such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person, except for the foreclosure of a mortgage or other lien, shall be a lien against or upon the estate of such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person, but such judgment shall be presented and paid as other claims of the same class or grade. [L. '17, p. 702, § 208.]

§ 1579. Removal or Death of Guardians—Delivery of Estate to Successors.

The court in all cases shall have power to remove guardians for good and sufficient reasons, which shall be entered of record, and to appoint others in their place or in the place of those who may die, who shall give bond and security for the faithful discharge of their duties as heretofore prescribed; and when any guardian shall be removed or die, and a successor be appointed, the court shall have power to compel such guardian removed to deliver up to such successor all goods, chattels, moneys, title papers, or other effects belonging to such minor, insane or mentally incompetent person, which may be in the possession of such guardian so removed, or of the executors or administrators of a deceased guardian, or in the possession of any other person or persons, and upon failure, to commit the party offending to prison, until he, she, or they comply with the order of the court. [L. '17, p. 702. § 209.]

A guardianship of an insane ward is terminated by the death of his ward and the appointment of an administrator, under this section, and the estate passes to the control of the administrator: Eisenhower v. Vaughn, 95 Wash. 256, 163 Pac. 758.

§ 1580. Testamentary Guardians.

When either parent is deceased, the surviving parent of any minor child may, by his last will in writing appoint a guardian or guardians for his minor child, whether born at the time of making such will or afterwards, to continue during the minority of such child, or for any less time, and every such testamentary guardian shall give bond in like manner and with like conditions as hereinbefore required, and he shall have the same powers and perform the same duties with regard to the person and estate of the ward as a guardian appointed as aforesaid. [L. '17, p. 703, § 210.]

The act of 1860, Rem. Code, § 1643, providing that the father may by will appoint a guardian for his minor children, was repealed by the act of 1879, Rem. Code, § 6907, providing that, upon the father's death, the mother shall come into as complete control of the children as the father does in case of the mother's death; and makes such a provision in a father's will void: Hogen, In re, 109 Wash. 265, 176 Pac. 339.

§ 1581. Guardian ad Litem.

Nothing contained in this chapter shall affect or impair the power of any court to appoint a guardian to defend the interests of any minor, insane or mentally incompetent person interested in any suit or matter pending therein, or to commence and prosecute any suit in his behalf. § 1582. Sale, Lease or Mortgage of Property.

Whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of a court by the petition of any guardian, that it is necessary or proper to sell, lease or mortgage any of the real or personal property of the estate of such ward for the purpose of paying debts or for the care, support and education of such ward, or to redeem any property of such ward's estate covered by mortgage or other lien, or for the purpose of making any investments, or for any other purpose which to the court may seem right and proper, the court may make an order directing such sale, lease or mortgage of such part or parts of the real or personal property as shall to the court seem proper. § 1583. Petition—Contents.

Such application shall be by petition, verified by the oath of the guardian, and shall substantially set forth:

(1) The value and character of all personal estate belonging to such ward that has come to the knowledge or possession of such guardian.

(2) The disposition of such personal estate.

(3) The amount and condition of the ward's personal estate, if any, dependent upon the settlement of any estate, or the execution of any trust.

(4) The annual income of the real estate of the ward.

(5) The amount of rent received and the application thereof.

(6) The proposed manner of reinvesting the proceeds of the sale, if asked for that purpose.

(7) Each item of indebtedness, or the amount and character of the lien, if the sale is prayed for the liquidation thereof.

(8) The age of the ward, where and with whom residing.

(9) All other facts connected with the estate and condition of the ward necessary to enable the court to fully understand the same. If there is no personal estate belonging to such ward, in possession or expectancy, and none has come into the hands of such guardian, and no rents have been received, the fact shall be stated in the application. [L. '17, p. 703, § 213.]

It is not error to refuse to entertain an application for the sale of an incompetent's ranch at the time of hearing applicant's petition for the appointment of a guardian, in view of the statutory requirement of this section of a petition filed by the guardian asking for authority to make such sale: Wood, In re, 110 Wash. 630, 188 Pac. 787.

§ 1584. Law Governing Sales and Mortgages—Leases.

All the provisions of this act with reference to applications by administrators or executors for sales and mortgages by them, and notices concerning same, and all provisions of this act with reference to the report of such administrator or executor of sales and mortgages, and the confirmation thereof, shall be applicable to sales and mortgages made by any guardian mentioned in this act, but the court may order leases to be made upon such terms, conditions and notices as it may see fit. The provisions of section 1434 hereof shall not be applicable to guardianships. [L. '17, p. 704, § 214.]

§ 1585. Irregularities—Conclusiveness of Confirmation.

No sale by any guardian of real or personal property shall be void or be set aside or be attacked because of any irregularities whatsoever, and none of the steps leading up to such sale or the confirmation thereof shall be jurisdictional, and the confirmation by the court of any such sale shall be conclusive as to the regularity and legality of such sale or sales, and the passing of title after confirmation by the court shall vest an absolute title in the purchaser, and such instruments of transfer may not be attacked for any purpose or any reason, except for fraud. [L. '17, p. 704, § 215.]

This section is not to be given a retroactive effect so as to cure jurisdictional defects in a sale made prior to the passage of the act; and sections 1592, 1593, infra, relating to past and future sales, clearly indicating that it is not to be given such retroactive effect: Vanhorn v. Nestoss, 99 Wash. 328, 169 Pac. 807.

The invalidity of a guardian's sale by reason of the failure of the guardian to give a bond is not a defect that is cured by Rem. Code, section 1693, providing that the sale shall not be avoided by reason of any "irregularity," as it is a jurisdictional defect, the statute providing that the giving of an additional bond when required is jurisdictional: Vanhorn v. Nestoss, 99 Wash. 328, 169 Pac. 807.

Rem. Code, § 1693, intended to cure defects and irregularities in administrator's sales, does not cure defects relating to the jurisdiction of the court over the persons of the parties in interest, owing to the failure to give notice to the minor heirs or to appoint a guardian for them, the statutory requirements therefor being mandatory: Ball v. Clothier, 34 Wash. 299, 75 Pac. 1099.

§ 1587. Removal of Property of Nonresident Ward—Procedure.

When the guardian and ward are both nonresidents, and the ward is entitled to property in this state, which may be moved to another state or territory, such property may be removed to the state or territory in which such ward may reside, upon the application of the guardian to the judge of the superior court of the county in which the estate of the ward or the principal part thereof, may be, in the manner following: The guardian so applying must produce a transcript from the records of a court of competent jurisdiction, certified according to the laws of this state, showing his appointment as guardian of the ward in the state or territory in which he and the said ward reside; that he has qualified as such according to the laws thereof; and must also give thirty days' notice to the resident executor, administrator, guardian, agent or trustee, if there be such, of the applications. Thereupon, if no objection be made, or if no good cause be shown to the contrary, the judge of the court shall make an order granting such guardian leave to remove the property of said ward to the state or territory in which he or she may reside; which order shall be full and complete authority to said guardian to sue for and receive the same in his own name, for the use and benefit of said ward. § 1588. Notice to Creditors of Ward—Limitation on Claims.

Every guardian for any insane or mentally incompetent person shall, after appointment and qualification, cause notice of his appointment to be published in some newspaper printed in the county of his appointment, once a week for three consecutive weeks, and if there be no such paper published in such county, then by posting such notice for a like period at the courthouse of such county. The court by order may require such notice to be published or posted for an additional period. Such notice shall further call upon all creditors to serve their claims, duly verified, on such guardian or his attorney of record, and file with the clerk of the court, with proof of service, within six months from the date of the first publication of such notice, otherwise such claims shall be barred. [L. '17, p. 705, § 218.]

XXIV.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 1589. Jurisdiction of Courts—Powers When Law Inapplicable.

It is the intention of this act that the courts mentioned shall have full and ample power and authority to administer and settle all estates of decedents, minors, insane and mentally incompetent persons in this act mentioned. If the provisions of this [act] with reference to the administration and settlement of such estates should in any cases and under any circumstances be inapplicable or insufficient or doubtful, the court shall nevertheless have full power and authority to proceed with such administration and settlement in any manner and way which to the court seems right and proper, all to the end that such estates may be by the court administered upon and settled. [L. '17, p. 706, § 219.]

§ 1590. Exercise of Powers.

In exercising any of the jurisdiction or powers by this act given or intended to be given, the court is authorized to make, issue and cause to be filed or served, any and all manner and kinds of orders, judgments, citations, notices, summons, and other writs and processes not inconsistent with the provisions of this act, which may be considered proper or necessary in the exercise of such jurisdiction. [L. '17, p. 706, § 220.]

§ 1591. Appeals to Supreme Court.

Any interested party may appeal to the supreme court from any final order, judgment or decree of the court, and such appeals shall be in the manner and way provided by law for appeals in civil actions. [L. '17, p. 706, § 221.]

§ 1592. Validation of Prior Probate Proceedings.

All probate proceedings heretofore conducted in this state, including sales and mortgages by executors, administrators and guardians, and all final settlements, made or had in conformity with the provisions of this act, or in conformity with the provisions of any prior law applicable thereto, are hereby declared valid. [L. '17, p. 707, § 222.]

The repealing clause (section 223) saved rights under notice to creditors in pending cases given under prior laws.

Sections 1593 to 1692, of Remington and Ballinger's Code, being part of the old Probate Code, are repealed by Laws 1917, p. 707, § 223.

CHAPTER IV.

VALIDITY OF SALES OF ESTATES.

§ 1693. Sales not Void on Account of Irregularity.

In case of an action relating to any estate sold by an executor, administrator, or guardian, in which an heir or person claiming under the deceased, or in which the ward or any person claiming under him, shall contest the validity of the sale, it shall not be voided on account of any irregularity in the proceedings: Provided, it appears,—

1. That the executor, administrator, or guardian was ordered to make the sale by the probate or superior court having jurisdiction of the estate;

2. That he gave a bond which was approved by the probate or superior judge, in case a bond was required upon granting the order;

3. That he gave notice of the time and place of sale, as in the order and by law prescribed; and

4. That the premises were sold accordingly, by public auction, and the sale confirmed by the court, and that they are held by one who purchased them in good faith. [L. '90, p. 82, § 2; 1 H. C., § 3066.]

§ 1695. Chapter Applies to Past as Well as Future Sales.

This chapter shall apply to sales heretofore as well as hereafter made, and all sales heretofore made in conformity with the provisions of this chapter are declared valid. [L. '90, p. 82, § 4; 1 H. C., § 3068.]

CHAPTER V.

ADOPTION OF CHILDREN.

§ 1696. Petition for Leave to Adopt.

Any inhabitant of this state, not married, or any husband and wife jointly, may petition the superior court of their proper county for leave to adopt and change the name if desired, of any child under the age of twenty-one years, but a written consent must be given to such adoption by the child, if of the age of fourteen years, and by each of his or her living parents who is not hopelessly insane or a confirmed drunkard. If there be no such parents, or if the parents be unknown, or shall have abandoned such child, or if such parents, or either of them, are hopelessly insane, or a confirmed drunkard, then by the legal guardian; if there be no such guardian, then by a discreet and suitable person appointed by said court to act in the proceedings as the next friend of such child: Provided, however, that if the parents are living separate and apart, the consent of both is not required, but such consent may be given by the parent having the care, custody and control of such child; and provided further, that either spouse may adopt a child of the other. [L. '05, p. 296, § 1, Cf. L. '75, pp. 110–112; L. '79, p. 136, § 1; Cd. '81, § 1667; 1 H. C., § 1418; L. '97, p. 46, § 1.]

The written consent of a father to the filing of a petition for the adoption of his infant child as in effect consent to the adoption, where it further recites that he surrenders and gives the child to the adopting parents and relinquishes all right to it and to its services: Dingman, In re, 110 Wash. 513, 188 Pac. 755.

See, also, Force, In re, 113 Wash. 151, 193 Pac. 698.

A writing whereby the mother voluntarily gives up all claim to her infant child, then delivered to a foundling home, is sufficient consent to a subsequent adoption of the child, and obviates the necessity of notice to the mother under this section: Rising, In re, 104 Wash. 581, 177 Pac. 351.

§ 5. — Notice: Beatty v. Davenport, 45 Wash. 555, 88 Pac. 1109, 122 Am. St. Rep. 937, 13 Ann. Cas. 585; Beers' Adoption, In re, 78 Wash. 576, 139 Pac. 629.

See, also, Rising, In re, 104 Wash. 581, 177 Pac. 351.

A divorcee, who came into the possession of a child in its infancy, and had no interest except to pay alimony awarded for its support, not being the father of the child, is not entitled to notice of proceedings for its adoption: Rising, In re, 104 Wash. 581, 177 Pac. 351.

Where a child has been declared a dependent child and made a ward of the juvenile department of the superior court, subsequent adoption proceedings in the same court are sufficient notice to the juvenile department, the knowledge of the judge hearing the matter being at least notice of the hearing to the other department: Rising, In re, 104 Wash. 581, 177 Pac. 351.

§ 7. Evidence of Adoption: Fields, In re, 56 Wash. 259, 105 Pac. 466.

§ 1697. Separate Examination of Wife.

If the petition be filed by husband and wife, the court shall examine the wife separate and apart from her husband, and shall refuse leave for such adoption, unless the court shall be satisfied, from such examination, that the wife, of her own free will and accord, desire such adoption. [L. '79 p. 136, § 2; Cd. '81, § 1668; 1 H. C., § 1419.]

§ 1698. Order Confirming Adoption.

Upon the compliance with the foregoing provisions, if the court shall be satisfied of the ability of the petitioner or petitioners to bring up and educate the child properly, having reference to the degree and condition of the child's parents, and shall be satisfied of the fitness and propriety of such adoption, the court shall make an order setting forth the facts and declaring that from that date such child, to all legal intents and purposes, is the child of the petitioner or petitioners, and that the name of the child is hereby changed. [L. '79, p. 136, § 3; Cd. '81, § 1669; 1 H. C., § 1420.]

Cited in 60 Wash. 520; 99 Wash. 417; 110 Wash. 46, 517, 520, 521.

Under sections 1696 and 1698, providing for the adoption of a minor by "any inhabitant of this state," and for an order of adoption "setting forth the facts," the failure of the order to set forth the jurisdictional facts does not render the order void, the requirement being merely directory and the superior court being a court of general jurisdiction: Dingman, In re, 110 Wash. 513, 188 Pac. 755.

Effect and Review: See Remington's Digest, Adoption, §§ 8—10. Review: Knight v. Gallaway, 42 Wash. 413, 85 Pac. 21; Wells, In re, 60 Wash. 518, 111 Pac. 778.

§ 9: Setting Aside or Revoking Adoption: Beers' Adoption, In re, 78 Wash. 576, 139 Pac. 629.

An order of adoption may be vacated for fraud, and is not subject to the rule in adversary proceedings that the fraud must be such as does not inhere in the judgment: Platt v. Magagnini, 110 Wash. 39, 187 Pac. 716.

An heir of the adopted child may, subsequent to its death, make a direct attack for fraud upon the order of adoption where the court proceeded without jurisdiction: Platt v. Magagnini, 110 Wash. 39, 187 Pac. 716.

Under this section and the statute providing that "any inhabitant" of the state may petition for leave to adopt, the jurisdictional fact as to the petitioner's residence cannot be presumed where the petition did not recite, and the order did not find, that the adopting parents were inhabitants: Platt v. Magagnini, 110 Wash. 39, 187 Pac. 716.

Where, in dependency proceedings, a woman had been found to be a suitable person to have custody of the dependent child, and later on obtaining a divorce she was again awarded its custody as a suitable person, an objection to adoption proceedings by her that a next friend should have been appointed to represent the infant on the determination of the fitness of the petitioner, is insufficient to warrant vacation of a decree of adoption: Rising, In re, 104 Wash. 581, 177 Pac. 351.

§ 1699. Effect of Adoption—Descent of Property.

By such order the natural parents shall be divested of all legal rights and obligations in respect to such child, and the child shall be free from all legal obligations of obedience and maintenance in respect to them, and shall be, to all intents and purposes, the child and legal heir of his or her adopter or adopters, entitled to all rights and privileges and subject to all the obligations of a child of the adopter or adopters begotten in lawful wedlock: Provided, that on the decease of parents who have adopted a child or children under this chapter and the subsequent decease of such child or children without issue, the property of such adopting parents shall descend to their next of kin, and not to the next of kin of such adopted child or children. Under this section, an adopted child has the right to inherit from a brother or sister by adoption, in view of a liberal construction of the statute: Masterson's Estate, In re, 108 Wash. 307, 183 Pac. 93.

There being no right of adoption at common law, an agreement for an adoption prior to the passage of the first territorial act authorizing adoptions in this state, is not valid to give the status of an heir under the laws of inheritance: Wall v. McEnnery's Estate, 105 Wash. 445, 178 Pac. 631.

CHAPTER VI.

PROTECTION OF ORPHAN, HOMELESS, OR NEGLECTED CHILDREN.

§ 1700. Adoption by Incorporated Societies.

Any benevolent or charitable society incorporated under the laws of this state for the purpose of receiving, caring for or placing out for adoption, or improving the condition of orphan, homeless, neglected or abused minor children of this state shall have authority to receive, control, and dispose of children under eighteen (18) years of age under the following provisions:

(a) When the father and mother or the person or persons legally entitled to act as guardian of the person of any minor child shall, in writing, surrender such child to the charge and custody of said society, such child shall thereafter be in the legal custody of such society for the purposes herein provided.

(b) In case of death or legal incapacity of a father or his abandonment or neglect to provide for his family, the mother shall have authority to make such surrender, and in case of the death or legal incapacity of a mother, or her abandonment of such child, then the father shall have authority to make such surrender.

(c) In all cases where the person or persons legally authorized to make such surrender are not known, any judge of superior court may cause a notice of hearing to be published in any newspaper of general circulation printed and published in the county, and if he deems it best for such orphan, homeless, neglected or abused child, he may surrender it to any benevolent or charitable society incorporated under the laws of Washington and having for its object the care of such children.

(d) When any child shall have been surrendered in accordance with any of the preceding clauses and such child shall have been accepted by such society, then, (but not otherwise), the rights of its natural parents or of the guardian of its person (if any) shall cease and such corporation shall become entitled to the custody of such child, and shall have authority to care for and educate such child or place it either temporarily or permanently in a suitable private home in such manner as shall best secure its welfare. Such corporation shall have authority when any such child has been surrendered to it in accordance with any of the preceding provisions, and it is still in its control, to consent to its adoption under the laws of Washington. The custody or control of any such child by any such corporation or by any other corporation, institution, society or person may be inquired into, and, in the discretion of the court, terminated at any time by the superior court of the county where the child may be, upon the complaint of any person, and a showing that such custody is not in the interest of the child. [L. '03, p. 58, § 1.]

A preliminary order for the temporary custody of an abandoned child until notice could be given the mother and a hearing had, under this section, is no defense to habeas corpus by the mother to recover possession of her child, where no process was served on her as required by the statute and no further proceedings were had or final order made: State ex rel. Stitt v. Reynolds, 60 Wash. 12, 110 Pac. 633.

§ 1701. Issue of Warrant for Taking Child Into Custody—Proceedings.

Upon complaint of any person in writing other than an officer or agent of such society or corporation to any judge of the superior court giving the names and residences of the parents, guardian (if any) or the next of kin of such child, so far as known, and alleging that the father of such minor child is dead, or has abandoned his family or is an habitual drunkard or is a man of notoriously bad character, or is imprisoned for crime, or has grossly abused or neglected such child, and that the mother of such child is an habitual drunkard or imprisoned for crime, or an inmate of a house of ill-fame, or a woman of notoriously bad character or is dead, or has abandoned her family, or has grossly abused or neglected such child, and alleging that the welfare of such child requires that legal steps be taken to provide for its care and custody, a warrant shall issue directing the proper officer, to take such child into custody and care for or dispose of it as such judge shall direct, until a hearing can be had, such proceedings shall have precedence of other causes, of which hearing not less than five days' notice shall be given to such parents, guardian or next of kin and such judge shall hear the allegations of the complaint and all testimony offered for or against the same and determine whether in his judgment there is cause for a change in the care and custody of such child. If the judge shall decide to change the care and custody of such child, he may commit the child to the care and custody of any such benevolent society contemplated in this act which is willing to receive it, and such commitment shall carry with it the same powers and authority as above provided in case of voluntary surrender, or he may enter in such findings and transmit the papers and a transcript of his proceedings to the county commissioners of the county in which the case arises and surrender such child to the care and custody of such commissioners and it may be disposed of without further notice to the parents, guardian or next of kin. [L. '03, p. 60, § 2.]

Cited in 60 Wash. 15, 16.

§ 1702. County Charges—Surrender to Society.

When any minor is a county charge, the board of county commissioners, if they think the welfare of the child demands it, may surrender such child to the care and custody of any benevolent society or corporation without the consent of its parents unless within twenty days after the notice of the intention of such commissioners so to do, given in writing to parents, guardian or next of kin of such child so far as known, to said commissioners, such parents, guardian or next of kin shall provide for such child and relieve the county thereof and when any child has been so surrendered by the county commissioners, it may be disposed of as herein provided for the disposition of other children. [L. '03, p. 60, § 3.]

§ 1703. Investigation of Neglect—Duty of Police.

When any officer or agent of any such society shall request a police officer or other peace officer, to investigate or assist in the investigation of any alleged case of any such neglected or abused child, such officer shall immediately make or assist in such investigation and if he deem it proper shall forthwith take such child into custody without warrant, taking such child and reporting such case at once to the judge of the superior court for such proceedings as may be proper under the provisions of this chapter. [L. '03, p. 61, § 4.]

§ 1704. Minor Convicted of Offense—Rights of Parent.

When any minor under eighteen years of age shall be convicted on any charge, the punishment for which may be imprisonment or confinement in the reform school, the judge of the superior court, if he finds that the good of such minor demands it, and such minor is an orphan, or a homeless, neglected or abused minor within the terms of this act, or is a county charge, or the parents or guardian of such minor consent thereto, may suspend sentence and surrender the custody of such minor to any society, as is contemplated in this act, when such society is willing to receive such minor, until such minor shall attain the age of majority, or for a term of years to be fixed in the order of surrender, and such society may find a home for such minor and surrender his custody to the person providing such home for the term fixed in said order of surrender, which surrender by the society shall be approved by an order of said court: Provided, that nothing in this section shall be held to affect the natural rights of said minor or of his parents or guardian, except in the matter of his custody: and provided further, that if said minor shall fail to conform to the order of court fixing his custody, he may be apprehended and brought before the court, and the court may sentence said minor as provided by law, or resurrender him as the court may deem best for the interests of said minor. [L. '03, p. 61, § 5.]

§ 1705. Society not to Act as Guardian.

Nothing in this chapter shall entitle any such society to act as guardian or to have control of the estate of any minor child. [L. '03, p. 62, § 6.]

§ 1706. Hearing on Habeas Corpus—Evidence.

Upon the hearing of any writ of habeas corpus for the custody of any such child, if it appears that such child has been surrendered to any such corporation under the provisions of this chapter, such surrender shall be taken as prima facie evidence that such child was legally and properly surrendered to such corporation and that such corporation is entitled to the custody and control of such child under the provisions of this chapter. [L. '03, p. 62, § 7.]

On habeas corpus by a mother to recover custody of a child, held under temporary order in pending proceedings, this section has no application; and the court should hear the habeas corpus proceedings on the merits: State ex rel. Stitt v. Reynolds, 60 Wash. 12, 110 Pac. 633.

§ 1707. County Charges—County to Pay Expenses.

The board of county commissioners shall pay the expenses of bringing the child before the court and caring for it pending a hearing under this act; when a child is surrendered to a benevolent society under the provisions of this act by the superior court, the county shall pay such society a reasonable compensation for the temporary care of such child until it is placed in a family but not to exceed fifty ($50) dollars in each case. No clerk, sheriff, police officer, member of the board of county commissioners or agent of any such society shall charge or be allowed to charge any costs whatever in these proceedings, except where a complaint shall be adjudged to be without sufficient cause and malicious, in which event all costs shall be taxed against the complainant: Provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to cases under section 1704.]L. '03, p. 62, § 8.]

CHAPTER VII.

HABITUAL DRUNKARDS.

§ 1708. Who may be Adjudged an Habitual Drunkard.

Any person addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors may, upon complaint thereof, or upon certificate of a justice of the peace, as hereinafter provided, be adjudged an habitual drunkard. [Cf. L. '79, p. 113, § 1; Cd. '81, § 1673; L. '83, p. 32, § 1; 1 H. C., § 2523.]

See infra, § 7348, action for injuries caused by intoxication.

§ 1709. Complaint, Who may Make.

Either the father, husband, mother, wife, son or daughter of any person addicted to the excessive use of intoxicating liquors or any person in the interest of the relative aggrieved, or of the general public, may make complaint to the superior court of the county, wherein such person so addicted resides, that the person complained of is an habitual drunkard, and that in consequence thereof, such person is squandering his earnings or property, or that he neglects his business, or that he abuses or maltreats his family, which complaint must be verified by the oath of the complainant to the effect that the same is true. And every justice of the peace in whose court any person shall have been convicted twice on a charge of being drunk, or drunk and disorderly, shall certify to the superior court of the county in which he resides, that said person has thus twice been convicted. [Cf. L. '79, p. 113, § 2; L. '81, p. 13, § 1; Cd. '81, § 1674; L. '83, p. 32, § 1; 1 H. C., § 2524.]

§ 1710. Summons—Hearing.

Upon filing of the complaint, duly verified, the superior judge shall cause a copy thereof to be served upon the accused forthwith, and shall summon him to appear and answer, giving at least ten days' notice; and if upon the hearing of the evidence the allegations of the complaint are sustained, or upon filing a certificate of a justice of the peace, as above provided, such judge shall, in open court, declare the accused to be an habitual drunkard, and shall cause the proceeding to be entered in full upon the records of the court. [Cf. L. '79, p. 114, § 3; L. '81, p. 13, § 2; Cd. '81, § 1672; L. '83, p. 32, § 1; 1 H. C., § 2525.]

§ 1711. Fees of Officers—Costs.

The same fees shall be allowed to the superior court, justice of the peace and the sheriff or constable, in all proceedings under the foregoing section [§ 1710] of this chapter, as are allowed by law for like processes and services, and like fees for witnesses, as in civil cases before justice of the peace; and if the complaint is not sustained, the person making the complaint shall pay the costs; and in case the complaint is sustained, the person accused shall pay the costs. [Cf. L. '79, p. 114, § 4; L. '81, p. 13, § 3; Cd. '81, § 1673; L. '83, p. 32, § 1; 1 H. C., § 2526.]

§ 1712. Penalty for Selling Liquor to Habitual Drunkard.

Any person who shall sell or give any intoxicating liquors to any habitual drunkard, as defined in the foregoing section [§ 1708] of this chapter, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, by any court having criminal jurisdiction, shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty dollars or more than three hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than one or more than six months, at the discretion of the court. [L. '79, p. 114, § 5; Cd. '81, § 1674; 1 H. C., § 2527.]

§ 1713. Liability for Furnishing Liquor to Habitual Drunkard.

Any person who shall be injured in person or property or means of support by any habitual drunkard, as defined by this chapter, while in a state of intoxication, or in consequence of such intoxication, shall have a right of action in his or her own name, severally or jointly against any person or persons who shall, by selling or giving intoxicating liquors to such habitual drunkard, have caused his intoxication, in whole or in part, and such person selling or giving such intoxicating liquors as aforesaid shall be liable severally or jointly for all damages sustained, and the same may be recovered in a civil action. A married woman may bring such action in her own name, and all damages recovered by her shall inure to her separate use, and all damages recovered by a minor under this chapter shall be paid either to such minor or to such person in trust for him or her as the court may direct. [L. '79, p. 114, § 6; Cd. '81, § 1675; 1 H. C., § 2528.]

Compare §§ 7348-7350, civil remedies against liquor dealers.

§ 1714. List of Habitual Drunkards to be Posted.

It shall be the duty of the superior judge of each county to furnish a list of the names of all persons adjudged habitual drunkards, to all parties licensed to sell, by retail, intoxicating liquors in such county, and such retail dealer shall keep posted up in some conspicuous place in his place of business a list of such habitual drunkards. A person failing to keep such list so posted shall forfeit his license, and if he thereafter sells intoxicating liquors, he shall be punished as if selling without a license. [Cf. L. '81, p. 14, § 4; Cd. '81, § 1676; L. '83, p. 32, § 1; L. '86, p. 160, § 1; 1 H. C., § 2529.]

§ 1715. Order, How Vacated.

Any person so declared to be an habitual drunkard may, at any time after the expiration of two years from the time he was so declared to be such, by a petition addressed to the judge of the court in which he was so adjudged, have a hearing in such court, upon a day which shall be by such court set, which day shall not be more than ten days after the filing of such petition in such court, which petition may contain a statement of facts tending to show the improved condition and habits of such petitioner and to establish his character for sobriety, and a prayer that the order on record so declaring him to be such habitual drunkard be vacated and he be released from the effects thereof; which petition shall be duly verified by the petitioner. And if upon the hearing of such petition, and the evidence in support thereof, it appear to the judge that such petitioner is entitled to have such record vacated and be so released, then he shall make an order so declaring that such record be vacated and annulled, and that the petitioner be thereafter released from the effects thereof. [L. '81, p. 14, § 4; Cd. '81, § 1677; 1 H. C., § 2530.]

CHAPTER VIII.

ESTATES OF ABSENTEES.

§ 1715-1. Petition—Notice—Hearing—Appointment of Trustee.

Whenever it shall be made to appear by petition to any judge of the superior court of any county that there is property in such county, either real or personal, that requires care and attention, or is in such a condition that it is a menace to the public health, safety or welfare, or that the custodian of such property by the owner thereof is either unable or unwilling to continue longer in the care and custody thereof, and that the owner of such property has absented himself from the county and that his whereabouts is unknown and cannot with reasonable diligence be ascertained, which petition shall state the name of the absent owner, his approximate age, his last known place of residence, the circumstances under which he left and the place to which he was going, if known, his business or occupation and his physical appearance and habits so far as known, the judge to whom such petition is presented shall set a time for hearing such petition not less than six weeks from the date of filing, and shall by order direct that a notice of such hearing be published for three successive weeks in a newspaper published in the county where such petition is filed and in such other counties and states as will in the judgment of the court be most likely to come to the attention of the absentee or of persons who may know his whereabouts, which notice shall state the object of the petition and the date of hearing, and set forth such facts and circumstances as in the judgment of the court will aid in identifying the absentee, and shall contain a request that all persons having knowledge concerning the absentee shall advise the court of the facts. If it shall appear at such hearing that the whereabouts of the absentee is unknown, but there is reason to believe that upon further investigation and inquiry he may be found, the judge may continue the hearing and order such inquiry and advertisement as will in his discretion be liable to disclose the whereabouts of the absentee, but when it shall appear to the judge at such hearing or any adjournment thereof that the whereabouts of the absentee cannot be ascertained, he shall appoint a suitable person resident of the county as trustee of such property, taking into consideration the character of the property and the fitness of such trustee to care for the same, preferring in such appointment the husband or wife of the absentee to his presumptive heirs, the presumptive heirs to kin more remote, the kin to strangers, and creditors to those who are not otherwise interested, provided they are fit persons to have the care and custody of the particular property in question and will accept the appointment and qualify as hereinafter provided. [L. '15, p. 132, § 1.]

Constitutionality of statutes providing for administration of estate of absentee.
4 L. R. A. (N. S.) 944.

§ 1715-2. Inventory and Appraisal—Bond.

The trustee so appointed shall make, subscribe and file in the office of the clerk of the court an oath for the faithful performance of his duties, and shall, within such time as may be fixed by the judge, prepare and file an inventory of such property, and the judge shall thereupon appoint three disinterested and qualified persons to appraise such property, and report their appraisal to the court within such time as the court may fix. Upon the coming in of the inventory and appraisal, the judge shall fix the amount of the bond to be given by the trustee, which bond shall in no case be less than the appraised value of the personal property and the annual rents and profits of the real property, and the trustee shall thereupon file with the clerk of the court a good and sufficient bond in the amount fixed and with surety to be approved by the court, conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties as trustee, and for accounting for such property, its rents, issues, profits and increase. [L. '15, p. 134, § 2.]

§ 1715-3. Reports of Trustee.

The trustee shall, at the expiration of one year from the date of his appointment and annually thereafter and at such times as the court may direct, make and file a report and account of his trusteeship, setting forth specifically the amounts received and expended and the conditions of the property. [L. '15, p. 134, § 3.]

§ 1715-4. Sale of Property—Application of Income.

If the property or any part thereof be personal property of a perishable nature or property likely to deteriorate in value, or if necessary to pay debts against the absentee which have been duly approved and allowed in the same form and manner as provided for the approving and allowing of claims against the estate of a deceased person the trustee may sell the same under order of the court so to do, at public or private sale, and upon such terms and notice as the court may direct, and shall hold the proceeds of such sale, after deducting the necessary expenses thereof, subject to the order of the court. The trustee is authorized and empowered to, by order of the court, expend the proceeds received from the sale of such property, and also the rents, issues and profits accruing therefrom in the care, maintenance and upkeep of the property, so long as the trusteeship shall continue, and the trustee shall receive out of such property such compensation for his services as may be fixed by the court. [L. '15, p. 134, § 4.]

§ 1715-5. Removal or Resignation of Trustee—Final Account.

The court shall have the power to remove or to accept the resignation of such trustee and appoint another in his stead. At the termination of his trust, as hereinafter provided or in case of his resignation or removal, the trustee shall file a final account, which account shall be settled in the manner provided by law for settling the final accounts of administrators and guardians. [L. '15, p. 135, § 5.]

§ 1715-6. Period of Trusteeship.

Such trusteeship shall continue until such time as the owner of such property shall return or shall appoint a duly authorized agent or attorney in fact to care for such property, or until such time as the property shall be provisionally distributed to the presumptive heirs, or to the devisees and legatees of the absentee as hereinafter provided, or until such time as the property shall escheat to the state as hereinafter provided. [L. '15, p. 135, § 6.]

§ 1715-7. Distribution to Heirs—Notice of Hearing—Will.

Whenever the owner of such property shall have been absent from the county for the space of five years and his whereabouts are unknown and cannot with reasonable diligence be ascertained, his presumptive heirs at law may apply to the court for an order of provisional distribution of such property, and to be let into provisional possession thereof: Provided, that such provisional distribution may be made at any time prior to the expiration of five years, when it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court that there are strong presumptions that the absentee is dead; and in determining the question of presumptive death, the court shall take into consideration the habits of the absentee, the motives of and the circumstances surrounding the absence, and the reasons which may have prevented the absentee from being heard of. Notice of hearing upon application for provisional distribution shall be published in like manner as notices for the appointment of trustees are published. If the absentee left a will in the possession of any person such person shall present such will at the time of hearing of the application for provisional distribution and if it shall be made to appear to the court that the absentee has left a will and the person in possession thereof shall fail to present it, a citation shall issue requiring him so to do, and such will shall be opened, read, proven, filed and recorded in the case, as are the wills of decedents. [L. '15, p. 135, § 7.]

§ 1715-8. Provisional Distribution—Bond of Distributees.

If it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court upon the hearing of the application for provisional distribution that the absentee has been absent and his whereabouts unknown for the space of five years, or there are strong presumptions that he is dead, the court shall enter an order directing that the property in the hands of the trustee shall be provisionally distributed to the presumptive heirs, or to the devisees and legatees under the will, as the case may be, upon condition that such heirs, devisees and legatees respectively give and file in the court bonds with good and sufficient surety to be approved by the court, conditioned for the return of or accounting for the property provisionally distributed in case the absentee shall return and demand the same, which bonds shall be respectively in twice the amount of the value of the personal property distributed, and in ten times the amount of estimated annual rents, issues and profits of any real property so provisionally distributed. [L. '15, p. 136, § 8.]

§ 1715-9. Final Distribution—Notice of Application.

Whenever the owner of such property shall have been absent from the county for a space of fifteen years and his whereabouts are unknown and cannot with reasonable diligence be ascertained, his presumptive heirs at law or the legatees and devisees under the will, as the case may be, to whom the property has been provisionally distributed, may apply to the court for a decree of final distribution of such property and satisfaction, discharge and exoneration of the bonds given upon provisional distribution. Notice of hearing of such application shall be given in the same manner as notice of hearing of application for the appointment of trustee and for provisional distribution and if at the final hearing it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court that the owner of the property has been absent and unheard of for the space of fifteen years and his whereabouts are unknown, the court shall exonerate the bonds given on provisional distribution and enter a decree of final distribution, distributing the property to the presumptive heirs at law of the absentee or to his devisees and legatees, as the case may be. [L. '15, p. 136, § 9.]

§ 1715-10. Final Settlement—Escheat.

Whenever the owner of such property for which a trustee has been appointed under the provisions of this act shall have been absent and unheard of for a period of fifteen years and no presumptive heirs have appeared and applied for the provisional distribution of such property and no will of the absentee has been presented and proven, the trustee appointed under the provisions of this act shall apply to the court for a final settlement of his account and upon the settlement of such final account the property of the absentee shall be escheated in the manner provided by law for escheating property of persons who die intestate leaving no heirs. [L. '15, p. 137, § 10.]

§ 1716. When Allowed.

Any party aggrieved may appeal to the supreme court in the mode prescribed in this title from any and every of the following determinations, and no others, made by the superior court, or the judge thereof, in any action or proceeding.

(1) From the final judgment entered in any action or proceeding, and an appeal from any such final judgment shall also bring up for review any order made in the same action or proceeding either before or after the judgment, in case the record sent up on the appeal, or any supplementary record sent up before the hearing thereof, shall show such order sufficiently for the purposes of a review thereof.

(2) From any order refusing to vacate an order of arrest in a civil action.

(3) From an order granting or denying a motion for a temporary injunction, heard upon notice to the adverse party, and from any order vacating or refusing to vacate a temporary injunction: Provided, that no appeal shall be allowed from any order denying a motion for a temporary injunction, or vacating a temporary injunction unless the judge of the superior court shall have found upon the hearing, that the party against whom the injunction was sought was insolvent.

(4) From any order discharging or refusing to discharge an attachment.

(5) From any order appointing or removing, or refusing to appoint or remove, a receiver.

(6) From any order affecting a substantial right in a civil action or proceeding, which either, (1) in effect determines the action or proceeding and prevents a final judgment therein; or (2) discontinues the action; or (3) grants a new trial; or (4) sets aside or refuses to affirm an award of arbitrators, or refers the cause back to them.

(7) From any final order made after judgment, which affects a substantial right; and an appeal from any such order shall also bring up for review any previous order in the same action or proceeding which involves the merits and necessarily affects the order appealed from, in case the record sent up on the appeal, or any supplementary record sent up before the hearing thereof, shall show such previous order sufficiently for the purposes of a review thereof. But an appeal shall not be allowed to the state in any criminal action, except when the error complained of is in setting aside the indictment or information, or in arresting the judgment on the ground that the facts stated in the indictment or information do not constitute a crime, or is some other material error in law not affecting the acquittal of a prisoner on the merits. [L. '93, p. 119, § 1; L. '01, p. 28, § 1.]

§ 1719. Notice of.

A party desiring to appeal to the supreme court under the provisions of this title may, by himself or his attorney, give notice in open court or before the judge, if the judgment or order appealed from is rendered or made at chambers, at the time when such judgment or order is rendered or made, that he appeals from such judgment or order to the supreme court, and thereupon the court or judge shall direct the clerk to make an entry of such notice in the journal of the court. If the appeal be not taken at the time when the judgment or order appealed from is rendered or made, then the party desiring to appeal may, by himself or his attorney, within the time prescribed in section 1718, serve written notice on the prevailing party or his attorney that he appeals from such judgment or order to the supreme court, and within five days after the service of such notice he shall file with the clerk of the superior court the original or a copy of such notice, with proof or the written admission of the service thereof, and thereupon the clerk shall enter such notice, with the proof or admission of service thereof, in the journal of the court. The giving or service of a notice of appeal as prescribed in this section shall effect the appeal, but the same shall become ineffectual if an appeal bond for costs and damages be not given as required by section 1721 of this title. Two or more appealable orders with or without the judgment may be embraced in one appeal: Provided, that the time allowed in this title for appealing from each of such orders has not expired. The appellant in his notice of appeal shall designate with reasonable certainty from what judgment or orders, whether one or more, the appeal is taken, and if from part of any judgment or order, from what particular part. § 1720. Who may Join in Notice.

All parties whose interests are similarly affected by any judgment or order appealed from may join in the notice of appeal whether it be given at the time when such judgment or order is rendered or made, or subsequently; and any such party who has not joined in the notice may at any time within ten days after the notice is given or served, serve an independent notice of like appeal, or join in the appeal already taken by filing with the clerk of the superior court a statement that he joins therein or in some part thereof, specifying in what part. Any such party who does not so join shall not derive any benefit from the appeal unless from the necessity of the case; nor can he independently appeal from any judgment or order already appealed from, more than ten days after service upon him of written notice of the former appeal, unless such former appeal be afterward dismissed. All parties who so joined in an appeal after the notice is given or served shall be liable for the expenses thereof, and for costs and damages to the same extent and upon the same conditions as if they had originally joined in the notice. When the notice of appeal is not given at the time when the judgment or order appealed from is rendered or made, it shall be served in the manner required by law for the service of papers in civil actions and proceedings, upon all parties who have appeared in the action or proceeding: Provided, that where the record and files in the cause do not disclose the address of a party on whom notice should be made, or of his attorney, and neither such party nor his attorney can be found within the county in which the judgment or order appealed from was rendered or made (of which fact a return by the sheriff that they cannot be so found shall be proof), the notice of appeal need not be served on such party, but the appeal may be taken by filing the notice and such sheriff's return with the clerk. Service on an attorney who was the attorney of record for a party in the cause at the time when the judgment or order appealed from was rendered or made, shall be deemed service on such party in all cases where service is required by this title. § 1721. Bond for Costs.

An appeal in a civil action or proceeding shall become ineffectual for any purpose unless at or before the time when the notice of appeal is given or served, or within five days thereafter, an appeal bond to the adverse party conditioned for the payment of costs and damages as prescribed in section 1722, be filed with the clerk of the superior court, or money in the sum of two hundred dollars be deposited with the clerk in lieu thereof. But no bond or deposit shall be required when the appeal is taken by the state, or by a county, city, town or school district thereof, or by a defendant in a criminal action. [L. '93, p. 122, § 6.]

§ 1722. Bond—Execution, Condition and Effect of.

The appeal bond must be executed in behalf of the appellant by one or more sufficient sureties, and shall be in a penalty of not less than two hundred dollars in any case; and in order to effect a stay of proceedings as in this section provided, the bond, where the appeal is from a final judgment for the recovery of money, shall be in a penalty double the amount of the damages and costs recovered in such judgment and in other cases shall be in such penalty, not less than two hundred dollars, and sufficient to save the respondent harmless from damages by reason of the appeal, as a judge of the superior court shall prescribe. It shall be conditioned that the appellant will pay all costs and damages that may be awarded against him on the appeal, or on the dismissal thereof, not exceeding two hundred dollars. An appeal shall not stay proceedings on the judgment or order appealed from or on any part thereof, unless the original or a subsequent appeal bond be further conditioned that the appellant will satisfy and perform the judgment or order appealed from in case it shall be affirmed, and any judgment or order which the supreme court may render or make, or order to be rendered or made by the superior court, and (where such condition is applicable) shall pay all rents of or damages to property accruing during the pendency of the appeal, out of the possession of which any respondent shall be kept by reason of the appeal. If the bond is intended to stay proceedings on only a part of the judgment or order it shall be varied so as to secure the part stayed alone. When such bond, further conditioned as hereinabove prescribed, has been filed the appeal shall operate so long as it shall remain effectual under the provisions of this title to stay proceedings upon the judgment or order appealed from; but in case of an appeal from an order other than an order granting a new trial, no appeal or appeal bond shall operate to stay proceedings in the cause except proceedings upon the order appealed from; and no appeal or stay shall vacate or affect any part of a judgment or order not appealed from and where an appeal is taken from an order vacating a temporary injunction, the appellant cannot proceed further in the cause in the superior court during the pendency of the appeal, except so far as may be rendered necessary by proceedings of an adverse party. § 1723. Temporary Injunction to Remain in Force, When.

In all cases where a final judgment shall be rendered by any superior court of this state in a cause wherein a temporary injunction has been granted, and the party at whose instance such injunction was granted shall appeal from such judgment, such injunction shall remain in force during the pendency of such appeal, if, within five days after service on him of notice of the entry of the final judgment, such appellant shall file with the clerk of the superior court a bond, with one or more sufficient sureties, in a penalty to be fixed by said court, conditioned that the appellant shall pay to the respondent all costs and damages that may be adjudged against the appellant on the appeal, and all costs and damages that may accrue to the respondent by reason of the injunction remaining in force. § 1724. Injunction Where Appeal to United States Supreme Court.

In all cases where a final judgment shall be rendered by the supreme court of this state in a cause wherein a temporary or final injunction has been granted and the party at whose instance such injunction was granted shall appeal from such judgment to the supreme court of the United States, such injunction shall remain in force during the pendency of such appeal, if, within sixty days after the rendition of such judgment of the supreme court of this state, such appellant shall file with the clerk of the supreme court a bond, with one or more sufficient sureties, in a penalty to be fixed by said court, conditioned that the appellant shall pay to the respondent all costs and damages that may be adjudged against the appellant on appeal, and all costs and damages that may accrue to the respondent by reason of the injunction remaining in force. [L. '93, p. 124, § 9.]

§ 1725. Justification of Sureties.

An appeal bond whether conditioned so as to effect a stay of proceedings or not, shall be of no force unless accompanied by the affidavit of the surety or sureties therein attached thereto, in which each surety shall state that he is a resident of this state and is worth a certain sum mentioned in such affidavit, over and above all debts and liabilities, in property within this state, exclusive of property exempt from execution, and which sums so sworn to by the surety or sureties, shall be at least equal to the penalty named in the bond if there be but one surety, or shall amount in all to at least twice such penalty if there be more than one surety. § 1726. Exception to Surety—Certificate—New Bond.

Any respondent may except to the sufficiency of the surety or sureties in an appeal bond, within ten days after the service on him of the notice of appeal or within five days after the service on him of the bond or written notice of the filing thereof, by serving on the appellant a notice stating that he so excepts, and specifying a place at the county seat, and a time, not less than three nor more than ten days distant, at which the surety or sureties are required to attend before the superior court in which the judgment or order appealed from was rendered or made, or before a judge thereof, and to justify their sufficiency as sureties. At the time and place named in such notice, or to which the proceedings may be then adjourned by the court or judge, the surety or sureties must attend before the court or judge, and may be then and there examined in detail, under oath, as to their property and other qualifications as sureties, by any respondent or by the judge, or by both. If the judge upon such examination is satisfied that the surety or sureties are qualified as such, to the extent to which they are required by section 1723 of this title to make affidavit, then he shall make a certificate to that effect indorsed upon or attached to the bond, which shall thereupon stand as a sufficient appeal bond to the effect expressed in the condition thereof; but if he is not so satisfied, or if the sureties fail to attend and justify, then the judge shall in like manner certify to that effect, and thereupon the bond shall become void: Provided, that in such case the appellant may, within five days after the making of such certificate, file a new appeal bond, in conformity with the requirements of this title, and subject to the requirement of justification of the sureties therein, as hereinabove provided; but in case such new appeal bond be found insufficient, no new bond can thereafter be filed in lieu thereof. In case the original or new appeal bond be not conditioned so as to effect a stay of proceedings, however, an additional appeal bond may be filed at any time thereafter when the appellant desires to effect a stay as provided in this title, during the pendency of the appeal. The examination of the sureties taken upon their justification shall be reduced to writing and subscribed by the sureties, if either party so requires, and attached to the certificate made thereon. § 1727. Execution Countermanded, When.

When an appeal bond is conditioned so as to effect a stay of proceedings if execution has issued the clerk shall on demand of the appellant, issue to the sheriff a certificate that proceedings have been stayed, which shall countermand the execution; and thereupon the sheriff shall release any property levied on and not already sold, and return the execution into court. § 1728. Application for New Bond.

If any respondent shall have cause to believe, after any appeal bond shall have been filed and the sureties therein have justified or the time for requiring their justification has expired, that the sureties have since become disqualified as such, so that the bond is no longer an adequate security, he may apply by motion to the supreme court to require a new or additional bond; and upon the hearing of such motion the court may receive evidence in support of and in opposition to the motion in such manner, and may make such order thereon, as it shall deem proper. § 1729. Record—What Constitutes—Duties of Clerk.

Within ninety days after an appeal shall have been taken by notice as provided in this title, the clerk of the superior court shall prepare, certify and file in his office, at the expense of the appellant (except in criminal appeals prosecuted in forma pauperis, and in such cases at the expense of the county), a transcript containing a copy of so much of the record and files as the appellant shall deem material to the review of the matters embraced within the appeal, said transcript to be so prepared, certified and filed, in the office of the clerk, at or before the time when the appellant shall serve and file his opening brief, as hereinafter provided. Within four months after said appeal shall have been taken by notice as aforesaid, the clerk of the superior court shall at the expense of appellant, send up to the supreme court said transcript together with the original briefs on appeal filed in his office. The papers and copies so sent up together with any thereafter sent up as hereinbelow provided, shall constitute the record on appeal. Any bill of exceptions or statement of facts on file when the record is so sent up shall be sent up as a part thereof, unless the superior court or a judge thereof has not yet passed on an application for the settlement and certifying of such bill or statement. In case any bill of exceptions or statement of facts shall be filed or certified, or any other addition to the records or files shall be made after the record on appeal shall have been sent up, a supplementary record on appeal embracing so much thereof as the appellant deems material, or a copy thereof may be prepared, certified and sent up at any time prior to the hearing of the appeal. And in case the respondent deems any part of the files or record not already sent up to be material to the review of the matters embraced within the appeal, he may cause the clerk, in like manner, at his expense, to prepare, certify and send up a supplementary record on appeal embracing such omitted files or records, or copies thereof, at any time prior to the hearing of the appeal. Any such supplementary record or records, if filed in the supreme court prior to the hearing of the appeal, shall be considered by the court as part of the record on appeal, so far as the same may be material to a review of the matters embraced within the appeal. When the review of an original paper in the cause may be important to a correct decision of the appeal, the court or judge may order the clerk to transmit the same to the clerk of the supreme court and the same shall be transmitted accordingly, and shall be under the control of the supreme court. § 1730. Time for Filing and Serving Briefs.

Within ninety days after an appeal shall have been taken by notice as provided in this title, the appellant shall serve on the respondent three copies and shall file with the clerk of the superior court fifteen copies, together with proof or written admission of service, as aforesaid, of a printed brief on the appeal upon his part, which brief shall clearly point out each error that the appellant relies on for a reversal, and shall conform to such regulations of its contents in other respects, and its form and size, as the supreme court by its rules may have prescribed. Within thirty days after the service of the appellant's brief, the respondent shall likewise serve and file with the clerk of the superior court, with like proof of service, the like numbers of copies of a printed brief on the appeal upon his part which shall likewise conform to the rules of the supreme court. Not less than ten days prior to the hearing the appellant may also serve and file either with the clerk of the superior court or in the supreme court like printed brief or briefs, strictly in reply to respondent's brief. The time for service and filing of briefs, as in this section prescribed, may be extended by order of the superior court for good cause shown, or by stipulation of the parties concerned; and if the time for filing any statement of facts shall be extended by order or stipulation, the time herein prescribed for serving and filing the appellant's opening brief shall thereby be correspondingly extended. Either party may after the filing of his briefs and not less than one day prior to the hearing of the appeal submit to the supreme court and to the adverse party a written or printed statement of any additional authorities, with suitable comment thereon strictly in support of the position taken in his brief hereinabove required to be filed. But the appellant shall not be permitted to urge in any such reply brief or statement of additional authorities, or on the hearing, any grounds for reversal not clearly pointed out in his original brief. § 1730-1. Abstracts of Record—Cost.

The appellant shall, at or before the time when he is required by rule or statute to serve his opening brief, cause to be typewritten and served upon the opposite party an abstract of so much of the record and statement of facts as he may deem necessary to the proper hearing of his assignments of error: Provided, that in all cases in which no testimony is sent up with the record, or in which the statement of facts does not exceed one hundred (100) pages of double space, typewritten evidence, no abstract of record shall be required. Said abstract, in so far as it sets out testimony, shall be condensed into narrative form, without the questions and answers except when necessary for the discussion of evidence. It shall be prepared without notice or hearing thereon, and if the opposite party be not satisfied with it, he may cause to be typewritten and served, without notice, either before or at the time of serving his answering brief, so much of the record and statement of facts, condensed as above, as he for his part may deem proper for the correction or supplementing of his opponent's abstract. Each party shall pay the cost of typewriting his abstract, and the prevailing party shall be entitled to recover his disbursements therefor as other costs. For any abuse in typewriting excessive or unnecessary matter in the abstract, the supreme court, without regard to which party may prevail, may impose the costs thereof upon the party committing such abuse. The supreme court shall also provide by rule the form of abstracts, the number thereof to be typewritten, and for other particulars thereof, including the time and place of filing the same. [L. '15, p. 300, § 1; L. '13, p. 349, § 1.]

§ 1730-2. Effect of Act.

Nothing in this act contained shall alter in any respect the present manner of settling and certifying statements of fact and bills of exceptions, and such statements and bills shall be transmitted to the supreme court to be referred to in any controversy concerning the accuracy of the abstracts, as well as for reference to exhibits, and for such other uses as the supreme court may find proper in consideration of all matters on appeal. [L. '15, p. 301, § 2; L. '13, p. 350, § 2.]

"Act" refers to §§ 1718, 1730-1 to 1730-9.

Cited in 77 Wash. 112.

§ 1730-4. Extension of Time for Opening Brief.

In all cases in which the abstract of record which, by the terms of this act, is to be served upon the opposite party by the appellant is served within the time limited by existing law, or by any law hereafter passed, for the service of appellant's opening brief, the time for serving appellant's opening brief shall be, by such service of such abstract of record, extended for and until ten days after the service of such abstract of record, providing that the time for serving such opening brief would otherwise have expired within said ten days, and this section shall not be construed to shorten the time for serving of appellant's opening brief. [L. '15, p. 301, § 4.]

§ 1730-5. Extension of Time for Respondent's Brief.

In all cases in which the opposite party is not satisfied with the abstract of record as furnished by the appellant, and in which such opposite party shall serve so much of a record and statement of facts as he shall deem proper for correcting or supplementing of his opponent's abstract, the service thereof shall extend the time as limited by existing law, or by any law hereafter passed for the service of the opposite party's brief for a period of ten days from and after the service of said correcting and supplementing abstract by the opponent, but this section shall not be construed to shorten the time for the serving of the opponent's brief. [L. '15, p. 302, § 5.]

§ 1730-6. Insufficient Abstract—Amendment—Dismissal.

In case the appellant serves an abstract of record and statement of facts within the time limited by this act, and it is found that the same is insufficient and defective under the terms of this act or the rules of the supreme court, the appeal shall not be dismissed by reason thereof, but the appellant may be allowed to file an amended or supplementary abstract as may be required by the facts of the case within such time and upon such terms as may be fixed by the order of the supreme court, and if the appellant fails to comply with the order of the court in regard thereto, then the appeal may be dismissed by reason and because of such failure to comply with the order of the supreme court in regard thereto. [L. '15, p. 302, § 6.]

Cited in 93 Wash. 630; 100 Wash. 475; 101 Wash. 69; 103 Wash. 242; 105 Wash. 428.

§ 1730-7. Order of Filing and Serving Immaterial.

Whenever any statute heretofore or hereafter enacted requires a motion for a new trial, statement of facts, bill of exceptions, notice of appeal or other documents concerning appeals or constituting a part of the record of appeals to the supreme court, or to any other tribunal having appellate jurisdiction, to be filed and served or served and filed, the serving and filing shall be equally valid and effective whether the document shall be filed or served first and no appeal shall be dismissed because of the order of the filing and serving. [L. '15, p. 302, § 7.]

§ 1730-8. Extension of Time—Filing Abstract or Statement of Facts.

In case of a failure of the appellant to serve an abstract of record and statement of facts, or the one served is insufficient, the supreme court shall, if such failure is found to be excusable, allow the appellant a reasonable time, upon such terms as the court may impose, in which to supply such abstract of record and statement of facts. [L. '15, p. 303, § 8.]

Cited in 92 Wash. 534; 98 Wash. 29, 32; 102 Wash. 511; 103 Wash. 241; 104 Wash. 345; 107 Wash. 370, 371; 108 Wash. 172.

The supreme court will not allow a statement of facts to be supplied, under this section, where appellants' first attempt to file or propose a statement was some time after the extreme limit of ninety days fixed by § 393: Universal Motor Co. v. McGeorge, 104 Wash. 344, 176 Pac. 331.

Under this section an appellant failing to serve a statement of facts within the time limited, must apply to the supreme court for leave to supply the same, upon a showing that such failure was excusable: Swanson v. Stubb, 108 Wash. 170, 183 Pac. 91.

Under this section, appellant erroneously refused an extension of time for filing a proposed statement of facts, may proceed by motion in the supreme court to obtain an extension of time and direction to the lower court to certify a statement; or such motion will be considered as an application for a writ of review: Howell v. Dunning, 107 Wash. 369, 181 Pac. 522.

§ 1730-9. Defects in Appeal Bond—New Bond.

When a notice of appeal to the supreme court shall have been served and filed in due time and an appeal bond shall have been given within the time required by law, no appeal shall be dismissed because of any defect in the appeal bond, nor because an appeal bond which is given both as a cost bond and as a bond on supersedeas shall be insufficient by reason of the amount, but the appellant shall in all cases be allowed to give a new bond within such time and upon such terms as the court may order. [L. '15, p. 303, § 9.]

Cited in 94 Wash. 665, 679; 106 Wash. 627, 628.

§ 1731. Jurisdiction, Effect of Appeal Upon.

Upon the taking of an appeal by notice as provided in this title, and the filing of a bond to render the appeal effectual, the supreme court shall acquire jurisdiction of the appeal for all necessary purposes, and shall have control of the superior court and of all inferior officers in all matters pertaining thereto, and may enforce such control by a mandate or otherwise, and, if necessary, by fine and imprisonment, which imprisonment may be continued until obedience shall be rendered to the mandate of the supreme court. But the superior court shall, nevertheless, retain jurisdiction for the purpose of all proceedings by this act provided to be had in such court, and for the purpose of settlement and certifying the bills of exceptions and statements of facts, and for all purposes in so far as the cause is not affected by the appeal. [L. '93, p. 128, § 16.]

§ 1732. Calendar, How Prepared.

All appeals in which the record shall have [been] filed in the supreme court at least ten days before the beginning of any stated session of the court, shall be placed on the calendar of the court for hearing at such session; and the subsequent filing of a supplementary record shall not affect the position of the appeal on the calendar. But the hearing of an appeal may at any time be postponed by the court or continued for the session, of its own motion or for good cause shown, and on such terms as may be just. [L. '93, p. 128, § 17.]

§ 1733. Motion to Dismiss.

Any respondent may move the supreme court, at such time and in such manner as the court by its rules may have prescribed, to dismiss an appeal either on the ground that the court has no jurisdiction of an appeal from the judgment or order from which the appeal was taken, or that the notice of appeal was not served or filed within the time limited by law, or is insufficient, or that the appeal bond was not filed within the time limited by law, or is not in form or substance such as to render the appeal effectual, or that the appellant's brief has not been served or filed, or that the record on appeal has not been sent up, or that the appeal has not been diligently prosecuted or on any ground going to the merits of the further prosecution of the appeal, or on any two or more of the grounds hereinabove mentioned; and there may be combined with a motion to dismiss a motion to affirm the judgment or order appealed from, or a motion for damages on the ground that the appeal was taken merely for delay, or was manifestly unauthorized by law, or both such motions. A general appearance in the supreme court shall not be a waiver of the right to make any motion herein authorized. [L. '93, p. 129, § 18.]

§ 1734. Hearing and Disposition of Motion.

If the supreme court on the hearing of any such motion or motions shall find the grounds or any thereof alleged, for the same, to be well taken and true in effect, the court may grant the same in whole or in part, but when any such motion does not go to the substance of the appeal, or to the right of appeal, and the court shall be of the opinion that the moving party can be compensated in costs, or by the imposition of other terms for any delay of the appellant which is made the ground of any such motion (except a failure to take the appeal within the time limited by law) the court, in its discretion, may deny the motion on such terms as may be just. The court shall upon like terms allow all amendments in matters of form, curative of defects in proceedings to the end that substantial justice be secured to the parties, and no appeal shall be dismissed for any informality or defect in the notice of appeal, the appeal bond, or the service of either thereof, or for any defect of parties to the appeal if the appellant shall forthwith, upon order of the supreme court, perfect the appeal. § 1735. Second Appeal.

No withdrawal of an appeal, and no dismissal which does not go to the substance of or the right to the appeal, shall preclude any party from taking another appeal in the same cause, within the time limited by law. [L. '93, p. 130, § 20.]

§ 1736. What may be Reviewed.

Upon an appeal from a judgment, the supreme court may review any intermediate order or determination of the court below which involves the merits and materially affects the judgment, appearing upon the record sent up from the superior court. Any questions of fact or of law, decided upon trials by the court or by referees, in either legal or equitable causes, may be reviewed, when exceptions to the findings of fact or to the conclusions of law, or both, have been duly taken, by either party and sent up in the record on appeal; and in actions legal or equitable, tried by the court below without a jury, wherein a statement of facts or bill of exceptions shall have been certified, the evidence of facts shown by such bill of exceptions or statement of facts shall be examined by the supreme court de novo, so far as the findings of fact or a refusal to make findings based thereon shall have been excepted to, and the cause shall be determined by the record on appeal, including such exceptions or statement. [L. '93, p. 130, § 21.]

§ 1738. Damages may be Awarded, When.

Upon the affirmance of any judgment or order for the payment of money, the collection of which, in whole or in part, has been stayed by an appeal bond, as in this title provided, the court may award to the respondent damages upon the amount superseded; and, if satisfied by the record that the appeal was taken for delay only, the court must so award such damages not exceeding fifteen per cent of the sum by such judgment or order recovered or directed to be paid, as will effectually tend to prevent the taking of appeals for delay only. § 1740. Rehearing, Limitation on—Remittitur.

If a petition for rehearing or an appeal be filed within thirty days after the filing of the decision of the supreme court, the remittitur upon the appeal shall not be sent down to the lower court till such petition shall have been acted upon by the supreme court. But at the expiration of thirty days after the filing of the decision of any cause on appeal in case no petition for rehearing shall be filed, or in case such a petition is filed and is denied by the court, then forthwith upon such denial the clerk of the supreme court shall send down to the superior court from which the appeal was taken a remittitur in the cause, which shall con-

§ 1741. Effect of Judgment—Execution Under.

If the supreme court affirm or modify any judgment or order appealed from, it may remand the cause to the court below with directions to carry the same into effect, or it may itself issue the necessary process for that purpose to the sheriff of the proper county, as it may deem advisable. If the cause is remanded to the court below to have such judgment or order carried into effect, the decision of the supreme court, and its order entered thereon, upon being certified to the court below and entered on its records, shall have the same force and effect therein as if made and entered by the court below during its session. Executions issued from the supreme court shall be similar to those from the superior court, and of like force and effect, and returnable in the same time. [L. '93, p. 131, § 26.]

Jurisdiction of appellate court to grant rehearing after remand. 11 Ann. Cas. 866; Ann. Cas. 1917A, 285.

§ 1742. Effect of Reversal—Writ of Restitution.

If by a decision of the supreme court the appellant becomes entitled to a restoration of any part of the money or property that was taken from him by means of the judgment or order appealed from, either the supreme court or the court below may direct an execution or writ of restitution to issue for the purpose of restoring to the appellant his property, or the value thereof. But property acquired by a purchaser in good faith, under a judgment subsequently reversed, shall not be affected by such reversal. [L. '93, p. 132, § 27.]

Where a forcible entry and detainer action is dismissed for want of jurisdiction, restitution of premises cannot be awarded under this section: State ex rel. Huston v. Big Bend Land Co., 100 Wash. 425, 171 Pac. 259.

The supreme court will not require restitution pending an appeal where the parties are amply protected by this section: Fisher v. Seattle Trust Co., 109 Wash. 257, 186 Pac. 649.

§ 1744. Costs of Appeal.

Costs shall be allowed in the supreme court, irrespective of any costs taxed in the case in the court below, to the prevailing party in the supreme court, on any appeal in any civil action or proceeding as follows: The fees of the clerk of the supreme court paid by the prevailing party, the fees of the clerk of the court below for preparing, certifying and sending up the records on appeal, or any supplementary record, paid by the prevailing party, and twenty-five dollars attorneys' fees, besides his necessary disbursements for the printing of briefs, and any sum actually paid or incurred by the prevailing party as stenographer's fees, not exceeding ten cents a folio, for making a transcript of the evidence or any part thereof included in the bill of exceptions or statement of facts; but when the judgment of the court below shall be affirmed in part and reversed in part, or affirmed as to some of the parties and reversed as to others, or modified, the costs shall be in the discretion of the court, and when the judgment is reversed and a new trial ordered, the court may in its discretion direct that costs of the prevailing party shall abide the result of the action. When in the opinion of the supreme court a brief of the prevailing party shall be unnecessarily long, or improper in substance, the court may in its discretion order the disallowance as costs of any part or the whole of the disbursements for printing the same. § 1745. Effect of Appeal in Criminal Actions.

An appeal by a defendant in a criminal action shall stay the execution of the judgment of conviction. In case the defendant has been convicted of a felony, and has been unable to furnish the bail bond required by section 1747 pending the appeal, the time during which he remains in the jail of the county from which the appeal is taken shall be deducted from the term for which he was theretofore sentenced to the penitentiary, if judgment against him be affirmed. [L. '93, p. 133, § 30.]

§ 1746. Same—Date of Commencement of Sentence.

In the event no appeal be taken from the judgment of conviction of a felony, the term of sentence imposed upon such judgment shall commence to run from the date of the imposition thereof. In the event an appeal be taken from such judgment of conviction, and upon such appeal the judgment be affirmed, the term of sentence shall commence to run from the date upon which the remittitur shall be filed in the lower court. [L. '03, p. 39, § 1.]

§ 1747. In What Cases Bail Authorized.

In all criminal actions, except capital cases in which the proof of guilt is clear or the presumption great, upon an appeal being taken from a judgment of conviction, the court in which the judgment was rendered, or a judge thereof, must, by an order entered in the journal or filed with the clerk, fix and determine the amount of bail to be required of the appellant; and the appellant shall be committed until a bond to the state of Washington in the sum so fixed be executed on his behalf by at least two sureties possessing the qualifications required for sureties on appeal bonds by section 1725 of this title, such bond to be conditioned that the appellant shall appear whenever required, and stand to and abide by the judgment or orders of the appellate court, and any judgment and order of the superior court that may be rendered or made in pursuance thereof. If the appellant be already at large on bail, his sureties shall be liable to the amount of their bond, in the same manner and upon the same conditions as if they had executed the bond prescribed by this section; but the court may by order require a new bond in a larger amount or with new sureties, and may commit the appellant until the order be complied with. § 1748. Personal Appearance not Necessary.

Personal appearance of any party in the supreme court shall not be necessary on appeal in either civil or criminal actions. In criminal actions the defendant shall be entitled to close the argument. [L. '93, p. 134, § 32.]

§ 1749. Proceedings in Case of Reversal in Criminal Cases.

When in a criminal action the judgment against the defendant is reversed and it appears that no offense whatever has been committed, the supreme court must direct that the defendant be discharged; but if it appear that the defendant is guilty of an offense, although defectively charged in the indictment or information, the supreme court, if the defendant is in prison, must direct the keeper of the place of confinement to cause the prisoner to be returned to the sheriff of the proper county, there to abide the order of the superior court thereof; and such keeper shall be entitled to the usual fees therefor. [L. '93, p. 134, § 33.]

§ 1750. Imprisonment Pending Appeal to be Deducted.

If a defendant who has been in prison during the pendency of an appeal, upon a new trial ordered by the supreme court, shall be again convicted, the period of his former imprisonment shall be deducted by the superior court from the period of imprisonment to be fixed on the last verdict of conviction. [L. '93, p. 134, § 34.]

§ 1751. Transcript of Judgment, Effect of.

A transcript of any order or judgment, or both, of the supreme court, certified under the seal of the court, shall be sufficient authority to any court, or to any officer on whom it may be secured, to proceed according to its mandate. [L. '93, p. 134, § 35.]

§ 1752. Appeals to be Heard on Merits.

The supreme court shall hear and determine all causes removed thereto in the manner hereinbefore provided, upon the merits thereof, disregarding all technicalities, and shall upon the hearing consider all amendments which could have been made as made. [L. '93, p. 134, § 36.]

§ 1754. Method Herein Provided Exclusive.

The mode provided by this title for appealing cases to the supreme court, and for securing a revision of the same therein, shall be exclusive and shall supersede all other methods heretofore provided. But no rights acquired under statutes which are abrogated by this title shall be lost by reason of the passage of this title, and all appeals pending when this title takes effect may be prosecuted to their determination as if this title had not been passed. CHAPTER I.

COMMENCEMENT OF CIVIL ACTIONS IN JUSTICE'S COURT.

§ 1755. Civil Actions, How Commenced.

Civil actions in the several justices' courts of this state may be instituted either by the voluntary appearance and agreement of the parties, by the service of a summons, or by the service upon the defendant of a true copy of the complaint and notice, which notice shall be attached to the copy of the complaint, and cite the defendant to be and appear before the justice at the time and place therein specified, which shall not be less than six nor more than twenty days from the date of filing the complaint. [Cf. L. '60, p. 245; L. '73, p. 35, § 19; Cd. '81, § 1712; 2 H. C. § 1452.]

Process: See Remington's Digest, J. P., 24 Pac. 539; McCoy v. Bell, 1 Wash. 504, § 14; Nelson v. Campbell, 1 Wash. 261, 20 Pac. 595.

§ 1756. Venue of Actions—Precinct of Defendant's Residence.

All civil actions commenced in a justice court against a defendant or defendants residing in a city or town of more than three thousand inhabitants shall be brought in the justice court of the precinct in said city or town in which one or more of such defendants reside. [L. '99, p. 53, § 1; L. '01, p. 105, § 1.]

Cited in 104 Wash. 650.

An "action" is the formal demand, including the proceeding and adjudication of the rights of one party against another, in a court, and relates only to civil actions, for otherwise there might be no courts to which the same could apply: State ex rel. Calderwood v. Schomber, 23 Wash. 573, 63 Pac. 221.

This section has no application to a prosecution for the violation of an ordinance of a city of the third class, jurisdiction of which is exclusively vested in the police judge of the city by section 9143, infra: State ex rel. Kiggins v. Hadley, 104 Wash. 648, 177 Pac. 655.

§ 1757. Jurisdiction—Coextensive With Limits of County.

The jurisdiction of justices of the peace in all civil actions, except as provided in the preceding section, shall be coextensive with the limits of the county in which they are elected or appointed, and no other or greater, but every justice of the peace shall continue to reside and perform all the duties of his office in the precinct for which he was elected or appointed during his continuance in office. [L. '01, p. 105, § 2.]

§ 1758. Action by Summons, How Commenced—Form, etc.

A party desiring to commence an action before a justice of the peace for the recovery of a debt by summons shall file his claim with the justice of the peace, verified by his own oath, or that of his agent or attorney; and thereupon the justice of the peace shall, on payment of his fees, if demanded, issue a summons to the opposite party, which summons shall be in the following form, or as nearly as the case will admit, viz.:—

The State of Washington, } ss.
 — County,

To the Sheriff or any Constable of said County.

In the name of the state of Washington, you are hereby commanded to summon —, if he (or they) be found in your county, to be and appear before me at — on — day of —, at — o'clock, P. M. (or A. M.), to answer the complaint of —, for a failure to pay him a certain demand, amounting to — dollars and — cents, upon (here state briefly the nature of the claim); and of this writ make due service and return.

Given under my hand this — day of —, 18—.

— —, Justice of the Peace.

And the summons shall specify a certain place, day, and hour for the appearance and answer of the defendant, not less than six nor more than twenty days from the date of filing plaintiff's claim with the justice, which summons shall be served at least five days before the time of trial mentioned therein, and shall be served by the officer delivering to the defendant, or leaving at his place of abode, with some person over twelve years of age, a true copy of such summons, certified by the officer to be such. [Cf. L. '60, p. 243, § 29; L. '73, p. 335, § 20; Cd. '81, § 1713; 2 H. C., § 1453.]

Effect of error or irregularity in summons issued by justice of the peace: Ann. Cas. 1914A, 1085; 6

A. L. R. 851.

§ 1759. Action by Complaint and Notice—Form.

Any person desiring to commence an action before a justice of the peace by the service of a complaint and notice can do so by filing his complaint, verified by his own oath or that of his agent or attorney, with the justice, and when such complaint is so filed, upon payment of his fees, if demanded, the justice shall attach thereto a notice, which shall be substantially as follows:—

The State of Washington, } ss.
— County,

To —.

In the name of the state of Washington, you are hereby notified to be and appear at my office in —, on the — day of —, 18—, at the hour of —, — M., to answer the foregoing complaint, or judgment will be taken against you as confessed, and the prayer of the plaintiff granted.

Dated —, 18—.

— —, J. P.

[Cf. L. '60, p. 245, § 29; L. '73, p. 336, § 21; Cd. '81, § 1714; 2 H. C., § 1454.]

Cited in 11 Wash. 12.

§ 1760. Service of Process by Constable or Sheriff.

All process in actions and proceedings in justice courts, having a salaried constable, when served by an officer, shall be served by such constable or by the sheriff of the county or his duly appointed deputy; and all fees for such service shall be paid into the county treasury. [L. '09, p. 433, § 1.]

§ 1761. How Served.

The complaint and notice shall be served at least five days before the time mentioned in the notice for the defendant to appear and answer the complaint, by delivering to the defendant, or leaving at his place of abode, with some person over twelve years of age, a true copy of the complaint and notice, certified by the officer or person making the service to be such. [L. '73, p. 337, § 22; Cd. '81, § 1715; 2 H. C., § 1455.]

Cited in 11 Wash. 12; 31 Wash. 362.

Under this section a justice of the peace acquires no jurisdiction of the defendant by a service of a summons upon his daughter of the age of eleven years: Woodbury v. Henningsen, 11 Wash. 12, 39 Pac. 243.

§ 1762. Style of Process.

All process issued by justices of the peace shall run in the name of the state of Washington, be dated the day issued and signed by the justice granting the same, and all executions and writs of attachment or of replevin shall be served by the sheriff or some constable of the county in which the justice resides, but a summons or notice and complaint may be served by any citizen of the state of Washington over the age of twenty-one years and not a party to the action. [L. '03, p. 18, § 1. Cf. L. '73, p. 337, § 23; Cd. '81, § 1716; 2 H. C., § 1456; L. '93, p. 264, § 1; L. '95, p. 95, § 1.]

Cited in 71 Wash. 597.

§ 1763. Return of Process.

Every constable or sheriff serving process or complaint and notice shall return in writing, the time, manner and place of service and indorse thereon the legal fees therefor and shall sign his name to such return, and any person other than one of said officers serving summons or complaint and notice shall file with the justice his affidavit, stating the time, place and manner of the service of such summons or notice and complaint: Provided, that no fee shall be allowed for the service of a summons or notice and complaint by a person other than an officer. [L. '03, p. 19, § 2. Cf. L. '54, p. 229, § 31; L. '60, p. 246, § 37; L. '73, p. 337, § 24; Cd. '81, § 1717; 2 H. C., § 1457; L. '93, p. 264, § 2; L. '95, p. 195, § 2.]

§ 1764. Service by Person Appointed by Justice—Return.

Any justice may, by appointment in writing, authorize any person other than the parties to the proceeding, or action, to serve any subpoena, summons, or notice and complaint issued by such justice; and any such person making such service shall return on such process or paper, in writing, the time and manner of service, and shall sign his name to such return, and be entitled to like fees for making such service as a sheriff or constable, and shall indorse his fees for service thereon: Provided, it shall not be lawful for any justice to issue process or papers to any person but a regularly qualified sheriff or constable, in any precinct where such officers reside, unless from sickness or some other cause said sheriff or constable is not able to serve the same: Provided further, that it shall be lawful for notice and complaint or summons in a civil action in the justice court to be served by any person over the age of twenty-one years and not a party to the action in which the summons or notice and complaint shall be issued without previous appointment by the justice. [L. '03, p. 19, § 3. Cf. L. '73, p. 337, § 25; Cd. '81, § 1718; 2 H. C., § 1458.]

§ 1765. Proof of Service.

Proof of service in either of the above cases shall be as follows: When made by a constable or sheriff, his return signed by him and indorsed on the paper or process. When made by any person other than such officer, then by the affidavit of the person making the service. [L. '73, p. 337, § 26; Cd. '81, § 1719; 2 H. C., § 1459.]

§ 1766. Service by Publication—Form.

In case personal service cannot be had by reason of the absence of the defendant from the county in which the action is sought to be commenced, it shall be proper to publish the summons or notice, with a brief statement of the object and prayer of the claim or complaint, in some weekly newspaper published in the county wherein the action is commenced; or if there is no paper published in such county then in some newspaper published in the nearest adjoining county, which notice shall be published not less than once a week for three weeks prior to the time fixed for the hearing of the cause, which shall not be less than four weeks from the first publication of said notice. Said notice may be substantially as follows:—

The State of Washington, }
County of —, } ss.

In Justice's Court, — Justice.

To —.

In the name of the state of Washington, you are hereby notified that — has filed a complaint (or claim, as the case may be) against you in said court, which will come on to be heard at my office in —, in — county, state of Washington, on the — day of —, A. D. 18—, at the hour of — o'clock, — M., and unless you appear and then and there answer, the same will be taken as confessed, and the demand of the plaintiff granted. The object and demand of said claim (or complaint, as the case may be), is (here insert a brief statement).

Complaint filed —, A. D. 18—.

Cited in 71 Wash. 667, 671, 672.

This section authorizes only a judgment in rem against the property attached, even if the defendant was a resident of the state; and where the attached property is not sufficient to satisfy the judgment, no other execution can issue against other property of the defendant as in the case of personal judgments: Clifford v. Paterson Transfer Co., 71 Wash. 665, 129 Pac. 369.

§ 1767. Proof of Service by Publication.

Proof of service, in case of publication, shall be the affidavit of the publisher, printer, foreman or principal clerk, showing the same. [L. '73, p. 338, § 28; Cd. '81, § 1721; 2 H. C., § 1461.]

§ 1768. Written Admission Equivalent to Proof of Service.

The written admission of the defendant, his agent or attorney, indorsed upon any summons, complaint and notice, or other paper, shall be complete proof of service in any case. [L. '73, p. 338, § 29; Cd. '81, § 1722; 2 H. C., § 1462.]

§ 1769. Jurisdiction, When Acquired.

The court shall be deemed to have obtained possession of the case from the time the complaint or claim is filed, after completion of service, whether by publication or otherwise, and shall have control of all subsequent proceedings. [L. '73, p. 338, § 30; Cd. '81, § 1723; 2 H. C., § 1463.]

See notes to § 44, supra, jurisdiction of justices.

§ 1770. Justice's Docket, Entries in.

Every justice of the peace shall keep a docket in a well-bound book, in which he shall enter,—

1. The title of all actions commenced before him;
2. The object of the action or proceeding, and if a sum of money be claimed, the amount of the demand;

3. The date of the notice and the time of its return; and if an order to arrest the defendant be made, the statement of the facts on which the order is issued;

4. The time when the parties, or either of them, appear, or their non-appearance, if default be made;

5. A brief statement of the nature of the plaintiff's demand, and the amount claimed; and if any setoff be pleaded, a similar statement of the setoff and the amount estimated, and every motion, rule, order, and exception, with the decision of the court thereon;

6. Every continuance, stating at whose request, and for what time;

7. The demand for a trial by jury, when the same is made, and by whom made, the order for the jury, and the time appointed for the trial and return of the jury;

8. The names of the jury who appear and are sworn; the names of witnesses sworn, and at whose request;

9. The verdict of the jury, and when received; and if the jury disagree and are discharged, the fact of such disagreement and discharge;

10. The judgment of the court, and the time when rendered;

11. The time of issuing execution, and the name of the officer to whom delivered, and an account of the debt and costs, and the fees due to each person separately;

12. The fact of an appeal having been made and allowed, and the time when;

13. Satisfaction of the judgment, or any money paid thereon, and the time when;

14. And such other entries as may be material. [Cf. L. '54, p. 227, § 25; L. '73, p. 339, § 31; Cd. '81, § 1724; 2 H. C., § 1464.]

Cited in 74 Wash. 479; 88 Wash. 551.

§ 1771. Infant to Sue by Guardian or Next Friend.

No action shall be commenced by an infant plaintiff, except by his guardian or until a next friend for such infant shall have been appointed. Whenever requested, the justice shall appoint some suitable person, who shall consent thereto in writing, to be named by such plaintiff, to act as his next friend in such action, who shall be responsible for the costs therein. [L. '54, p. 230, § 40; Cd. '81, § 1753; 2 H. C., § 1465.]

Cited in 13 Wash. 165.

§ 1772. Appointment of Guardian ad Litem.

After service and return of process against an infant defendant, the action shall not be further prosecuted until a guardian for such infant shall have been appointed. Upon the request of such defendant, the justice shall appoint some person, who shall consent thereto in writing, to be guardian of the defendant in defense of the action; and if the defendant shall not appear on the return day of the process, or if he neglect or refuse to nominate such guardian, the justice may, at the request of the plaintiff, appoint any discreet person as such guardian. The consent of the guardian or next friend shall be filed with the justice; and such guardian for the defendant shall not be liable for any costs in the action. [L. '54, p. 230, § 41; Cd. '81, § 1754; 2 H. C., § 1466.]

§ 1773. Time for Appearance.

The parties shall be entitled to one hour in which to make their appearance after the time mentioned in the summons or notice for appearance. but shall not be required to remain longer than that time, unless both parties appear, and the justice, being present, is actually engaged in the trial of another action or proceeding; in such case he may postpone the time of appearance until the close of such trial. § 1774. Change of Venue.

If, previous to the commencement of any trial before a justice of the peace, the defendant, his attorney or agent, shall make and file with the justice an affidavit that the deponent believes that the defendant cannot have an impartial trial before such justice, it shall be the duty of the justice to forthwith transmit all papers and documents belonging to the case to the next nearest justice of the peace in the same county, who is not of kin to either party, sick, absent from the county, or interested in the result of the action, either as counsel or otherwise. The justice to whom such papers and documents are so transmitted shall proceed as if the suit had been instituted before him. Distance, as contemplated by this section, shall mean to be by the nearest traveled route. The costs of such change of venue shall abide the result of the suit. [Cf. L. '67, p. '88, §§ 2, 3; L. '81, p. 8, §§ 2, 3; Cd. '81, § 1938; 2 H. C., § 1468.]

§ 1775. Change of Venue as in Superior Court.

Change of venue may be allowed for the same causes for which they are allowed in the superior court. [Cf. L. '60, p. 252, § 68; L. '63, p. 369, § 162; Cd. '81, § 1881.]

§ 1776. Penalty for False Return.

If any officer, without showing good cause therefor, fail to execute any process to him delivered, and make due return thereof, or make a false return, such officer, for every such offense, shall pay to the party injured ten dollars, and all damages such party may have sustained by reason thereof, to be recovered in a civil action. [Cf. L. '54, p. 230, § 39; L. '73, p. 343, § 51; Cd. '81, § 1752; 2 H. C., § 1469.]

§ 1777. Security of Nonresident for Costs.

Whenever the plaintiff is a nonresident of the county, the justice may require of him security for the costs in a sum not exceeding fifty dollars at the time of the commencement of the action. Provided, however, that after an action has been commenced by a nonresident plaintiff and no security given for costs, the defendant may require such security by motion; when allowed all proceedings shall be stayed until such security has been given. [L. '05, p. 27, § 1. Cf. L. '54, p. 228, § 27; Cd. '81, § 1725; 2 H. C., § 1470.]

CHAPTER I-A.

SMALL CLAIMS DEPARTMENT IN JUSTICE'S COURT.

§ 1777-1. Small Claims Department—Jurisdiction.

In every justice's district of this state there shall be created and organized by the justice of the peace thereof a department to be known as the "small claims department of the justice's court," which shall have jurisdiction, but not exclusive, in cases for the recovery of money only where the amount claimed does not exceed twenty dollars ($20), and where the defendant resides within the district of such justice court. [L. '19, p. 579, § 1.]

§ 1777-2. Actions, How Commenced.

Actions in such small claims departments shall be deemed commenced by the plaintiff appearing before the justice of the peace and subscribing to and verifying a claim as hereinafter provided. [L. '19, p. 580, § 2.]

§ 1777-3. Setting for Hearing—Filing Fee—Compensation.

Upon filing said claim such justice of the peace shall appoint a time for the hearing of said matter and shall cause to be issued a notice of the claim, as hereinafter provided, which shall be served upon the defendant.

Said justice of the peace shall collect in advance upon each claim the sum of one dollar ($1), and this shall be the only fee for such justice of the peace to be charged or taxed against the plaintiff in such action during the pendency or disposition of said claim: Provided, however, that when any such "small claims department" shall be created and organized in any justice's district as herein provided, in which the justice is not paid a salary, he may be paid as compensation for conducting such department from the county treasury of his county such monthly salary as the county court and commissioners of said county shall deem just and proper. [L. '19, p. 580, § 3.]

§ 1777-4. Service on Defendant—Fees.

Said notice of claim shall be served by the officers provided for in section 1760, and the same shall be served in the manner provided for in section 1761, but no other paper is to be served with said notice. The officer serving such notice shall be entitled to receive from the plaintiff fifty cents ($.50) for such service; which sum, together with the fee of the justice of the peace named in section 1777-3, shall be added to any judgment given for plaintiff. [L. '19, p. 580, § 4.]

§ 1777-5. Statement of Claim—Requisites.

The claim hereinbefore referred to shall contain the name of the plaintiff and the name of the defendant, followed by a statement, in brief and concise form, of the nature and amount of said claim and the time of the accruing of such claim; and shall also state the name and residence of the defendant, if same be known to the plaintiff, for the purpose of serving the notice of claim on such defendant. [L. '19, p. 580, § 5.]

§ 1777-6. Notice of Claim—Time for Answer.

Said notice of claim shall be directed to the defendant, naming him, and shall contain a statement in brief and concise form notifying such defendant of the name, address, amount and natures of the alleged claim of plaintiff, and directing and requiring defendant to appear personally in court before the justice of the peace of said justice's court at a time certain, which shall not be less than five nor more than ten days from the date of service of such notice; said notice shall further provide that in case of failure to so appear, judgment will be given against defendant for the amount of such claim. [L. '19, p. 581, § 6.]

§ 1777-7. Verification.

All claims must be verified by the real claimant, and no claim shall be filed or prosecuted in such department by the assignee of such claim. [L. '19, p. 581, § 7.]

§ 1777-8. Consent to Appearance by Attorney—Witnesses—Judgment.

No attorney at law nor any person other than the plaintiff and defendant, shall concern himself or in any manner interfere with the prosecution or defense of such litigation in said department without the consent of the justice of said justice's court; nor shall it be necessary to summon witnesses, but the plaintiff and defendant in any claim shall have the privilege of offering evidence in their behalf by witnesses appearing at such hearing, and the justice may informally consult witnesses or otherwise investigate the controversy between the parties, and give judgment or make such orders as may by him be deemed to be right, just and equitable for the disposition of the controversy. [L. '19, p. 581, § 8.]

§ 1777-9. Informal Pleadings and Trial.

No formal pleading, other than the said claim and notice, shall be necessary to define the issue between the parties; and the hearing and disposition of all such actions shall be informal, with the sole object of dispensing speedy and quick justice between the litigants: Provided, that no attachment, garnishment or execution shall issue from the small claims department on any claim except as hereinafter provided. [L. '19, p. 582, § 9.]

§ 1777-10. Satisfaction of Judgments.

If the judgment or order be against the defendant, it shall be his duty to pay the same forthwith upon such terms and conditions as the justice of such court shall prescribe. [L. '19, p. 582, § 10.]

§ 1777-11. Certification of Unpaid Judgment—Docket Entry.

The judgment of said court shall be conclusive. If the defendant fails to pay the judgment according to the terms and conditions thereof.

the justice before whom such hearing was had, may, on application of the plaintiff, certify such judgment in substantially the following form:

Washington.

In the justice's court of — county, before — justice of the peace for — precinct.

—, Plaintiff, } vs. }
—, Defendant. }

In the Small Claims Department.

This is to certify that in a certain action before me, the undersigned, had on this the — day of — 19—, wherein — was plaintiff and — defendant, jurisdiction of said defendant having been had by personal service (or otherwise) as provided by law, I then and there entered judgment against said defendant in the sum of — dollars; which judgment has not been paid.

Witness my hand this — day of —, 19—.

Justice of the Peace sitting in the Small Claims Department.

The justice of the peace of said justice's court shall forthwith enter such judgment transcript on the judgment docket of such justice's court; and thereafter garnishment, execution and other process on execution provided by law may issue thereon, as obtains in other cases of judgments of justice's courts, and transcripts of such judgments may be filed and entered in judgment lien dockets in superior courts with like effect as in other cases. [L. '19, p. 582, § 11.]

§ 1777-12. Records.

Each justice of the peace shall keep a separate docket for the small claims department of his court, in which he shall make a permanent record of all proceedings, orders and judgments had and made in such small claims department. [L. '19, p. 583, § 12.]

CHAPTER II.

PLEADINGS IN CIVIL ACTIONS IN JUSTICE'S COURT.

§ 1778. Pleadings, When to Take Place.

The pleadings in justice's court shall take place upon the appearance of the parties, unless they shall have been previously filed, or unless the justice shall, for good cause shown, allow a longer time than the time of appearance. [L. '54, p. 231, § 43; Cd. '81, § 1756; 2 H. C., § 1471.]

§ 1779. Pleadings, What Constitute.

The pleadings in the justice's court shall be,—

1. The complaint of the plaintiff, which shall state in a plain and direct manner the facts constituting the cause of action;

2. The answer of the defendant, which may contain a denial of the complaint, or any part thereof, and also a statement, in a plain and direct manner, of any facts constituting a defense;

3. When the answer sets up a setoff by way of defense, the reply of the plaintiff. [L. '54, p. 231, § 44; Cd. '81, § 1757; 2 H. C., § 1472.]

Necessity of pleading the statute of frauds in justice's court. 49 L. R. A. (N. S.) 28.

§ 1780. Pleadings may be Oral or Written.

The pleadings in justices' courts may be oral or in writing. [L. '54, p. 231, § 45; Cd. '81, § 1758; 2 H. C., § 1473.]

§ 1781. Pleadings Docketed or Filed—Form Immaterial

When the pleadings are oral, the substance of them shall be entered by the justice in his docket. When in writing, they shall be filed in his office, and a reference made to them in his docket. Pleadings shall not be required to be in any particular form, but shall be such as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended. [L. '54, p. 231, § 46; Cd. '81, § 1759; 2 H. C., § 1474.]

Cited in 88 Wash. 551.

§ 1782. Denial of Knowledge or Information.

A statement, in an answer or reply, that the party has not sufficient knowledge or information in respect to a particular allegation in the previous pleadings of the adverse party to form a belief shall be deemed equivalent to a denial. [L. '54, p. 231, § 47; Cd. '81, § 1760; 2 H. C., § 1475.]

§ 1783. Pleading Account or Instrument.

When the cause of action or setoff arises upon an account or instrument for the payment of money only, it shall be sufficient for the party to deliver the account or instrument, or a copy thereof, to the court, and to state that there is due to him thereon, from the adverse party, a specified sum, which he claims to recover or set off. The court may, at the time of pleading, require that the original account or instrument be exhibited to the inspection of the adverse party, with liberty to copy the same; or if not so exhibited, may prohibit its being given in evidence. [L. '54, p. 231, § 48; Cd. '81, § 1761; 2 H. C., § 1476.]

§ 1784. Pleadings to be Verified.

Every complaint, answer, or reply shall be verified by the oath of the party pleading; or if he be not present, by the oath of his attorney or agent, to the effect that he believes it to be true. The verification shall be oral or in writing, in conformity with the pleading verified. [L. '54, p. 232, § 49; Cd. '81, § 1762; 2 H. C., § 1477.]

§ 1785. Uncontroverted Allegations Deemed Admitted.

Every material allegation in a complaint, or relating to a setoff in an answer, not denied by the pleading of the adverse party, shall, on the trial, be taken to be true, except that when a defendant who has not been served with a copy of the complaint fails to appear and answer, the plaintiff cannot recover without proving his case. [L. '54, p. 232, § 50; Cd. '81, § 1763; 2 H. C., § 1478.]

§ 1786. Objections to Pleading—Amendment.

Either party may object to a pleading by his adversary, or to any part thereof, that is not sufficiently explicit for him to understand it, or that it contains no cause of action or defense, although it be taken as true. If the court deem the objection well founded, it shall order the pleading to be amended; and if the party refuse to amend, the defective pleading shall be disregarded. [L. '54, p. 232, § 51; Cd. '81, § 1764; 2 H. C., § 1479.]

§ 1787. Variance Immaterial, When.

A variance between the proof on the trial and the allegations in a pleading shall be disregarded as immaterial, unless the court be satisfied that the adverse party has been misled to his prejudice thereby. [L. '54, p. 232, § 52; Cd. '81, § 1765; 2 H. C., § 1480.]

§ 1788. Amendments.

The pleadings may be amended at any time before the trial, or during the trial, or upon appeal, to supply any deficiency or omissions in the allegations or denials necessary to support the action or defense, when by such amendment substantial justice will be promoted. If the amendment be made after the issue, and it be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court that a continuance is necessary to the adverse party in consequence of such amendment, a continuance shall be granted. The court may also, in its discretion, require as a condition of an amendment the payment of costs to the adverse party. [L. '54, p. 232, § 53; Cd. '81, § 1766; 2 H. C., § 1481.]

Cited in 3 Wash. 709.

It is discretionary with the superior court to allow amendments to the pleadings used before the justice, and prohibition will not lie to prevent such action where the court has jurisdiction of the subject matter of the suit: State ex rel. Bagley v. Superior Court, 3 Wash. 705, 29 Pac. 213.

§ 1789. Setoff, How Pleaded.

To entitle a defendant to any setoff he may have against the plaintiff, he must allege the same in his answer; and the statutes regulating setoffs in the superior court shall in all respects be applicable to a setoff in a justice's court, if the amount claimed to be set off, after deducting the amount [found] due the plaintiff, be within the jurisdiction of the justice of the peace; judgment may, in like manner, be rendered by the justice, in favor of the defendant, for the balance found due the plaintiff. [L. '54, p. 232, § 54; Cd. '81, § 1767; 2 H. C., § 1482.]

See infra, § 1861, action when setoff exceeds jurisdiction.

See infra, § 1873, setoff of mutual judgments.

CHAPTER III.

ARREST AND BAIL IN JUSTICE'S COURT.

§ 1790. Warrant may Issue, When.

A justice of the peace shall issue a warrant of arrest in all such cases within his jurisdiction, and for such causes and upon such proof, as is provided for an order for a warrant in the act regulating civil actions. [L. '54, p. 229, § 32; Cd. '81, § 1746; 2 H. C., § 1484.]

This act held unconstitutional. See notes to § 749, supra.

Bail in criminal cases, see infra, §§ 1952, 1952½.

Cited in 81 Wash. 397.

A justice of the peace is not liable for the unlawful arrest of a party as an absconding debtor under this invalid act, upon process issued by him in good faith, without malice, the case being colorably, though not really, within his jurisdiction: Hayes v. Hutchinson & Shields, 81 Wash. 394, 142 Pac. 865.

§ 1791. Bond for Warrant.

Before issuing the warrant of arrest, the justice shall require a bond on part of the plaintiff, with one or more sureties, to the effect that if the defendant recover judgment the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be awarded to the defendant, and all damages which may be sustained by reason of the arrest, not exceeding the sum specified in the bond, which shall be at least one hundred dollars. [L. '54, p. 229, § 33; Cd. '81, § 1747; 2 H. C., § 1485.]

§ 1792. Warrant, How Served.

The warrant shall be served by arresting the defendant, and taking him before the justice of the peace who issued the same; but if such justice, at the return thereof, be absent or unable to try the action, the officer shall immediately take the defendant to the nearest justice of the same county, who shall take cognizance of the action, and proceed thereon as if the warrant had been issued by himself. [L. '54, p. 229, § 34; Cd. '81, § 1748; 2 H. C., § 1486.]

§ 1793. Notice of Arrest to Plaintiff, etc.

The officer making the arrest shall immediately give notice to the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, and indorse on the warrant the time of the arrest and the time of serving notice on the plaintiff. [L. '54, p. 229, § 35; Cd. '81, § 1749; 2 H. C., § 1487.]

§ 1794. Detention not to Exceed Twenty-four Hours.

When a defendant is brought before a justice on a warrant, he shall be detained in the custody of the officer until he shall be discharged according to law; but in no case shall the defendant be detained longer than twenty-four hours from the time he shall be brought before the justice, unless within that time the trial of the action shall be commenced, or unless it has been delayed at the instance of the defendant. [L. '54, p. 229, § 36; Cd. '81, § 1750; 2 H. C., § 1488.]

§ 1795. Continuance—Bond.

If the defendant, on his appearance, demand a continuance, the same may be granted on condition that he remain in custody or execute and file with the justice a bond, with one or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by the justice, to the effect that he will render himself amenable to the process of the court, or that the sureties will pay to plaintiff the amount of any judgment which he may recover in the action. On filing such bond, the justice shall order the defendant to be discharged from custody. [L. '54, p. 229, § 37; Cd. '81, § 1751; 2 H. C., § 1489.]

CHAPTER IV.

REPLEVIN IN JUSTICE'S COURT.

§ 1796. Plaintiff may Claim Immediate Delivery.

The plaintiff in an action to recover the possession of personal property may, at the time of issuing such summons, or at any time before answer, claim the immediate delivery of such property as provided in this chapter. [L. '54, p. 242, § 109; Cd. '81, § 1809; 2 H. C., § 1490.]

See infra, § 1888, claim by third person of property levied upon.

§ 1797. Affidavit Where Delivery Claimed, Contents of.

When a delivery is claimed, an affidavit shall be made by the plaintiff, or by someone in his behalf, showing,—

1. That the plaintiff is the owner of the property claimed (particularly describing it), or is lawfully entitled to the possession thereof by virtue of a special property therein, the facts in respect to which shall be set forth;

2. That the property is wrongfully detained by the defendant;

3. The alleged cause of the detention thereof, according to his best knowledge, information, and belief;

4. That the same has not been taken for a tax, assessment, or fine, pursuant to a statute, or seized under an execution or attachment against the property of the plaintiff, or if so seized, that it is by statute exempt from such seizure; and

5. The actual value of the property. [L. '54, p. 242, § 110; Cd. '81, § 1810; 2 H. C., § 1491.]

§ 1798. Order for Delivery.

The justice shall thereon, by an indorsement in writing upon the affidavit, order the sheriff or any constable of the county to take the same from the defendant and deliver it to the plaintiff upon receiving a proper bond. [L. '54, p. 243, § 111; Cd. '81, § 1811; 2 H. C., § 1492.]

§ 1799. Execution of Order—Bond.

Upon the receipt of the affidavit and order, with a bond, executed by two or more sufficient sureties, approved by the sheriff or constable, to the effect that they are bound in double the value of the property as stated in the affidavit, for the prosecution of the action, for the return of the property to the defendant, if return thereof be adjudged, and for the payment to him of such sum as may for any cause be recovered against the plaintiff, the sheriff or constable shall forthwith take the property described in the affidavit, if it be in the possession of the defendant or his agent, and retain it in his custody. He shall also, without delay, serve on the defendant a copy of the affidavit, order, and bond, by delivering the same to him personally if he can be found within the county, or to his agent from whose possession the property is taken, or if neither can be found in the county, by leaving them at the usual abode of either within the county, with some person of suitable age and discretion; or if neither have any known place of abode in the county, by putting them into the postoffice, directed to the defendant at the postoffice nearest to him. [L. '54, p. 243, § 112; Cd. '81, § 1812; 2 H. C., § 1493.]

§ 1800. Exceptions to Sureties.

The defendant may, within two days after the service of a copy of the affidavit, order and bond, give notice to the officer that he excepts to the sufficiency of the sureties. If he fail to do so, he shall be deemed to have waived all objection to them. When the defendant excepts, the sureties shall justify upon one day's notice before the justice; and the officer shall be responsible for the sufficiency of the sureties until the objection to them is either waived, as above provided, or until they justify, or new sureties be substituted, and they justify. If the defendant except to the sureties, he cannot reclaim the property as provided in the next section. [L. '54, p. 243, § 113; Cd. '81, § 1813; 2 H. C., § 1494.]

Cited in 20 Wash. 544.

In an action upon a replevin bond in which the sureties did not justify after being excepted to by defendant, under this section, the sureties are released from all further liability by their failure to justify: Rinear v. Skinner, 20 Wash. 541, 56 Pac. 24.

§ 1801. Return of Property on Giving Bond, etc.

At any time before the delivery of the property to the plaintiff, the defendant may, if he do not except to the sureties of the plaintiff, require the return thereof upon giving to the officer a bond, executed by two or more sufficient sureties, to the effect that they are bound in double the value of the property as stated in the affidavit of the plaintiff, for the delivery thereof to the plaintiff, if such delivery be adjudged, and for the payment to him of such sum as may for any cause be recovered against the defendant. If a return of the property be not so required within two days after the taking and serving of notice to the defendant, it shall be delivered to the plaintiff, except as provided in this chapter. [L. '54, p. 243, § 114; Cd. '81, § 1814; 2 H. C., § 1495.]

§ 1802. Justification of Sureties.

The defendant's sureties, upon one day's notice to the plaintiff or his attorney, shall justify before the justice, and upon such justification the officer shall deliver the property to the defendant. The officer shall be responsible for the defendant's sureties until they justify, or until the justification is complete or expressly waived, and may retain the property until that time; but if they, or others in their place, fail to justify at the time appointed, he shall deliver the property to the plaintiff. [L. '54, p. 244, § 115; Cd. '81, § 1815; 2 H. C., § 1496.]

§ 1803. Officer may Break Open Building or Inclosure.

If the property, or any part thereof, be concealed in a building or inclosure, the officer shall publicly demand its delivery; and if it be not delivered, he shall cause the building or inclosure to be broken open and take the property into his possession. [L. '54, p. 244, § 116; Cd. '81, § 1816; 2 H. C., § 1497.]

§ 1804. Officer to Keep and Deliver Property.

When the officer shall have taken property as in this chapter provided, he shall keep it in a secure place, and deliver [it] to the party entitled thereto, upon receiving his lawful fees for taking and his necessary expenses for keeping the same. [L. '54, p. 244, § 117; Cd. '81, § 1817; 2 H. C., § 1498.]

Cited in 49 Wash. 300.

§ 1805. Proceedings Where Property Claimed by Third Party.

If the property taken be claimed by any other person than the defendant or his agent, and such person make affidavit of his title thereto, or his right to the possession thereof, stating the ground of such title or right, and serve the same upon the officer before the delivery of the property to the plaintiff, the sheriff shall not be bound to keep the property or deliver it to the plaintiff, unless the plaintiff, on demand of him or his agent, indemnify the officer against such claim by a bond executed by two sufficient sureties, accompanied by their affidavits that they are each worth double the value of the property, as specified in the affidavit of the plaintiff, over and above their debts and liabilities, exclusive of property exempt from execution, and freeholders or householders of the county; and no claim to such property by any other person than the defendant or his agent shall be valid against the officer, unless made as aforesaid, and notwithstanding such claim, when so made, he may retain the property a reasonable time to demand such indemnity. [L. '54, p. 244, § 118; Cd. '81, § 1818; 2 H. C., § 1499.]

§ 1806. Return of Order and Affidavit.

The officer shall return the order and affidavit with his proceedings thereon to the justice within five days after taking the property mentioned therein. [L. '54, p. 244, § 119; Cd. '81, § 1819; 2 H. C., § 1500.]

CHAPTER V.

GARNISHEE PROCESS BY OFFICERS.

§ 1807. Affidavit for Garnishment.

Whenever any action shall have been commenced by summons upon contracts express or implied, or notice and complaint in a justice's court, if the plaintiff, or someone in his behalf, shall make and deliver to the officer having such summons, or notice and complaint, an affidavit stating that the affiant has good reason to believe that some person (naming him) is indebted to the defendant, or has personal property in his possession or under his control belonging to the defendant, or when there is more than one defendant, to any or either of them, not by law exempt from sale on execution, and demand that he shall summon such person as garnishee, such officer shall summon such person in writing to appear before the justice on the return day of such summons, or notice and complaint, to answer touching his liability as garnishee. [L. '88, p. 101, § 1; 2 H. C., § 1501.]

Writ of garnishment by justice: See § 1823, infra, and note.
See infra, § 1886, garnishment on execution.

§ 1808. Garnishee Summons.

The summons to the garnishee may be substantially as follows:—

The State of Washington, } ss.
— County,

The State of Washington to —.

Whereas, a summons or notice and complaint has been issued by —, a justice of the peace of said county, returnable on the — day of —, A. D. 18—, in favor of —, plaintiff, and against —, defendant; and whereas, the plaintiff (or A B in his behalf) has made oath that you have property in your possession or under your control belonging to the defendant (or are indebted to him). Now, therefore, you are hereby summoned to be and appear before the said justice at his office in said county on the return day of said summons (or notice and complaint), at — o'clock in the — noon of said day, then and there to answer under oath, touching your liability as garnishee.

Given under my hand this — day of —, 18—.

—, Constable or Sheriff.

§ 1809. Service of Summons.

The officer shall serve such summons on the garnishee personally, and return the same, with the affidavit, to the justice at the same time that he shall make return of the service of the summons or notice and complaint, and state the day such summons was served on the garnishee. [L. '88, p. 102, § 3; 2 H. C., § 1503.]

§ 1811. Liability of Garnishee.

The garnishee, from the time of the service of such summons, shall stand liable to the plaintiff to the amount of the personal property, money, credits, and effects in his hands or under his control belonging to the defendant, and the amount of his own indebtedness to the defendant, then due or to become due, and not by law exempt from sale on execution. [L. '88, p. 102, § 5; 2 H. C., § 1505.]

§ 1812. Garnishee Action—When Deemed Commenced.

The service of the garnishee summons shall be deemed the commencement of an action against such garnishee; and upon the return of the constable that such summons has been duly served, the justice shall enter an action in his docket in which the plaintiff in the original action shall be plaintiff and the garnishee defendant. [L. '88, p. 102, § 6; 2 H. C., § 1506.]

§ 1813. Examination of Garnishee.

On the appearance of the garnishee before the justice, the affidavit aforesaid shall be deemed a sufficient complaint in this action, and the justice shall forthwith proceed to examine the said garnishee and his witnesses touching the matters alleged in the affidavit, and shall reduce the answers of said garnishee and his witnesses to writing, and file the same with the papers in the case; such examination may be adjourned by said garnishee as in case of adjournment in justice court in civil actions: Provided, that in lieu of the personal appearance of the garnishee and his examination by the justice, the garnishee may answer the affidavit and writ, in writing, in which case the answer shall be in writing, signed and verified by the garnishee, and make true answer to the several matters set up in the affidavit and such answer shall be filed with the justice of the peace, within the time required by the writ for the garnishee to appear. [L. '88, p. 103, § 7; 2 H. C., § 1507; L. '03, p. 82, § 2.]

§ 1814. Trial, When.

If the plaintiff shall not be satisfied with the answers of the garnishee, or if either party shall desire a trial, the justice shall enter the fact in his docket, and the case shall be proceeded with and tried upon the issue formed by the affidavit and answer, as in other actions commenced by summons; and if, upon the trial of any such issue, property or effects shall be found in the hands of the garnishee, or it shall appear that such garnishee was indebted to the defendant, the justice or jury shall assess the value thereof, and the garnishee may hold the same subject to the further order of the justice. [L. '88, p. 103, § 8; 2 H. C., § 1508.]

§ 1815. Defendant may Participate in Trial.

The defendant in the original action may appear and defend the proceedings against the garnishee, upon the ground that the indebtedness of the garnishee, or any property held by him, is exempt from execution against such defendant, or for any other reason is not liable to garnishment, or upon any grounds upon which a garnishee might defend the same, and may participate in the trial of any issue between the plaintiff and the garnishee for the protection of his interests. [L. '88, p. 103, § 9; 2 H. C., § 1509.]

§ 1816. Costs.

If, in the action instituted against the garnishee, the plaintiff shall be nonsuited or discontinue his action; or if, upon the answer and trial of the issue between the plaintiff and garnishee, no property or effects shall be found in the hands of the garnishee, or nothing shall be found due from the garnishee to the defendant; or if, in the action against the principal defendant, the plaintiff shall be nonsuited or discontinue his action; or if, on the trial in such action, nothing shall be found due from the defendant to the plaintiff,—then in each of these cases the garnishee shall recover costs against the plaintiff, and no such costs shall be paid by the defendant. [L. '88, p. 103, § 10; 2 H. C., § 1510.]

§ 1817. Judgment Against Garnishee.

If the plaintiff recover against the defendant in the original action, and the answer of the garnishee when no issue is made thereon, or the finding of the court or jury on an issue show the garnishee at the time of the service of the summons had property in his possession belonging to the defendant, or that he was indebted to him, the justice shall enter an order in his docket requiring the garnishee, within ten days, to pay or deliver to the justice such property or the amount of such indebtedness, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy such judgment, with costs thereof, and the costs of the garnishee proceedings; or if it appears from such answer or finding that the garnishee is to pay or deliver to the defendant any money or property in any other manner or at any other time than immediately, and at the time of service of the summons, the same belonging to the defendant, then the order of the justice shall be that such payment or delivery be so made to the justice for the benefit of the plaintiff. If such garnishee shall pay such indebtedness, and deliver such property as directed by such order, the costs of the garnishee shall be paid out of the money or property received by the justice, unless the garnishee, upon an issue joined with him by the plaintiff, shall have been held liable in a greater amount of property or indebtedness than was disclosed in his answer, in which case he shall not have costs. And all property and effects, except money, delivered to the justice shall be by him ordered to be sold on the execution against the defendant. [L. '88, p. 103, § 11; 2 H. C., § 1511.]

§ 1818. Costs Against Garnishee.

If the garnishee do not deliver over the property or pay the money so found in his hands and belonging to the defendant, as provided in the preceding section, then judgment shall be given against him for the value of such property or money, and costs of suit in the cause in which he is garnishee, and no such costs shall be paid by the defendant. [L. '88, p. 104, § 12; 2 H. C., § 1512.]

§ 1819. Final Judgment—Negotiable Instrument.

No final judgment shall be rendered against the garnishee until final judgment be rendered against the defendant in the original action; but no judgment shall be rendered against a garnishee, or any money be required to be delivered by him to the justice, upon any liability arising out of a debt due [evidenced] by negotiable paper, unless such paper is delivered or the garnishee completely exonerated or indemnified from all liability thereon after he may have satisfied the judgment. [L. '88, p. 104, § 13; 2 H. C., § 1513.]

§ 1820. Default, etc., by Garnishee.

When a garnishee shall fail to appear, or, appearing, shall fail to make full answers upon oath to the interrogatories of the justice touching his liabilities as garnishee, the justice shall enter such fact in his docket, and he shall be adjudged to be indebted to the defendant; and if judgment shall be rendered in favor of the plaintiff, against the defendant, judgment in favor of the plaintiff shall be entered against such garnishee for the amount of the judgment against the defendant, and for all costs in the garnishee proceedings, and no such costs shall be paid by the defendant. The justice may continue the cause to some other day, if necessary for further proceedings. [L. '88, p. 104, § 14; 2 H. C., § 1514.]

§ 1821. Appearance After Default.

If the garnishee shall have failed to appear at the proper time, he may afterward appear and answer at any time before final judgment against him, if he shall first pay all costs in the garnishee suit which have accrued up to that time; and when he shall so appear, the justice shall cause the plaintiff to be notified thereof, so that he may be present at the examination. [L. '88, p. 105, § 15; 2 H. C., § 1515.]

§ 1822. Judgment in Bar.

In all actions brought by the defendant against the garnishee for the recovery of any property, credits, money, or effects delivered up or paid by order of any judgment rendered under this chapter, except costs rendered against the garnishee, such judgment may be pleaded in bar, and the same shall be conclusive between such parties. [L. '88, p. 105, § 16; 2 H. C., § 1516.]

CHAPTER VI.

WRITS OF GARNISHMENT BY JUSTICES.

§ 1823. Writ of Garnishment—When may Issue.

The justices of the peace in the various precincts in this state may issue writs of garnishment, returnable to their respective courts, where the plaintiff sues for a debt which is just, due and unpaid; or where the plaintiff has a judgment wholly or partially unsatisfied in the court from which he seeks to have the writ of garnishment issued. [L. '11, p. 637, § 1. Cf. L. '09, p. 607, § 1.]

§ 1824. Affidavit for Garnishment—Requisites.

Before the issuance of the writ of garnishment, the plaintiff or someone in his behalf, shall make application therefor by affidavit, stating the facts authorizing the issuance of the writ, and that he has reason to believe and does believe that the garnishee is indebted to the defendant or that he has in his possession or under his control personal property or effects belonging to the defendant, or that the garnishee is a corporation and that the defendant is the owner of shares of the capital stock thereof, and that the garnishment applied for is not sued out to injure either the defendant or the garnishee. [L. '11, p. 637, § 2. Cf. L. '09, p. 608, § 2.]

§ 1825. Issuance of Writ—Contents.

When the foregoing requisites have been complied with, the justice of the peace shall, without additional fee, docket the case in the name of the plaintiff, as plaintiff, and of the garnishee as defendant, and shall immediately issue a writ of garnishment, directed to the garnishee commanding him to appear before the justice who issues the writ, at a certain place, day and hour, which shall not be less than six nor more than twenty days from the date of the issuance of the writ, to answer on oath in what amount, if any, he was indebted to the defendant when such writ was served upon him, and what personal property or effects, if any, of the defendant he had in his possession or under his control when such writ was served upon him; and where it appears from the affidavit for the writ that the garnishee is a corporation in which the defendant is the owner of shares, the writ of garnishment shall further require the garnishee to answer what number of shares, if any, the defendant owned in such corporation when such writ was served upon it. The writ of garnishment shall be served at least five days before the time for answer mentioned therein. [L. '11, p. 637, § 3. Cf. L. '09, p. 608, § 3.]

§ 1826. Form for Writ.

Said writ shall be substantially in the following form:—

The State of Washington, to — Greeting:

Whereas, in the justice court in and for — precinct, — county, state of Washington, before —, justice of the peace, in a certain cause wherein — is plaintiff and — is defendant, the plaintiff claiming an indebtedness (or having a judgment, as the case may be) against the said — of — dollars, besides interest and costs of suit, has applied for a writ of garnishment against you:

Now, therefore, you are hereby commanded to be and appear before the said justice at his office — in said county, on the — day of —, 19—, at — o'clock in the — noon of said day, then and there to answer upon oath in what amount, if any, you were indebted to the said — when this writ was served upon you, and what personal property or effects, if any, of the said — you had in your possession or under your control when this writ was served upon you (and if the garnishee be a corporation in which the defendant is alleged to be the owner of shares, then the writ shall proceed: And further to answer what number of shares, if any, the said — owned in —, a corporation, when this writ was served upon you).

Dated this — day of —, 19—.

Justice of the Peace.

§ 1827. How Issued.

The writ of garnishment shall be dated and signed by the justice of the peace, and the name and office address of the attorney for the plaintiff shall be indorsed thereon, or in case the plaintiff has no attorney, then the name and address of the plaintiff shall be indorsed thereon. The writ, when so issued and indorsed, shall be delivered by the justice of the peace who issues it to the party applying therefor, or to his attorney. [L. '09, p. 609, § 5.]

§ 1828. Service of Writ.

The writ of garnishment may be served by the sheriff or any constable of the county in which the garnishee lives, or it may be served by any citizen of the state of Washington over the age of twenty-one years and not a party to the action in which it is issued, in the same manner as a summons in an action is served. And in case such writ is served by an officer, such officer shall make his return thereon, showing the time, place and manner of service and noting thereon his fees for making such service and shall sign his name to such return. In case such service is made by any person other than an officer, such person shall attach to the original writ his affidavit showing his qualifications to make such service and the time, place and manner of making service, but no fee shall be allowed for the service of such writ unless the same is served by an officer. [L. '09, p. 609, § 6.]

Cited in 73 Wash. 504.

§ 1829. Service upon Bank as Garnishee.

In cases where the writ of garnishment issued under the provisions of this act is directed to a corporation carrying on a general banking business in the state of Washington, the plaintiff, in addition to serving the writ of garnishment upon said garnishee, shall at the same time and as a part of said service deliver to said garnishee a statement in writing signed by the plaintiff or his attorney, stating the place of residence of the defendant and his business, occupation, trade or profession, and unless such statement is so delivered with said writ of garnishment, the service of said writ shall not be deemed complete and the garnishee shall not be held liable thereon. [L. '09, p. 610, § 7.]

§ 1830. Effect of Service—Payment of Debt.

From and after the service of such writ of garnishment, it shall not be lawful for the garnishee to pay to the defendant any debt owing to him at the time of such service, or to deliver to him any personal property or effects belonging to the defendant in his possession or under his control at the time of such service, nor shall the garnishee, if it be a corporation in which the defendant is alleged to be the owner of shares, permit or recognize any sale or transfer of any shares owned by said defendant at the time of such service; and any such payment, delivery, sale or transfer shall be void and of no effect as to so much of said debt, personal property or effects or shares as may be necessary to satisfy the plaintiff's demand. [L. '09, p. 610, § 8.]

§ 1831. Bond to Release Garnishee.

If the defendant in the principal action causes a bond to be executed to the plaintiff, with sureties, to be approved by the justice of the peace issuing the writ, conditioned that he will pay any judgment that may be rendered against him in favor of the plaintiff in said action, and shall file said bond with said justice of the peace, the writ of garnishment shall, upon the filing and approval of said bond, be immediately discharged, and all proceedings had thereunder shall be vacated and said justice shall issue and deliver to said defendant a certificate to the effect that said writ of garnishment has been discharged, and upon the delivery of said certificate to the garnishee he shall be discharged of any further liability under said writ: Provided, that the garnishee shall not be thereby deprived from recovery of costs in said proceeding to which he would otherwise be entitled under this act. [L. '09, p. 610, § 9.]

§ 1832. Answer of Garnishee.

The answer of the garnishee shall be in writing and signed and verified as other pleadings and shall make true answers to the several matters inquired of in the writ of garnishment and shall be served upon the plaintiff or his attorney and filed with the justice of the peace who issued said writ. [L. '09, p. 611, § 10.]

§ 1833. Discharge of Garnishee.

Should it appear from the answer of the garnishee that he was not indebted to the defendant when the writ of garnishment was served upon him and that he had not in his possession or under his control any personal property or effects of the defendant when the writ was served; and when the garnishee is a corporation in which the defendant is alleged to be the owner of shares of stock, if it shall further appear from such answer that the defendant was not the owner of any such shares when the writ was served, and should the answer of the garnishee not be controverted as hereinafter provided, the court shall enter judgment discharging the garnishee. [L. '09, p. 611, § 11.]

§ 1834. Default of Garnishee—Judgment—Dismissal of Action.

Should the garnishee fail to answer the writ by the time prescribed therein, the court shall, upon application of the plaintiff therefor, declare and enter the default of the garnishee and shall thereafter render judgment as follows:

In case the plaintiff has a judgment against the defendant, judgment shall be rendered against the garnishee for the full amount of such judgment with all accruing interest and costs.

In case judgment has not been rendered in the principal action at the time when the default of the garnishee is declared and entered, final judgment shall not be rendered against the garnishee until the final judgment in the principal action is entered; and if the plaintiff recovers judgment against the defendant, the court shall enter judgment against the garnishee for the full amount of the judgment awarded to the plaintiff against the defendant; but if the plaintiff fails to recover judgment against the defendant, the garnishee shall be discharged without costs. [L. '11, p. 639, § 5. Cf. L. '09, p. 611, § 12.]

§ 1835. Judgment Against Garnishee—Satisfaction.

Should it appear from the answer of the garnishee, or should it be otherwise made to appear as hereinafter provided, that the garnishee was indebted to the defendant in any amount when the writ of garnishment was served upon him, the court shall render judgment for the plaintiff against such garnishee for the amount so admitted or found to be due from the garnishee, less the amount of the costs awarded to the garnishee, unless the amount so admitted or found to be due shall exceed the amount of the judgment rendered or thereafter rendered in favor of the plaintiff against the defendant, with interest and costs, in which case it shall be for the amount of such judgment rendered or thereafter to be rendered, with interest and costs: Provided, however, that judgment shall not be rendered against the garnishee until the final judgment in the principal action is entered, and if the plaintiff fails to recover judgment against the defendant the garnishee shall be discharged and shall have and recover his costs against plaintiff: Provided, however, if it shall appear from the answer of the garnishee and the same is not controverted, or if it shall appear from the trial hereinafter provided for that the garnishee was indebted to the defendant in any sum at the time of the service of said writ, but that said indebtedness is not matured and is not due and payable, the court shall make an order requiring the garnishee to pay such sum into court when the same becomes due, less the amount of the costs awarded to the garnishee, the date when such payment is to be made to be specified in said order, and in default thereof that judgment shall be entered against the garnishee for the amount of such indebtedness so admitted or found to be due. In case the garnishee shall pay said sum at the time specified in said order, said payment shall operate as a discharge; otherwise judgment shall be entered against him as above provided: Provided further, that if judgment shall be rendered in favor of the principal defendant, or if any judgment rendered against him shall be satisfied prior to the date of payment specified in said order, the garnishee shall not be required to make the payment hereinbefore provided for, nor shall any judgment in such case be against him. [L. '09, p. 612, § 13.]

§ 1836. Execution Against Garnishee.

Execution may be issued on the judgment against the garnishee herein provided for in like manner as upon any other judgment. The amount made upon any such execution shall be paid by the officer executing the same to the justice of the peace from whom such execution was issued, and shall be applied to the satisfaction of such judgment, interest and costs, and also to the satisfaction of the judgment against the defendant, and the surplus, if any, shall be paid to the garnishee. [L. '09, p. 613, § 14.]

§ 1837. Garnishee in Possession of Property—Surrender—Custody.

Should it appear from the answer to the garnishee, or should it be made otherwise to appear, as hereinafter provided, that the garnishee had in his possession or under his control when the writ was served upon him, any personal property or effects of the defendant liable to execution, the court shall render a decree requiring the garnishee to deliver up to the justice on demand, such personal property or effects, or so much of them as may be necessary to satisfy the plaintiff's claim. In cases where a judgment has been rendered in the principal action, such personal property or effects may be sold in like manner as other property is sold upon execution on a judgment. In cases where judgment has not been rendered in the principal action, the justice of the peace, shall retain such personal property or effects in his possession until the rendition of the judgment therein, and in case judgment is entered in such principal action in favor of the plaintiff, said goods, or effects, or sufficient of them to satisfy said judgment, may be sold in like manner as other property is sold upon an execution issued on a judgment. In case judgment shall be rendered in such action against the plaintiff and in favor of the defendant, such effects and personal property shall be by the justice returned to the defendant. [L. '09, p. 613, § 15.]

§ 1838. Attachment for Contempt.

Should the garnishee adjudged to have effects or personal property of the defendant in his possession or under his control, as provided in the preceding section, fail or refuse to deliver them to the justice on such demand, the garnishee shall, on motion of the plaintiff, be cited to show cause why he should not be attached for contempt of court for such failure or refusal, and should the garnishee fail to show some good and sufficient excuse for such failure and refusal he shall be fined for such contempt and imprisoned until he shall deliver such personal property or effects. [L. '09, p. 614, § 16.]

§ 1839. Corporation Garnishee—Shares of Stock Sold.

Where the garnishee is a corporation and it appears by the answer or otherwise that the defendant was, when the writ of garnishment was served upon it, the owner of any shares of stock in such corporation, the court shall render a decree ordering the sale under execution in favor of the plaintiff against the defendant of such shares of the defendant in such corporation, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy such execution. [L. '09, p. 614, § 17.]

§ 1840. Sales, How Conducted.

The sale so ordered shall be conducted in all respects as other sales of personal property under execution, and the officer making such sale shall execute a transfer of such shares to the purchaser with a brief recital of the judgment of the court under which the same was sold. [L. '09, p. 614, § 18.]

§ 1841. Title on Sale.

Such sale shall be valid and effectual to pass to the purchaser all the right, title and interest which the defendant had in such shares of stock, and the proper officers of such company shall enter such sale and transfer on the books of the company in the same manner as if the sale had been made by the defendant himself. [L. '09, p. 614, § 19.]

§ 1842. Controverting the Answer of the Garnishee—Trial.

If the plaintiff should not be satisfied with the answer of the garnishee, he shall state such fact to the justice of the peace, who shall thereupon enter the fact in his docket, and an issue shall be formed under the direction of the court and tried as other cases: Provided, however, no pleading shall be necessary on such issue other than the affidavit of the plaintiff, the answer of the garnishee and the statement of the plaintiff that he is not satisfied with the answer. [L. '09, p. 614, § 20.]

§ 1843. Attorney's Fees—Costs.

Where the answer is controverted and the garnishee is subsequently discharged upon the trial thereof, his costs, including a reasonable attorney's fee to be fixed by the court, shall be taxed against the plaintiff; and if the garnishee upon his answer being controverted by the plaintiff is held liable to an extent greater than the liability admitted in his answer, the costs of the plaintiff upon such proceeding, including a reasonable attorney's fee to be fixed by the court, shall be taxed against the garnishee. [L. '09, p. 615, § 21.]

§ 1844. Garnishee's Defense Against Defendant.

It shall be a sufficient answer against any claim of the defendant against the garnishee founded on any indebtedness of such garnishee or upon the possession by him of any personal property or effects, or, where the garnishee is a corporation in which the defendant was the owner of shares of stock, for the garnishee to show that such indebtedness was paid or such effects delivered, or such shares of stock were sold under judgment of the court in accordance with the provisions of this act. [L. '09, p. 615, § 22.]

§ 1845. Garnishee's Answer—Identity of Names, How Determined—Trial.

Where the garnishee in his answer states that he was indebted or had personal property or effects in his possession under his control at the time of the service of the writ of garnishment upon him to a person of the same or similar name to the defendant, and stating the place of business or residence of said person, and that he does not know whether or not such person is the same person as the defendant, and prays the court to determine whether or not the person to whom he was indebted or whose personal property or effects he had in his possession is the same person as the defendant, the court, before rendering judgment against the garnishee defendant as hereinbefore provided, shall take proof as to the identity of said persons, and if he should find therefrom that they are not one and the same individual, the garnishee shall be discharged and shall have and recover his costs against the plaintiff; and if he should find that said persons are one and the same individuals, he shall make a similar judgment as to the payment of the money or the delivery of personal property and effects and as to costs of the garnishee as is hereinbefore provided, where the garnishee is held upon his answer. Before any such hearing on the question of identity is had, the plaintiff shall cause the justice of the peace to issue a citation directed to the person to whom the garnishee answers he was indebted or whose personal property or effects the garnishee has answered he had in his possession or under his control, commanding him to appear before the justice of the peace from which it is issued within ten days after the service of the same upon him, and to answer on oath whether or not he is the same person as the defendant in said action. Said citation shall be dated and attested in like manner as a writ of garnishment and be delivered to the plaintiff or his attorney and shall be served in the same manner as a summons in an action is served. If upon the hearing in this section provided for, the court shall find that the defendant or judgment debtor is the same person as the person to whom the garnishee defendant was indebted, or whose personal property or effects said garnishee defendant had in his possession or under his control, it shall be sufficient answer to any claim of said person against the garnishee founded on any indebtedness of such garnishee or on the possession by him of any personal property or effects for the garnishee to show that such indebtedness was paid or such personal property or effects delivered under the judgment of the court in accordance with the provisions in this act. [L. '09, p. 615, § 23.]

§ 1846. Answer of Garnishee—Defense of Defendant—Exemptions.

It shall not be necessary for the garnishee to plead or set forth in his answer any defense which the defendant might have to the cause of action against him, nor to plead or set forth in his answer any claim of exemption which may be available to the defendant, but this section shall not be construed to preclude the defendant from pleading, claiming or asserting any exemption which may be available to him under the laws of the state of Washington now in force or hereafter to be enacted. [L. '09, p. 616, § 24.]

CHAPTER VII.

TRIAL OF CIVIL ACTIONS IN JUSTICE'S COURT.

§ 1847. Continuance—Not to Exceed Sixty Days.

When the pleadings of the parties shall have taken place, the justice shall, upon the application of either party if the defendant be not under arrest, and sufficient cause be shown on oath, continue the case for any time not exceeding sixty days. If the continuance be on account of absence of testimony, it shall be for such reasonable times as will enable the party to procure such testimony, and shall be at the cost of the party applying therefor, unless otherwise ordered by the justice; and in all other respects shall be governed by the law applicable to continuance in the superior court. [L. '54, p. 232, § 56; Cd. '81, § 1769; 2 H. C., § 1517.]

Cited in 1 Wash. 262, 263; 104 Wash. 650.

If a continuance is granted a defendant for one day in an action before a justice of the peace, he may thereafter appear specially in order to object to the jurisdiction of the court: Nelson v. Campbell, 1 Wash. 261, 24 Pac. 539; and a continuance for more than sixty days will divest the justice of jurisdiction, unless his docket shows that such continuance was by consent: Id.

If defendant fails to use due diligence to secure attendance or depositions of absent witnesses a continuance will be refused: Oregon R. & Nav. Co. v. Dacres, 1 Wash. 195, 23 Pac. 415.

§ 1848. Justice to Try Cause Unless Jury Demanded.

Upon issues joined, if a jury trial be not demanded, the justice shall hear the evidence, and decide all questions of law and fact, and render judgment accordingly. [L. '54, p. 237, § 82; Cd. '81, § 1782; 2 H. C., § 1518.]

§ 1849. Jury—Number—Qualifications—Fees.

After the appearance of the defendant, and before the justice shall proceed to inquire into the merits of the cause, either party may demand a jury to try the action, which jury shall be composed of six good and lawful men having the qualifications of jurors in the superior court of the same county, unless the parties shall agree upon a less number: Provided, that the party demanding the jury shall first pay to the justice the sum of six dollars, which shall be paid over by the justice to the jury before they are discharged, and said amount shall be taxed as costs against the losing party. [Cf. L. '54, p. 235, § 70; L. '62, p. 58, § 1; L. '63, p. 438, § 51; Cd. '81, § 1770; L. '88, p. 118, § 1; 2 H. C., § 1519.]

§ 1850. Time of Jury Trial.

When a jury is demanded, the trial of the case must be adjourned until the time fixed for the return of the jury; if neither party desire an adjournment, the time must be determined by the justice, and must be on the same day, or within the next two days. The jury must be immediately selected as herein provided. [Cf. L. '54, p. 235, § 71; L. '88, p. 118, § 2; 2 H. C., § 1520.]

§ 1851. Selection of Jury.

The justice shall write in a panel the names of eighteen persons, citizens of the county, from which the defendant, his agent or attorney, must strike one name, the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, one, and so on alternately until each party shall have stricken six names, and the remaining six names shall constitute the jury to try such case; and if either party neglect or refuse to aid in striking the jury as aforesaid, the justice shall strike the name in behalf of such party. [Cf. L. '54, p. 235, § 72; Cd. '81, § 1772; L. '88, p. 119, § 3; 2 H. C., § 1521.]

§ 1852. Summons for Jurors.

The justice shall thereupon issue a summons for the jury, in which the following form shall be observed in substance:—

The State of Washington, }
County, of ———. } ss.

The State of Washington to the Sheriff or [any] Constable of said County.

You are hereby commanded to summon ——— to appear before me, at my office in ——— precinct, said county, on the ——— day of ———, A. D. 18—, at ——— o'clock in the ——— noon, to serve as jurors in a case pending before me, then and there to be tried. And this they shall in no wise omit. And have you then and there this writ, with your doings thereon.

Given under my hand this the ——— day of ———, A. D. ———.

A B, Justice of the Peace.

Which summons shall be personally served upon the persons named, and the same shall be returned, with the names of the persons summoned, at the time appointed for the trial of the cause. [Cd. L. '54, p. 236, § 73; Cd. '81, § 1773; L. '88, p. 119, § 4; 2 H. C., § 1522.]

§ 1853. Swearing Jury.

When the jury is selected, the justice shall administer to them an oath or affirmation well and truly to try the cause. [L. '54, p. 236, § 76; Cd. '81, § 1776; 2 H. C., § 1525.]

§ 1854. Delivery of Verdict.

When the jury have agreed on their verdict, they shall deliver the same to the justice, publicly, who shall enter it on his docket. [L. '54, p. 236, § 77; Cd. '81, § 1777; 2 H. C., § 1526.]

§ 1855. Justice may Discharge Jury, When.

Whenever a justice shall be satisfied that a jury, sworn in any civil cause before him, having been out a reasonable time, cannot agree on their verdict, he may discharge them, and issue a new venire unless the parties consent that the justice may render judgment on the evidence before him, or upon such other evidence as they may produce. [L. '54, p. 236, § 78; Cd. '81, § 1778; 2 H. C., § 1527.]

§ 1856. Failure to Appear When Summoned—Penalty.

Every person who shall be duly summoned as a juror, and shall not appear nor render a reasonable excuse for his default, shall be subject to a fine not exceeding ten dollars. [L. '54, p. 236, § 79; Cd. '81, § 1779; 2 H. C., § 1528.]

CHAPTER VIII.

JUDGMENTS IN CIVIL ACTIONS IN JUSTICE'S COURT.

§ 1857. Judgment of Dismissal.

Judgment that the action be dismissed, without prejudice to a new action, may be entered, with costs, in the following cases:—

1. When the plaintiff voluntarily dismisses the action before it is finally submitted;
2. When he fails to appear at the time specified in the notice, upon continuance, or within one hour thereafter;
3. When it is objected at the trial, and appears by the evidence, that the action is brought in the wrong county; but if the objection be taken and overruled, it shall be cause only of reversal or appeal; if not taken at the trial, it shall be deemed waived, and shall not be the cause of reversal. [Cf. L. '54, p. 236, § 80; L. '63, p. 349, § 61; Cd. '81, § 1780; 2 H. C., § 1529.]

§ 1858. Judgment by Default—Evidence.

When the defendant fails to appear and plead at the time specified in the notice, or within one hour thereafter, judgment shall be given as follows:

1. When the defendant has been served with a true copy of the complaint, judgment shall be given without further evidence for the sum specified therein;
2. In other cases, the justice shall hear the evidence of the plaintiff, and render judgment for such sum only as shall appear by the evidence to be just, but in no case exceed the amount specified in the complaint.
3. The justice shall have full power at any time after a judgment has been given by default for failure of the defendant to appear and plead at the proper time, to vacate and set aside said judgment for any good cause and upon such terms as he shall deem sufficient and proper. Such judgment shall only be set aside upon five days' notice in writing served upon the plaintiff or the plaintiff's attorney and filed with the justice within ten days after the entry of the judgment. The justice shall hear the application to set aside such judgment either upon affidavits or oral testimony as he may deem proper. In case such judgment is set aside the making of the application for setting the same aside shall be considered an entry of general appearance in the case by the applicant, and the case shall duly proceed to a trial upon the merits: Provided, that, no justice of the peace shall pay out or turn over money or property received by him by virtue of any default judgment until the expiration of the ten days for moving to set aside such default judgment has expired. [L. '15, p. 141, §1. Cf. L. '54, p. 237, § 81; L. '63, p. 349, § 62; Cd. '81, § 1781; 2 H. C., § 1530.] of peace on process served less than required time as void or voidable. 8 Ann. Cas. 1142.

§ 1859. Judgment—Rendition—Entry.

Upon the verdict of a jury, the justice shall immediately render judgment thereon. When the trial is by the justice, judgment shall be entered immediately after the close of the trial, if the defendant has been arrested and is still in custody; in other cases it shall be entered within three days after the close of the trial. [L. '54, p. 237, § 83; Cd. '81, § 1783; 2 H. C., § 1531.]

§ 1860. Tender, Judgment in Case of.

If the defendant, at any time before the trial, offer in writing to allow judgment to be taken against him for a specified sum, the plaintiff may immediately have judgment therefor, with costs then accrued; but if he do not accept such offer before the trial, and fail to recover, on the trial of the action, a sum greater than the offer, such plaintiff shall not recover any costs that may accrue after he shall have been notified of the offer of the defendant, but such costs shall be adjudged against him, and if he recover, deducted from his recovery. But the offer and failure to accept it shall not be given in evidence to affect the recovery, otherwise than as to costs, as above provided. [Cf. L. '54, p. 237, § 84; L. '63, p. 350, § 65; Cd. '81, § 1784; 2 H. C., § 1532.]

§ 1861. Setoff Allowed, to What Extent.

When the setoff of the defendant proved shall exceed the claim of the plaintiff, and such excess in amount exceed the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, the court shall allow such amount as is necessary to cancel the plaintiff's claim, and give the defendant a judgment for costs; but in such case the court shall not render judgment for any further sum in favor of the defendant. [L. '54, p. 232, § 55; Cd. '81, § 1768; 2 H. C., § 1533.]

See supra, § 1789, pleading setoff.

See infra, § 1873, setoff of mutual judgments.

§ 1862. Judgment for Costs—Attorneys' Fees.

When the prevailing party is entitled to recover costs in a civil action before a justice of the peace, the justice shall add the amount thereof to the judgment; in case of failure of the plaintiff to recover or of dismissal of the action, the justice shall enter up a judgment in favor of the defendant for the amount of his costs; and in case any party so entitled to costs is represented in the action by an attorney, the justice shall include an attorney's fee of five dollars as part of the costs: Provided, however, that the plaintiff shall not be entitled to such attorney fee unless he obtain, exclusive of costs, a judgment in the sum of five dollars or more. [L. '15, p. 143, § 1. Cf. L. '54, p. 337, § 85; Cd. '81, § 1785; 2 H. C., § 1534; L. '93, p. 22, § 1.]

§ 1863. Proceedings Where Title to Land is in Issue.

If it appear on the trial of any cause before a justice of the peace, from the evidence of either party, that the title to lands is in question, which title shall be disputed by the other [party], the justice shall immediately make an entry thereof in his docket, and cease all further proceedings in the cause, and shall certify and return to the superior court of the county a transcript of all the entries made in his docket, relating to the cause, together with all the process and other papers relating to the action, in the same manner and within the same time as upon appeal, and thereupon the parties shall file their pleadings, and the superior court shall proceed in the cause to final judgment and execution, in the same manner as if the said action had been originally commenced therein, and the cost shall abide the event of the suit. [L. '54, p. 235, § 69; Cd. '81, § 1868; 2 H. C., § 1483.]

CHAPTER IX.FEES AND COMPENSATION OF JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.*§ 1864. Schedule of Justice Fees.

The fees and compensation of justices of the peace shall be as follows, to wit:

When each case is filed the sum of $2 shall be paid by the plaintiff, which said sum shall include the docketing of the cause, the issuing of notice and summons, the trial of the case and the entering of judgment: Provided, that no further fee shall be required of either party to the suit for issuing subpoena, for approving any bond, including justification, incident to the case, or for orders and filing of publication of summons, or for any continuance by either party, or for issuing any writ of replevin, attachment and one writ of garnishment, or order, transcript and filings on change of venue. For each additional writ of garnishment a fee of fifty cents shall be charged.

The sum of $2 shall be paid by the party taking the change of venue to the justice to whom the case is transferred: Provided, that said sum shall include all fees for transcripts of garnishments or other proceedings incident to the main action.

For transcript of judgment the sum of $1 shall be paid by the party applying therefor, which said sum shall include all fees for transcript of garnishment or other proceedings incident to the main action and for approval of bonds on appeal.

For hearing of a cause occupying more than one day in the trial thereof an additional fee of two dollars ($2) shall be charged for each and every day so occupied after the first day of the trial: Provided, this act shall not apply to any continuance granted for any reason or cause other than as stated in this paragraph: Provided further, this provision shall not apply to justices of the peace receiving a fixed salary.

§ 1865. Fees Where Justice Receives Salary.

In any civil action commenced before or transferred to a justice of the peace receiving a salary, the plaintiff may, at the time of such commencement or transfer, pay to such justice the sum of two dollars, which sum shall be all the fees and charges which any party to such action shall be compelled to pay to such justice up to and including the rendition of judgment in such action, unless process in replevin, attachment or garnishment shall issue therein, in which case the party procuring such process may pay to such justice the sum of one dollar as full payment for the fees and charges of such justice incident to the proceedings under such process; but in case said action is transferred from such justice before final judgment, such justice shall repay to any party making such payments any sum in excess of what said party would have been compelled to pay by the last section. [L. '93, p. 143, § 2.]

Cited in 8 Wash. 233.

§ 1866. Compensation Limited to Schedule.

No justice of the peace in any civil action or proceeding shall be entitled to or receive any fees or compensations not provided for by this chapter. [L. '93, p. 144, § 3.]

CHAPTER X.

EXECUTIONS AND PROCEEDINGS THEREON.

§ 1867. Stay of Execution.

The execution upon a judgment by a justice of the peace may be stayed in the manner hereinafter provided, upon reasonable notice to the opposite party, and for the following periods of time, to be calculated from the date of the judgment:—

1. If the judgment be for any sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars, exclusive of costs, one month;

2. If it be for more than twenty-five dollars, two months. [L. '54, p. 238, § 86; Cd. '81, § 1786; 2 H. C., § 1535.]

§ 1868. Bond for Stay.

To entitle any person to such stay of execution, some responsible person, to be approved by the justice, and not being a party to the judgment, must, within five days after rendering of the judgment, enter into a bond before the justice, to the adverse party, in a sufficient sum to secure the payment of the judgment and costs, conditioned to be void upon such payment, at the expiration of the stay. [L. '54, p. 238, § 87; Cd. '81, § 1787; 2 H. C., § 1536.]

§ 1869. Form of Bond.

Such bond shall be signed by the person entering into the same, and may be in the following form:—

Whereas, A B has obtained a judgment before J P, one of the Justices of the peace in and for — county, on the — day of —, 18—, against C D, for — dollars; now, therefore, I, E F, acknowledge myself bound to A B in the sum of — dollars; this bond to be void if such judgment shall be paid at the expiration of — month after the time it was rendered.

Dated the — day of —, 18—.

— —, E. F.

[L. '54, p. 238, § 88; Cd. '81, § 1788; 2 H. C., § 1537.]

§ 1870. Levy Against Property of Principal or Bail.

If, at the expiration of such stay, the judgment be not paid, the execution shall issue against both the principal and bail. If the principal do not satisfy the execution, and the officer cannot find sufficient property belonging to him upon which to levy, he shall levy upon the property of the bail, and in his return shall state what amount of money collected by him on the execution was collected from the bail, and the time when the same was received. [L. '54, p. 238, § 90; Cd. '81, § 1789; 2 H. C., § 1539.]

§ 1871. Bail may Collect from Defendant.

After the return of such execution, the bail shall be entitled, on application to the justice, to have the judgment, or so much thereof as may have been collected from him in satisfaction of the execution, transferred to his use; and he may collect the same from the defendant by execution, together with the interest at the rate of twelve per cent per annum. [L. '54, p. 238, § 90; Cd. '81, § 1790; 2 H. C., § 1539.]

§ 1872. Execution Revoked Where Judgment Stayed.

If judgment be stayed in the manner above provided after an execution has been issued thereon, the justice shall revoke such execution, in the same manner and with like effect as he is hereinafter directed to revoke an execution after an appeal has been allowed; and if the defendant have been committed, shall order him to be discharged from custody. [L. '54, p. 238, § 91; Cd. '81, § 1791; 2 H. C., § 1540.]

§ 1873. Setoff of Mutual Judgments.

If there be mutual justices' judgments between the same parties, upon which the time for appealing has elapsed on judgment, on the application of either party and reasonable notice given to the adverse party, one may be set off against the other by the justice before whom the judgment against which the setoff is proposed, may be. [L. '54, p. 239, § 92; Cd. '81, § 1792; 2 H. C., § 1541.]

§ 1874. Procedure as to Setoff Rendered Before Another Justice.

If the judgment proposed as a setoff was rendered before another justice, the party proposing such setoff shall produce before such justice a transcript of such judgment, upon which there is a certificate of the justice before whom such may be, that it is unsatisfied in whole or in part, and that there is no appeal, and that such transcript was obtained for the purpose of being set off against the judgment to which it is offered as a setoff. The justice granting such transcript shall make an entry thereof on his docket, and all further proceedings on such judgment shall be stayed, unless such transcript be returned with the proper justice's certificate thereon, that it has not been allowed in setoff. [L. '54, p. 239, § 93; Cd. '81, § 1793; 2 H. C., § 1542.]

§ 1875. Execution for Balance After Setoff.

If any justice shall set off one judgment against another, he shall make an entry thereof on his docket, and execution shall issue only for the balance which may be due after such setoff. If a justice shall allow a transcript of a judgment rendered by another justice to be set off, he shall file such transcript among the papers relating to the judgment in which it was allowed in setoff. If he shall refuse such transcript as a setoff, he shall so certify on the transcript, and return the same to the party who offered it. [L. '54, p. 239, § 94; Cd. '81, § 1794; 2 H. C., § 1543.]

§ 1876. No Execution After Five Years.

Execution for the enforcement of a judgment in a justice's court may be issued on the application of the party entitled thereto, in the manner hereinbefore described; but after the lapse of five years from the date of the judgment no execution shall issue except by leave of the justice before whom such judgment may be, upon reasonable notice to the defendant. [L. '54, p. 240, § 95; Cd. '81, § 1795; 2 H. C., § 1544.]

§ 1877. Execution from Succeeding Justice.

When any judgment shall have been rendered by any justice of the peace, and the same [shall] not be satisfied during his continuance in office, and the docket of such justice shall have been transferred to another justice, or to the successor of the justice rendering such judgment, the justice to whom the docket shall be delivered shall issue execution upon such unsatisfied judgment, in the same manner and with like effect as if he himself had rendered the judgment. [L. '54, p. 240, § 96; Cd. '81, § 1796; 2 H. C., § 1545.]

§ 1878. Execution to Another County.

If the defendant have not goods and chattels in the county in which judgment was rendered sufficient to satisfy the execution, the justice before whom such judgment may be shall, at the request of the party entitled, make out a certified transcript of the same, which may be delivered to a justice in any other county, who shall make an entry thereof in his docket, and issue execution thereon for the amount of the judgment, or such part as shall be unsatisfied, with costs as in other cases. [L. '54, p. 240, § 97; Cd. '81, § 1797; 2 H. C., § 1546.]

This section is in conflict with §§ 450-452.

§ 1879. Execution—Direction, Date, etc.

The execution shall be directed (except when it is otherwise especially provided) to the sheriff or any constable of the county where the justice resides; shall be dated on the day it is issued, and made returnable within thirty days from the date; and it shall be against the goods and chattels of the person against whom the same is issued. [L. '54, p. 240, § 98; Cd. '81, § 1798; 2 H. C., § 1547.]

§ 1880. Amount of Debt, etc., to be Stated.

Before any execution shall be delivered, the justice shall state in his docket, and also on the back of the execution, the amount of the debt, or damages and costs, and of the fees due to each person separately, and the officer receiving such execution shall indorse [thereon] the time of the reception of the same. [L. '53, p. 240, § 99; Cd. '81, § 1799; 2 H. C., § 1548.]

§ 1881. Execution may be Renewed.

If an execution be not satisfied, it may, at the request of the plaintiff, be renewed from time to time by the justice who issues the same, or by the justice to whom his docket is transferred, by an indorsement thereon to that effect, signed by him, and dated when the same shall be made. If any part of such execution has been satisfied, the indorsement of renewal shall express the sum due on the execution. Every such indorsement shall renew the execution in full force in all respects for thirty days, and no longer; and an entry of such renewal shall be made in the docket of the justice. [L. '54, p. 240, § 100; Cd. '81, § 1800; 2 H. C., § 1549.]

§ 1882. Notice of Sale upon Execution.

The officer, after taking goods and chattels into his custody by virtue of an execution, shall, without delay, give public notice by at least three advertisements, put up at three public places in the county, of the time and place when and where they will be exposed for sale. Such notice shall describe the goods and chattels taken, and shall be put up at least ten days before the day of sale. [L. '54, p. 241, § 101; Cd. '81, § 1801; 2 H. C., § 1550.]

§ 1883. Sale upon Execution—Return.

At the time and place so appointed, if the goods and chattels be present for inspection of bidders, the officer shall expose them to sale at public vendue to the highest bidder; he shall return the execution and have the money before the justice, at the time of making such return, ready to be paid over to the persons respectively entitled thereto. [L. '54, p. 241, § 102; Cd. '81, § 1802; 2 H. C., § 1551.]

§ 1884. Officer not to Buy at Execution Sale.

No officer shall directly or indirectly purchase any goods or chattels at any sale made by him upon execution, and every such purchase shall be absolutely void. [L. '54, p. 241, § 103; Cd. '81, § 1803; 2 H. C., § 1552.]

§ 1885. Execution may Issue Against the Person, When.

If the action be one in which the defendant might have been arrested upon a warrant, an execution against the person of such defendant may be issued, after the return of an execution against his property unsatisfied in whole or in part. An execution against the person may likewise be issued after such return, where the defendant has been arrested upon a warrant and not discharged according to law. [L. '54, p. 241, § 104; Cd. '81, § 1804; 2 H. C., § 1553.]

§ 1886. Garnishees may be Examined Under Oath.

If there be no property found, or if the goods and chattels levied on be not sufficient to satisfy such execution, the officer shall, on demand of the plaintiff, summon, in writing, as garnishees, such persons as may be named to [him by] the plaintiff or his agent, to appear before the justice on the return day of the execution, to answer such interrogatories as may be put to them, touching their liabilities as garnishees, and the like proceedings shall be had thereon before the justice to final judgment as in the proceedings by attachment. [Cf. L. '54, p. 241, § 105; L. '63, p. 354, § 86; Cd. '81, § 1805; 2 H. C., § 1554.]

§ 1887. Execution for Costs.

Any justice of the peace may issue an execution against the prevailing party, to collect fees and costs for which such party may be liable, after an execution has been first issued against the other party, and returned "no property found." [L. '54, p. 241, § 106; Cd. '81, § 1806; 2 H. C., § 1555.]

§ 1888. Claim by Third Person to Property Levied on or Attached.

If any property levied on be claimed by any other person than the defendant in the execution, and the claimant make affidavit of his title or right to the possession of the same, stating the ground of such title or right, and serve the same upon the sheriff or constable while the property is in his possession, said sheriff or constable shall not be bound to keep the property, unless the plaintiff, on demand, indemnify him in the same manner as provided in this act for cases where property held under attachment is claimed by persons not parties to the suit; and when such claim is made, the sheriff or constable shall immediately file the claimant's affidavit with the justice, and notify the plaintiff thereof, and unless the property be at once released, the justice shall set the case for trial upon the allegations of the claimant's affidavit, and the case shall proceed and be determined in the same manner as provided in this act for cases where property held under attachment is claimed by persons not parties to the suit. [Cf. L. '54, p. 241, § 107; L. '77, p. 202, § 6; Cd. '81, § 1807; 2 H. C., § 1556.]

CHAPTER XII.

PROCEEDINGS FOR CONTEMPT BEFORE JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

§ 1891. When Justice may Punish for Contempt.

In the following cases, and no others, a justice of the peace may punish for contempt:—

1. Persons guilty of disorderly, contemptuous, and insolent behavior toward such justice while engaged in the trial of a cause, or in rendering judgment, or in any judicial proceedings, which tend to interrupt such proceedings or impair the respect due to his authority;

2. Persons guilty of any breach of the peace, noise, or disturbance, tending to interrupt the official proceedings of such justice;

3. Persons guilty of resistance or disobedience to any lawful order or process made or issued by him. [L. '54, p. 248, § 145; Cd. '81, § 1842; 2 H. C., § 1601.]

Power of justice of peace to punish for contempt. See Ann. Cas. 316; 1 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1135.

§ 1892. Punishment for Contempt.

Punishment for contempt may be by fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding two days, at the discretion of the justice, unless otherwise provided by statute. [L. '54, p. 249, § 146; Cd. '81, § 1843; 2 H. C., § 1602.]

§ 1893. Hearing—Warrant for Offender.

No person shall be punished for a contempt before a justice of the peace until an opportunity shall have been given to him to be heard in his defense; and for that purpose, the justice may issue his warrant to bring the offender before him. [L. '54, p. 249, § 147; Cd. '81, § 1844; 2 H. C., § 1603.]

§ 1894. Summary Arraignment.

If the offender be present, he may be summarily arraigned by the justice, and proceeded against in the same manner as if a warrant had been previously issued, and the offender arrested thereon. [L. '54, p. 249, § 148; Cd. '81, § 1845; 2 H. C., § 1604.]

§ 1895. Form of Warrant.

The warrant for contempt may be in the following form:—

The State of Washington, }
County of ——. } ss.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of said County.

In the name of the state of Washington, you are hereby commanded to apprehend A B, and bring him before J P, one of the justices of the peace of said county, at his office in said county, to show cause why he should not be convicted of a contempt alleged to have been committed on the — day of —, A. D. 18—, before the said justice, while engaged as a justice of the peace in a judicial proceeding.

Dated this — day of —, A. D. 18—.

J P, Justice of the Peace.

[L. '54, p. 249, § 149; Cd. '81, § 1846; 2 H. C., § 1605.]

§ 1896. Form of Judgment.

Upon the conviction of any person for contempt an entry thereof shall be made in the docket of such justice, stating the particular circumstances of the offense, and the judgment rendered thereon, and may be in the following form:—

The State of Washington, }
County of ——. } ss.

Whereas, on the — day of —, A. D. 18—, while the undersigned, one of the justices of the peace of said county, was engaged in the trial of an action between C D, plaintiff, and E F, defendant, in said county, A B, of the said county did interrupt the said proceedings and impair the respect due to the authority of the undersigned, by (here describe the cause particularly); and whereas, the said A B was thereupon required by the undersigned to answer for the said contempt, and show cause why he should not be convicted thereof; and whereas, the said A B did not show cause against the said charge,—be it therefore ordered that the said A B is adjudged to be guilty, and is convicted of the contempt aforesaid, and is adjudged by the undersigned to pay a fine of — dollars (or be imprisoned, etc.).

Dated this — day of —, A. D. 18—.

J P, Justice of the Peace.

[L. '54, p. 249, § 150; Cd. '81, § 1847; 2 H. C., § 1606.]

§ 1897. Warrant of Commitment.

If any person convicted of a contempt be adjudged to be imprisoned, a warrant of commitment shall be issued by the justice. If he be adjudged to pay a fine, a process may be issued to collect the same; and when so collected it shall forthwith be paid by the justice into the county treasury. [L. '54, p. 250, § 151; Cd. '81, § 1848; 2 H. C., § 1607.]

CHAPTER XIII.

WITNESSES AND DEPOSITIONS.

§ 1898. Witnesses may be Subpoenaed Within Twenty Miles.

A subpoena issued by a justice of the peace shall be valid to compel the attendance of a witness in the justice's court, if such witness be within twenty miles of the place of trial. [L. '54, p. 233, § 57; Cd. '81, § 1869.]

§ 1899. How and by Whom Served.

A subpoena may be served by any person above the age of eighteen years, by reading it to the witness, or by delivering to him a copy at his usual place of abode. [L. '54, p. 233, § 58; Cd. '81, § 1870.]

§ 1900. Attachment for Failure to Appear.

Whenever it shall appear to the satisfaction of the justice, by proof made before him, that any person, duly subpoenaed to appear before him in an action, shall have failed, without a just cause, to attend as a witness, in conformity to such subpoena, and the party in whose behalf such subpoena was issued, or his agent, shall make oath that the testimony of such witness is material, the justice shall have the power to issue an attachment to compel the attendance of such witness: Provided, that no attachment shall issue against witness in any civil action, unless his fees for mileage and one day's attendance have been tendered or paid in advance, if previously demanded by such witness from the person serving the subpoena. [L. '54, 233, § 59; Cd. '81, § 1871.]

§ 1901. Service and Costs in Attachment.

Every such attachment may be directed to any sheriff or constable of the county in which the justice resides, and shall be executed in the same manner as a warrant; and the fees of the officer for issuing and serving the same shall be paid by the person against whom the same was issued, unless he show reasonable cause, to the satisfaction of the justice, for his omission to attend; in which case the party requiring such attachment shall pay all costs. [L. '54, p. 233, § 60; Cd. '81, § 1872.]

§ 1902. Damages for Nonattendance.

Every person subpoenaed as aforesaid, and neglecting to appear, shall also be liable to the party in whose behalf he may have been subpoenaed, for all damages which such party may have sustained by reason of his nonappearance: Provided, that such witness had the fees allowed for mileage and one day's attendance paid, or tendered him, in advance, if demanded by him at the time of the service. [L. '54, p. 234, § 61; Cd. '81, § 1873.]

§ 1903. Party to Action as Witness.

A party to an action may be examined as a witness, at the instance of the adverse party, and for that purpose may be compelled in the same manner, and subject to the same rules of examination, as any other witness, to testify at the trial, or appear and have his deposition taken. [L. '54, p. 243, § 62; Cd. '81, § 1874.]

§ 1904. Testimony of Party may be Rebutted.

The examination of a party thus taken may be rebutted by adverse testimony. [L. '54, p. 234, § 63; Cd. '81, § 1875.]

§ 1905. Proceedings on Party's Refusal to Testify.

If a party refuse to attend and testify at the trial, or give his deposition before trial, when required, his complaint, answer or reply, may be stricken out, and judgment taken against him. [L. '54, p. 234, § 64; Cd. '81, § 1876.]

§ 1906. Examination of Party in His Own Behalf.

A party examined by an adverse party may be examined on his own behalf, in respect to any matter pertinent to the issue. But if he testify to any new matter, not responsive to the inquiries put to him by the adverse party, or necessary to qualify or explain his answer thereto, or to discharge, when his answer would charge himself, such adverse party may offer himself as a witness, and he shall be so received. [L. '54, p. 234, § 65; Cd. '81, § 1877.]

§ 1907. When Depositions may be Taken.

Either party, in an action depending before a justice of the peace, may cause a deposition of a witness therein to be taken, when such witness resides, or is about to go more than twenty miles from the place of trial, or is so sick, infirm, or aged, as to make it probable that he will not be able to attend at the trial. [L. '54, p. 234, § 66; Cd. '81, § 1878.]

§ 1908. How Taken and Certified.

The notice shall be served, and the deposition taken, certified, and returned, according to the law regulating the taking of depositions to be read in the superior court. [L. '54, p. 234, § 67; Cd. '81, § 1879.]

§ 1909. How Used on Trial.

The justice shall allow every deposition taken, certified and returned according to law, to be read on the trial of the cause in which it is taken, in all cases where the same testimony, if given verbally before him, could have been received; but no such deposition shall be read on the trial, unless it appears to the justice that the witness, whose deposition is so offered:

1. Is dead, or resides more than twenty miles from the place of trial; or

2. Is unable, or cannot safely attend before the justice, on account of sickness, age, or other bodily infirmity;

3. That he has gone more than twenty miles from the place of trial without the consent or collusion of the party offering the deposition. [L. '54, p. 234, § 68; Cd. '81, § 1880.]

CHAPTER XIV.

APPEALS FROM JUSTICE'S COURT.

§ 1910. Appeal in Civil Actions.

Any person considering himself aggrieved by the judgment or decision of a justice of the peace in a civil action may, in person or by his agent, appeal therefrom to the superior court of the same county where the judgment was rendered or the decision made: Provided, there shall be no appeal allowed unless the amount in controversy exclusive of costs, shall exceed the sum of twenty dollars. [L. '05, p. 41, § 1. Cf. L. '54, p. 252, § 160; Cd. '81, § 1858; L. '91, p. 66, § 1; 2 H. C., § 1630.]

v. Superior Court, 3 Wash. 705, 29 Pac. 213.

Unless issues are changed thereby, amendments in pleadings should be liberally allowed on appeals from justices' courts: Newberg v. Farmer, 1 W. T. 182.

§ 1916. Attachment for Certified Transcript.

Upon an appeal being taken and allowed the superior court may, by rule and attachment, compel the justice to make and deliver to the appellant a certified transcript of the proceedings, upon paying to such justice the fees allowed by law for making such transcript, and whenever the court is satisfied that the return of the justice is substantially erroneous or defective, it may, by rule and attachment, compel him to amend the same. [Cf. L. '54, p. 253, § 168; Cd. '81, § 1865; L. '91, p. 67, § 5; 2 H. C., § 1636.]

§ 1917. Appeal not to be Dismissed for Defective Bond, When.

No appeal allowed by justice shall be dismissed on account of the bond being defective, if the appellant will, before the motion is determined, execute and file in the superior court such a bond as he should have executed at the time of taking the appeal, and pay all costs that shall have accrued by reason of such defect. [L. '54, p. 253, § 169; Cd. '81, § 1866; 2 H. C., § 1637.]

§ 1918. Judgment Against Appellant and Sureties, When.

In all cases of appeal to the superior court if, on the trial anew in such court, the judgment be against the appellant in whole or in part, such judgment shall be rendered against him and his sureties in the bond for the appeal. [L. '54, p. 253, § 170; Cd. '81, § 1867; 2 H. C., § 1638.]

§ 1919. Appeal in Criminal Cases—Notice.

Every person convicted before a justice of the peace of any offense may appeal from the judgment, within ten days thereafter, to the superior court. The appeal shall be taken by orally giving notice thereof at the time the judgment is rendered, or by serving a written notice thereof upon the justice at any time after the judgment, and within the time allowed for taking the appeal; when the notice is given orally, the justice shall enter the same in his docket. The appellant shall be committed to the jail of the county until he shall recognize or give a bond to the state, in such reasonable sum with such sureties as said justice may require, with condition to appear at the court appealed to, and there prosecute his appeal, and to abide the sentence of the court thereon, if not revised by a higher court. [Cf. L. '54, p. 261, § 177; L. '77, p. 203, § 7; Cd. '81, § 1898; L. '91, p. 67, § 6; 2 H. C., § 1639.]

Where the justice's transcript was not filed for nearly six months, a criminal appeal will be dismissed on motion of the state: State v. Berg, 111 Wash. 422, 191 Pac. 400.

§ 1920. Fees not Required in Advance—Failure to Prosecute, Effect of.

The appellant in a criminal action shall not be required to advance any fees in claiming his appeal, nor in prosecuting the same; but if convicted in the appellate court, or if sentenced for failing to prosecute his appeal, he may be required, as a part of the sentence, to pay the costs of prosecution. If the appellant shall fail to enter and prosecute his appeal, he shall be defaulted on his recognizance, if any was taken, and the superior court may award sentence against him for the offense whercof he was convicted, in like manner as if he had been convicted thereof in that court; and if he be not then in custody, process may be issued to bring him into court to receive sentence. [Cf. L. '54, p. 261, § 179; Cd. '81, § 1900; L. '91, p. 68, § 7; 2 H. C., § 1640.]

Cited in 49 Wash. 437; 80 Wash. 337; 100 Wash. 288; 111 Wash. 423.

§ 1921. Justice to Recognize Witnesses—Transcript.

Upon an appeal being taken in a criminal action, the justice shall require the witnesses to give recognizances for their appearance in the superior court, or if they are not present, indorse their names on the copy of proceeding. He shall, on such appeal, make and certify a copy of the conviction and other proceedings in the case, and transmit the same, together with the recognizance and an abstract bill of the costs, to the clerk of the court appealed to, who shall issue a subpoena for the witnesses, if they are not under recognizance. [Cf. L. '54, p. 261, § 178; L. '73, p. 384, § 197; Cd. '81, § 1899; L. '91, p. 68, § 8; 2 H. C., § 1641.]

Money deposit in lieu of recognizance, see infra, § 1957½.

Cited in 88 Wash. 549; 100 Wash. 288; 111 Wash. 423.

§ 1922. Appeal from Order for Security to Keep the Peace.

An appeal may be taken from the order of a magistrate requiring a person to give security, to keep the peace, or for good behavior. Such appeal shall be taken in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as appeals from justices' courts in criminal actions, and the magistrate may require recognizances of the appellant and the witness, as in appeals in such criminal actions. [Cf. L. '54, p. 106, §§ 18, 19; L. '63, p. 385, §§ 191, 192; Cd. '81, §§ 1911, 1912; L. '91, p. 68, § 9; 2 H. C., § 1642.]

Cited in 23 Wash. 88.

§ 1923. Proceedings on Such Appeal—New Bonds—Costs.

The court before which such appeal is prosecuted may affirm the order of the justice or discharge the appellant, or may require the appellant to enter into a new recognizance, with sufficient sureties, in such sum and for such time as the court shall think proper, and may also make such order in relation to the costs of prosecution as may be deemed just and reasonable. [L. '54, p. 155, § 20; Cd. '81, § 1913; 2 H. C., § 1643.]

§ 1924. Failure to Prosecute Such Appeal, Effect of.

If any party appealing from such order of a magistrate shall fail to prosecute his appeal, his recognizance shall remain in full force and effect, as to any breach of the condition, without an affirmance of the judgment or order of the magistrate, and also shall stand as security for costs which shall be ordered by the court appealed to to be paid by the appellant. [Cf. L. '54, p. 105, § 21; Cd. '81, § 1914; L. '91, p. 68, § 10; 2 H. C., § 1644.]

CHAPTER I.

PRACTICE IN CRIMINAL ACTIONS IN JUSTICE'S COURT.

§ 1925. Justice to Issue Warrant of Arrest, When.

Any justice shall, on complaint on oath in writing before him charging any person with the commission of any crime or misdemeanor of which he has jurisdiction, issue a warrant for the arrest of such person, and cause him to be brought forthwith before him for trial. [L. '54, p. 260, § 172; Cd. '81, § 1888; 2 H. C., § 1559.]

See supra, § 46, jurisdiction in criminal cases.

Cited in 101 Wash. 154.

Summary Trial and Conviction—Rights of Accused: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 60; State v. White, 8 Wash. 230, 35 Pac. 1100; State ex rel. Belt v. Kennan, 25 Wash. 621, 66 Pac. 62.

A superior court judge, sitting as a committing magistrate, has no authority, over objection, to inquire into a charge of gross misdemeanor in view of this chapter, giving justices exclusive jurisdiction: State ex rel. Murphy v. Taylor, 101 Wash. 148, 172 Pac. 217.

§ 1926. Offense Committed in View of Justice, Proceedings.

When any offense is committed in view of any justice, he may, by verbal direction to any constable, or if no constable is present, to any citizen, cause such constable or citizen to arrest such offender, and keep him in custody for the space of one hour, unless such offender shall sooner be taken from such custody by virtue of a warrant issued on complaint on oath. But such person so arrested shall not be confined in jail nor put upon any trial until arrested by virtue of such warrant. And on the return of any warrant issued by him, it shall be the duty of the justice to docket the cause, and unless continuance be granted forthwith to hear and determine the cause, and either acquit, convict and punish, or hold to bail the offender, if the offense be bailable, and prove to be one which should be tried in the superior court, or in default of bail, commit him to jail, as the facts and law may justify. § 1927. Either Side may Demand Jury.

In all trials for offenses within the jurisdiction of a justice of the peace, the defendant or the state may demand a jury, which shall consist of six or a less number, agreed [upon] by the state and accused, to be impaneled and sworn as in civil cases, or the trial may be by the justice. When the complaint is for a crime or misdemeanor in the exclusive jurisdiction of the superior court, the justice hears the case as a committing magistrate, and no jury shall be allowed. [L. '54, p. 260, § 174; L. '73, p. 382, § 188; L. '75, p. 51, § 2; Cd. '81, § 1890; L. '91, p. 18, § 1; 2 H. C., § 1561.]

§ 1928. Proceedings on Verdict of Guilty.

Such justice or jury, if they find the prisoner guilty, shall assess his punishment; or if, in their opinion, the punishment they are authorized to assess is not adequate to the offense, they may so find, and in such case the justice shall order such defendant to enter [into] recognizance to appear in the superior court of the county, and shall also recognize the witnesses, and proceed as in proceedings by a committing magistrate. [Cf. L. '54, p. 260, § 174; Cd. '81, § 1891; L. '91, p. 18, § 2; 2 H. C., § 1562.]

§ 1930. Justice to Summon Witnesses.

In all cases arising under this chapter, if the offense charged involve injury to a particular person who is within the county, it shall be the duty of the justice of the peace to summon the injured person, and all others whose testimony may be deemed material, as witnesses at the trial, and to enforce their attendance by attachment if necessary. [Cf. L. '54, p. 260, § 174; Cd. '81, § 1894; L. '91, p. 18, § 3; 2 H. C., § 1564.]

§ 1931. Judgment not to be Given Without Evidence.

No justice shall assess a fine, or enter a judgment thereon, until a witness or witnesses have been examined to state the circumstances of the transaction. [Cf. L. '54, p. 260, § 174; Cd. '81, § 1893; L. '91, p. 19, § 4; 2 H. C., § 1565.]

Cited in 112 Wash. 203.

§ 1932. Continuance to be Granted, How—Costs, etc.

Continuance may be granted, either on application of the defendant or the prosecuting witness, under the same rules as in civil cases; the cost of such continuance shall abide the event of the prosecution in all cases, and the justice shall recognize the defendant and the witnesses to appear from time to time, in the same manner as is provided in other criminal examinations before him. [Cf. L. '54, p. 261, § 176; Cd. '81, § 1895; L. '91, p. 19, § 5; 2 H. C., § 1566.]

See infra, § 1955, recognizance of defendant and witnesses.

§ 1933. Judgment, How Rendered and Satisfied.

In all cases of conviction, unless otherwise provided in this chapter, the justice shall enter judgment for the fine and costs against the defendant, and may commit him to jail, to be placed at hard labor until the judgment is satisfied, or the payment thereof be secured as provided by section 1934, and further proceedings therein shall be had as in like cases in the superior court; but the defendant shall not be imprisoned for a longer aggregate time than one day for every three dollars of the fine and costs; and a defendant who has been committed shall be discharged at any time upon the payment of such part of the fine and costs as remains unpaid after deducting from the whole amount any previous payment, and three dollars for every day he has been imprisoned upon the commitment. [Cf. L. '54, p. 261, § 176; Cd. '81, § 1896; L. '91, p. 19, § 6; 2 H. C., § 1567.]

§ 1934. Stay of Execution, Manner of Procuring.

Every defendant may stay the execution for the fine and costs for thirty days by procuring sufficient sureties, to be approved by the justice, to enter into recognizance before him for the payment of the fine and costs; the entry of such recognizance shall be made on the docket of the justice, and signed by the sureties, and shall have the same effect as a judgment, and if the same be not paid in thirty days, the justice shall proceed as in like cases in the superior court. [L. '54, p. 261, § 176; Cd. '81, § 1897; 2 H. C., § 1568.]

Whereas, A B has this day complained in writing under oath to the undersigned, one of the justices of the peace in and for said county, that he has just cause to fear and does fear C D, late of the said county, will (here state the threatened injury or violence, as sworn to),— therefore, in the name of the state of Washington, you are commanded to apprehend the said C D, and bring him forthwith before me, to show cause why he should not give surety to keep the peace and be of good behavior towards all people of this state, and the said A B especially, and further to be dealt with according to law.

Given under my hand this — day of —, 18—.

J P, Justice of the Peace.

FORM OF COMMITMENT UPON SENTENCE.

The State of Washington, }
 County of ———. } ss.

To any Constable and the Keeper of the County Jail of said County.

Whereas, at the justice's court held at my office in said county for the trial of C D, for the offense hereinafter stated, the said C D was convicted of having on the — day of —, 18—, in said county, committed (here state the offense), and upon conviction the said court did adjudge and determine that the said C D should be imprisoned in the county jail of said county, for — days, therefore, you, the said constable, are commanded, in the name of the state of Washington, forthwith to convey and deliver the said C D to the said keeper; and you, the said keeper, are hereby commanded to receive the said C D into your custody in said jail and him there safely keep until the expiration of said — days, or until he shall thence be discharged by due course of law.

Dated this — day of —, 18—.

J P, Justice of the Peace.

FORM OF CERTIFICATE OF CONVICTION.

The State of Washington, }
 County of ———. } ss.

At a justice's court held at my office in said county before me, one of the justices of the peace in and for said county, for the trial of C D, for the offense hereinafter stated, the said C D was convicted of having on the — day of —, 18—, in said county committed (here insert the offense), and upon conviction, the said court did adjudge and determine that the said C D should pay a fine of — dollars (or be imprisoned, as the case may be), and the said fine has been paid to me.

Given under my hand this — day of —, 18—.

J P, Justice of the Peace.

The State of Washington, }
 County of —. } ss.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of said County.

Whereas, at a justice's court held at my office in said county for the trial of C D for the offense hereinafter stated, the said C D was convicted of having on the — day of —, 18—, in said county committed (here state the offense), and upon conviction the said court did adjudge and determine that the said C D should pay a fine of — dollars, and — dollars costs; and whereas, the said fine and costs have not been paid,—these are, therefore, in the name of the state of Washington, to command you to levy on the goods and chattels, etc. (as in execution in civil cases).

Preliminary Warrant.—Under this section and sections 1939 and 1949, infra, which require only the substance of the complaint to be recited in a warrant of arrest for misdemeanor, a warrant is not void on its face when it authorizes the officer to arrest defendant for defacing a building, described as the property of B. "and divers other persons," further reciting that it was not the property of the defendant: State v. Yourex, 30 Wash. 611, 71 Pac. 203.

CHAPTER III.

PROCEEDINGS TO PREVENT THE COMMISSION OF CRIME.

§ 1936. Power to Preserve Peace.

Justices of the peace shall have power to cause all laws made for the preservation of the public peace to be kept; and in the execution of that power may require persons to give security to keep the peace, or for their good behavior, or both, in the manner herein provided. [L. '54, p. 104, § 11; Cd. '81, § 1903; 2 H. P. C., § 26.]

Cited in 23 Wash. 86.

§ 1937. Duty of Justice When Complaint Made.

Whenever complaint shall be made to any such magistrate that any person has threatened to commit an offense against the property or person of another, the magistrate shall examine the complaint, and any witness who may be produced on oath, and reduce such complaint to writing, and the same shall be subscribed by the complainant. [L. '54, p. 104, § 12; Cd. '81, § 1904; 2 H. C., § 1570.]

Cited in 16 Wash. 353.

§ 1938. Examination of Witnesses—Transcript of Testimony.

It shall be the duty of every magistrate examining a person charged with an offense, or with an intention to commit an offense, to examine all the witnesses he shall deem material, and reduce their testimony to writing, a copy of which, whether the accused is discharged, committed, or held to bail, or shall take an appeal, he shall transmit to the clerk of the court having jurisdiction of the offense. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1905; L. '91, p. 22, § 8; 2 H. C., § 1571.]

§ 1939. Magistrate to Issue Warrant, When.

If, upon the examination, it shall appear that there is just cause to fear that such offense may be committed, the magistrate shall issue a warrant, under his hand, reciting the substance of the complaint, and requiring the officer to whom it may be directed forthwith to apprehend the person complained of and bring him before such magistrate, or some other magistrate or court having jurisdiction of the cause. [L. '54, p. 104, § 13; Cd. '81, § 1906; 2 H. C., § 1572.]

See supra, § 50, definition of magistrate.

Cited in 30 Wash. 615.

§ 1940. Recognizance in Cases of Apprehended Danger.

The magistrate before whom any person is brought upon charge of having made threats as aforesaid shall, as soon as may be, hear and examine the complaint; and if it shall appear that there is just cause to fear that any such offense will be committed by the party complained of, he shall be required to enter into recognizance, with sufficient sureties, in such sum as the magistrate shall direct, towards all the people of the state, and especially towards the person requiring such security, for such term as the magistrate shall order, not exceeding one year, but he shall not be ordered to recognizance for his appearance at the superior court unless he is charged with some offense for which he ought to be held to answer at said court. [L. '54, p. 104, § 14; Cd. '81, § 1907; 2 H. C., § 1573.]

See infra, § 1946, recognizance without process.

See infra, § 2202, recognizance after conviction.

§ 1941. Commitment of Defendant to Jail, When.

If the person so ordered to recognize shall fail to enter into such recognizance, the magistrate shall commit him to the county jail during the period for which he was required to give security, or until he shall so recognize, stating in the warrant the cause of commitment, with the sum and time for which security was required. [L. '54, p. 104, § 15; Cd. '81, § 1908; 2 H. C., § 1574.]

§ 1942. Magistrate to Discharge, When—Costs.

If, upon examination, it shall appear that there is not just cause to fear that any such offense will be committed by the party complained of, he shall be forthwith discharged; and if the magistrate shall deem the complaint unfounded, frivolous, or malicious, he may order the complainant to pay the costs of prosecution, who shall thereupon be answerable to the magistrate and the officer for their fees, as for his own debt. [L. '54, p. 104, § 16; Cd. '81, § 1909; 2 H. C., § 1575.]

See infra, § 1954, taxing costs to complainant.

See infra, § 2225, where complaint unfounded, costs, how taxed.

Cited in 8 Wash. 450; 70 Wash. 644.

The provisions authorizing the taxing of costs to complaining witnesses apply only to examinations before magistrates, and complaints submitted to grand juries: Town of Ilwaco v. Miller, 8 Wash. 449, 36 Pac. 269. See Permstick, In re, 3 Wash. 672, 29 Pac. 350, 28 Am. St. Rep. 80.

§ 1943. Costs—How Payment Enforced, etc.

When no order respecting the costs is made by the magistrate, they shall be allowed and paid in the same manner as costs before justices in criminal prosecutions; but in all cases where a person is required to give security for the peace, or for his good behavior, the magistrate may further order that the costs of prosecution, or any part thereof, shall be paid by such person, who shall stand committed until such costs are paid, or he is otherwise legally discharged. [L. '54, p. 105, § 17; Cd. '81, § 1910; 2 H. C., § 1576.]

Cited in 23 Wash. 87.

The provision that a defendant who is bound over to keep the peace shall stand committed until the costs are paid, does not prevent the judgment from being a lien, nor the issuance of execution for such costs: Clallam County v. Hall, 23 Wash. 85, 62 Pac. 443.

§ 1944. Defendant Discharged on Giving Security.

Any person committed for not finding sureties or refusing to recognize as required by the magistrate may be discharged by any judge or justice of the peace, on giving such security as was required. [L. '54, p. 105, § 22; Cd. '81, § 1915; 2 H. C., § 1577.]

§ 1945. Recognizances to be Transmitted and Filed.

Every recognizance taken pursuant to the foregoing provisions shall be transmitted to the superior court for the county within ten days, and shall be there filed on record by the clerk. [Cf. L. '54, p. 105, § 23; Cd. '81, § 1916; L. '91, p. 22, § 9; 2 H. C., § 1578.]

§ 1946. Recognizances Without Process, When.

Every person who shall, in the presence of any magistrate, or before any judge of a court of record, make an affray, or threaten to kill or beat another, or to commit any violence or outrage against his person or property, and every person who, in the presence of such judge or magistrate, shall contend with hot and angry words to the disturbance of the peace, may be ordered, without process or other proof, to recognize for keeping the peace or being of good behavior for a term not exceeding three months, and in case of refusal, may be committed as before directed. [Cf. L. '54, p. 105, § 24; Cd. '81, § 1917; L. '91, p. 22, § 10; 2 H. C., § 1579.]

§ 1947. Portion of Penalty Remitted, When.

Whenever, upon a suit brought on any such recognizance, the penalty thereof shall be adjudged forfeited, the court may remit such portion of the penalty, on the petition of any defendant, as the circumstances of the case shall render just and reasonable. [L. '54, p. 106, § 25; Cd. '81, § 1918; 2 H. C., § 1580.]

§ 1948. Surety may Surrender Principal, When—Effect of.

Any surety in recognizance to keep the peace or for good behavior, or both, shall have the same authority and right to take and surrender his principal as if he had been bail for him in a civil cause, and upon such surrender shall be discharged and exempt from all liability for any act of the principal, subsequent to such surrender, which would be a breach of the condition of the recognizance; and the person so surrendered may recognize anew, with sufficient sureties, before any justice of the peace, for the residue of the term, and thereupon shall be discharged. [L. '54, p. 106, § 26; Cd. '81, § 1919; 2 H. C., § 1581.]

CHAPTER IV.

EXAMINATION OF PERSONS CHARGED WITH CRIME BEFORE MAGISTRATES.

§ 1949. Examination of Offenses Before Magistrate.

Upon complaint being made to any justice of the peace, or judge of the superior court, that a criminal offense has been committed, he shall examine on oath the complainant, and any witness provided by him, and shall reduce the complaint to writing, and shall cause the same to be subscribed by the complainant; and if it shall appear that any offense has been committed of which the superior court has exclusive jurisdiction, the magistrate shall issue a warrant reciting the substance of the accusation, and requiring the officer to whom it shall be directed forthwith to take the person accused and bring him before the person issuing the warrant, unless he shall be absent or unable to attend thereto, then before some other magistrate of the county, to be dealt with according to law, and in the same warrant may require the officer to summon such witnesses as shall be therein named, to appear and give evidence on the examination. [L. '54, p. 106, § 27; Cd. '81, § 1921; 2 H. C., § 1582.]

§ 1950. Officer may Pursue and Retake Prisoner.

If any person against whom a warrant may be issued for an alleged offense committed in any county shall, either before or after the issuing of such warrant, escape from or be out of the county, the sheriff or other officer to whom such warrant may be directed may pursue and apprehend the party charged in any county in this state, and for that purpose may command aid and exercise the same authority as in his own county. [L. '54, p. 107, § 28; Cd. '81, § 1922; 2 H. C., § 1583.]

§ 1951. Recognizance With or Without Examination.

The magistrate before whom such accused person shall be brought, when the offense is bailable, may, at the request of such person, with or without examination, allow him to enter into recognizance, with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the magistrate, conditioned for his appearance in the superior court having jurisdiction of the offense. [Cf. L. '54, p. 107, § 29; Cd. '81, § 1923; L. '91, p. 22, § 11; 2 H. C., § 1584.]

Cited in 107 Wash. 693.

§ 1952. Hearing and Adjournment—Bail.

If the defendant shall not enter into recognizance with sureties, the magistrate shall proceed to hear and examine the complaint, and may adjourn the examination from time to time, not exceeding in all ten days from the time such defendant shall have been brought before him, and in case of such adjournment the magistrate may, if the offense be bailable, take a recognizance, with sufficient sureties for the appearance of the defendant at such further examination; and if he fail to enter into such recognizance, he shall be ordered into custody until the time appointed for such examination. [L. '54, p. 107, § 30; Cd. '81, § 1924; 2 H. C., § 1585.]

§ 1953. Testimony, How Taken.

The testimony of the witness examined shall be reduced to writing by the magistrate, or under his direction, when he shall think it necessary, and shall be signed by the witness. [L. '54, p. 109, § 40; Cd. '81, § 1933; 2 H. C., § 1586.]

§ 1954. Defendant Entitled to Discharge, When—Costs.

If it should appear, upon the whole examination, that no offense has been committed, or that there is not probable cause for charging the defendant with an offense, he shall be discharged; and if in the opinion of the magistrate the complaint was malicious or without probable cause, and there was no reasonable ground therefor, the costs shall be taxed against the party making the complaint. [L. '54, p. 107, § 31; Cd. '81, § 1925; 2 H. C., § 1588.]

See supra, § 1942, taxing costs to complaining witness.

Judgment cannot be awarded against Wash. 639, 127 Pac. 302.

§ 1955. Defendant Recognized to Appear Before Justice, When.

If it shall appear that an offense has been committed of which a justice of the peace has jurisdiction, and one which would be sufficiently punished by a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, if the magistrate having the complaint is a justice of the peace, he shall cause the complaint to be ordered [altered], and proceed as in like cases before a justice of the peace; or if any other magistrate, he shall certify the papers, with a statement of the offense appearing to be proved, to the nearest justice of the peace, and shall, by order, require the defendant and the witnesses to enter into recognizances, with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the magistrate, for their appearance before such justice at the time and place stated in the order; and such justice shall proceed to the trial of the action as if originally commenced before him.

§ 1956. Bail to Justify, When Required.

Bail shall, when required, justify as in civil cases. [L. '54, p. 129, § 178; Cd. '81, § 1169; 2 H. C., § 1590.]

See supra, § 765, qualifications of bail.

§ 1957. Defendant to be Discharged on Bail, When.

If it appear that a bailable offense has been committed, the magistrate shall order the defendant to enter into recognizance, with sufficient sureties, for his appearance in the superior court, to answer the charge, and if he shall not do so, or the offense be not bailable, he shall commit him to jail. The justice of the peace who committed the person, or the judge of the superior court to which the party is held to answer, may admit to bail in the amount required, and approve the sureties. The recognizance shall be conditioned in effect that the defendant will appear in the superior court to answer said charge whenever the same shall be prosecuted, and at all times, until discharged according to law, render himself amenable to the orders and process of the superior court, and if convicted, render himself in execution of the judgment. [Cf. L. 54, p. 108, §§ 33, 34; Cd. '81, § 1927; L. '91, p. 23, § 13; 2 H. C., § 1591.]

See supra, § 1928, order for recognizance in lieu of verdict.

See infra, § 2052, appearance to answer information or indictment.

See infra, § 2053, duty of prosecuting attorney in cases of preliminary examination.

See infra, § 2088, recognizance certified and recorded, effect of.

§ 1957½. Money Deposit in Lieu of Bond.

Justices of the peace or committing magistrates may accept money as bail from persons charged with bailable offenses, and for the appearance of witnesses in all cases provided by law for the recognizance of witnesses. The amount of such bail or recognizance in each case shall be determined by the court in its discretion, and may from time to time be increased or decreased as circumstances may justify. The money to be received and accounted for in the same manner as provided by law for the superior courts. [L. '19, p. 153, § 1.]

This action authorizing justices and committing magistrates to accept cash in lieu of bail has no retroactive effect: Kellogg v. Witte, 107 Wash. 691, 182 Pac. 575.

§ 1958. Magistrates may Associate Other Magistrates.

Any magistrate to whom complaint is made, or before whom any defendant is brought, may associate with himself one or more magistrates of the same county, and they may, together, execute the powers and duties before mentioned; but no fees shall be taxed for such associates. [L. '54, p. 108, § 35; Cd. '81, § 1928; 2 H. C., § 1592.]

§ 1959. Witnesses to be Recognized, When.

Where the person arrested is held to bail or committed to jail or forfeits his recognizance, the magistrate shall recognize the witnesses for the prosecution to be and appear in the superior court to which the party is recognized, bailed, or committed, whenever their attendance shall be required. [Cf. L. '54, p. 108, § 36; Cd. '81, § 1929; L. '91, p. 23, § 14; 2 H. C., § 1593.]

§ 1960. Witnesses to Recognize With Sureties, When.

If the magistrate shall be satisfied that there is good cause to believe that any such witness will not perform the condition of his recognizance unless other security be given, such magistrate may order the witness to enter into recognizance with such sureties as may be deemed necessary for his appearance at court. [L. '54, p. 108, § 37; Cd. '81, § 1930; 2 H. C., § 1594.]

§ 1961. Recognizance of Minor or Married Woman.

When any married woman or minor is a material witness, any other person may be allowed to recognize for the appearance of such witness, or the magistrate may, in his discretion, take the recognizance of such married woman or minor in a sum not exceeding fifty dollars, which shall be valid and binding in law, notwithstanding the disability of coverture or minority. [L. '54, p. 108, § 38; Cd. '81, § 1931; 2 H. C., § 1595.]

§ 1962. Commitment of Witnesses on Default of Bond—Depositions.

All witnesses required to recognize with or without sureties shall, if they refuse, be committed to the county jail by the magistrate, there to remain until they comply with such orders or be otherwise discharged according to law. Provided, that when the magistrate is satisfied that any witness required to recognize with sureties is unable to comply with such orders, he shall immediately take the deposition of such witness and discharge him from custody upon his own recognizance. The testimony of the witness shall be reduced to writing by the justice or some competent person under his direction, and he shall take only the exact words of the witness; the deposition, except the cross-examinations, shall be in the narrative form, and upon the cross-examination the questions and answers shall be taken in full. The defendant must be present in person when the deposition is taken, and shall have an opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses; he may make any objections to the admission of any part of the testimony, and all objections shall be noted by the justice; but the justice shall not decide as to the admissibility of the evidence, but shall take all the testimony offered by the witness. The deposition must be carefully read to the witness, and any corrections he may desire to make thereto shall be made in presence of the defendant, by adding the same to the deposition as first taken; it must be signed by the witness, certified by the justice, and transmitted to the clerk of the superior court, in the same manner as depositions in civil actions. And if the witness is not present when required to testify in the case, either before the grand jury or upon the trial in the superior court, the deposition shall be submitted to the judge of such superior court, upon the objections noted by the justice, and such judge shall suppress so much of said deposition as he shall find to be inadmissible, and the remainder of the deposition may be read as evidence in the case, either before the grand jury or upon the trial in the court. [Cf. L. '54, p. 108, § 39; L. '77, p. 203, § 8; Cd. '81, § 1932; L. '91, p. 24, § 15; 2 H. C., § 1596.]

See Const., Art. I, § 22, right to meet witnesses face to face.

§ 1963. Magistrate to Make Return—Penalty.

It shall be the duty of all magistrates within this state, before whom any person or persons shall be committed or held to bail to answer to [for] any crime, to return their proceedings, duly certified, including a copy of all recognizances taken by them, to the clerk of the superior court within ten days after the final hearing and commitment, or holding to bail, as aforesaid; and any justice of the peace who shall fail or neglect to make such return shall not be entitled to receive any fees or costs in such case. [Cf. L. '54, p. 109, § 41; Cd. '81, § 1934; L. '91, p. 25, § 16; 2 H. C., § 1597.]

§ 1964. Offense may be Compromised, When.

When any person shall be committed to prison, or shall be under examination or recognizance to answer any charge for a misdemeanor for which the party injured may have a remedy by civil action, except where the offense was committed upon a sheriff or other officer, justice, or violently or with intent to commit a felony, if the party injured shall appear before the magistrate who made the commitment or took the recognizance or is conducting the examination, and acknowledge in writing that he has received satisfaction for the injury, the magistrate may, in his discretion, on payment of all costs which may have accrued, discharge the recognizance or supersede the commitment by an order under his hand, and may also discharge all recognizance and supersede the commitment of all witnesses in the case. [L. '54, p. 109, § 42; Cd. '81, § 1935; 2 H. C., § 1598.]

See infra, §§ 2126–2128, compromising offenses.

§ 1965. Action on Forfeiture of Recognizance.

When any person under recognizance in any criminal prosecution, either to appear and answer before a justice, or to testify in any court, shall fail to perform the condition of any recognizance, his default shall be recorded; and it shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney to proceed at once, by action against the person bound by recognizance, or such of them as he may elect. [L. '54, p. 109, § 43; Cd. '81, § 1936; 2 H. C., § 1599.]

See infra, § 2234 et seq., action on forfeited recognizance.

§ 1966. Abstract of Costs to be Forwarded With Papers.

In all cases where any magistrate shall order a defendant to recognize for his appearance before a justice of the peace or the superior court, he shall forward with the papers in the case an abstract of the costs that have accrued in the case, and such costs shall be subject to the final determination of the case. [L. '54, p. 109, § 44; Cd. '81, § 1937; 2 H. C., § 1600.]

CHAPTER V.

PROCEEDINGS AGAINST VAGRANTS.

§ 1967. Vagrancy, Defined.

The following persons are vagrants: All persons who tell fortunes, or who keep houses where lost and stolen goods may be found; all common prostitutes, and keepers of bawdy-houses or houses for the resort of prostitutes; all habitual drunkards, gamesters, or other disorderly persons; all persons wandering about and having no visible calling or business to maintain themselves; all persons going about as collectors of alms for charitable institutions under any false or fraudulent pretense; all persons playing or betting in any street, or public or open place, at or with any table or instrument of gaming at any game or pretended game of chance. [L. '75, p. 89, § 1; Cd. '81, § 1271; 2 H. C., § 1608.]

This section is repealed (see § 2304, infra); but is retained for the reference in the next section, which may still be in force. See § 2688, infra.

§ 1968. Proceedings for Examination of Vagrancy.

Upon complaint made on oath to any justice of the peace against any person as being such vagrant within his local jurisdiction, as defined in the last preceding section, he shall issue a warrant for the arrest of such person, and the complaint, warrant, arrest, and examination shall be governed by the provisions of this code relating to the examination and commitment for trial of persons charged with offenses, so far as the same may be applicable. [Cf. L. '75, p. 90, § 2; Cd. '81, § 1272; L. '91, p. 25, § 17; 2 H. C., § 1609.]

§ 1969. Arrest Without Warrant.

All peace officers shall arrest any vagrant whom they may find at large, and take him before some justice of the peace of the county, city, or town in which the arrest is made. [L. '75, p. 90, § 3; Cd. '81, § 1273; 2 H. C., § 1610.]

CHAPTER V-A.

BASTARDY PROCEEDINGS.

§ 1970. Complaint Against Putative Father.

When an unmarried woman shall be pregnant or delivered of a child which shall not be the issue of lawful wedlock, complaint may be made in writing by said unmarried woman, her father, mother or guardian, to any justice of the peace in the county of which she has been a resident for thirty days last past and where she may be so pregnant or delivered, or where the person accused may be found, accusing, under oath, a person with being the father of such child, and it shall be the duty of such justice forthwith to issue a warrant against the person so accused and cause him to be brought forthwith before such justice. [L. '19, p. 709, § 1.]

Sections 1970 to 1979 of Rem. & Bal. Code are repealed, and this chapter is inserted.

Right of nonresident mother to maintain bastardy proceedings. 18 Ann. Cas. 574.

§ 1971. Hearing Before Justice—Bond—Action on.

Upon the appearance of the accused, it shall be the duty of such justice to examine the woman, if then present, under oath, in the presence of the man alleged to be the father of the child, touching the charge against him, or, if the woman be not then present, to fix a date for such examination not more than ten days thereafter and to require the accused to give a bond with sufficient surety conditioned that he will appear to answer such charge upon such date, or upon any other date to which such examination may be continued; and in default of the giving of such bond such justice shall cause the accused to be committed to the county jail. The accused shall have the right to controvert such charge and evidence may be heard as in the case of trial of civil actions before such justice. If such justice shall be of the opinion that sufficient cause appears, it shall be his duty to bind the person so accused in bond with sufficient surety payable to the state of Washington and conditioned that he will appear in the superior court of such county, at such time or times as the judge thereof may fix or order, to answer such complaint, and abide the judgment and orders of the court; or failing therein, that he will pay such sums of money and to such person as may be adjudged by such court; and the justice shall transmit such bond, together with the transcript of his proceedings, the complaint and the other papers in the case, without delay to the clerk of the superior court of such county. And if the accused shall fail to give a bond as required, such justice shall commit him to jail until discharged by law. Such bond, or any bond given by said accused on any continuance or arrest, may be put in suit by any person in whose favor the court may adjudge any sum of money in such proceeding. [L. '19, p. 710, § 2.]

§ 1972. Prosecuting Attorney—Control of.

Such proceeding shall be entitled in the name of the state of Washington; and shall be prosecuted in both justice court and the superior court by the prosecuting attorney of the county where brought, and shall not be dismissed except by such prosecuting attorney upon a showing to the court that the provisions herein contemplated to be made for the maintenance, care, education and support of the child have been made. [L. '19, p. 711, § 3.]

§ 1973. Discharge on Recognizance Bond.

Any person committed to jail for failure to give such bond may be discharged from custody by filing at any time after his commitment, with the clerk of the superior court such bond, to the satisfaction of the said clerk; and a certificate of the clerk to the sheriff shall be sufficient to authorize him to discharge the accused from custody. [L. '19, p. 711, § 4.]

§ 1974. Mother's Testimony.

The testimony of the mother, or mother to be, shall be by such justice reduced to writing, read carefully to such witness and be by her signed, and shall, by such justice, be returned to the superior court with the other papers in the proceeding, to be used by either party thereto. [L. '19, p. 711, § 5.]

Necessity of corroboration of prosecuting witness in bastardy proceedings.

§ 1975. Docketing in Superior Court.

Upon the filing of the transcript, complaint and other papers in the superior court, the clerk thereof shall docket the same, and said complaint shall stand as the complaint therein, and issue shall be joined thereon as now provided in civil actions. [L. '19, p. 711, § 6.]

§ 1976. Trial.

If the accused in the superior court denies the charge, the issue may be tried by the court or by jury if demanded by either party. [L. '19, p. 711, § 7.]

of paternity. 6 Ann. Cas. 560; 19

Ann. Cas. 536; L. R. A. 1917B,
1148; 1 A. L. R. 622.

§ 1977. Judgment of Discharge.

If on the trial of the issue joined, the finding or verdict shall be that the child is not the child of the accused, then the judgment of the court shall be that he be discharged: Provided, however, that no court costs shall be required of the complainant for the proceeding before such justice or the superior court. [L. '19, p. 711, § 8.]

§ 1978. Judgment Ordering Support of Child—Bond.

In the event the issue be found against the accused, or whenever he shall, in open court, have confessed the truth of the accusation against him, he shall be charged by the order and judgment of the court to pay a sum to be therein specified, during each year of the life of such child, until such child shall have reached the age of sixteen years, for the care, education and support of such child, and shall also be charged thereby to pay the expenses of the mother incurred during her sickness and confinement, together with all costs of the suit, for which costs execution shall issue as in other cases. And the accused shall be required by said court to give bond, with sufficient surety, to be approved by the judge of said court, for the payment of such sums of money as shall be so ordered by said court. Said bond shall be made payable to the people of the state of Washington, and conditioned for the true and faithful payment of such yearly sums, in equal quarterly installments, to the clerk of said court, which said bond shall be filed and preserved by the clerk of said court. [L. '19, p. 712, § 9.]

§ 1979. Act Cumulative with Criminal Proceedings.

In addition to the proceedings for enforcing the support of the child heretofore provided for, the accused may be prosecuted in any criminal proceeding now or hereafter to be provided for by the laws of the state of Washington, relating to the support of minor children by parents or other persons upon whom such children may be dependent for care, education or support. [L. '19, p. 712, § 10.]

§ 1979-1. Execution in Absence of Security Bond.

If the accused shall fail or refuse to give such a bond as may be required by such superior court by virtue of the provisions of section 1978, such court shall at any time thereafter, upon application of the mother or guardian, render judgment against the accused for any sum or sums then due and unpaid under the terms of such order and judgment, and execution thereon shall issue from said court; Provided, that the rendition and collection of judgment as aforesaid shall not be construed to bar or hinder the taking of similar proceedings for the collection of judgment for the nonpayment of any sum or sums becoming due and unpaid thereafter. [L. '19, p. 712, § 11.]

§ 1979-2. Commitment for Contempt—Hearing.

If the accused shall refuse and neglect to give such security as may be ordered by the court, under the provisions of section 1978, he shall be committed to the county jail for contempt of court, there to remain until he shall comply with such order, or until otherwise discharged by due course of law. Any person so committed may at any time petition the court for a hearing as to his inability to comply with the order of the court and the court shall thereupon fix a time for the hearing of such petition which hearing shall be not less than ten days after the date of service of said petition on the prosecuting attorney. The prosecuting attorney may however waive the said ten-day period in whole or in part. At the hearing the defendant shall be examined on oath in reference to the facts set forth in such petition and his ability to comply with such judgment and order, and any other legal evidence in reference to such matters may be produced by any of the parties interested. If it appears that the defendant is unable to comply with such judgment and order, the court may direct his discharge from custody, upon his making affidavit that he has not in his own name any property, real or personal, and has no such property conveyed or concealed, or in any manner disposed of with design to secure the same to his use or to avoid in any manner compliance with such judgment and order. If upon such hearing it appears that the defendant has property, but not sufficient to comply with such judgment and order, the court may make such order concerning the same, in connection with such discharge, as justice may require. [L. '19, p. 713, § 12.]

§ 1979-3. Disposition of Judgment Money.

The judgment money, when received by said clerk either by payment by the accused or by execution against the accused or against the sureties, shall be paid to the mother or guardian of such child, if a guardian therefor be appointed, and shall be laid out for the support, care and education of such child in such manner as shall be directed by the court. [L. '19, p. 714, § 13.]

§ 1979-4. Default in Paying Installments—Judgment for.

Whenever default shall be made in the payment of the quarterly installments, or any part thereof, specified in the bond provided for in section 1978, the superior court of the county wherein such bond is filed shall, at the request of the mother, guardian, or any person interested in the support of such child, issue a citation to the principal or sureties in such bond requiring them to appear on some day in said citation mentioned and show cause, if any there be, why execution should not issue against them for the amount of the installment or installments due and unpaid on said bond. And if the amount due on such installment or installments shall not be paid at or before the time mentioned for showing cause, as aforesaid, such court shall render judgment in favor of the people of the state of Washington, and the complainant or guardian, against the principal and sureties who have been served with such citation for the amount unpaid of the installment or installments on the bond, and the cost of such proceeding, and execution shall issue in due form from said court upon said judgment. [L. '19, p. 714, § 14.]

§ 1979-5. Commitment for Contempt—Modification of Judgment.

Such court shall also have the power, in case the accused does not obey the order thereof, and in case of default in the payment when due, of any installment or installments, or any part thereof, in the conditions of the said bond mentioned, to adjudge the accused guilty of contempt of court by reason of the nonpayment as aforesaid, and order him to be committed to the county jail in such county until the amount of said installment or installments so due shall be fully paid, together with all the costs of such commitment, but the commitment of the accused shall not operate to stay or defeat the obtaining of judgment and collection thereof by execution: Provided, that the rendition and collection of judgment, as aforesaid, shall not be construed to bar or hinder the taking of similar proceedings for the collection of subsequent installments on said bond as they shall become due or remain unpaid. Provided further, that any judgment entered herein may be modified at any time upon proper showing to the court. [L. '19, p. 714, § 15.]

§ 1979-6. Limitation on Prosecution.

No prosecution under this act shall be brought after two years from the birth of the child: Provided, the time during which any person accused shall be absent from the state shall not be computed. [L. '19, p. 715, § 16.]

§ 1979-7. Mother's Death not to Abate Action.

The death of the mother shall not abate the proceeding, if the child be living; but a suggestion of record of the fact shall be made, and the testimony of the mother taken in writing before aforesaid justice may be read in evidence by either party, and shall have the same force as though she were living and had testified to the same in court. [L. '19, p. 715, § 17.]

§ 1979-8. Judgment in Case of Child's Death.

The death of such child shall not cause the abatement or bar to any prosecution hereunder; but the court trying the same, on conviction, shall give judgment for such sum as shall be deemed just. [L. '19, p. 715, § 18.]

§ 1979-9. Custody of Child.

If the mother be a suitable person she shall be awarded the custody and control of said child; if she be not a suitable person, the court may deliver the care and custody of said child to any reputable person, including the accused, charitable or state institution. Such order and judgment may further provide, in the discretion of the court, that the surname of the accused shall henceforth be the lawful surname of such child. [L. '19, p. 715, § 19.]

CHAPTER VI.

JUVENILE OFFENDERS—COMMITMENT TO STATE TRAINING SCHOOL.

§ 1980. Juvenile Offender Committed, When.

When a boy of sane mind between the ages of eight and sixteen years, or a girl of sane mind between the ages of eight and eighteen (18) years shall, in any court of record in this state, be found guilty of any crime except murder or manslaughter, or who for want of proper paternal care is growing up in mendicancy or vagrancy, or is incorrigible, and complaint thereof is made and properly sustained, the court may if in its opinion the accused is a proper subject therefor, instead of entering judgment cause an order to be entered that said boy or girl be sent to the state training school, in pursuance of the provisions of this act, and a copy of said order under the seal of said court shall be sufficient warrant for carrying said boy or girl to the said school and for his or her commitment to the custody of the superintendent thereof. [L. '05, p. 39, § 1. Cf. L. '91, p. 195, § 1; 1 H. C., § 1227.]

Under section 10305, infra, and this section a child sixteen years of age who, upon conviction of robbery, has been committed to the state training school, and has been found incorrigible and returned to the court which committed him, but sent back by the court to the school whence he was taken and confined in the jail of the county where the school is located, is entitled to be discharged therefrom on habeas corpus, but he should be redelivered to the trustees of the school; and semble, that the trustees should return him to the court for sentence under the judgment of conviction for robbery: Mason, In re, 3 Wash. 609, 28 Pac. 1025.

Commitment to Reformatory: See Remington's Digest, Reformatories, § 2; Barbee, In re, 19 Wash. 306, 53 Pac. 155; State v. Rasch, 24 Wash. 332, 64 Pac. 531; State v. Packenham, 40 Wash. 403, 82 Pac. 597.

§ 1981. Proceedings in Case of Conviction Before Justice—Order to Show Cause.

When a boy of sane mind between the ages of eight and sixteen years or a girl of sane mind between the ages of eight and eighteen years, shall be convicted before a justice of the peace or other inferior court of any crime, mendicancy, vagrancy or incorrigibility, it shall be the duty of said magistrate before whom he or she may be convicted to forthwith send such boy or girl, together with all the papers filed in his office upon the subject, under the control of some officer, to a judge of a court of record. He shall then issue an order to the parent or guardian of said boy or girl, or such person as may have him or her in charge, or with whom she or he has last resided, or any known to be near related to him or her, or if she or he be alone or friendless then to such person as said judge may appoint to act as guardian for the purposes of the case[s], requiring him or her to appear at the time and place stated in said order to show cause why said boy or girl should not be committed to the said state training school for training and reformation. CHAPTER VII.DELINQUENT CHILDREN AND JUVENILE COURTS.*§ 1987-1. Scope of Act—"Dependent Child"—"Delinquent Child."

This act shall be known as the "Juvenile Court Law" and shall apply to all minor children under the age of eighteen years who are delinquent or dependent; and to any person or persons who are responsible for or contribute to, the delinquency or dependency of such children.

For the purpose of this act the words "dependent child" shall mean any child under the age of eighteen years:

(1) Who is found begging, receiving or gathering alms, whether actually begging or under the pretext of selling, or offering anything for sale; or

(2) Who is found in any street, road or public place for the purpose of so begging, gathering or receiving alms; or

(3) Who is a vagrant; or

(4) Who is found wandering and not having any home or any settled place of abode, or any proper guardianship, or any visible means of subsistence; or

(5) Who has no parent or guardian; or who has no parent or guardian willing to exercise, or capable of exercising, proper parental control; or

(6) Who is destitute; or

(7) Whose home by reason of neglect, cruelty or depravity of its parents or either of them, or on the part of its guardian, or on the part of the person in whose custody or care it may be, or for any other reason, is an unfit place for such child; or

(8) Who frequents the company of reputed criminals, vagrants or prostitutes; or

(9) Who is found living or being in any house of prostitution or assignation; or

(10) Who habitually visits any billiard-room or pool-room; or any saloon, or place where spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors are sold, bartered, or given away; or

(11) Who persistently refuses to obey the reasonable and proper orders or directions of its parents or guardian; or

(12) Who is incorrigible; that is, who is beyond the control and power of its parents, guardian, or custodian by reason of the vicious conduct or nature of said child; or

(13) Whose father, mother, guardian or custodian is an habitual drunkard; or do not properly provide for such child, and it appears that such child is destitute of a suitable home or of adequate means of obtaining an honest living, or who is in danger of being brought up to lead an idle, dissolute or immoral life; or where such child is without proper means of support; or

(14) Who is an habitual truant, as defined in the school laws of the state of Washington; or

(15) Who uses intoxicating liquor as a beverage, or who uses tobacco in any form, or who uses opium, cocaine, morphine, or other similar drug, without the direction of a competent physician; or

(16) Who from any cause is in danger of growing up to lead an idle, dissolute or immoral life; or

(17) Who wanders about in the night-time without being on any lawful business or occupation; or

(18) Any child under the age of twelve years found peddling or selling any article, or singing or playing on any musical instrument for gain upon the public street, or giving any public entertainment, or who accompanies, or is used in aid of, any person so doing: Provided, that this act shall not prohibit the giving of entertainments by regularly organized schools or societies where twelve or more musical instruments are used.

The words "delinquent child" shall include any child under the age of eighteen years who violates any law of this state, or any ordinance of any town, city, county or city and county of this state defining crime; or who habitually uses vile, obscene, vulgar, profane or indecent language, or is guilty of immoral conduct; or who is found in or about railroad yards or tracks; or who jumps on or off trains or cars; or who enters a car or engine, without lawful authority.

For the purpose of this act only, all delinquent and dependent children within the state shall be considered wards of this state and their persons shall be subject to the custody, care, guardianship and control of the court as hereinafter provided. This section makes the age, not minority, the controlling element, and applies to a girl under eighteen years of age married to a man of full age, notwithstanding section 10549, infra, declaring "all females married to a person of full age shall be deemed and taken to be of full age": Lundy, In re, 82 Wash. 148, 143 Pac. 885, Ann. This act is not punitive in its nature or purpose, but protective, and while strictly construed as to restraint of liberty without due process, is, in other respects, to be liberally construed to effectuate its beneficent purpose: Lundy, In re, 82 Wash. 148, 143 Pac. 885, Ann. Cas. 1916E, 1007.

This section applies to restaurants where such liquors are sold, and it is immaterial that the delinquent child under the age of eighteen habitually visited such restaurant as a singer for hire; as singing by juveniles in such places is no necessary part of the business and is without any exemplary element: Lundy, In re, 82 Wash. 148, 143 Pac. 885, Ann. § 1987-2. Juvenile Courts—Jurisdiction—Jury Trials—Special Sessions—Court Commissioners.

The superior courts in the several counties of this state shall have original jurisdiction in all cases coming within the terms of this act. In all trials under this act, any person interested therein may demand a jury trial, or the judge of his own motion may order a jury to try the case. In counties containing thirty thousand or more inhabitants, the judges of the superior court shall, at such times as they may determine, designate one or more of their number whose duty it shall be to hear all cases arising under this act. A special session to be designated as the "juvenile court session" shall be provided for the hearing of such cases and the findings of the court shall be entered in a book or books kept for the purpose, and known as the "juvenile record," and the court may, for convenience, be called the "juvenile court." In counties in which there is no resident judge of the superior court the court commissioner shall have the power, authority and jurisdiction, concurrent with the superior court and the judge thereof, to hear all matters relating to dependent and delinquent children arising under the juvenile court law, and if he shall find that the best interests of any such dependent or delinquent child will be subserved by committing him to the care of some reputable citizen of good moral character until such time as the judge may attend and hold court in the county he shall be authorized and empowered so to do; but if he shall find that the best interests of said child require that he be committed to a suitable institution or to some training school or industrial school as provided by law, or to the care of some association willing to receive him, embracing in its objects the purpose of caring for or obtaining homes for dependent, neglected or delinquent children, he shall refer the case to the judge of the superior court for hearing as soon as the same can be conveniently heard. [L. '21, p. 491, § 1. Cf. L. '13, p. 522, § 2.]

The jury is waived if no demand is made, where the child is represented at the hearing: State ex rel. Raddue v. Superior Court, 106 Wash. 619, 180 Pac. 875.

§ 1987-3. Probation Officers.

The court or judge designated as provided in section 1987-2, shall appoint or designate one or more discreet persons of good character to serve as probation officers during the pleasure of the court, said probation officers to receive no compensation from the public treasury. In case a probation officer shall be appointed by any court, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the court, if practicable, to notify the said probation officer in advance when the child is to be brought before said court; it shall be the duty of said probation officers to make such investigations as may be required by the court. The probation officer or officers shall inquire into the antecedents, character, family history, environments and cause of dependency or delinquency of every alleged dependent or delinquent child brought before the juvenile court and shall make his report in writing to the judge thereof, shall be present in order to represent the interests of the child when the case is heard, shall furnish the court such information and assistance as the judge may require, and shall take such charge of the child before and after the trial as may be directed by the court. In counties containing twenty thousand or more inhabitants when it shall appear that there is a necessity for such county officer, the court may appoint one or more persons to act as probation officers, and one or more persons who shall have charge of detention rooms or house of detention, all of whom shall be paid as compensation for their services, such sums as may be fixed by the board of county commissioners, and who shall be paid as other county officers are paid; all probation officers shall possess all the powers conferred upon sheriffs and police officers to serve process and make arrests for the violation of any state law or city ordinance, relative to the care, custody, and control of delinquent and dependent children. [L. '21, p. 148, § 1. Cf. L. '13, p. 522, § 3.]

Cited in 106 Wash. 623.

§ 1987-4. Expenses of Probation Officers.

The probation officers, and assistant probation officers, and deputy probation officers in all counties of the state shall be allowed such necessary incidental expenses as may be authorized by the judge of the juvenile court, and the same shall be a charge upon the county in which the court appointing them has jurisdiction, and the expenses shall be paid out of the county treasury upon a written order of the judge of the juvenile court of said county directing the county auditor to draw his warrant upon the county treasurer for the specified amount of such expenses. [L. '13, p. 523, § 4.]

§ 1987-5. Petition to Take Charge of Child.

Any person may file with the clerk of the superior court a petition showing that there is within the county, or residing within the county, a dependent or delinquent child and praying that the superior court deal with such child as provided in this act: Provided, that in counties having paid probation officers, such officers shall, as far as possible, first determine if such petition is reasonably justifiable. Such petition shall be verified and shall contain a statement of facts constituting such dependency or delinquency, as defined in section 1987-1, and the names and residence, if known to the petitioner, of the parents, guardian, or custodian of such dependent or delinquent child. There shall be no fee for filing such petitions. [L. '13, p. 524, § 5.]

Cited in 106 Wash. 620.

§ 1987-6. Summons—Hearing.

Upon the filing of an information, or the petition, the clerk of the court shall issue a summons requiring the person having custody or control of the child, or with whom the child may be, to appear with the child at a place and time stated in the summons, which time shall not be less than twenty-four hours after service. The parents of the child, if living, and their residence is known, or its legal guardian, if there be one or if there is neither parent nor guardian, or if his or her residence is not known, then some relative, if there be one, and his residence is known, shall be notified of the proceedings; and in any case the judge shall appoint some suitable person or association to act in behalf of the child. If the person summoned as herein provided, shall fail without reasonable cause to appear and abide the order of the court, or bring the child, he shall be proceeded against as for contempt of court. In case the summons cannot be served or the parties served fail to obey same, and in any case when it shall be made to appear to the court that said summons will be ineffectual, a warrant may issue on the order of the court, either against the parent or guardian or the person having custody of the child, or with whom the child may be, or against the child itself. On return of the summons or other process, or as soon thereafter as may be, the court shall proceed to hear and dispose of the case in a summary manner. Pending the final disposition of the case, the child may be retained in the possession of the person having charge of same, or may be kept in some suitable place provided by the city or county authorities, or by any association having for one of its objects the care of delinquent and dependent children. [L. '13, p. 524, § 6.]

Cited in 106 Wash. 622.

A judgment finding the dependency of a child cannot be attacked on the mere conclusion that the child was not represented at the hearing, as required by this section, where it appears that his mother was given due notice and brought the child to court for the purpose, there being nothing to show she was not competent to represent him or that the probation officer was not present as required by law: State ex rel. Raddue v. Superior Court, 106 Wash. 619, 180 Pac. 875.

§ 1987-7. Publication of Summons.

In any case where it shall appear by the petition or verified statement, that the person standing in the position of natural or legal guardian of the person of any child, is a nonresident of this state, or that the name or place of residence or whereabouts of such person is unknown, as well as in all cases where, after due diligence, the officer has been unable to make service of the summons or notice provided for in section 1987-6, the court may, by order, direct the clerk of the court to publish a notice four consecutive weeks in some newspaper printed in the county and having a general circulation therein. Such notice shall be directed to the parent, parents, or other person claiming the right to the custody of the child, if their names are known, and if unknown, the phrase "To Whom It May Concern" shall be used and apply to, and be binding upon, any such persons whose names are unknown. The name of the court, the name of the child (or children if of one family), the date of the filing of the petition and the date of hearing, which shall not be less than twenty days from the date of the last publication, and the object of the proceeding in general terms, shall be set forth and the whole shall be subscribed by the clerk. There shall be filed with the clerk an affidavit showing due publication of the notice and the cost of publication shall be paid by the county at not to exceed the rate paid by the county for other legal notices. The publication of notice shall be deemed equivalent to personal service upon all persons, known or unknown, who have been designated as provided in this section. [L. '13, p. 525, § 7.]

§ 1987-8. Commitment of Child—Support by Parent.

When any child under the age of eighteen years shall be found to be delinquent or dependent, within the meaning of this act, the court may, at any time, make an order committing the child to some suitable institution, or to the care of some reputable citizen of good moral character, or to the care of some training school or industrial school as provided by law, or to the care of some association willing to receive it, embracing in its objects the purpose of caring for or obtaining homes for dependent, neglected, or delinquent children: Provided, such order may be temporary or permanent in the discretion of the court and may be revoked or modified as the circumstances of the case may thereafter require. In any case in which the court shall find the child dependent or delinquent, it may in the same or subsequent proceeding upon the parent or parents, guardian, or other person having custody of said child, being duly summoned or voluntarily appearing, proceed to inquire into the ability of such persons or person to support the child or contribute to its support, and if the court shall find such person or persons able to support the child or contribute thereto, the court may enter such order or decree as shall be according to equity in the premises, and may enforce the same by execution, or in any way in which a court of equity may enforce its decrees. If it be found, however, that the parent or parents or guardian of a dependent or delinquent child is unable to pay the whole expense of maintaining such child, and in cases where the child is committed to one of the institutions or associations above mentioned, the court may, in the order providing for the custody of such child, direct such additional amount as may be necessary to support such child to be paid from the county treasury of the county for the support of such person. The amount so ordered to be paid from the treasury of said county shall not exceed in the case of any one person, the sum of twelve dollars per month; Provided, further, that no order for the payment of all or part of the expense of support and maintenance of a dependent or delinquent child from the county treasury shall be effective for more than six months, unless a new order is secured at the expiration of that period. [L. '13, p. 525, § 8.]

§ 1987-9. Award and Adoption of Child.

In any case where the court shall award a child to the care of any association or individual, the child shall, unless otherwise ordered, become a ward and be subject to the guardianship of the association or individual to whose care it is committed; such association shall have authority, with the assent of the court, to place such child in a family home, either temporarily or for adoption. With the written consent of the parents, or other person having the right, under the laws of this state, to dispose of a dependent or delinquent child, the court may make an order or decree of adoption transferring to any suitable person or persons, willing to receive such child, all the rights of the parent or other guardian. The order of the court made upon such consent will be binding upon the child and its parents or guardian, or other person, the same as if such person were in court and consented thereto, whether made a party to the proceedings or not. The estate or property rights of any child shall not be affected nor subject to guardianship by the provisions of this act. The jurisdiction of the court shall continue over every child brought before the court, or committed pursuant to this act, and the court shall have power to order a change in the care or custody of such child, if at any time it is made to appear to the court that it would be for the best interests of the child to make such change. [L. '13, p. 527, § 9.]

The superior court has jurisdiction of proceedings to adopt a child after its permanent custody has been awarded to an association, under this section: McClain v. Superior Court, 112 Wash. 260, 191 Pac. 852.

§ 1987-10. Private Hearings—Judgment of Conviction.

The hearings may be conducted in any room provided for the purpose in the courthouse, or building where sessions of the court are held and, as far as practicable, such cases shall not be heard in conjunction with other business of the court. At the hearing of any case involving a child, the court shall have power to exclude the general public from the room where the hearing is had, admitting thereto only such persons as may have a direct interest in the case. Any child may have a private hearing upon the question of its dependency or delinquency, and upon the request of said child, or either of its parents, or guardian, or custodian, such hearing may be had privately. An order of court adjudging a child dependent or delinquent under the provisions of this act shall in no case be deemed a conviction of crime. The probation officer's investigation record and report in each case, shall be withheld from public inspection, but such records shall be kept open to the inspection of such child, its parents, or guardian, or its attorney, and to such other persons as may secure a special order of the court therefor. Such records shall be kept as unofficial records of the court and shall be destroyed at any time in the discretion of any judge presiding in said court on or before the child shall arrive at the age of twenty-one years. After acquiring jurisdiction over any child, the court shall have power to make an order with respect to the custody, care or control of such child, or any order, which in the judgment of the court, would promote the child's health and welfare. In any case of a delinquent or dependent child, the court may continue the hearing from time to time, and may commit the child to the care or guardianship of a probation officer, duly appointed by the court, and may allow such child to remain at its own home subject to the visitation of the probation officer, such child to report to the probation officer as often as may be required and subject to being returned to the court for further proceedings whenever such action may appear to be necessary, or the court may commit the child to the care and guardianship of the probation officer, to be placed in a suitable family home, in case provision is made by voluntary contribution or otherwise for the payment of the board of the child until a suitable provision may be made for the child in a home without such payment, or the court may commit the child to a suitable institution for the care of delinquent or dependent children. In no case shall a child be committed beyond the age of twenty-one years. A child committed to such institution shall be subject to the control thereof and the said institution shall have the power to parole such child, on such conditions as may be prescribed, and the court shall have power to discharge such child from custody, whenever, in the judgment of the court, his or her reformation shall be complete; or the court may commit the child to the care and custody of some association that will receive such child, embracing in its objects the care of neglected, delinquent, and dependent children. [L. '13, p. 527, § 10.]

§ 1987-11. Child not to be Detained in Jail.

No court or magistrate shall commit a child under sixteen years of age to a jail, common lock-up, or police station; but if such child is unable to give bail, it may be committed to the care of the sheriff, police officer, or probation officer, who shall keep such child in some suitable place or house or school of detention provided by the city or county, outside the inclosure of any jail or police station, or in the care of any association willing to receive it and having as one of its objects the care of delinquent, dependent or neglected children. When any child shall be sentenced to confinement in any institution to which adult convicts are sentenced, it shall be unlawful to confine such child in the same building with such adult convicts, or to bring such child into any yard or building in which such adult convicts may be present. [L. '13, p. 529, § 11.]

Cited in 105 Wash. 685—687.

The word "commit" in this section refers only to detentions pending hearing, and a child may be prosecuted for crime and sentenced to the penitentiary, although not confined in a building with adult convicts; and the fact that the state has not made proper provisions, does not prevent such sentence: State ex rel. Sowders v. Superior Court, 105 Wash. 684, 179 Pac. 79.

A boy under sixteen years of age may be committed to the state penitentiary, notwithstanding this section, providing that such a child shall not be confined in any building with adult convicts: State v. Sowders, 109 Wash. 10, 186 Pac. 260.

Under Rem. & Bal. Code, § 1998, superseded by this section, a minor husband convicted of nonsupport should be confined apart from adult convicts: State v. McPherson, 72 Wash. 371, 130 Pac. 481, Ann. Cas. 1914D, 587.

§ 1987-12. Justice Court Cases Transferred to Juvenile Court.

When, in any county where a court is held as provided in section 1987-2, a child under the age of eighteen years is arrested with or without warrant, such child may, instead of being taken before a justice of the peace or police magistrate, be taken directly before such court; or if the child is taken before a justice of the peace or police magistrate, it shall be the duty of such justice of the peace or police magistrate to transfer the case to such court, and the officer having the child in charge shall take the child before that court, and in any such case, the court may proceed to hear and dispose of the case in the same manner as if the child had been brought before the court upon petition as here-inbefore provided. In any such case, the court shall require notice to be given and investigation to be made as in other cases under this act, and may adjourn the hearing from time to time for such purpose. If, upon investigation, it shall appear that a child has been arrested upon the charge of having committed a crime, the court, in its discretion, may order such child to be turned over to the proper officers for trial under the provisions of the criminal code. § 1987-13. Detention Rooms.

Counties containing more than fifty thousand inhabitants shall, and counties containing a lesser number of inhabitants may, provide and maintain at public expense, a detention room or house of detention, separated or removed from any jail, or police station, to be in charge of a matron, or other person of good character, wherein all children within the provisions of this act shall, when necessary, be sheltered. a detention house under this section: Hughes v. McVay, 113 Wash. 333, 191 Pac. 565.

§ 1987-14. Construction of Act.

This act shall be liberally construed to the end that its purpose may be carried out, to wit: that the care, custody and discipline of a dependent or delinquent child as defined in this act shall approximate as nearly as may be that which should be given by its parents, and in all cases where it can be properly done, the dependent or delinquent child as defined in this act shall be placed in an approved family and may become a member of the family, by adoption or otherwise. No dependent or delinquent child as defined in this act shall be taken from the custody of its parent, parents or legal guardian, without the consent of such parent, parents or guardian, unless the court shall find such parent, parents or guardian is incapable or has failed or neglected to provide proper maintenance, training and education for said child; or unless said child has been tried on probation in said custody, and has failed to reform, or unless the court shall find that the welfare of said child requires that his custody shall be taken from said parent or guardian. In this act, the words used in any gender shall include all other genders, and the word "county" shall include "city and county," the plural shall include the singular and singular shall include the plural. § 1987-15. Court may Change Order.

§ 1987-16. Fees not Allowable.

No fees shall be charged or collected by any officer or other person for filing petition, serving summons, or other process under this act. [L. '13, p. 531, § 16.]

§ 1987-17. Penalty for Delinquency of Child—Bond.

In all cases where any child shall be dependent or delinquent under the terms of this act, the parent or parents, legal guardian or person having custody of such child, or any other person who shall by any act or omission, encourage, cause or contribute to the dependency or delinquency of such child shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and the juvenile court shall have jurisdiction of all such misdemeanors: Provided, however, that the court may suspend sentence for a violation of the provisions of this section and impose conditions as to conduct in the premises of any person so convicted, and make such suspension to depend upon the fulfillment by such person of such conditions, and, in case of the breach of such conditions, or any thereof, the court may impose sentence as though there had been no such suspension. The court may also, as a condition of such suspension, require a bond in such sum as the court may designate, to be approved by the judge requiring same, to secure the performance by such persons on the conditions imposed by the court on such suspension. Such bond shall, by its terms, be made payable to the state of Washington, and any moneys received for a breach thereof shall be paid into the county treasury. [L. '13, p. 531, § 17. Cf. L. '09, p. 595, § 1; L. '07, p. 16, § 1.]

Under this section it is not necessary to allege that the child was dependent or delinquent prior to the commission of defendant's acts "causing" delinquency, or that the acts charged contributed to a pre-existing state or condition of delinquency; especially in view of section 1987-1, supra, defining a dependent child as one who from any cause is in danger of growing up to lead an idle or immoral life: State v. Adams, 95 Wash. 189, 163 Pac. 403.

Sufficiency of Evidence: See, State v. Adams, 95 Wash. 189, 163 Pac. 403.

A prosecution for contributing to the delinquency of a child, under Rem. & Bal. Code, § 2004, superseded by this section, is properly tried in the criminal and not the juvenile department of the superior court, where there is nothing to indicate that the accused was a juvenile: State v. Williams, 73 Wash. 678, 132 Pac. 415.

This section, in providing punishment for the parents or persons having custody of a delinquent child "or any other person responsible for, or by any act" causing or contributing to the delinquency of such child, is not subject to the rule of ejusdem generis, in view of the evident intent of the legislature to make the same apply to others than those in loco parentis, and also in view of the rule that where particular words exhaust a class, following general words must refer to some larger class: State v. Plastino, 67 Wash. 374, 121 Pac. 851.

§ 1987-18. Board of Visitation.

In each county, the judge presiding over the juvenile court sessions, as defined in this act, may appoint a board of four reputable citizens, who shall serve without compensation, to constitute a board of visitation, whose duty it shall be to visit as often as twice a year all institutions, societies and associations within the county receiving children under this act, as well as all homes for children or other places where individuals are holding themselves out as caretakers of children, also to visit other institutions, societies and associations within the state receiving and caring for children, whenever requested to do so by the judge of the juvenile court: Provided, the actual expenses of such board may be paid by the county commissioners when members thereof are requested to visit institutions outside of the county seat, and no member of the board shall be required to visit any institutions outside the county unless his actual traveling expenses shall be paid as aforesaid. Such visits shall be made by not less than two members of the board, who shall go together or make a joint report. The board of visitors shall report to the court from time to time the condition of children received by or in charge of such institutions, societies, associations, or individuals. It shall be the duty of every institution, society, or association, or individual receiving and caring for children to permit any member or members of the board of visitation to visit and inspect such institution, society, association or home where such child is kept, in all its departments, so that a full report may be made to the court. CHAPTER VII-A.

CUSTODY AND TREATMENT OF DELINQUENT AND DISEASED WOMEN.

§ 1988. Women's Industrial Home and Clinic.

There is hereby established a public institution of the state to be known as the "Women's Industrial Home and Clinic," for the purpose of receiving, taking into custody, detaining, confining, caring for, training, reforming, treating and curing such delinquent or diseased women as may be committed to it as provided by law. Said institution shall consist of such lands and buildings as may be authorized by law, and shall be located, constructed, equipped, maintained and managed by a board of five directors, two of whom shall at all times be women, appointed by the governor. [L. '19, p. 570, § 1.]

§ 1989. Board of Directors—Appointment and Compensation.

Within sixty days after the taking effect of this act the governor shall appoint five directors, three of whom shall at all times be members of the state board of control, and two of whom shall be women. The women members shall be appointed for terms ending, one on May 31, 1922, and one on May 31, 1924, and upon the expiration of their respective terms the governor shall appoint a successor for a term of five years. The governor shall also fill by appointment any vacancies that shall occur for any unexpired term or terms. All such appointments shall be for fitness and of a nonpartisan character. The governor shall have the power to remove any of said directors for cause. Such directors shall receive no compensation for their services, but shall be paid their actual and necessary traveling expenses incurred while engaged in the performance of their official duties. Three members of the board of directors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. [L. '19, p. 570, § 2.]

§ 1990. Site for Institution—Acquisition.

The board of directors are hereby authorized, and it shall be their duty to acquire by purchase, gift, or appropriation in the name of the state, a suitable site for said institution of not less than two hundred acres of arable land, to the end that, so far as practicable, the food of the inmates of the institution may be produced thereon, which land shall have an ample supply of water and shall be conveniently accessible to transportation facilities: Provided, the board may, if practicable, take over and use for such institution any site now owned by the state, and the board may, pending the selection of a permanent site and the construction of the necessary buildings, purchase, lease or otherwise acquire and use temporarily any site and buildings that may be suitable for the purposes of this act. [L. '19, p. 571, § 3.]

§ 1991. Building Plans—Bids for Contracts.

The directors shall cause to be prepared plans and specifications for remodeling or erecting on such site necessary buildings for a suitable plant for the institution, which plans shall provide for cottages to be arranged for the proper classification of inmates as to the character and needs of such inmates, including proper hospital and clinic facilities, and the directors shall furnish and equip the same ready for use.

Contracts shall be made by the directors, and those involving an expenditure of over five hundred dollars ($500) shall be duly advertised and competitive bids received thereon, no member of the board of directors to have financial interest therein. In connection with the remodeling or erecting of the various cottages and buildings comprising the plant of the institution no building permit shall be required from the municipal corporation in which such institution may be located.

When such buildings have been prepared and equipped and the necessary staff of officers organized, the directors shall so certify to the governor, who shall thereupon issue a public proclamation that the institution is ready for the reception of inmates, and shall cause a copy of such proclamation to be sent to each judge of the superior court and to each justice of the peace in the state. [L. '19, p. 571, § 4.]

§ 1992. Transfers of Inmates of State School for Girls.

The superintendent of the State School for Girls may transfer to the Women's Industrial Home and Clinic such female persons over sixteen years of age as may in the judgment of such superintendent and the board of directors of said Women's Industrial Home and Clinic be better cared for at said institution. [L. '19, p. 572, § 5.]

§ 1993. Management of Institution—Salaries—Annual Reports.

The directors shall have control of said institution, determine the policy of the same, and make necessary rules and regulations for the care, support, discipline, detention, training, education and labor of the inmates, including a system of general and vocational instruction, domestic science and employment in useful trades: Provided, that no system of contract labor shall be established.

Said board of directors shall provide proper recreational facilities, form a board of parole and discharge, cause to be kept proper records, including those of inmates, establish a credit system which shall provide that not less than twenty-five per cent of the sum accredited to any inmate shall be paid to her at the time of her absolute release from said institution.

Said board shall fix the salaries of the officers of said institution; appoint from their own number a president and secretary who shall hold office for such length of time as the board may determine: hold meetings at least quarterly at said institution, and audit the accounts of the superintendent quarterly.

The directors shall report annually to the governor the general and financial condition of said institution, with such recommendations as they may desire to make, a copy of which report shall be sent to the secretary of state. [L. '19, p. 572, § 6.]

§ 1994. Superintendent—Bond and Compensation.

The directors shall appoint and remove at discretion a superintendent of said institution who shall be a woman, not of their number, and who before entering upon the duties of her office shall give a bond to the state with sufficient surety in the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000), and shall be sworn to faithful performance of her duties. The superintendent shall receive such compensation as shall be fixed by the directors and shall reside at the institution. [L. '19, p. 573, § 7.]

§ 1995. Duties of Superintendent—Employees.

The superintendent shall manage said institution and shall have control over the inmates thereof, working for the speedy return of the offender to community life as a healthy, law-abiding, self-respecting and self-supporting member thereof. She shall make rules and regulations for the administration of said institution, subject to the approval of the board of directors. The superintendent shall also, subject to the board of directors, determine the number and character, select, appoint and assign the duties, of all subordinate officers of the institution, who shall be women as far as practicable, and shall be sworn to a faithful performance of their duties.

There shall be a deputy superintendent, a resident physician and clerk. The clerk of the institution shall give a bond to the state with sufficient surety in the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000). The resident physician shall be legally qualified to practice medicine and surgery in the state of Washington, and shall have power to call consulting physicians when necessary. [L. '19, p. 573, § 8.]

§ 1996. Commitment of Female Offenders—Delinquent or Dependent Minors.

From and after the proclamation of the governor, provided for in section 1991, all women over sixteen years of age belonging to any of the following classes sentenced to imprisonment by any court of criminal jurisdiction may be committed to and confined in, and all women over eighteen years of age belonging to any of the following classes sentenced to imprisonment by any court of criminal jurisdiction must be committed to and confined in said institution:

First: Women convicted of or who plead guilty to the commission of felonies, except murder in the first and second degree, arson in the first degree, and robbery, who have not been twice before convicted in this state or elsewhere of crimes which under the laws of this state would amount to felonies.

Second: Women convicted of or who plead guilty to the commission of gross misdemeanors or misdemeanors as defined by law.

The court imposing sentence on offenders of either of the above classes shall not fix the time of such commitment. Commitment to such institution shall be executed, within one week after sentence is imposed, by a woman guard appointed by the court for that purpose or sent from said institution on notice of the issuance of the commitment. The expenses of such commitment shall be paid in the same way as commitment to other penal institutions of the state. The trial court shall cause a record of the case to be sent with commitment papers on blanks furnished by the institution.

Any girl between the ages of sixteen and eighteen years who shall be found to be delinquent or dependent under the provisions of chapter VII of this Title, may be committed to said institution, and if committed, the commitment shall be executed by a juvenile officer, or a woman guard from said institution.

The duration of such commitment for Class 1, including the time spent on parole, shall not exceed the maximum term specified by law for the crime for which the offender was sentenced, and in such cases it shall be the duty of the trial court to specify the maximum term for which the offender may be held under commitment.

The duration of such commitment for all other classes shall not exceed three years unless, in the opinion of a board of experts composed of one jurist and two physicians one of whom shall be a recognized neurologist, a longer detention shall be recommended.

If, through oversight or otherwise, any person be sentenced to confinement in said institution for a definite period of time, such sentence shall not for that reason be void but the person so sentenced shall be entitled to the benefits and subject to the liabilities of this act in the same manner and to the same extent as if sentence had been given in the terms required by this section; and in such cases said board of directors shall deliver to such offender a copy of this act and written information of her relation to said board.

Immediately upon the arrival of any person committed to said institution a careful physical and mental examination of such person shall be made by a competent physician. [L. '19, p. 574, § 9.]

§ 1997. Parole and Discharge of Inmates.

Said board of directors shall constitute a board of parole and discharge. Any inmate of the institution who has been in confinement within said institution may upon recommendation of the superintendent be allowed to go on parole in the discretion of the majority of said board of parole, under the following conditions: That she is in good physical condition and free from any contagious diseases, has ability to earn an honest living, has a satisfactory institutional record based on the merit system, and a proper home to which she may go, or suitable employment has been secured in advance by the board of parole. Each person paroled or discharged from the institution shall be given, if the superintendent deems it best, suitable clothing and transportation expenses and, if such person has no money to her credit, not less than five dollars ($5) in money.

Authority is conferred on said board of parole to establish such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary, setting forth the conditions upon which inmates may be discharged upon parole, and to enforce such rules and regulations and provide suitable supervision by agents of the institution. [L. '19, p. 575, § 10.]

§ 1998. Violation of Parole—Arrest.

While upon parole each inmate of said institution shall remain in the legal custody and under the control of the board of directors, and subject at any time to be taken back to said institution for any reason that shall seem sufficient to said board. Whenever any paroled inmate of said institution shall violate her parole and be returned to the institution, she may be required to serve the unexpired term of her maximum sentence, including the time she was out on parole, or any part thereof, in the discretion of the board of directors, or she may be paroled again if said board of parole so decide. The request of said board of directors, or any person authorized by the rules of said board, shall be sufficient warrant to authorize any officer of said institution or any officer authorized by law to serve criminal process within this state, to return any inmate on parole into actual custody; and it shall be the duty of police officers, constables and sheriffs to arrest and hold any paroled inmate when so requested, without any written warrant, and, for the performance of such duty, the officer performing the same, except officers of said institution, shall be paid by the board of directors of said institution out of the institution funds such reasonable compensation as is provided by law for similar services in other cases. [L. '19, p. 576, § 11.]

§ 1999. Escape of Inmates.

If any inmate shall escape from said institution or from any keeper or officer having her in charge or from her place of work while engaged in working outside of said institution, she shall be returned to said institution when arrested, and may be disciplined in such manner as the board of directors may determine. All the provisions of section 1998 relating to the arrest and return of paroled inmates shall apply to the arrest and return of escaped inmates. [L. '19, p. 577, § 12.]

§ 2000. Transfers to State Prison, etc.

The board of directors may transfer to the state prison any inmate of said institution who shall appear to said board to be incorrigible, or whose presence in said institution may be seriously detrimental to its well-being: Provided, such inmate was originally so committed, subject to be returned upon requisition of the board of directors. The directors may transfer to any other appropriate state institution any inmate whose welfare the board, after proper study and examination of her case, shall decide may be best cared for at such other institution. Whenever any inmate of said institution shall be, in the judgment of the board of directors, in need of special medical attention, such inmate may be transferred to a hospital or other appropriate state institution, subject to return upon requisition of the board of directors. The board of directors may transfer to any of the Washington hospitals for the insane any inmate of said institution who may be insane, but no inmate of said institution shall be transferred except upon the written certificate of two competent physicians not connected with the institution, to the effect that such inmate has become insane, and any inmate declared to be insane shall have a right to appeal to the superior court for the county in which said institution is located from said order of transfer. Upon the written certification of the superintendent of any of the Washington hospitals for the insane that an inmate transferred has become cured of her insanity, the directors shall, by requisition, require the return of such inmate to said institution. [L. '19, p. 577, § 13.]

§ 2001. Discharge.

If it shall appear to said board of directors, acting as a board of parole and discharge, that any inmate on parole, although not having yet reached her maximum term, has maintained a satisfactory parole record and will continue, if discharged, to lead an orderly life, said board, by a unanimous vote of all the members present at any stated meeting thereof, may discharge such inmate from said institution. [L. '19, p. 578, § 14.]

§ 2002. Infant Children of Inmates.

If any woman committed to said institution is, at the time of her commitment, the mother of a child under two years of age, or shall give birth to a child while an inmate of said institution, such child may be retained in said institution, until it attains the age of two years, when the board of directors shall cause such child to be placed in an asylum or home for children, or in the care and custody of some relative or proper person willing to assume such care, and if necessary, the board may pay the reasonable cost of maintenance of said child, until the mother shall be discharged. Any child over the age of two years at the time of the commitment of its mother to said institution, may, if found delinquent or dependent, be committed to proper care and custody under the provisions of the juvenile court law. [L. '19, p. 578, § 15.]

§ 2003. Appropriation.

There is hereby appropriated out of any money in the state treasury, not otherwise appropriated, the sum of one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act, for the construction and maintenance of the Women's Industrial Home and Clinic. [L. '19, p. 578, § 16.]

§ 2004. Partial Invalidity.

If any provision or section of this act is, for any reason, held to be invalid or unconstitutional, such holding shall not affect the validity of the act as a whole, or any other part thereof. [L. '19, p. 579, § 17.]

CHAPTER VIII.

LIMITATION OF CRIMINAL ACTIONS AND REPEALS.

§ 2005. Limitation on Criminal Actions Other Than Murder.

Prosecutions for the offenses of murder and arson, where death ensues, may be commenced at any period after the commission of the offense; for offenses the punishment of which may be imprisonment in the penitentiary, within three years after their commission; and for all other offenses, within one year after their commission: Provided, that any length of time during which the party charged was not usually and publicly resident within this state shall not be reckoned within the one and three years respectively: And further provided, that where an indictment has been found, or an information filed, within the time limited for the commencement of a criminal action, if the indictment or information be set aside, the time of limitation shall be computed from the setting aside of such indictment or information. [Cf. L. '54, p. 77, § 10; Cd. '81, § 779; L. '91, p. 46, § 2; 2 H. C., § 1188.]

The act of February 24, 1891, relating to criminal procedure, was not designed to provide a complete system repealing the existing laws; but only to make the existing laws harmonious with the changes brought about by the constitution: State ex rel. Repath v. Caldwell, 9 Wash. 336, 37 Pac. 669.

§ 2006. Repeal and Amendment of Criminal Statutes—Saving Clause Presumed.

No offense committed and no penalty or forfeiture incurred previous to the time when any statutory provision shall be repealed, whether such repeal be express or implied, shall be affected by such repeal, unless a contrary intention is expressly declared in the repealing act, and no prosecution for any offense, or for the recovery of any penalty or forfeiture, pending at the time any statutory provision shall be repealed, whether such repeal be express or implied, shall be affected by such repeal, but the same shall proceed in all respects, as if such provision had not been repealed, unless a contrary intention is expressly declared in the repealing act. Whenever any criminal or penal statute shall be amended or repealed, all offenses committed, or penalties or forfeitures incurred while it was in force shall be punished or enforced as if it were in force, notwithstanding such amendment or repeal, unless a contrary intention is expressly declared in the amendatory or repealing act, and every such amendatory or repealing statute shall be so construed as to save all criminal and penal proceedings, and proceedings to recover forfeitures, pending at the time of its enactment, unless a contrary intention is expressly declared therein. [L. '01, Ex. Sess., p. 13, § 1.]

Cited in 55 Wash. 406; 56 Wash. 398; 58 Wash. 432.

The saving clause of this section is constitutional; and a pending prosecution for practicing medicine without a license is not affected by Rem. Code, § 8386, repealing former laws before trial and conviction of the accused (overruling Id. on rehearing): State v. Hanover, 55 Wash. 403, 107 Pac. 388.

This section was a general savings clause applicable to the repeal or amendment of all criminal statutes unless a contrary intention is expressly declared therein, and is sufficient to continue in force the laws repealed by the penal code of 1909, during the interim between the passage and the taking effect of such penal code: State v. Newcomb, 58 Wash. 414, 109 Pac. 355.

Under this section, and section 2294, infra, it is not essential to a prosecution for such prior offense that it was pending when the penal code of 1909 took effect: State v. Lorenzy, 59 Wash. 308, 109 Pac. 1064, Ann. Cas. 1912B, 153.

CHAPTER IX.

PARTIES TO CRIMINAL ACTIONS.

§ 2007. Distinctions Relating to Accessory Abolished.

No distinction shall exist between an accessory before the fact and a principal, or between principals in the first and second degree, and all persons concerned in the commission of an offense, whether they directly counsel the act constituting the offense, or counsel, aid and abet in its commission, though not present, shall hereafter be indicted, tried and punished as principals. [L. '54, p. 98, § 125; Cd. '81, § 956; 2 H. C., § 1189.]

Cited in 3 Wash. 178, 179; 7 Wash. 340; 12 Wash. 350; 19 Wash. 467; 20 Wash. 502; 21 Wash. 356; 48 Wash. 262; 66 Wash. 467; 82 Wash. 674; 86 Wash. 281; 94 Wash. 216; 104 Wash. 298; 105 Wash. 422, 424.

Although this section abolishes the distinction between accessories and principals, it is a fatal variance to charge defendant with burglary as a principal, and prove that he was an accessory before the fact: State v. Morgan, 21 Wash. 355, 58 Pac. 215.

Under this section a defendant may be convicted under an information charging him with larceny as principal, although the evidence shows that he was not present at the commission of the crime, but advised and counseled it with the intention of receiving the benefits of the property taken: State v. Duncan, 7 Wash. 336, 35 Pac. 117, 38 Am. St. Rep. 888.

Principals and Accomplices: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, §§ 17—22.

In General: State v. Nugent, 20 Wash. 522, 56 Pac. 25, 72 Am. St. Rep. 133; State v. Boysen, 30 Wash. 338, 70 Pac. 740; State v. Wappenstein, 67 Wash. 502, 121 Pac. 989; State v. Klein, 94 Wash. 212, 162 Pac. 52; State v. Ferry Line Auto Bus Co., 93 Wash. 614, 161 Pac. 467.

As an accessory is tried as a principal, he cannot object to instructions concerning accomplices because he did not do the actual stealing: State v. Vane, 105 Wash. 421, 178 Pac. 456.

§§ 19, 20. — Accessories Before the Fact: State v. Payne, 6 Wash. 563, 34 Pac. 317; State v. Robinson, 12 Wash. 349, 41 Pac. 51, 902; State v. Duncan, 7 Wash. 336, 35 Pac. 117, 38 Am. St. Rep. 888.

Criminal responsibility of one co-operating in offense which he is incapable of committing personally. 5 A. L. R. 782.

§ 2008. Accessory After the Fact—Who may be.

Every person not standing in the relation of husband or wife, parent or grandparent, child or grandchild, brother or sister, by consanguinity or affinity, to the offender, who, after the commission of any felony, shall harbor, conceal, or maintain, or assist any principal felon or accessory before the fact, or shall give the offender any other aid, knowing that he had committed a felony, or had been accessory thereto before the fact, with intent that he shall avoid or escape from detection, arrest, trial, or punishment, shall be deemed accessory after the fact, and shall, on conviction thereof, be imprisoned in the county jail not more than one year, or be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars. [L. '54, p. 98, § 126; Cd. '81, § 957; 2 H. C., § 1190.]

§ 2009. Accessory After Fact Tried Though Principal not.

Every person who shall become an accessory after the fact to any felony may be indicted, convicted, and punished, whether the principal felon shall or shall not have been convicted previously, or shall or shall not be amenable to justice by any court having jurisdiction to try the principal felon. [Cf. L. '54, p. 98, § 127; Cd. '91, § 958; L. '81, p. 65, § 97; 2 H. C. § 1376.]

§ 2010. Who may be Tried and Punished.

Every person, whether an inhabitant of this state, or of any other state, territory, or county, may be tried and punished under the laws of this state for an offense committed by him therein, except when such offense is cognizable exclusively in the courts of the United States. [L. '91, p. 47, § 3; 2 H. C., § 1191.]

It is no less a crime to murder a foreigner than a citizen at a place within the admiralty jurisdiction of the United States courts: Smith v. United States, 1 W. T. 262.

An Indian who has severed his tribal relations may be prosecuted in the courts of this state, whether the offense was committed within or without the limits of a reservation: State v. Williams, 13 Wash. 335, 43 Pac. 15.

An Indian who retains his tribal relations may be prosecuted in the courts of this state for offenses committed at a place within the limits of an Indian reservation: Id.

A foreign subject accused of murder in the first degree committed within the state jurisdiction is not entitled to a removal of the prosecution to the United States court: State v. Champoux, 33 Wash. 339, 74 Pac. 557.

A territorial district court, in the exercise of its jurisdiction, under the laws of the territory, had jurisdiction to try and punish any person who committed murder on San Juan island: Watts v. United States, 1 W. T. 288; Watts v. Territory, 1 W. T. 409.

§ 2011. Term "Person," Defined.

When the term "person" or other word is used to designate the party whose property is the subject of an offense, or against whom any act is done with intent to defraud or injure, the term may be construed to include the United States, this state, or any state or territory, or any public or private corporation, as well as an individual. [L. '54, p. 99, § 134; Cd. '81, § 964.]

Liability of corporation to indictment for homicide. 16 Ann. Cas. 840; Ann. Cas. 1915B, 621; 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 998; 45 L. R. A. (N. S.) 344.

Criminal liability of corporation for act of misfeasance other than homicide. Ann. Cas. 1916C, 459. Criminal responsibility of corporation in hands of receiver. 21 Ann. Cas. 694; 26 L. R. A. (N. S.) 710.

§ 2011-1. Corporation Charged With Crime.

Whenever an indictment or information shall be filed in any superior court against a corporation charging it with the commission of a crime, a summons shall be issued by the clerk of such court, signed by one of the judges thereof, commanding the sheriff forthwith to notify the accused thereof, and commanding it to appear before such court at such time as shall be specified in said summons. Such summons and a copy of the indictment or information shall be at once delivered by such clerk to said sheriff and by him forthwith served and returned in the manner provided for service of summons upon such corporation in a civil action. Whenever a complaint against a corporation, charging it with commission of a crime, shall be made before any justice of the peace or municipal judge, a like summons, signed by such justice of the peace or municipal judge, shall be issued, which, together with a copy of said complaint, shall be delivered to the sheriff at once and by him forthwith served as herein provided. [L. '11, p. 106, § 1.]

§ 2011-2. Appearance by Corporation.

Upon such service being made such corporation shall appear at the time designated, by one of its officers or by counsel; and upon such appearance, and thereafter, the same course shall be pursued, as nearly as may be, as upon the appearance of an individual to indictment, information or complaint and warrant charging him with the same offense. Upon failure of the corporation to make such appearance said court shall cause to be entered a plea of "not guilty," and upon appearance made or plea entered the corporation shall be deemed forthwith continuously present in court until the case shall be finally disposed of. [L. '11, p. 106, § 2.]

§ 2011-3. Judgment Against Corporation.

If the corporation shall be found guilty and a fine imposed, it shall be entered and docketed by the clerk, or justice of the peace or municipal judge as a judgment against the corporation, and it shall be of the same force and effect and be enforced against such corporation in the same manner as a judgment in a civil action. [L. '11, p. 106, § 3.]

CHAPTER X.

VENUE OF CRIMINAL ACTIONS.

§ 2012. Criminal Actions, Where Commenced.

Except as otherwise specially provided by statute, all criminal actions shall be commenced and tried in the county where the offense was committed. [Cf. L. '79, p. 75, § 10; Cd. '81, § 780; L. '91, p. 47, § 4; 2 H. C., § 1192.]

§ 2023. The Charge must be by Information or Indictment.

No person shall be held to answer in any court for an alleged crime or offense, unless upon information filed by the prosecuting attorney, or upon an indictment by a grand jury, except in cases of misdemeanor before a justice of the peace, or before a court-martial. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 764; L. '91, p. 48, § 10; 2 H. C., § 1203.]

§ 2024. All Prosecutions may be by Information.

All public offenses may be prosecuted in the superior courts by information. [L. '09, p. 186, § 1. Cf. L. '90, p. 100, § 1; L. '91, p. 214, § 1; 2 H. C., § 1204.]

CHAPTER XII.

INDICTMENTS AND PROCEEDINGS BY INFORMATION.

§ 2025. Challenge to Panel of Grand Jurors.

Challenges to the panel of grand jurors shall be allowed to any person in custody or held to answer for an offense, when the clerk has not drawn from the jury-box the requisite number of ballots to constitute a grand jury, or when the drawing was not done in the presence of the proper officers; and such challenges shall be in writing and verified by affidavit, and proved to the satisfaction of the court. [Cf. L. '54, p. 110, § 45; Cd. '81, § 977; L. '91, p. 48, § 11; 2 H. C., § 1205.]

§ 2026. Challenge to Individual Grand Juror.

Challenges to individual grand jurors may be made by such person for reason of want of qualifications to sit as such juror; and when, in the opinion of the court, a state of mind exists in the juror, such as would render him unable to act impartially and without prejudice. § 2027. Venire When Panel Discharged.

If a challenge to the panel be allowed, the panel shall be discharged, and the court may order the sheriff to summon from the bystanders and the body of the county a sufficient number of persons to act as grand jurors. [Cf. L. '54, p. 110, § 47; Cd. '81, § 979; L. '91, p. 48, § 12; 2 H. C., § 1207.]

See infra, § 2041, resummoning from county and from bystanders.

Court should terminate proceedings at any stage of the case when it is discovered that the impaneling of the grand jurors was null and void: Yelm Jim v. Territory, 1 W. T. 63; Clarke v. Territory, 1 W. T. 68.

Order of court to summon from bystanders to fill the panel is good, if the qualifications of those selected are such as the law requires: Yelm Jim v. Territory, supra; Clark v. Territory, supra. Temporary absence from the state does not disqualify one from acting as a juror: Id.

§ 2028. Discharge of Juror—Panel to be Filled.

If a challenge to an individual juror be allowed, he shall be discharged, and the panel filled. [L. '54, p. 110, § 48; Cd. '81, § 980; 2 H. C., § 1208.]

See supra, § 110, venire to fill vacancies and open venire.

The following oath shall be administered to the grand jury:—

“You, as grand jurors for the body of the county of —, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you will diligently inquire into and true presentment make of all such matters and things as shall come to your knowledge, according to your charge; the counsel of the state, your own counsel, and that of your fellows, you shall keep secret; you shall present no person through envy, hatred, or malice; neither will you leave any person unpresented through fear, favor, affection, or reward, or the hope thereof; but that you will present things truly as they come to your knowledge, according to the best of your understanding, and according to the laws of this state. So help you God.” [Cf. L. '54, p. 110, § 49; Cd. '81, § 981; L. '91, p. 48, § 13; 2 H. C., § 1209.]

§ 2030. Foreman—Powers of—Clerk of Grand Jury.

A foreman of the grand jury shall be appointed by the court, who may remove him and appoint another at any time, and such foreman shall have power to administer all oaths and affirmations to witnesses who shall appear before such grand jury, and the jury may appoint one of their number as clerk to keep a minute of their proceedings. § 2034. Jurors to Communicate Personal Knowledge of Offenses.

If a member of a grand jury knows, or has reason to believe, that a public offense, triable within the county, has been committed, he must declare the same to his fellow-jurors, who may thereupon investigate the same, if a majority so order. [Cd. '81, § 986; 2 H. C., § 1214.]

§ 2035. Complainant not to be Present, When.

No complainant who may institute a prosecution shall be competent to be present at the deliberations of a grand jury, or vote for the finding of an indictment. [L. '65, p. 19, § 1; Cd. '81, § 987; 2 H. C., § 1215.]

§ 2036. Malicious and Frivolous Prosecution—Costs.

Where a grand jury ignore a bill of indictment, they shall also find whether the prosecution is malicious and frivolous, and find whether the complainant or county shall pay the costs, which shall be returned with their proceedings into open court. [L. '65, p. 20, § 2; Cd. '81, § 988; 2 H. C., § 1216.]

§ 2037. Inquiry into Persons in Prison, etc.

The grand jury shall especially inquire as to the offense of any person confined in prison on a criminal charge; into the condition and mismanagement of the public prisons in the county; into the willful misconduct in office of public officers; and shall in their discretion examine the public records of the county. [L. '54, p. 111, § 53; Cd. '81, § 989; 2 H. C., § 1217.]

See supra, § 2033.

§ 2038. Duty to Hear Evidence.

The grand jury are not bound to hear evidence for the defendant; but it is their duty to weigh all the evidence submitted to them, and when they have reason to believe that other evidence within their reach will explain away the charge, they should order such evidence to be produced, and for that purpose may cause process to issue for the witnesses. [L. '54, p. 111, § 54; Cd. '81, § 990; 2 H. C., § 1218.]

§ 2039. Fact of Indictment Found not to be Disclosed, When.

No grand jury shall disclose the fact that an indictment for a felony has been found against any person not in custody or under recognizance until such person has been arrested. [L. '54, p. 111, § 56; Cd. '81, § 991; 2 H. C., § 1219.]

CHAPTER XIII.

FINDING AND PRESENTMENT OF INDICTMENTS.

§ 2042. Twelve Jurors must Concur—Indorsement.

An indictment cannot be found without the concurrence of at least twelve grand jurors, and when so found, it must be indorsed "a true bill," and such indorsement, signed by the foreman of the jury. [Cf. L. '54, p. 111, §§ 55, 59; L. '69, p. 238, § 173; Cd. '81, § 994; 2 H. C., § 1223.]

Where the grand jury come into open court and present a bill duly indorsed and signed by their foreman, it is evidence of the most satisfactory kind that twelve of their number concurred in finding the bill: Watts v. Territory, 1 W. T. 409.

Number of jurors necessary to constitute quorum. Ann. Cas. 1912C, 30; Ann. Cas. 1918A, 106; 28 L. R. A. 33.

§ 2043. Names of Witnesses Indorsed, Defendant Entitled to Copy.

When an indictment is found, the names of the witnesses examined before the grand jury must be inserted at the foot of the indictment, or indorsed thereon, before it is presented to the court, and the clerk of the court must, within one day after demand made, furnish the defendant, or his counsel, a copy thereof without charge, or permit the defendant's counsel, or the clerk of such counsel to take a copy. [Cf. L. '54, p. 111, § 59; L. '69, p. 239, § 174; Cd. '81, § 995; 2 H. C., § 1223.]

Cited in 8 Wash. 233; 67 Wash. 22.

The mandate of the Constitution, Article I, § 22, is sufficiently complied with when the accused is given the complaint, and told to make a copy of it if he chooses: State v. White, 8 Wash. 230, 35 Pac. 1100.

The accused is not a "witness" within this section and section 2099, requiring the names of witnesses examined before the grand jury to be indorsed on the indictment, where the accused, learning of the investigation, was permitted to make a voluntary statement before the grand jury, but the indictment was not based thereon, and no vote was taken after the statement was made: State v. Kulbe, 67 Wash. 21, 120 Pac. 510.

§ 2044. Indictment at Instance of Private Prosecutor—Costs.

When an indictment is found at the instance of a private prosecutor, the following must be added to the indorsement required by the preceding section: "Found at the instance of" (here state the name of the person); and in such case, if the prosecution fails, the court trying the cause may award costs against the private prosecutor, if satisfied, from all circumstances, that the prosecution was malicious or without probable cause. [Cd. '81, § 996; 2 H. C., § 1224.]

See infra, § 2226, costs against complainant on frivolous or malicious accusation.

This section was intended to cover all criminal cases triable by jury, but the jury has no authority, on acquitting the defendant, to find that the complaint was malicious or without probable cause; and the judgment on such verdict, that complaining witness pay costs of trial and stand committed until costs are paid is void: Permstick, In re, 3 Wash. 672, 29 Pac. 350, 28 Am. St. Rep. 80.

Two prominent elements of this section are: (1) that the court, upon failure of prosecution, is to be satisfied from all the circumstances that the action of the complainant was malicious or without probable cause; (2) that the imprisonment until costs are paid is not a part of the judgment there permitted: Id.

§ 2045. Custody and Inspection of.

An indictment, when found by the grand jury, must be presented by their foreman, in their presence, to the court and filed by the clerk, and remain in his office as a public record; but if the defendant has not been held to answer the charge, neither the indictment, nor any order or process in relation thereto, must be inspected by any person other than the judge of the court, or an officer thereof, in the discharge of a duty concerning the same, until after the arrest of the defendant. [L. '69, p. 239, § 175; Cd. '81, § 997; 2 H. C., § 1225.]

§ 2046. Secrecy as to Indictment.

No grand juror or officer of the court must disclose any fact concerning such indictment while it is not subject to public inspection; and a violation of this section or the foregoing section is punishable as a contempt. [L. '69, p. 239, § 176; Cd. '81, § 998; 2 H. C., § 1226.]

See supra, § 2039, grand jury not to disclose.

See infra, § 2378, penalty for violating secrecy.

§ 2047. Indictment Found "Not a True Bill," Filing, etc.

When a person has been held to answer a criminal charge, and the indictment in relation thereto is not found a "true bill," it must be indorsed "not a true bill," which indorsement must be signed by the foreman, and presented to the court and filed with the clerk, and remain a public record; but in the case of an indictment not found "a true bill," against a person not so held, the same, together with the minutes of the evidence in relation thereto, must be destroyed by the grand jury. [L. '69, p. 239, § 177; Cd. '81, § 999; 2 H. C., § 1227.]

§ 2048. Effect of Finding "Not a True Bill."

When an indictment indorsed "not a true bill" has been presented in court and filed, the effect thereof is to dismiss the charge; and the same cannot be again submitted to or inquired of by the grand jury, or made the cause of an information, unless the court so order. [Cf. L. '69, p. 239, § 178; Cd. '81, § 1000; L. '91, p. 49, § 16; 2 H. C., § 1228.]

This section is not intended to confer any right upon the defendant, but simply to expedite the business of the court, subject to its discretion: Lybarger v. State, 2 Wash. 552, 27 Pac. 449, 1029.

§ 2049. Presentment Defined.

A presentment is an informal statement of facts, for the purpose of obtaining the advice of the court as to the law thereon. It is made by the foreman, in the presence of the grand jury, and with the concurrence of twelve of their number. A presentment is not to be filed in court, or preserved beyond the sitting of the grand jury. [Cf. L. '69, p. 239, § 179; Cd. '81, § 1001; L. '91, p. 49, § 17; 2 H. C., § 1229.]

§ 2050. Information—Filing, Indorsement, etc.

All informations shall be filed in the court having jurisdiction of the offense specified therein, by the prosecuting attorney of the proper county as informant; he shall subscribe his name thereto, and indorse thereon the names of the witnesses known to him at the time of filing the same, and at such time before the trial of any case as the court may, by rule or otherwise, prescribe he shall indorse thereon the names of such other witnesses as shall then be known to him; and said court shall possess and may exercise the same powers and jurisdiction to hear, try, and determine all such prosecutions upon information, to issue writs and process, and do all other acts therein, as it possesses and may exercise in cases of like prosecutions upon indictments. [L. '90, p. 101, § 2; 2 H. C., § 1230.]

§ 2053. Duty of Prosecuting Attorney Relating to Preliminary Examinations.

It shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney of the proper county to inquire into and make full examination of all the facts and circumstances connected with any case of preliminary examination, as provided by law, touching the commission of any offense, wherein the offender shall be committed to jail, or become recognized or held to bail; and if the prosecuting attorney shall determine, in any such case, that an information ought not to be filed, he shall make, subscribe, and file with the clerk of the court a statement in writing containing his reasons, in fact and in law, for not filing an information in such case, and such statement shall be filed at and during the session of court at which the offender shall be held for his appearance: Provided, that in such case, such court may examine such statement, together with the evidence filed in the case, and if, upon such examination, the court shall not be satisfied with such statement, the prosecuting attorney shall be directed by the court to file the proper information, and bring the case to trial. CHAPTER XIV.

REQUISITES OF INDICTMENTS AND INFORMATION.

§ 2054. First Pleading.

The first pleading on the part of the state is the indictment or information. [Cf. L. '69, p. 240, § 181; Cd. '81, § 1003; L. '91, p. 49, § 19; 2 H. C., § 1233.]

Cited in 23 Wash. 549.

§ 2055. Contents of Indictment or Information.

The indictment or information must contain,—

1. The title of the action, specifying the name of the court to which the indictment or information is presented, and the names of the parties;

2. A statement of the acts constituting the offense, in ordinary and concise language, without repetition, and in such manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended. [Cf. L. '69, p. 240, § 182; Cd. '81, § 1004; L. '91, p. 49, § 20; 2 H. C., § 1234.]

§ 12. Conclusion: Leonard v. Territory, 2 W. T. 381, 7 Pac. 872; Blanton v. State, 1 Wash. 265, 24 Pac. 439.

An information for horse-stealing, describing the horses as two certain mares of the value of $200, the property of E., is sufficiently certain and specific to meet the requirements of this section: State v. Shuck, 38 Wash. 270, 80 Pac. 444.

An information charging, in the language of the statute, the accused with willfully and unlawfully accepting the earnings of one P. W. then and there being a common prostitute, sufficiently charges the offense of accepting the earnings of a prostitute, within the requirements of this section: State v. Schuman, 89 Wash. 9, 153 Pac. 1084, Ann. Cas. 1918A, 633.

An information for larceny, which could be readily understood as charging the defendant with unlawfully obtaining a check for $1,000 from B. by means of false and fraudulent representations and that he received the money thereon with intent to deprive and defraud the owner thereof, is sufficiently definite and certain within this section: State v. Garland, 65 Wash. 666, 118 Pac. 907.

An information for homicide sufficiently describes the manner of killing, under this section, if it states the facts constituting the offense in ordinary language, so that it may be understood by a person of common understanding: State v. Quinn, 56 Wash. 295, 105 Pac. 818.

§ 2056. Form of Indictment.

The indictment may be substantially in the following form:—

The State of Washington, v. A — B —.	}	Superior Court of the State of Washington, for the County of —.
--	---	--

A B is accused by the grand jury of the —, by this indictment, of the crime of (here insert the name of the crime, if it have one, such as treason, murder, arson, manslaughter, or the like; or if it be a crime having no general name, such as libel, assault and battery, and the like, insert a brief description of it as given by law), committed as follows:—

The said A B, on the — day of —, 18—, in the county of —, aforesaid (here set forth the act charged as a crime).

Dated at —, in the county aforesaid, the — day of —, A. D., 18—.

(Signed) C D, Prosecuting Attorney.

§ 2058. True Name Inserted, When.

When a defendant is designated in the indictment or information by a fictitious or erroneous name, and in any stage of the proceedings his true name is discovered, it may be inserted in the subsequent proceedings, referring to the fact of his being indicted or informed against by the name mentioned in the indictment or information. [Cf. L. '69, p. 241, § 185; Cd. '81, § 1007; L. '91, p. 50, § 23; 2 H. C., § 1237.]

§ 2059. One Crime to be Charged, and in One Form Only.

The indictment or information must charge but one crime, and in one form only, except that where the crime may be committed by use of different means, the indictment or information may allege the means in the alternative. [Cf. L. '69, p. 241, § 186; Cd. '81, § 1008; L. '91, p. 50, § 24; 2 H. C., § 1238.]

§ 2060. Statement as to Time When Offense Committed.

The precise time at which the crime was committed need not be stated in the indictment or information; but it may be alleged to have been committed at any time before the finding of the indictment or the filing of the information, and within the time in which an action may be commenced therefor, except where the time is a material ingredient in the crime. [Cf. L. '69, p. 241, § 187; Cd. '81, § 1009; L. '91, p. 51, § 25; 2 H. C., § 1239.]

Failure to prove that a crime was committed on the particular day alleged in the information is not a fatal variance, since, under this section, it is sufficient if the commission is proved to have been within the time in which an action may be commenced therefor: State v. Anderson, 30 Wash. 14, 70 Pac. 104; State v. Osborne, 39 Wash. 548, 81 Pac. 1096.

§ 2061. Statement as to Person Injured or Intended to be.

When the crime involves the commission of or an attempt to commit a private injury, and is described with sufficient certainty in other respects to identify the act, an erroneous allegation as to the person injured or intended to be injured is not material. It is not necessary in charging one with the crime of employing a female in a place where intoxicating liquors are sold to allege in the information the name of the female so employed: State v. Conzidine, 16 Wash. 358, 47 Pac. 755.

Under an information against a bank officer for receiving, after the insolvency of the bank, a deposit from the B. G. Co., a corporation, it is a fatal variance to prove a deposit by B. & S., a copartnership, consisting of the incorporation of the B. G. Co., which was not in existence at the time alleged, and the fact that the corporation was the successor of the copartnership does not bring the two names within the principle of idem sonans: State v. Oleson, 35 Wash. 149, 76 Pac. 686.

The fact that the bank was insolvent at a particular time, and that a deposit of $113 was made at that time, does not identify the act of such deposit with certainty, without the name of the depositor, within the provision of this section: State v. Oleson, 35 Wash. 149, 76 Pac. 686.

Necessity in indictment of naming person to whom forged instrument was passed. 31 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1046.

§ 2062. Animal—Description—Sufficiency.

When the crime involves the taking of or injury to an animal, the indictment or information is sufficiently certain in that respect if it describes the animal by the common name of its class. [Cf. L. '69, p. 241, § 189; Cd. '81, § 1011; L. '91, p. 51, § 26; 2 H. C., § 1241.]

§ 2063. Construction of Words and Phrases.

The words used in an indictment or information must be construed in their usual acceptation, in common language, except words and phrases defined by law, which are to be construed according to their legal meaning. [Cf. L. '69, p. 241, § 190; Cd. '81, § 1012; L. '91, p. 51, § 27; 2 H. C., § 1242.]

erence to quantity. Ann. Cas. 1918D, 706.

Meaning of word "tenor" as used in indictment. Ann. Cas. 1914B, 661.

§ 2064. Words of the Statute Need not be Strictly Pursued.

Words used in a statute to define a crime need not be strictly pursued in the indictment or information, but other words, conveying the same meaning, may be used. [Cf. L. '69, p. 241, § 191; Cd. '81, § 1013; L. '91, p. 51, § 28; 2 H. C., § 1243.]

See notes to § 2065, infra.

"To kill and murder" is necessarily an equivalent allegation to the phrase "to inflict bodily injury," and comes within the meaning of this section: State v. Young, 22 Wash. 273, 60 Pac. 650.

Under this section, allowing words conveying the same meaning as the statutory words to be used, the word "malicious" is supplied by the words "of his premeditated malice": State v. Ackles, 8 Wash. 462, 36 Pac. 597.

Sufficiency of Substituted Words: See Remington's Digest, Ind. & Inf., § 62; State v. Bohn, 19 Wash. 36, 52 Pac. 325; State v. Clayborne, 14 Wash. 622, 45 Pac. 303; State v. Robey, 74 Wash. 562, 134 Pac. 174.

§ 2065. Requisites of Indictments, etc.

The indictment or information is sufficient if it can be understood therefrom,—

1. That it is entitled in a court having authority to receive;
2. That it was found by a grand jury of the county in which the court was held;
3. That the defendant is named, or if his name cannot be discovered, that he is described by a fictitious name, with the statement that his real name is to the jury unknown;
4. That the crime was committed within the jurisdiction of the court, except where, as provided by law, the act, though done without the county in which the court is held, is triable therein;
5. That the crime was committed at some time previous to the finding of the indictment, or filing of the information, and within the time limited by law for the commencement of an action therefor;
6. That the act or omission charged as the crime is clearly and distinctly set forth in ordinary and concise language, without repetition, and in such a manner as to enable a person of common understanding to know what is intended;
7. [That] the act or omission charged as the crime is stated with such a degree of certainty as to enable the court to pronounce judgment upon a conviction, according to the right of the case. [L. '69, p. 242, § 192; Cd. '81, § 1014; L. '91, p. 51, § 29; 2 H. C., § 1244.]

§ 2066. Former Defects or Imperfections, How Regarded.

No indictment or information is insufficient, nor can the trial, judgment, or other proceedings thereon be affected, by reason of any of the following matters, which were formerly deemed defects or imperfections:—

1. For want of an allegation of the time or place of any material fact, when the time and place have been once stated;

2. For the omission of any of the following allegations, namely: "With force and arms," "contrary to the form of the statute or the statutes," or "against the peace and dignity of the state";

3. For the omission to allege that the grand jury was impaneled, sworn, or charged;

4. For any surplusage or repugnant allegation, or for any repetition, when there is sufficient matter alleged to indicate clearly the offense and the person charged; nor

5. For any other matter which was formerly deemed a defect or imperfection, but which does not tend to the prejudice of the substantial rights of the defendant upon the merits. [Cf. L. '69, p. 242, § 193; Cd. '81, § 1015; L. '91, p. 52, § 30; 2 H. C., § 1245.]

§ 2067. Presumptions of Law, etc., Need not be Stated.

Neither presumptions of law nor matters of which judicial notice is taken need be stated in an indictment or information. [Cf. L. '69, p. 242, § 194; Cd. '81, § 1016; L. '91, p. 52, § 31; 2 H. C., § 1246.]

See Remington's Digest, Ind. & Inf., §§ 29, 30; and notes to section 1065, supra.

§ 2068. Judgment, How Plead.

In pleading a judgment or other determination of or proceeding before a court or officer of special jurisdiction, it is not necessary to state in the indictment or information the facts conferring jurisdiction; but the judgment, determination, or proceeding may be stated to have been duly given or made. The facts conferring jurisdiction, however, must be established on the trial. [Cf. L. '54, p. 112, § 65; L. '69, p. 242, § 195; Cd. '81, § 1017; L. '91, p. 52, § 32; 2 H. C., § 1247.]

§ 2069. Private Statute, How Plead.

In pleading a private statute, or right derived therefrom, it is sufficient to refer, in the indictment or information, to the statute by its title and the day of its passage, and the court must thereupon take judicial notice thereof. [Cf. L. '54, p. 112, § 66; L. '69, p. 243, § 196; Cd. '81, § 1018; L. '91, p. 53, § 33; 2 H. C., § 1248.]

§ 2070. Pleading in Indictment, etc., for Libel.

An indictment or information for libel need not set forth any extrinsic facts, for the purpose of showing the application to the party libeled, of the defamatory matter on which the indictment or information is founded; but it is sufficient to state generally that the same was published concerning him; and the fact that it was so published must be established on the trial. [Cf. L. '69, p. 243, § 197; Cd. '81, §§ 1019, 1232; L. '91, p. 53, § 34; 2 H. C., § 1249.]

§ 2071. Pleading in Forgery Where Instrument Destroyed or Withheld.

When an instrument which is the subject of an indictment or information for forgery has been destroyed or withheld by the act or procurement of the defendant, and the fact of the destruction or withholding is alleged in the indictment or information, and established on the trial, the misdescription of the instrument is immaterial. [Cf. L. '54, p. 113, § 68; Cd. '81, § 1020; L. '91, p. 53, § 35; 2 H. C., § 1250.]

§ 2072. Pleadings in Indictment, etc., for Perjury.

In an indictment or information for perjury, or subornation of perjury, it is sufficient to set forth the substance of the controversy or matter in respect to which the crime was committed, and in what court or before whom the oath alleged to be false was taken, and that the court or person before whom it was taken had authority to administer it, with proper allegations of the falsity of the matter on which the perjury is assigned; but the indictment or information need not set forth the pleadings, record or proceedings with which the oath is connected, nor the commission or authority of the court or person before whom the perjury was committed. [Cf. L. '54, p. 112, § 67; L. '69, p. 243, § 199; Cd. '81, § 1021; L. '91, p. 53, § 36; 2 H. C., § 1251.]

§ 2073. Against Several—Conviction or Acquittal Against One or More.

Upon an indictment or information against several defendants, any one or more may be convicted or acquitted. [Cf. L. '69, p. 243, § 200; Cd. '81, § 1022; L. '91, p. 53, § 37; 2 H. C., § 1252.]

§ 2074. Pleading in Indictment, etc., for Larceny or Embezzlement.

In an indictment or information for larceny or embezzlement of money, bank notes, certificates of stock, or valuable securities, or for a conspiracy to cheat or defraud a person of any such property, it is sufficient to allege the larceny or embezzlement, or the conspiracy to cheat and defraud, to be of money, bank notes, certificates of stock, or valuable securities, without specifying the coin, number, denomination, or kind thereof. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1023; L. '91, p. 53, § 38; 2 H. C., § 1253.]

Cited in 11 Wash. 117; 19 Wash. 54, 412; 20 Wash. 208; 27 Wash. 366.

Under this section an information for grand larceny describing the property taken as "a quantity of money of the value of seventy-seven dollars," is sufficient: State v. Hanshaw, 3 Wash. 12, 27 Pac. 1029; State v. Burns, 19 Wash. 52, 52 Pac. 316; State v. Palmer, 20 Wash. 207, 54 Pac. 1121.

An information for larceny of a sum of money need not contain a special allegation of the value, etc., under this section: State v. Blanchard, 11 Wash. 116, 39 Pac. 377; State v. Ryan, 34 Wash. 597, 76 Pac. 90.

In an information charging robbery of money it is sufficient to describe the property taken as lawful money, without any further designation thereof: State v. Johnson, 19 Wash. 410, 53 Pac. 667.

In an information charging the larceny of money a description of the property stolen as being two one hundred dollar bills and one fifty dollar bill, lawful money of the United States, is sufficient: State v. Burns, 19 Wash. 52, 52 Pac. 316.

In an information charging the stealing of money, it is not necessary to set out a particular description of the money, or specify the coin, number or denomination thereof: State v. Palmer, 20 Wash. 207, 54 Pac. 1121.

§ 2075. Pleading in Indictment, etc., for Selling Obscene Literature.

An indictment or information for exhibiting, publishing, passing, selling, or offering to sell, or having in possession with such intent, any lewd or obscene book, pamphlet, picture, print, card, paper, or writing, need not set forth any portion of the language used or figures shown upon such book, pamphlet, picture, print, card, papers, or writing, but it is sufficient to state generally the facts of the lewdness or obscenity thereof. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1024; L. '91, p. 54, § 39; 2 H. C., § 1254.]

§ 2076. Ownership of Property, How Pleaded—Variance.

In prosecutions under the provision of section 3169, where the owner of the property is unknown, such property shall, for the purpose of this code, be deemed and held to be owned by the state of Washington; and in all cases where the indictment or information alleges the state to be the owner of such property, and the proof on the trial discloses the name of the actual owner, it shall not be deemed a variance, or failure of proof, unless the defendant is the actual owner. [Cd. '81, § 1025; L. '91, p. 54, § 40; 2 H. C., § 1255.]

Sections 2803 and 2814 of Remington & Ballinger's Code, also referred to in this section, are repealed, and the reference is omitted.

See infra, § 2156, variance as to ownership of property.

Cited in 46 Wash. 495.

Under this section it is not necessary to allege that the ownership is unknown in an information charging that a horse was the property of the state of Washington: State v. Eddy, 46 Wash. 494, 90 Pac. 641.

CHAPTER XV.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE ARRAIGNMENT.

§ 2077. Warrant of Arrest to Issue, When.

When an indictment is found or an information filed, the court may direct the clerk to issue a warrant for the arrest of the defendant, returnable forthwith; if no order is made, the clerk must issue a warrant within ten days after the indictment is returned into court, or the information filed. [Cf. L. '54, p. 113, § 70; Cd. '81, § 1026; L. '91, p. 54, § 41; 2 H. C., § 1256.]

§ 2079. Bail to be Indorsed on Warrant.

The court must, at the time of directing the clerk to issue the warrant, fix the amount in which persons charged by indictment are to be held to bail, and the clerk must indorse the amount on the warrant. If no order fixing the amount of bail has been made, the sheriff may present the warrant to the judge of the court, and such judge must thereon indorse the amount of bail to be required; or if there is no such judge in the county, the clerk may fix the amount of bail. [Cf. L. '54, p. 113, § 72; Cd. 81, § 1028; L. '91, p. 54, § 42; 2 H. C., § 1257.]

§ 2080. Service of Criminal Process.

All criminal process issuing out of the superior court shall be directed to the sheriff of the county in which it is to be served, and be by him.

executed according to law. Where there is no sheriff of a county, or he is disqualified from any cause from discharging any particular duty, it shall be lawful for the officer or person commanding or desiring the discharge of that duty to appoint some suitable person, a citizen of the county, to execute the same: Provided, that final process shall in no case be executed by any other person than the legally authorized officer, or in case he is disqualified, some suitable person appointed by the court, or judge thereof, out of which the process issues, who shall make such appointment in writing, and before such appointment shall take effect, the person so appointed shall give surety to the party interested for the faithful performance of his duties, which bonds of suretyship shall be in writing and approved by the court or judge making the appointment, and be placed on file with the papers in the case. [Cf. L. '54, p. 113, § 71; L. '60, p. 146, § 214; Cd. '81, § 1027; 2 H. C., § 1258.]

§ 2081. Warrant of Arrest by Telegraph.

Whenever any person or persons shall have been indicted or accused on oath of any public offense, or thereof convicted, and a warrant of arrest shall have been issued, the magistrate issuing such warrant, or any judge of the supreme court, or of any superior court, may indorse thereon an order signed by him and authorizing the service thereof by telegraph, and thereupon such warrant and order may be sent by telegraph to any marshal, sheriff, constable or policeman, and on the receipt of the telegraphic copy thereof by any such officer, he shall have the same authority and be under the same obligations to arrest, take into custody, and detain the said person or persons, as if the said original warrant of arrest, with the proper direction for the service thereof, duly indorsed thereon, had been placed in his hands, and the said telegraphic copy shall be entitled to full faith and credit, and have the same force and effect in all courts and places as the original; but prior to indictment and conviction, no such order shall be made by any officer, unless in his judgment there is probable cause to believe the said accused person or persons guilty of the offense charged: Provided, the making of such order, by any officer aforesaid, shall be prima facie evidence of the regularity thereof, and of all the proceedings prior thereto. The original warrant and order, or a copy thereof, certified by the officer making the order, shall be preserved in the telegraph office from which the same is sent, and in telegraphing the same the original or the said certified copy may be used. [L. '66, p. 75, § 16; Cd. '81, § 2357; 1 H. C., § 1557.]

Under the statutes of this state, as at common law, an officer may, without a warrant, arrest a person against whom he knows there is a charge of felony pending in another county, the rule not being changed by this section: State v. Symes, 20 Wash. 484, 55 Pac. 626.

§ 2082. Officer may Break Door, etc., to Make Arrest.

To make an arrest in criminal actions, the officer may break open any outer or inner door or windows of a dwelling-house or other building, or any other inclosure, if, after notice of his office and purpose, he be refused admittance. [L. '54, p. 129, § 1179; Cd. '81, § 1170; 2 H. C., § 1379.]

§ 2083. Officer to Exhibit Warrant.

The officer making an arrest must inform the defendant that he acts under authority of a warrant, and must also show the warrant if required. [Cf. L. '54, p. 114, § 74; Cd. '81, § 1030; L. '91, p. 55, § 43; 2 H. C., § 1259.]

§ 2084. Force may be Used.

If, after notice of the intention to arrest the defendant, he either flee or forcibly resist, the officer may use all necessary means to effect the arrest. [L. '54, p. 114, § 75; Cd. '81, § 1031; 2 H. C., § 1260.]

Right of officer to kill misdemeanant in order to effectuate arrest. 4 Ann. Cas. 760.

§ 2085. Pursuit of Prisoner, Assistance Commanded.

If a person arrested escape or be rescued, the person from whose custody he made his escape or was rescued may immediately pursue and retake him at any time and within any place in the state. To retake the person escaping or rescued, the person pursuing has the same power to command assistance as given in cases of arrest. [L. '54, p. 114, § 76; Cd. '81, § 1032; 2 H. C., § 1261.]

§ 2086. Taking and Entering Recognizance.

Recognizances in criminal proceedings may be taken in open court and entered on the order-book. [L. '54, p. 114, § 77; Cd. '81, § 1033; 2 H. C., § 1262.]

See supra, § 1957, recognizance, when and how taken.

§ 2087. Officer may Take Recognizances, etc.

Any officer authorized to execute a warrant in a criminal action may take the recognizance, and justify and improve the bail; he may administer an oath, and examine the bail as to its sufficiency. [L. '54, p. 114, § 78; Cd. '81, § 1034; 2 H. C., § 1263.]

§ 2088. Recognizance Certified and Recorded, Effect of.

Every recognizance taken by any peace officer must be certified by him forthwith to the clerk of the court to which the defendant is recognized. The clerk must thereupon record the recognizance in the order-book, and from the time of filing it has the same effect as if taken in open court. [L. '54, p. 114, § 79; Cd. '81, § 1035; 2 H. C., § 1264.]

§ 2089. Deposit of Money in Lieu of Bail.

The defendant may, in the place of giving bail, deposit with the clerk of the court to which he is held to answer the sum of money mentioned in the order; and upon delivering to the sheriff the certificate of deposit, he must be discharged from custody. § 2091. Rights of Defendant in Capital Cases.

As soon as may be after the finding of an indictment or the filing of an information for a capital crime, the party charged shall be served with a copy thereof by the sheriff or his deputy, at least twenty-four hours before trial, and shall, on demand upon the clerk by himself or counsel, have a list of the petit jurors returned delivered to him at least twenty-four hours before trial, and shall also have process to summon such witnesses as are necessary to his defense, at the expense of the county. [Cf. L. '54, p. 114, § 82; Cd. '81, § 1038; L. '91, p. 55, § 44; 2 H. C., § 1267.]

Cited in 7 Wash. 509; 42 Wash. 542; 56 Wash. 297.

This section does not entitle the accused to be tried by a jury selected solely from the names so returned, nor to demand that such list be exhausted before a special venire be issued, where part of such jurors are in attendance upon another department of the court: State v. Mayo, 42 Wash. 540, 85 Pac. 251, 7 Ann. Cas. 881.

§ 2092. Rights of Defendant Charged With a Felony.

Every person indicted or informed against for an offense for which he may be imprisoned in the penitentiary, if he be under recognizance or in custody to answer for such offense, he or his attorney shall be furnished with a copy of the indictment or information, and of all indorsements thereof, without paying any fees therefor. [Cf. L. '54, p. 115, § 83; Cd. '81, § 1039; L. '91, p. 55, § 45; 2 H. C., § 1268.]

CHAPTER XVI.

ARRAIGNMENT, PLEADINGS AND PROCEEDINGS THEREON.

§ 2093. Arraignment of Defendant.

When the indictment or information has been filed the defendant, if he has been arrested, or as soon thereafter as he may be, shall be arraigned thereon before the court. [L. '91, p. 55, § 46; 2 H. C., § 1269.]

Cited in 4 Wash. 207; 5 Wash. 643; 36 Wash. 360; 44 Wash. 618.

Arraignment, Plea and Waiver: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, §§ 61, 62; Elick v. Territory, 1 W. T. 136; State v. Brown, 37 Wash. 106, 79 Pac. 638.

A court commissioner has no power to take the arraignment of a prisoner, accept a plea of guilty, and render judgment, under Constitution, Art. IV, § 23, conferring upon him the power of a judge at chambers; since a judge at chambers, under Laws of 1891, p. 91, does not have the power of a court, and §§ 2093, 2120, 2187, require arraignment, plea of guilty, and sentence to be in open court: State v. Philip, 44 Wash. 615, 87 Pac. 955.

May defendant be arraigned after commencement of trial. 27 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1181.

Waiver of arraignment. Ann. Cas. 1917D, 829.

§ 2094. Defendant may Appear by Counsel, When.

If the indictment or information be for a misdemeanor punishable by fine only, the defendant may appear upon arraignment by counsel. [Cf. L. '54, p. 116, § 92; Cd. '81, § 1066; L. '91, p. 55, § 47; 2 H. C., § 1270.]

§ 2095. Right to have Counsel.

If the defendant appear without counsel, he shall be informed by the court that it is his right to have counsel before being arraigned, and he shall be asked if he desire the aid of counsel, and if it appear that he is unable to employ counsel, by reason of poverty, counsel shall be assigned to him by the court. [Cf. L. '54, p. 116, § 89; L. '55, p. 11; L. '60, p. 149, § 232; Cd. '81, § 1063; 2 H. C., § 1271.]

Appointment of Counsel for Accused: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 208; Presby v. Klickitat County, 5 Wash. 329, 31 Pac. 876; State v. Bush, 41 Wash. 13, 82 Pac. 1024; State v. Kelch, 95 Wash. 277, 163 Pac. 757; State v. Smith, 95 Wash. 271, 163 Pac. 759.

Error, if any, in arraigning appellant and compelling him to enter his plea before he could procure counsel, and without appointing counsel for him, is cured by the subsequent action of the court in allowing the plea of not guilty to be withdrawn and the validity of the information to be attacked by demurrer and motion to quash: State v. Boyce, 24 Wash. 514, 64 Pac. 719.

Right of accused to benefit of counsel before pleading to criminal charge. Ann. Cas. 1918D, 287.

§ 2096. Defendant to Declare His True Name.

When the defendant is arraigned, he shall be interrogated; if the name by which he is indicted be not his true name, he shall then declare his true name, or be proceeded against by the name in the indictment or information. [Cf. L. '54, p. 116, § 90; L. '69, p. 248, § 221; Cd. '81, § 1064; L. '91, p. 55, § 48; 2 H. C., § 1272.]

§ 2097. Entry of True Name.

If he alleges that another name is his true name it must be entered in the minutes of the court, and the subsequent proceedings on the indictment or information may be had against him by that name, referring also to the name by which he is indicted or informed against. [Cf. L. '54, p. 116, § 91; Cd. '81, § 1065; L. '91, p. 56, § 49; 2 H. C., § 1273.]

§ 2098. Pleading on Arraignment—Time for Answer.

In answer to the arraignment, the defendant may move to set aside the indictment or information, or he may demur or plead to it, and is entitled to one day after arraignment in which to answer thereto if he demand it. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1045; L. '91, p. 56, § 50; 2 H. C., § 1274.]

§ 2099. Grounds of Motion to Set Aside Indictment.

The motion to set aside the indictment can be made by the defendant on one or more of the following grounds, and must be sustained:—

1. When it is not indorsed "a true bill," and the indorsement signed by the foreman of the grand jury as prescribed by this code;

2. When the names of all the witnesses examined before the grand jury are not indorsed thereon;

3. When it has not been presented, and marked "filed," as prescribed by this code;

4. When any person, other than the grand jurors, was present before the grand jury when the question was taken upon the finding of the indictment, or when any person, other than the grand jurors, was present before the grand jury during the investigation of the charge, except as required or permitted by law;

5. That the grand jury were not selected, drawn, summoned, impaneled, or sworn as prescribed by law. [Cd. '81, § 1046; 2 H. C., § 1275.]

Right to quash part of a count of an indictment, leaving the remainder of the count intact. 22 L. E. A. (N. S.) 469.

§ 2100. Grounds not Allowed, When.

The ground of the motion to set aside the indictment mentioned in the fifth subdivision of the last section is not allowed to a defendant who has been held to answer before indictment. [Cd. '81, § 1047; 2 H. C., § 1275, last pt.]

§ 2101. Grounds of Motion to Set Aside Information.

A motion to set aside an information can be made by the defendant on one or more of the following grounds, and must be sustained:—

1. When it is not signed by the prosecuting attorney;

2. When it is not verified;

3. When it has not been marked "filed" by the clerk;

4. When the names of the witnesses are not indorsed upon it as required by section 2050. [L. '91, p. 56, § 51; 2 H. C., § 1276.]

Owen, 97 Wash. 466, 166 Pac. 793.

§ 2102. Must Demur or Plead on Denial of Motion.

If the motion to set aside the indictment [or information] be denied, the defendant must immediately answer the indictment or information, either by demurring or pleading thereto. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1048; L. '91, p. 56, § 52; 2 H. C., § 1277.]

§ 2103. Effect of Order for Resubmission.

If the court direct that the case be resubmitted, the defendant, if already in custody, must so remain, unless he be admitted to bail; or if already admitted to bail, or money has been deposited instead thereof, the bail or money is answerable for the appearance of the defendant to answer a new indictment or information. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1049; L. '91, p. 56, § 53; 2 H. C., § 1278.]

§ 2104. Order No Bar to Another Prosecution.

An order to set aside the indictment or information as provided in this chapter shall be no bar to a future prosecution for the same offense. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1050; L. '91, p. 56, § 54; 2 H. C., § 1279.]

§ 2105. Grounds of Demurrer.

The defendant may demur to the indictment or information when it appears upon its face either,—

1. That it does not substantially conform to the requirements of this code;
2. [That] more than one crime is charged;
3. That the facts charged do not constitute a crime;
4. That the indictment or information contains any matter which if true would constitute a defense or other legal bar to the action. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1051; L. '91, p. 56, § 55; 2 H. C., § 1280.]

§ 2106. Judgment on Demurrer Final, When.

If the demurrer is sustained because the judgment or information contains matter which is a legal defense or bar to the action, the judgment shall be final, and the defendant must be discharged. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1052; L. '91, p. 57, § 56; 2 H. C., § 1281.]

to the complaint below, may direct a new complaint or information to be filed: State v. Bringgold, 40 Wash. 12, 82 Pac. 132, 5 Ann. Cas. 716.

§ 2107. Effect of Failure to Plead After Demurrer Overruled.

If the demurrer is overruled, the defendant has a right to put in a plea. If he fails to do so, judgment may be rendered against him on the demurrer, and if necessary, a jury may be impaneled to inquire and ascertain the degree of the offense. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1053; 2 H. C., § 1282.]

Cited in 16 Wash. 115; 20 Wash. 560.

This section was not impliedly repealed by another section of the same statute providing that no person indicted by a grand jury shall be convicted except by confession or by a verdict of a jury: State v. Harding, 20 Wash. 556, 56 Pac. 399, 929.

§ 2108. The Three Pleas of Defendant.

There are but three pleas to the indictment or information: A plea of,—

1. Guilty;

2. Not guilty;

3. A former judgment of conviction or acquittal of the offense charged, which may be pleaded with or without the plea of not guilty. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1054; L. '91, p. 57, § 57; 2 H. C., § 1283.]

§ 2109. Pleas, How Entered—Form of.

The plea may be entered on the record substantially in the following form:—

1. A plea of guilty: The defendant pleads that he is guilty of the offense charged in the indictment (or information, as the case may be);

2. A plea of not guilty: The defendant pleads that he is not guilty of the offense charged in the indictment (or information, as the case may be);

3. A plea of former conviction or acquittal: The defendant pleads that he has formerly been convicted (or acquitted, as the case may be) of the offense charged in the indictment (or information, as the case may be), by the judgment of the court of (naming it), rendered on the — day of —, A. D. 18— (naming the time). [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1055; L. '91, p. 57, § 58; 2 H. C., § 1284.]

§ 2110. Plea of Guilty must be Put in by Defendant.

The plea of guilty can only be put in by the defendant himself in open court. [Cd. '81, § 1056; 2 H. C., § 1285.]

See supra, § 2094, appearance by counsel in misdemeanors.

Cited in 44 Wash. 618.

§ 2111. Substitution of Plea.

At any time before judgment, the court may permit the plea of guilty to be withdrawn and other plea or pleas substituted. [Cd. '81, § 1057; 2 H. C., § 1286.]

Cited in 53 Wash. 270; 101 Wash. 204, 205; 102 Wash. 604; 109 Wash. 163.

Withdrawal: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 68; State v. Cimini, 53 Wash. 268, 101 Pac. 891; State v. Wilmot, 95 Wash. 326, 163 Pac. 742; State v. Scott, 101 Wash. 199, 172 Pac. 234.

An application to withdraw a plea of guilty is addressed to the sound discretion of the court; but in view of sections 2111, 2181, it can only be entertained after judgment as an application to vacate the judgment; and if for irregularity or fraud, the judgment is entitled to every reasonable intendment in its support, and will be set aside only upon a clear showing and adjudication of a prima facie defense on the merits: State v. Anderson, 109 Wash. 161, 186 Pac. 266.

Right of accused to withdraw plea of guilty. 8 Ann. Cas. 237; 16 Ann. Cas. 973; Ann. Cas. 1912D, 243.

§ 2112. Plea of not Guilty, Effect of.

The plea of not guilty is a denial of every material allegation in the indictment or information; and all matters of fact may be given in evidence under it, except a former conviction or acquittal. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1058; L. '91, p. 57, § 59; 2 H. C., § 1287.]

§ 2113. Conviction or Acquittal Operates as a Bar, When.

A conviction or acquittal by a judgment upon a verdict shall bar another prosecution for the same offense [notwithstanding a defect in form or substance in the indictment or information on which the conviction or acquittal took place]. [Cf. Cd. '81, §§ 768, 1059; L. '91, p. 57, § 60; 2 H. C., §§ 1288, 1365.]

Impliedly repealed in part. The decision in 84 Wash. 113 must be confined to the bracketted words, or there will be no statutory authority for a bar by a verdict on the merits, except in prosecutions in another state or county (§§ 2271, 2272) or for a different degree (§§ 2166, 2366).

This section was impliedly repealed by § 2316, infra: State v. George, 84 Wash. 113, 146 Pac. 378.

§ 2114. Judgment on Demurrer No Bar—Exception.

The judgment for the defendant on a demurrer to the indictment or information, except where it is otherwise provided, or for an objection taken at the trial to its form or substance, or for variance between the indictment or information and the proof, shall not bar another prosecution for the same offense. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1060; L. '91, p. 58, § 61; 2 H. C., § 1289.]

See supra, § 2106, judgment on demurrer, when final.

§ 2115. Refusal to Plead—Plea of not Guilty to be Entered.

If the defendant fail or refuse to answer the indictment or information by demurrer or plea, a plea of not guilty must be entered by the court. [Cf. L. '54, p. 116, § 88; Cd. '81, § 1061; L. '91, p. 58, § 62; 2 H. C., § 1290.]

v. United States, 1 W. T. 5; State v. Straub, 16 Wash. 111, 47 Pac. 227.

§ 2116. On Charge of Murder Jury must be Impaneled.

If, on the arraignment of any person, he shall plead guilty, if the offense charged be not murder, the court shall, in its discretion, hear testimony, and determine the amount and kind of punishment to be inflicted; but if the defendant plead guilty to a charge of murder, a jury shall be impaneled to hear testimony, and determine the degree of murder and the punishment therefor. § 2118. Conviction Necessary Before Punishment.

No person charged with any offense against the law shall be punished for such offense unless he shall have been duly and legally convicted thereof in a court having competent jurisdiction of the case and of the person. [L. '54, p. 76, § 6; Cd. '81, § 770; 2 H. C., § 1367.]

§ 2126. Compromise of Misdemeanor, When.

When a defendant is prosecuted in a criminal action for a misdemeanor, for which the person injured by the act constituting the offense has a remedy by a civil action, the offense may be compromised as provided in the next section, except when it was committed,—

1. By or upon an officer while in the execution of the duties of his office;
2. Riotously; or
3. With an intent to commit a felony. [L. '54, p. 115, § 84; Cd. '81, § 1040; 2 H. C., § 1292.]

§ 2127. Compromising Criminal Actions, When and How.

In such case, if the party injured appear in the court in which the cause is pending at any time before the final judgment therein, and acknowledge in writing, that he has received satisfaction for the injury, the court may, in its discretion on payment of the costs incurred, order all proceedings to be discontinued and the defendant to be discharged. The reasons for making the order must be set forth therein and entered in the minutes. Such order is a bar to another prosecution for the same offense. [Cf. L. '54, p. 115, § 84; Cd. '81, §§ 1041, 1042; L. '91, p. 58, § 63; 2 H. C., § 1293.]

See infra, § 2866, compounding or concealing crime.

§ 2128. Offenses not to be Compromised Except as Herein Provided.

No offense can be compromised, nor can any proceedings for the prosecution or punishment thereof be stayed upon a compromise, except as provided in this chapter. [Cf. Cd. '81, § 1043; L. '91, p. 58, § 64; 2 H. C., § 1294.]

§ 2129. Restoration of Stolen Property—Duty of Officer.

All property obtained by larceny, robbery, or burglary, shall be restored to the owner; and no sale, whether in good faith on the part of the purchaser or not, shall divest the owner of his rights to such property; and it shall be the duty of the officer who shall arrest any such person charged as principal or accessory in any robbery or larceny, to secure the property alleged to have been stolen, and he shall be answerable for the same, and shall annex a schedule thereof to his return of the warrant. [L. '54, p. 84, § 51; Cd. '81, § 851; 2 H. C., § 1380.]

§ 2130. Recompense for Securing and Keeping Stolen Property.

Upon any conviction of burglary, robbery, or larceny, the court may order a suitable recompense to the prosecutor, and also to the officer who has secured and kept the stolen property, not exceeding their actual expenses, with a reasonable allowance for their time and trouble, to be paid by the county treasurer. [L. '54, p. 84, § 52; Cd. '81, § 852; 2 H. C., § 1381.]

CHAPTER XVII.

TRIALS AND VERDICTS IN CRIMINAL ACTIONS.

§ 2134. Trial Docket.

The clerk shall, in preparing the docket of criminal cases, enumerate the indictments and informations pending according to the date of their filing, specifying opposite to the title of each action whether it be for a felony or misdemeanor, and whether the defendant be in custody or on bail; and shall, in like manner, enter therein all indictments and informations on which issues of fact are joined, all cases brought to the court on change of venue from other counties, and all cases pending upon appeal from inferior courts. [Cf. L. '54, p. 115, § 86; Cd. '81, § 1044; L. '91, p. 58, § 65; 2 H. C., § 1295.]

§ 2135. Continuance, When Granted.

A continuance may be granted in any case on the ground of the absence of evidence, on the motion of the defendant, supported by affidavit showing the materiality of the evidence expected to be obtained, and that due diligence has been used to procure it, and also the name and place of residence of the witness or witnesses, and the substance of the evidence expected to be obtained; and if the prosecuting attorney admit that such evidence would be given, and that it be considered as actually given on the trial, or offered and overruled as improper, the continuance shall not be granted. [L. '77, p. 206, § 7; Cd. '81, § 1077; 2 H. C., § 1296.]

Cited in 29 Wash. 448; 107 Wash. 572.

Continuance: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, §§ 191—193-1. Discretion: Blanton v. State, 1 Wash. 265, 24 Pac. 139; State v. Grune, 72 Wash. 448, 130 Pac. 751; State v. Hooker, 99 Wash. 661, 170 Pac. 374; State v. Musselman, 101 Wash. 330, 172 Pac. 346.

Under the express provision of this section, a continuance on account of the absence of a witness, is properly denied where the prosecuting attorney admitted that the witness would testify, as claimed, the same as upon a former trial and such testimony was read to the jury: State v. Conner, 167 Wash. 571, 182 Pac. 602.

A motion for a continuance is properly denied where the affidavit therefor did not give the names of any of the absent witnesses or what they would testify to, and where it also failed to show that in a case of a continuance any testimony could have been procured that was not produced at the trial: State v. Vance, 29 Wash. 435, 70 Pac. 34.

See, also, State v. Argentieri, 105 Wash. 7, 177 Pac. 690; State v. Grant, 105 Wash. 189, 177 Pac. 784.

§ 2136. Subpoena for State Witnesses—Continuance for State.

The clerk shall, at the time of issuing a warrant for the defendant, issue a subpoena for all the witnesses whose names are indorsed on the indictment, and any others required; but in no case shall a continuance be granted to the state on account of the absence of any witness whose name is not indorsed on the indictment. [Cd. '81, § 1068.]

The present force of this section is doubtful.

§ 2137. Issues to be Tried by Jury—Practice as in Civil Cases.

Except as otherwise specially provided, issues of fact joined upon an indictment or information shall be tried by a jury of twelve persons, and the law relating to the drawing, retaining, and selecting jurors, and trials by jury in civil cases, shall apply to criminal cases. [Cf. L. '54, p. 118, § 101; Cd. '81, § 1078; L. '91, p. 58, § 66; 2 H. C., § 1297.]

§ 2137-1. Alternate Jurors—Drawing—Qualifications—Attendance.

Whenever, in the opinion of a judge of a superior court about to try a defendant against whom has been filed an indictment or information for a felony, the trial is likely to be a protracted one, the court may cause an entry to that effect to be made in the minutes of the court, and thereupon, immediately after the jury is impaneled and sworn the court may direct the calling of one or two additional jurors, in its discretion, to be known as "alternate jurors." Such jurors must be drawn from the same source, and in the same manner, and of the same qualifications as the jurors already sworn, to be subject to the same examination and challenge: Provided, that the prosecution shall be entitled to one, and the defendant to two peremptory challenges to such alternate jurors. Such alternate jurors shall be seated near, with equal power and facilities for seeing and hearing the proceedings in the case, and shall take the same oath as the jurors already selected, and must attend at all times upon the trial of the cause in company with the other jurors; and for a failure so to do are liable to be punished for contempt. They shall obey the orders of and be bound by the admonition of the court upon each adjournment of the court; but if the regular jurors are ordered to be kept in the custody of the sheriff during the trial of the case, such alternate jurors shall also be kept in confinement with the other jurors; and except, as hereinafter provided, shall be discharged upon the final submission of the case to the jury. If, before the final submission of the case, a juror die, or become ill, so as to be unable to perform his duty, the court may order him to be discharged and draw the name of an alternative, who shall then take his place in the jury box and be subject to the same rules and regulations as though he had been elected as one of the original jurors. [L. '17, p. 185, § 1.]

§ 2138. Peremptory Challenges, Number Allowed Defendant.

In prosecution for capital offenses, the defendant may challenge peremptorily twelve jurors; in prosecution for offenses punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, six jurors; in all other prosecutions, three jurors. When several defendants are on trial together, they must join in their challenges. [L. '54, p. 118, § 102; Cd. '81, § 1079; 2 H. C., § 1298.]

Cited in 83 Wash. 2.

Construing all the statutory provisions together on the subject of challenges to jurors, defendant must, in prosecution for homicide, exercise two peremptory challenges to one by the state, until the twelve and six peremptory challenges respectively are exhausted: State v. Eddon, 8 Wash. 292, 36 Pac. 139.

Under this section, "capital offenses" refers only to those punishable by death; and the death penalty having been abolished, the right to twelve peremptory challenges is suspended, and the fact that the crime was committed prior to the abolishment of the death penalty is immaterial, where the accused was not insisting on the application of the capital penalty: State v. Johnston, 83 Wash. 1, 144 Pac. 944.

§ 2140. Challenges to Panel, When Allowed.

Challenges to the panel shall only be allowed for a material departure from the forms prescribed by law for the drawing and return of the jury, and shall be in writing, sworn to, and proved to the satisfaction of the court. [L. '54, p. 118, § 104; Cd. '81, § 1081; 2 H. C., § 1300.]

Under this section, it will be presumed, where the record shows that the court heard testimony in passing upon the challenge which was not brought up on appeal, that it was sufficient to sustain the court's conclusion: State v. Vance, 29 Wash. 435, 70 Pac. 34.

Under this section, the requirement that a jury be drawn for "the ensuing month" is not so material as to invalidate a panel part of whom were drawn for the month of December, but not summoned until January: State v. Leroy, 61 Wash. 405, 112 Pac. 635.

§ 2141. Challenges for Cause.

Challenges for cause shall be allowed for such cause as the court may, in its discretion, deem sufficient, having reference to the causes of challenge prescribed in civil cases, as far as they may be applicable, and to the substantial rights of the defendant. § 2148. Compelling Attendance of Witnesses—Defendant as Witness—Failure to Testify.

Witnesses may be compelled to attend and testify before the grand jury; and witnesses on behalf of the state, or of the defendant, in a criminal prosecution, may be compelled to attend and testify in open court, if they have been subpoenaed, without their fees being first paid or tendered, unless otherwise provided by law; the court may, upon the motion of the prosecuting attorney, recognize witnesses, with or without sureties, to attend and testify at any hearing or trial in any criminal prosecution in any court of this state, or before the grand jury, and in default of such recognizance the court may direct that such witness shall be detained in the custody of the sheriff until the hearing or trial of the prosecution in which such testimony may be required: Provided, however, that each witness so detained by order of court pursuant to the provisions of this section, shall be paid, in addition to witness fees for actual attendance in court, the sum of one dollar per day for time actually detained in custody, and shall be furnished food and lodging while so detained, and any person accused of any crime in this state, by indictment, information, or otherwise, may, in the examination or trial of the cause, offer himself, or herself, as a witness in his or her own behalf, and shall be allowed to testify as other witnesses in such case, and when accused shall so testify, he or she shall be subject to all the rules of law relating to cross-examination of other witnesses: Provided, that nothing in this code shall be construed to compel such accused person to offer himself or herself as a witness in such case: And provided further, that it shall be the duty of the court to instruct the jury that no inference of guilt shall arise against the accused if the accused shall fail or refuse to testify as a witness in his or her own behalf. § 2162. Discharging One Defendant to Give Evidence—Effect of.

When two or more persons are included in one prosecution, the court may, at any time before the defendant has gone into his defense, direct any defendant to be discharged, that he may be a witness for the state. A defendant may also, when there is not sufficient evidence to put him on his defense, at any time before the evidence is closed, be discharged by the court, for the purpose of giving evidence for a co-defendant. The order of discharge is a bar to another prosecution for the same offense. [L. '54, p. 120, § 117; Cd. '81, § 1092; 2 H. C., § 1314.]

§ 2163. Mistake in Charge, Defendant to be Held, When.

When it appears, at any time before verdict or judgment, that a mistake has been made in charging the proper offense, the defendant shall not be discharged if there appear to be good cause to detain him in custody; but the court must recognize him to answer the offense shown, and if necessary, recognize the witnesses to appear and testify. [L. '54, p. 120, § 118; Cd. '81, § 1093; 2 H. C., § 1315.]

§ 2164. Venue may be Corrected and Action Certified to Proper County.

When it appears, at any time before verdict or judgment, that the defendant is prosecuted in a county not having jurisdiction, the court may order the venue of the indictment or information to be corrected, and direct that all papers and proceedings be certified to the superior court of the proper county, and recognize the defendant and witnesses to appear at such court, on a day specified in the order, and the prosecution shall proceed in the latter court in the same manner as if it had been there commenced. When a jury has been impaneled in either case contemplated in the last two preceding sections, such jury may be discharged without prejudice to the prosecution. [L. '54, p. 120, § 120; Cd. '81, § 1095; L. '91, p. 60, § 73; 2 H. C., § 1317.]

§ 2166. When Conviction or Acquittal a Bar.

When the defendant has been convicted or acquitted upon an indictment or information of an offense consisting of different degrees, the conviction or acquittal shall be a bar to another indictment or information for the offense charged in the former, or for any lower degree of that offense, or for an offense necessarily included therein. § 2167. Jury may Find Any Degree of Offense.

Upon an indictment or information for an offense consisting of different degrees, the jury may find the defendant not guilty of the degree charged in the indictment or information, and guilty of any degree inferior thereto, or of an attempt to commit the offense. Crist, 62 Wash. 326, 113 Pac. 772.

See, also, State v. Beatty, 59 Wash. 235, 109 Pac. 1011.

In a prosecution for assault with intent to commit murder, it is error to refuse a requested instruction to the effect that the jury may, in case the evidence warrants it, find the defendant guilty of assault, or of assault and battery: State v. Dolan, 17 Wash. 499, 50 Pac. 472.

Under an information charging accused with an assault with intent to commit murder, a verdict of "guilty of assault with a deadly weapon with an intent to do bodily harm," is erroneous, as such verdict convicts him of an offense other than the one alleged in the information: State v. Ackles, 8 Wash. 462, 36 Pac. 597; State v. Largent, 9 Wash. 691, 38 Pac. 751; State v. Manning, 9 Wash. 695, 38 Pac. 752.

Where defendant is charged with "assault with intent to kill," a verdict of guilty of a part of the crime charged must specify the particular offense of which the accused is found guilty: State v. Snider, 32 Wash. 299, 73 Pac. 355.

The jury may find a defendant guilty of any offense which is necessarily included in the charge in the indictment: Clarke v. Territory, 1 W. T. 68; Timmerman v. Territory, 3 W. T. 445, 17 Pac. 624.

Thus a conviction for manslaughter may be had under an indictment charging murder in the first degree: White v. Territory, 3 W. T. 397, 19 Pac. 37.

This section permits one accused of grand larceny to enter a plea of guilty to the offense of petit larceny: State v. Wilmot, 95 Wash. 326, 163 Pac. 742.

§ 2169. Verdict as to One or More Where Several are Charged.

On an indictment or information against several, if the jury cannot agree upon a verdict as to all, they may render a verdict as to those in regard to whom they do agree, on which a judgment shall be entered accordingly. [Cf. L. '54, p. 120, § 124; Cd. '81, § 1099; L. '91, p. 61, § 77; 2 H. C., § 1321.]

§ 2170. Reconsideration Where Jury Mistakes the Law.

When there is a verdict of conviction in which it appears to the court that the jury have mistaken the law, the court may explain the reason for that opinion, and direct the jury to reconsider the verdict; and if after such reconsideration they return the same verdict, it must be entered, but it shall be good cause for new trial. When there is a verdict of acquittal, the court cannot require the jury to reconsider it. [Cf. L. '54, p. 121, § 125; Cd. '81, § 1100; L. '91, p. 61, § 78; 2 H. C., § 1322.]

See supra, §§ 359, 361, polling jury and receiving verdict.

§ 2171. Rendition of Verdict.

When the jury have agreed upon their verdict, they must be conducted into court by the officer having them in charge. Their names must then be called, and if all appear, their verdict must be rendered in open court; and if all do not appear, the rest must be discharged without giving a verdict and the cause must be tried again. [Cf. L. '54, p. 121, § 127; Cd. '81, § 1102; L. '91, p. 61, § 80; 2 H. C., § 1324.]

§ 2172. Form of Verdict—Punishment Fixed by Court.

When the defendant is found guilty, the court, and not the jury, shall fix the amount of fine and the punishment to be inflicted. The verdict of the jury may be substantially in the following form:—

“We, the jury, in the case of the state of Washington, plaintiff, against —, defendant, find the defendant (guilty or not guilty, as the case may be). (Signed) A. B. Foreman.”

[Cf. L. '54, p. 121, § 128; L. '65, p. 101, § 1; Cd. '81, § 1103; 2 H. C., § 1335.]

§ 2173. "Criminally Insane," Defined—Mental Irresponsibility.

Any person who shall have committed a crime while insane, or in a condition of mental irresponsibility, and in whom such insanity or mental irresponsibility continues to exist, shall be deemed criminally insane within the meaning of this act. No condition of mind induced by the voluntary act of a person charged with a crime shall be deemed mental irresponsibility within the meaning of this act. [L. '07, p. 33, § 1.]

ton's Digest, Crim. Law, § 195-1; State v. Peterson, 90 Wash. 479, 156 Pac. 542.

§ 2174. Insanity—How Pleaded.

When it is desired to interpose the defense of insanity or mental irresponsibility on behalf of one charged with a crime, the defendant, his counsel or other person authorized by law to appear and act for him, shall at the time of pleading to the information or indictment file a plea in writing in addition to the plea or pleas required or permitted by other laws than this, setting up (1) his insanity or mental irresponsibility at the time of the commission of the crime charged, and (2) whether the insanity or mental irresponsibility still exists, or (3) whether the defendant has become sane or mentally responsible between the time of the commission of the crime and the time of the trial. The plea may be interposed at any time thereafter, before the submission of the cause to the jury, if it be proven that the insanity or mental irresponsibility of the defendant at the time of the crime was not before known to any person authorized to interpose a plea. [L. '07, p. 33, § 2.]

Cited in 56 Wash. 298, 299; 63 Wash. 486, 487; 69 Wash. 237, 238; 88 Wash. 320; 90 Wash. 480, 481.

Several Pleas: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 66; State v. Quinn, 56 Wash. 295, 105 Pac. 818; State v. Elliott, 69 Wash. 62, 124 Pac. 212.

Under this section, the plea is waived if not interposed before jury trial, and hence cannot be urged in the supreme court as ground for suspending judgment: State v. Wilson, 69 Wash. 235, 124 Pac. 1125.

The fact that the evidence is more compatible with mental irresponsibility amounting to temporary insanity has no bearing on the question of mitigation on account of sudden anger and heat of blood, where the defense of insanity was not pleaded as required by this section, but was expressly disclaimed: State v. Gounagias, 88 Wash. 304, 153 Pac. 9, L. R. A. 1916C, 581.

Where the defense is insanity, the state has the right to open and close, since the main issue is his guilt or innocence, although the defendant has the burden of overcoming the presumption of sanity: State v. Harris, 74 Wash. 60, 132 Pac. 735.

Admissibility on issue of mental condition of proceedings to determine sanity of a prisoner awaiting trial. 7 A. L. R. 576.

§ 2175. Special Verdict on Acquittal, When Plea of Insanity Interposed.

If the plea of insanity or mental irresponsibility be interposed, and evidence upon that issue be given, the court shall instruct the jury when giving the charge, that in case a verdict of acquittal of the crime charged be returned, they shall also return special verdicts finding (1) whether the defendant committed the crime and if so, (2) whether they acquit him because of his insanity or mental irresponsibility at the time of its commission, (3) whether the insanity or mental irresponsibility continues and exists at the time of the trial, and (4) whether, if such condition of insanity or mental irresponsibility does not exist at the time of the trial, there is such likelihood of a relapse or recurrence of the insane or mental irresponsible condition, that the defendant is not a safe person to be at large. Forms for the return of the special verdicts shall be submitted to the jury with the forms for the general verdicts. [L. '07, p. 33, § 3.]

Acquittal on the ground of insanity is conclusive that defendant is insane, and the fact that defendant killed a man is conclusive that he is "manifestly dangerous," in the absence of clear evidence that his mental condition has undergone a radical change: State ex rel. Thompson v. Snell, 46 Wash. 327, 89 Pac. 931, 9 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1191.

Under the constitution a person cannot be put on trial while insane: State ex rel. Mackintosh v. Superior Court, 45 Wash. 248, 88 Pac. 207.

Insanity is a question for the jury: State v. Churchill, 52 Wash. 210, 100 Pac. 309.

§ 2176. Verdict—Findings—Discharge or Commitment.

If the jury find by their special verdicts that the defendant committed the crime charged, that he is acquitted because of his insanity or mental irresponsibility at the time of its commission, and that before the trial he has become a sane or mentally responsible person, and is not liable to a relapse or recurrence of the insane or mentally irresponsible condition, and is a safe person to be at large, he shall be discharged. If the jury find that the defendant committed the crime charged, that he is acquitted because of his insanity or mental irresponsibility at the time of its commission, and that the insanity or mental irresponsibility still exists, or, if it does not exist, that he is so liable to a relapse or recurrence of the insane or mentally irresponsible condition as to be an unsafe person to be at large, the court shall enter judgment in accordance therewith, and shall order the defendant committed as a criminally insane person until such time as he shall be discharged as hereinafter provided. [L. '07, p. 34, § 4. Cf. L. '54, p. 121, § 126; Cd. '81, § 1101; L. '91, p. 61, § 79; 2 H. C., § 1323.]

CHAPTER XVIII.

NEW TRIAL AND ARREST OF JUDGMENT.

§ 2181. When New Trial may be Granted.

An application for a new trial must be made before judgment, and may be granted for the following causes materially affecting a substantial right of the defendant:—

1. When the jury has received any evidence, paper, document, or book not allowed by the court;
2. Misconduct of the jury;
3. Newly discovered evidence material for the defendant, which he could not have discovered with reasonable diligence, and produced at the trial;
4. Accident or surprise;

5. Error of law occurring at the trial and excepted to by the defendant;
 6. When the verdict is contrary to law and evidence; but not more than two new trials shall be granted for these causes alone. [Cf. L. '54, p. 121, § 130; Cd. '81, § 1105; L. '91, p. 61, § 81; 2 H. C., § 1326.]

See infra, § 10288, certain criminals to be sentenced to reformatory.

See infra, § 10298, indefinite sentences not void.

§ 2195. Indeterminate Sentence to Reformatory.

Every sentence to the Washington state reformatory of a person hereinafter convicted of a felony, shall be a general sentence to imprisonment in the Washington state reformatory, giving the location thereof, and the courts of this state imposing such sentence shall not fix or limit the duration thereof. The terms of such imprisonment of any prisoner so convicted and sentenced shall be terminated by the board of managers of the Washington state reformatory as authorized by this act, but such imprisonment shall not exceed the maximum provided by law for the crime for which the person was convicted nor be less than the minimum term provided by law for a felony; and a person sentenced to the Washington state reformatory shall, within thirty days after his sentence, unless the execution thereof be suspended, be conveyed to the Washington state reformatory by the state board of control in the manner prescribed in section 10920 of this code, and delivered into the custody of the superintendent of the Washington state reformatory, together with a certified copy of the sentence of the court, and there be safely kept until released by the board of managers of the Washington state reformatory, or until said prisoner be pardoned by the governor, and if the execution of the sentence be suspended, and the judgment be afterward affirmed, the defendant shall be conveyed to the Washington state reformatory within thirty days after the court directs the execution of the sentence. This section controls section 2145, providing that no person shall be tried unless personally present: State ex rel. Gabe v. Main, 66 Wash. 381, 119 Pac. 844.

Under this section it is not necessary that a defendant out on bail be present upon receipt of a verdict of acquittal: State ex rel. Gabe v. Main, 66 Wash. 381, 119 Pac. 844.

§ 2197. Warrant for Defendant, When.

If in any case the defendant is not present when his personal attendance is necessary, the court may order the clerk to issue a warrant for his arrest, which may be served in any county in this state, as a warrant of arrest in other cases. [L. '54, p. 123, § 138; Cd. '81, § 1116; 2 H. C., § 1338.]

§ 2198. Defendant to be Informed of Verdict.

When the defendant appears for judgment, he must be informed by the court of the verdict of the jury, and asked whether he have any legal cause to show why judgment should not be pronounced against him. [L. '54, p. 123, § 139; Cd. '81, § 1117; 2 H. C., § 1339.]

§ 2199. Bench-warrant, Forfeiture of Bail, etc.

If the defendant have been discharged on bail, or have deposited money instead thereof, and do not appear for judgment when his personal appearance is necessary, the court, in addition to the forfeiture of the recognizance, or of the money deposited, may direct the clerk to issue a bench-warrant for his arrest. [L. '54, p. 123, § 140; Cd. '81, § 1118; 2 H. C., § 1340.]

§ 2200. Commitment Until Fine and Costs Paid.

When the defendant is adjudged to pay a fine and costs, the court shall order him to be committed to the custody of the sheriff until the fine and costs are paid or secured as provided by law. [L. '54, p. 123, § 141; Cd. '81, § 1119; 2 H. C., § 1341.]

§ 2201. Execution as in Civil Actions for Fine and Costs.

Upon a judgment for fine and costs, and for all adjudged costs, execution shall be issued against the property of the defendant, and returned in the same manner as in civil actions. [L. '54, p. 123, § 142; Cd. '81, § 1120; 2 H. C., § 1342.]

See supra, § 510 et seq., execution in civil actions.

§ 2202. Recognizance to Keep the Peace—Exception.

Every court before whom any person shall be convicted upon an indictment or information for an offense not punishable with death or imprisonment in the penitentiary may, in addition to the punishment prescribed by law, require such person to recognize with sufficient sureties in a reasonable sum to keep the peace, or to be of good behavior, or both, for any term not exceeding one year, and to stand committed until he shall so recognize. [Cf. L. '54, p. 123, § 143; Cd. '81, § 1121; L. '91, p. 62, § 83; 2 H. C., § 1343.]

§ 2203. Proceedings upon Breach of Bond.

In case of the breach of the conditions of any such recognizance the same proceedings shall be had that are by law prescribed in relation to recognizances to keep the peace. [L. '54, p. 123, § 144; Cd. '81, § 1122; 2 H. C., § 1344.]

See supra, § 1936 et seq., provisions relating to recognizances to keep the peace.

§ 2204. Stay upon Judgment Sixty Days.

Every defendant against whom a judgment has been rendered for fine and costs may stay the execution for the fine assessed and costs for sixty days from the rendition of the judgment, by procuring one or more sufficient sureties, to enter into a recognizance in open court, acknowledging themselves to be bail for such fine and costs. [L. '54, p. 124, § 145; Cd. '81, § 1123; 2 H. C., § 1345.]

§ 2205. Qualification and Liability of Sureties.

Such sureties shall be approved by the clerk, and the entry of the recognizance shall be written immediately following the judgment, and signed by the bail, and shall have the same effect as a judgment; and if the fine or costs be not paid at the expiration of the sixty days, a joint execution shall issue against the defendant and the bail, and an execution against the body of the defendant, who shall be committed to jail, to be released as provided in this code in committal for default to pay or secure the fine and costs. [L. '54, p. 124, § 146; Cd. '81, § 1124; 2 H. C., § 1346.]

§ 2206. Judgment of Fine and Costs, How Enforced.

If any person ordered into custody until the fine and costs adjudged against him be paid shall not, within five days pay or cause the payment of the same to be made, the clerk of the court shall issue a warrant to the sheriff commanding him to imprison such defendant in the county jail until such fine and costs are paid, or until he has been imprisoned in such jail one day for every three dollars of such fine and costs; but execution may at any time issue against the property of the defendant as in other cases. [Cf. L. '54, p. 124, § 147; Cd. '81, § 1125; L. '83, p. 38, § 1; L. '91, p. 62, § 84; 2 H. C., § 1347.]

§ 2207. Certified Transcript—Mittimus.

When any person shall be sentenced to be imprisoned in the penitentiary or county jail, the clerk of the court shall, as soon as may be, make out and deliver to the sheriff of the county, or his deputy, a transcript, from the minutes of the court, of such conviction and sentence, duly certified by such clerk, which shall be sufficient authority for such sheriff to execute the sentence, who shall execute it accordingly. [L. '54, p. 124, § 148; Cd. '81, § 1126; 2 H. C., § 1348.]

Cited in 66 Wash. 11, 12.

One imprisoned in the county jail after a final judgment of conviction and sentence authorizing his detention is lawfully in custody and may be guilty of an attempt to escape jail, although the sheriff did not have in his possession any commitment or written evidence of authority to detain him; this section merely providing that such a commitment shall be sufficient authority to the sheriff to execute sentence, not that it is essential: State v. Hatfield, 66 Wash. 9, 118 Pac. 893, 38 L. R. A. (N. S.) 609.

§ 2208. Form of Sentence to Penitentiary.

In every case where imprisonment in the penitentiary is awarded against any convict, the form of the sentence shall be, that he be punished by confinement at hard labor; and he may also be sentenced to solitary imprisonment for such term as the court shall direct, not exceeding twenty days at any one time; and in the execution of such punishment the solitary [imprisonment] shall precede the punishment by hard labor, unless the court shall otherwise order. [L. '54, p. 124, § 149; Cd. '81, § 1127; 2 H. C., § 1349.]

See § 2281, indeterminate sentence.

See infra, § 10201, solitary confinement.

Where there are two judgments rendered and filed on the same date with two different sentences in them, the real sentence is void for uncertainty, and punishment thereunder is not justified: Davis v. Catron, 22 Wash. 183, 60 Pac. 131.

§ 2209. Fine and Costs, How Worked Out.

When a defendant is committed to jail on failure to pay any fines and costs, he shall, under the order of the county commissioners, work out the amount of the fine and costs at the rate of two dollars per day; and in case he shall so work out the fine and costs, or in case he shall not be able to work, or the county commissioners fail to provide work, and he shall have been confined in the county jail one day for every two dollars of such fine and costs, no execution shall issue therefor. When any defendant is in the custody of the sheriff by virtue of a sentence of imprisonment in the county jail, and if there be no county jail in the county, he shall, under the order of the county commissioners, cause such person to work his unexpired term of imprisonment in such manner as said county commissioners may direct [L. '83, p. 38, § 1. Cf. L. '54, p. 124, § 151; L. '77, p. 206, § 8; Cd. '81, § 1129; 2 H. C., § 1350.]

§ 2210. Death Warrant, Contents, Return.

When judgment of death is rendered following conviction and no appeal is taken, or the judgment has been affirmed on appeal, a death warrant shall be issued by the clerk of the trial court, which said warrant shall be signed by a judge of said court and attested by the clerk thereof under the seal of the court. Said warrant shall be directed to the superintendent of the state penitentiary of the state of Washington, and shall state the conviction of the person named therein and the judgment of the court, and appoint a day in which the judgment shall be executed by the superintendent of the state penitentiary, which shall not be less than thirty nor more than ninety days from the date of final judgment. [L. '01, Ex. Sess., p. 17, § 1. Cf. L. '54, p. 125, § 152; L. '60, p. 159, § 291; Cd. '81, § 1130; 2 H. C., § 1351.]

This section does not apply to crimes committed prior to its taking effect, which are governed by the laws existing at the time of their commission: See infra, § 2221.

Cited in 25 Wash. 272, 612.

It is irregular for a judgment to fix a specific day for execution but it is mere surplusage. The time should be fixed by the warrant: Timmerman v. Territory, 3 W. T. 445, 17 Pac. 624.

The order of the lower court fixing the day of execution of one convicted of murder is not reviewable on appeal, and hence an appeal from such order affords no ground for an application for a stay of execution of the death sentence: State v. Seaton, 27 Wash. 120, 67 Pac. 572.

§ 2212. Death Penalty, How Executed.

The punishment of death prescribed by law must be inflicted by hanging by the neck. [L. '54, p. 125, § 153; Cd. '81, § 1131; 2 H. C., § 1352.]

The day for carrying into effect a sentence of death should not be designated in the judgment, but in the warrant for the execution: Timmerman v. Territory, 3 W. T. 445, 17 Pac. 624; but fixing a specific day in the death sentence is an irregularity amounting to mere surplusage, and does not affect the validity of the judgment: Id.

The order of the lower court fixing the day of execution of one convicted of murder is not reviewable on appeal, and hence an appeal from such order affords no ground for an application for a stay of execution of the death sentence: State v. Seaton, 27 Wash. 120, 67 Pac. 572; State v. Boyce, 25 Wash. 422, 65 Pac. 763.

§ 2213. Order to Sheriff to Deliver to State Penitentiary.

At the time of the issuance of said death warrant an order shall be issued by the clerk of the court, which shall be signed by the judge and attested by the clerk under the seal of the court. Said order shall direct the sheriff to hold the person condemned to death, who shall be named therein, in safe custody and forthwith deliver said person, together with the death warrant, into the hands of the superintendent of the state penitentiary. [L. '01, Ex. Sess., p. 18, § 2.]

§ 2214. Custody and Execution of Condemned at Penitentiary.

Upon delivery to him of said death warrant, and of the person therein named, the superintendent of the state penitentiary shall take the person condemned to be executed and keep said person in said custody within the said state penitentiary until the day appointed in the warrant for the execution, upon which appointed day he shall carry out the mandate contained in said warrant by executing said condemned person within the walls of the state penitentiary in the manner provided by law. And between the date of receiving such condemned person and the date fixed in such warrant for his execution, such superintendent shall not suffer or permit any person to visit, converse or communicate with such condemned person excepting the attendants in the state penitentiary, legal, spiritual and medical advisers, and the members of the immediate family of the condemned person, which visits and communications shall be under and subject to the rules and regulations of the state penitentiary. [L. '01, Ex. Sess., p. 18, § 3.]

§ 2215. Record of Death Warrant and Return by Superintendent.

The superintendent of the state penitentiary shall keep in his office as part of the public records a book in which shall be entered a copy of the death warrant and his return made thereon, together with a complete statement of his acts in pursuance of said warrant. [L. '01, Ex. Sess., p. 18, § 4.]

§ 2216. Return of Warrant to Clerk of Court.

Within twenty days after said execution the superintendent of the state penitentiary shall return said death warrant to the clerk of the court from which same was issued with his return thereon, showing all proceedings had by him thereunder. [L. '01, Ex. Sess., p. 19, § 5.]

§ 2217. Return of Execution of Order by Sheriff.

The sheriff to whom the above-named order is issued and delivered shall immediately execute such order and return the same into court within twenty days after he has delivered the death warrant and the person named therein into the hands of the superintendent of the state penitentiary, with his return thereon showing all proceedings had by him thereunder. [L. '01, Ex. Sess., p. 19, § 6.]

§ 2218. Clerk to File Returns.

The clerk of the court from which the death warrant and the order to the sheriff were issued shall, upon receipt of the returns from the superintendent of the state penitentiary and from the sheriff hereinbefore directed, file same with the records in the case and subjoin to the record of conviction and sentence a brief abstract of such returns. [L. '01, Ex. Sess., p. 19, § 7. Cf. L. '54, p. 125, § 154; Cd. '81, § 1132; 2 H. C., § 1353; Bal. Code, § 6995.]

Pending the issuance of the death warrant, the sheriff shall hold the condemned person in safe custody. [L. '01, Ex. Sess., p. 19, § 8.]

See supra, § 2214, sheriff to deliver to penitentiary.

§ 2220. Repeal—Exception.

All acts or parts of acts in conflict with this act are hereby repealed, except as hereinafter provided. [L. '01, Ex. Sess., p. 19, § 9.]

§ 2221. Saving Clause.

The provisions of this act shall not apply to any act done or crime heretofore committed, and all acts and crimes heretofore done or committed shall be prosecuted and punished under the laws existing at the time of the commission of said acts or crimes in the same manner as if this act had not been enacted, and all such existing laws and especially sections 6993 and 6995 of Ballinger's Annotated Codes and Statutes of Washington are hereby continued in force as to all such acts and crimes committed prior to the taking effect of this act. [L. '01, Ex. Sess., p. 19, § 10.]

See supra, § 2006, general saving clause.

"Act" in this and preceding section refers to § 2210 and §§ 2213-2221.

The Ballinger sections referred to are superseded (except as saved in this section) by §§ 2210, 2218, supra. They are as follows:

Bal. Code, § 6993: "When judgment of death is rendered, a warrant signed by the judge and attested by the clerk, under the seal of the court, shall be drawn and delivered to the sheriff; it shall state the conviction and judgment, and appoint a day in which the judgment shall be executed, which shall not be less than thirty nor more than ninety days from the time of judgment. And the sheriff or officer to whom said warrant was delivered shall return the same within twenty days after the time fixed for the execution."

Bal. Code, § 6995: "The sheriff shall return and file with the clerk the warrant, with a statement of his doings thereon, and the clerk shall subjoin a brief abstract of such statement to the record of conviction and sentence."

§ 2222. Proceedings on Failure to Execute Death Sentence.

Whenever the time appointed for the execution of a prisoner shall have passed, from any cause, the court by whom the time was fixed, or the judge or judges thereof, shall cause the prisoner to be brought immediately before the said court, judge or judges, and proceed to appoint a day for the carrying into effect the sentence of death. [L. '54, p. 125, § 155; Cd. '81, § 1133; 2 H. C., § 1354.]

§ 2223. Governor may Grant Pardons, etc.

Whenever a prisoner has been sentenced to death, the governor shall have power to commute such sentence to imprisonment for life at hard labor; and in all cases in which the governor is authorized to grant pardons or commute sentence of death, he may, upon the petition of the person convicted, commute a sentence or grant a pardon upon such conditions and with such restrictions and under such limitations as he may think proper; and he may issue his warrant to all proper officers to carry into effect such pardon or commutation, which warrant shall be obeyed and executed instead of the sentence, if any, which was originally given. The governor may also, on good cause shown, grant respites or reprieves, from time to time, as he may think proper. [L. '54, p. 128, § 174; Cd. '81, § 1136; 2 H. C., § 1356.]

The provision that the governor may "issue his warrant to carry into effect such pardon" is not limited to the issuance of the warrant granting the pardon, but reposes power in the governor to issue a warrant revoking a pardon which expressly provides that violation of its conditions shall cause its revocation, in the absence of any other statutory provision for determining when the conditions are violated: Spencer v. Kees, 47 Wash. 276, 91 Pac. 963.

§ 2224. Final Record shall Contain What.

The clerk of the court shall make a final record of all the proceedings in a criminal prosecution within six months after the same shall have been decided, which shall contain a copy of the minutes of the challenge to the panel of the grand jury, the indictment or information, journal entries, pleadings, minutes of challenges to panel of petit jurors, judgment, orders, or decision and bill of exceptions. [Cf. L. '54, p. 125, § 156; Cd. '81, § 1134; L. '91, p. 63, § 85; 2 H. C., § 1355.]

CHAPTER XX.

COSTS IN CRIMINAL CASES.

§ 2225. Costs—How Taxed Where Complaint Unfounded or Malicious.

When any person shall be brought before a court, justice of the peace, or other committing magistrate of any county, city or town in this state, having jurisdiction of the alleged offense, charged with the commission of a crime or misdemeanor, and such complaint upon examination shall appear to be unfounded, no costs shall be payable by such acquitted party, but the same shall be chargeable to the county, city, or town for or in which the said complaint is triable; but if the court, justice of the peace or other magistrate trying said charge shall decide the complaint was frivolous or malicious, the judgment or verdict shall also designate who is the complainant, and may adjudge that said complainant pay the costs. In such cases a judgment shall thereupon be entered for the costs against said complainant, who shall stand committed until such costs be paid or discharged by due process of law. [L. '69, p. 418, § 1; Cd. '81, § 2103; 1 H. C., § 3050.]

§ 2226. Enforcing Costs Against Complainant.

When a grand jury, upon a complaint submitted to them for investigation, fail to find a bill of indictment for an offense against the laws of the state, they shall also inquire whether the complaint is frivolous or malicious, and decide whether the county or complainant shall pay the costs, and make return of their finding in open court.

Any complainant adjudged by said grand jury as liable for the costs shall forthwith be brought into court, and sentenced to pay the same or stand committed until such judgment is satisfied or complied with. [L. '69, p. 418, § 2; Cd. '81, § 2104; 1 H. C., § 3051.]

§ 2227. Jury Fee to be Taxed to Defendant, When.

Every person convicted of a crime, or held to bail to keep the peace, shall be liable to all the costs of the proceedings against him, including, when tried by a jury in the superior court, twelve dollars for a jury fee, and when tried by a jury before a committing magistrate, six dollars for jury fee, for which judgment shall be rendered and collection had as in cases of fines. The jury fee, when collected for a case tried by the superior court, shall be paid to the clerk, to be by him applied as the jury fee in civil cases is applied. [L. '69, p. 418, § 3; Cd. '81, § 2105; 1 H. C., § 3052.]

§ 2228. Cost Bills, How Made and Certified.

In all convictions for felony, whether capital or punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, the clerk of the superior court shall forthwith, after sentence, tax the costs in the case. The cost bill shall be made out in triplicate, and be examined by the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the trial was had. After which the judge of the superior court shall allow and approve such bill or so much thereof as is allowable by law. The clerk of the superior court shall thereupon, under his hand, and under the seal of the court, certify said triplicate cost bills, and shall file one with the papers of the cause, and shall transmit one to the state auditor and one to the county auditor of the county in which said felony was committed. Under this section it is the duty of the county auditor to draw warrants in payment of costs in misdemeanor cases, which have been approved by the prosecuting attorney and certified by the judge trying the case, without having such cost bills presented to the county commissioners for examination and allowance: State ex rel. Crawford v. Evenson, 18 Wash. 609, 52 Pac. 230.

§ 2229. Payment of Amount Stated in Cost Bill.

Upon the receipt of the cost bill as provided for in the last preceding section, the county auditor shall draw warrants for the amounts due each person, as certified in said cost bill, which warrants shall be paid as other county warrants are paid. On receipt of the certified copy of said cost bill, the state auditor shall examine and audit said bill and allow the same or so much thereof as may be allowable against the state, and shall credit the amount so allowed to the county from whence the bill came as so much state tax paid. The state auditor shall immediately notify the state treasurer and county auditor, each of whom shall credit and charge accordingly. [Cd. '81, § 2107; L. '83, p. 35, § 1; 1 H. C., § 3053.]

It is the right and duty of a prosecuting attorney under this section to examine claims and tax costs in cases tried before a justice of the peace, and when 30 passed upon, they should be received and paid by the auditor irrespective of the will of the county commissioners: State ex rel. Crawford v. Evenson, 18 Wash. 609, 52 Pac. 230.

§ 2230. Costs and Other Moneys Collected Belong to County.

All costs collected against any person convicted of crime or misdemeanor, and all sums collected on recognizances of persons accused, or of witnesses in criminal cases for fines and forfeitures shall belong to the county from which the case came [L. '63, p. 425, § 12; L. '69, p. 421, § 11; Cd. '81, § 2112; 1 H. C., § 3054.]

FORFEITURE OF RECOGNIZANCES IN CRIMINAL ACTIONS.

§ 2231. Forfeiture of Recognizance—Judgment—Execution.

In criminal cases where a recognizance for the appearance of any person, either as a witness or to appear and answer, shall have been taken and a default entered, the recognizance shall be declared forfeited by the court, and at the time of adjudging such forfeiture said court shall enter judgment against the principal and sureties named in such recognizance for the sum therein mentioned, and execution may issue thereon the same as upon other judgments. § 2232. Stay of Execution on Forfeited Recognizance.

The parties, or either of them, against whom such judgment may be entered in the superior or supreme courts, may stay said execution for sixty days by giving a bond, with two or more sureties, to be approved by the clerk conditioned for the payment of such judgment at the expiration of sixty days, unless the same shall be vacated before the expiration of that time. [Cf. L. '67, p. 103, § 2; Cd. '81, § 1138; L. '91, p. 63, § 86; 2 H. C., § 1358.]

§ 2233. Judgment Vacated on Defendant's Production, When.

If a bond be given and execution stayed, as provided in the last preceding section, and the person for whose appearance such recognizance was given shall be produced in court before the expiration of said period of sixty days, the judge may vacate such judgment upon such terms as may be just and equitable; otherwise execution shall forthwith issue as well against the sureties in the new bond as against the judgment debtors. [Cf. L. '67, p. 103, § 3; Cd. '81, § 1139; L. '91, p. 63, § 87; 2 H. C., § 1359.]

Cited in 69 Wash. 616; 76 Wash. 254.

This section is not to be construed as limiting the common-law power of the court or grant relief in proper cases, and the court has inherent discretionary power, irrespective of statute, to vacate a forfeiture of bail, and its order will not be reversed except for abuse of discretion: State v. Jackschitz, 76 Wash. 253, 136 Pac. 132.

Relief from Liability or Forfeiture—Surrender of Principal: See Remington's Digest, Bail, § 9; State v. Johnson, 69 Wash. 612, 126 Pac. 56.

§ 2234. Recognizances Before Magistrates—Forfeiture—Action.

All recognizances taken and forfeited before any justice of the peace or magistrate shall be forthwith certified to the clerk of the superior court of the county; and it shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney to proceed at once by action against all the persons bound in such recognizances, and in all forfeited recognizances, whatever, or such of them as he may elect to proceed against. [L. '54, p. 128, § 175; Cd. '81, § 1166; 2 H. C., § 1360.]

§ 2235. Action on Recognizance not to be Barred, etc.

No action brought on any recognizance given in any criminal proceeding whatever shall be barred or defeated, nor shall judgment be arrested thereon, by reason of any neglect or omission to note or record the default of any principal or surety at the time when such default shall happen, or by reason of any defect in the form of the recognizance, if it sufficiently appear, from the tenor thereof, at what court or before what justice the party or witness was bound to appear, and that the court or magistrate before whom it was taken was authorized by law to require and take such recognizance; and a recognizance may be recorded after execution awarded. [Cf. L. '54, p. 129, § 176; Cd. '81, § 1167; L. '91, p. 63, § 88; 2 H. C., § 1361.]

§ 2236. Costs, Liability for—How Taxed and Paid.

No prisoner or person under recognizance who shall be acquitted by verdict or discharged because no indictment is found against him, or, for want of prosecution, shall be liable for any costs or fees of any officer, or for any charge of subsistence while he was in custody, but in every such case the fees of the defendant's witnesses, and of the officers for services rendered at the request of the defendant, and charges for subsistence of the defendant while in custody, shall be taxed and paid as other costs and charges in such cases. [Cf. L. '54, p. 129, § 177; L. '77, p. 207, § 10; Cd. '81, § 1168; 2 H. C., § 1382.]

CHAPTER XXII.

SEARCH-WARRANTS.

§ 2237. When Issued.

When complaint shall have been made on oath to any magistrate authorized to issue warrant in criminal cases that personal property has been stolen or embezzled, or obtained by false tokens or pretenses, and that the complainant believes that it is concealed in any particular house or place, the magistrate, if he be satisfied that there is a reasonable cause for such belief shall issue a warrant for such property. [L. '54, p. 100, § 1; Cd. '81, § 967; 2 H. C., § 1383.]

Cited in 43 Wash. 477; 69 Wash. 52.

A malicious prosecution may be based upon search proceedings; and sections 2237, 2239, not requiring the proceedings or warrant to designate the person suspected, it is not necessary that the proceedings name the plaintiff as the suspected party: Olson v. Haggerty, 69 Wash. 48, 124 Pac. 145.

§ 2238. Additional Grounds for Issuing Warrant.

Any such magistrate, when satisfied that there is reasonable cause, may also, upon like complaint made on oath, issue search-warrant in the following cases, to wit:—

1. To search for and seize any counterfeit or spurious coin, or forged instruments, or tools, machines, or materials prepared or provided for making either of them;

2. To search for and seize any gaming apparatus used or kept and to be used in any unlawful gaming-house, or in any building, apartment, or place resorted to for the purpose of unlawful gaming. [L. '54, p. 101, § 2; Cd. '81, § 968; 2 H. C., § 1384.]

Under a statute permitting the destruction of gambling apparatus seized and held as evidence upon the trial, where the record is silent as to how the apparatus came into the possession of the sheriff, the court cannot presume that such possession was wrongfully obtained, or that the recitals and order of the court directing the destruction were unauthorized: Way v. Territory, 1 Wash. 415, 25 Pac. 461.

§ 2239. To Whom Directed—Contents of.

All such warrants shall be directed to the sheriff of the county or his deputy, or to any constable of the county, commanding such officer to search the house or place where the stolen property or other things for which he is required to search are believed to be concealed, which place and property or things to be searched for shall be designated and described in the warrant, and to bring such stolen property or other things, when found, and the person in whose possession the same shall be found, before the magistrate, who shall issue the warrant, or before some other magistrate or court having cognizance of the case. When any officer, in the execution of a search-warrant, shall find any stolen or embezzled property, or shall seize any other things for which a search is allowed by this chapter, all the property and things so seized shall be safely kept by the direction of the court or magistrate so long as shall be necessary for the purpose of being produced in evidence on any trial; and as soon as may be afterwards, all such stolen and embezzled property shall be restored to the owner thereof, and all other things seized by virtue of such warrant shall be destroyed under direction of the court or magistrate. It shall be unlawful for any policeman or other peace officer to enter and search any private dwelling-house or place of residence without the authority of a search-warrant issued upon a complaint as by law provided. [L. '21, p. 207, § 1.]

§ 2240-2. Penalty for Search Without Warrant.

Any policeman or other peace officer violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '21, p. 207, § 2.]

CHAPTER XXIII.

PROCEEDINGS RELATING TO FUGITIVES FROM JUSTICE.

§ 2241. Governor's Agent to Demand Fugitive—Proceedings.

The governor of this state may appoint agents to demand of the executive authority of any state or territory any fugitive from justice, or any other person charged with felony or any other crime in this state; and whenever an application shall be made to the governor for that purpose, the prosecuting attorney, when required by the governor, shall forthwith investigate the ground of such application, and report to the governor all material circumstances which may come to his knowledge, with an abstract of the evidence and his opinion as to the expediency of the demand; but the governor may, in any case, appoint such agents without requiring the opinion of or any report from the prosecuting attorney, and the accounts of the agents appointed for such purposes shall in all cases be audited by the state auditor and paid from the state treasury. [Cf. L. '54, p. 102, § 5; Cd. '81, § 971; L. '91, p. 65, § 98; 2 H. C., § 1387.]

§ 2242. Demand on Governor—Proceedings.

When a demand shall be made upon the governor of this state by the executive of any state or territory, in any case authorized by the constitution and laws of the United States, for the delivery over of any person charged in such state or territory with treason, felony, or any other crime, the prosecuting attorney, or any other prosecuting officer, when required by the governor, shall forthwith investigate the ground of such demand, and report to the governor all material facts which may come to his knowledge as to the situation and circumstances of the person so demanded, especially as to whether he is held in custody or is under recognizance to answer for any offense against the laws of this state or of the United States, or by force of any civil process, and also whether such demand is made according to law, so that such person ought to be delivered up; and if the governor be satisfied that such demand is conformable to law, and ought to be complied with, he shall issue his warrant, under the seal of the state, authorizing the agents who make such demand either forthwith, or at such time as shall be designated by the warrant, to take and transport such person to the line of the state at the expense of such agents, and shall also by such warrant require the civil officers within this state to afford all needful assistance in the execution thereof. § 2243. Warrant for Fugitive—Issuance of.

Whenever any person shall be found within this state charged with an offense committed in any state or territory, and liable by the constitution and laws of the United States to be delivered on the demand of the executive of such state or territory, any court or magistrate authorized to issue warrants in criminal cases may, upon complaint under oath setting forth the offense, and such other matters as are necessary to bring the offense within the provisions of law, issue a warrant to bring the person so charged before the same or some other court or magistrate so authorized within the state, to answer such complaint as in other cases. Where a person charged with crime has been arrested and confined in jail without trial for a period of more than sixty days, he is, upon application for a writ of habeas corpus, entitled to a discharge under this section, where the only reason for failure to try him was that no term of court for which a jury had been called had been in session since the filing of the information: State v. Brodie, 7 Wash. 442, 35 Pac. 137.

This section requires a legal charge of crime made in the state having jurisdiction of the offense; and a person cannot be arrested and held in this state upon an unauthenticated warrant from another state and a complaint filed in a court of this state reciting that the party is a fugitive from justice: State ex rel. Grass v. White, 40 Wash. 560, 82 Pac. 907, 2 L. R. A. (N. S.) 563.

An executive warrant for the extradition of a fugitive from justice need not define the crime with which the accused is charged, where it recites that he was charged with a crime, and was accompanied by the certified copy of the indictment or the charge made before a magistrate, as required by the act of congress: Thorn v. § 2244. Examination by Court or Magistrate.

If, upon the examination of the persons charged, it shall appear to the court or magistrate, by proof in addition to the oath of the complainant, that there is reasonable cause to believe that the complaint is true, and that such person may be lawfully demanded of the governor, he shall, if not charged with a capital crime, be required to recognize, with sufficient sureties, in a reasonable sum, to appear before such court or magistrate at a future day, allowing a reasonable time to obtain a warrant of the executive, and to abide the order of the court or magistrate; and if such person shall not so recognize, he shall be committed to prison, and there be detained until such day, in like manner as if the offense charged had been committed in this state: and if the person so recognizing shall fail to appear according to the conditions of his recognizance, he shall be defaulted, and the like proceedings shall be had as in the case of other recognizances entered into before such court or magistrate; but if such person be charged with a capital crime, he shall be committed to prison, and there be detained until the day so appointed for his appearance before the court or magistrate. § 2245. Discharge, When.

If the person recognized or committed shall appear before the court or magistrate upon the day ordered, he shall be discharged, unless he be demanded by some persons authorized by the warrant of the execution to receive him, or unless the court or magistrate shall see cause to commit him, or require of him to recognize anew for his appearance at some other day; and if, when ordered, he shall not so recognize, he shall be committed and be detained as before provided. Whenever the person so appearing shall be recognized, committed, or discharged, any person authorized by the warrant of the executive may at all times take him into custody, and the same shall be a discharge of the recognizance, if any, and shall not be deemed an escape. The complainant in such cases shall be answerable for the actual costs and charges, and for the support in prison of any person so committed, and shall advance to the jailer one week's board at the time of commitment, and so from week to week, so long as such person shall remain in jail; and if he fails to do so, the jailer may forthwith discharge the person from his custody. [L. '54, p. 103, § 10; Cd. '81, § 976; 2 H. C., § 1392.]

CHAPTER XXIV.REWARDS FOR THE APPREHENSION OF FUGITIVES.*§ 2247. Standing Rewards by Governor for Certain Offenses.

The governor shall offer a standing reward of two hundred dollars for the arrest of each person who shall place any obstruction on any railroad track, or who shall misplace any switch, rail, or ties on any such road, whereby the life of any person passing over said road may be endangered; and for the arrest of each person engaged in the robbing or attempting to rob any person upon, or having in charge, in whole or in part, any stage-coach, wagon, railroad train, or other conveyance engaged in carrying passengers, or any private conveyance within this state, the reward to be paid to the person making such arrest, out of any money in the [state] treasury not otherwise appropriated, immediately upon the conviction of the person so arrested; but no reward shall be paid except after such conviction. [L. '77, p. 283, § 1; Cd. '81, § 1290; 1 H. C., § 2941.]

See infra, § 10982, subd. 8, rewards for fugitives.

§ 2248. Auditor to Draw Warrant.

The auditor of state shall draw a warrant upon the treasurer for the amount of the reward, upon presentation to him of a certificate of the clerk of the court where the conviction was had, of such conviction, and the finding of the court that the satisfactory proof was made that the person claiming the reward is entitled thereto, under the provision of the preceding section. [L. '77, p. 284, § 2; Cd. '81, § 1291; 1 H. C., § 2942.]

§ 2249. Rewards by County Commissioners, When.

The county commissioners in the several counties of this state, when in their opinion the public good requires it, be and are hereby authorized to offer and pay a suitable reward, not to exceed five hundred dollars in any one case, to any person or persons who, in consequence of such offer, apprehends, brings back, and secures any person or persons convicted of or charged with any criminal offense, if the offense be a felony. Use of public money for rewards for criminals. 14 L. R. A. 480.

§ 2250. Payment of Rewards Offered by Commissioners.

Whenever any such reward has been offered by any board of county commissioners for the apprehension of any person or persons convicted of or charged with any criminal offense, if the offense be a felony, the person or persons who shall first apprehend, bring back, and secure such person or persons so charged shall be entitled to such reward, and the board of county commissioners who have offered such reward are authorized to draw a warrant or warrants on the county treasurer for the amount of such reward, who shall pay the amount of said warrant or warrants out of any money in the county treasury not otherwise appropriated. [L. '86, p. 124, § 2; 1 H. C., § 2944.]

§ 2251. Conflicting Claims for, How Determined.

When more than one claimant applies for the payment of any reward, offered by any board of county commissioners, such commissioners shall determine, in their respective counties, to whom the same shall be paid, and if to more than one person, in what proportion to each, and their determination shall be final and conclusive. [L. '86, p. 124, § 3; 1 H. C., § 2945.]

§ 2252. Validation of County Warrants for Rewards.

That whenever heretofore the board of county commissioners of any county, shall have offered a reward to any person or persons who shall apprehend, bring back and secure any person for the commission of a felony, but shall not have named, in such offer, the person whose apprehension is sought, and any person, in consequence of such offer, shall have apprehended, brought back and secured the person who committed such felony, and such person shall have been charged therewith and convicted thereof, and the board of county commissioners shall have ordered such reward paid to the person so effecting such arrest and conviction, and the county auditor of such county shall have issued a warrant in payment of such reward, and such warrant shall have been held or shall be invalid by reason of the fact that in the offer of such reward by the board of county commissioners, no particular person was named as the person for whose arrest and conviction such reward was offered, such warrant shall be and is hereby declared to be valid, and it shall be the duty of the county treasurer of such county to pay such warrant out of the fund in the county treasury upon which the same was drawn, but no interest shall be paid thereon. CHAPTER I.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

§ 2253. Classification of Crimes.

A crime is an act or omission forbidden by law and punishable upon conviction by death, imprisonment, fine, or other penal discipline. Every crime which may be punished by death or by imprisonment in the state penitentiary is a felony. Every crime punishable by a fine of not more than two hundred and fifty dollars, or by imprisonment in a county jail for not more than ninety days, is a misdemeanor. Every other crime is a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 890, § 1.]

Cited in 56 Wash. 406; 58 Wash. 422; 63 Wash. 298; 64 Wash. 124.

The title to the "Penal Code," § 2253 et seq., an act "relating to crimes and punishments and the rights and custody of persons accused or convicted of crime," is broad enough to admit of amendments or implied repeals of sections of the former laws relating to criminal procedure: State v. George, 84 Wash. 113, 146 Pac. 378.

Offenses prior to the enactment of the new Penal Code are properly prosecuted under the laws in force at the time the offense was committed, being expressly saved by the repealing clauses of the later enactment: State v. Morrow, 63 Wash. 297, 115 Pac. 161, Ann. Cas. 1912D, 570.

Under this section, subdivision 3, evidence is admissible of a conversation had with accused in another state, after full agreement and plans for the theft had been made in this state: State v. Vane, 105 Wash. 421, 178 Pac. 456.

For text treatment of "Criminal Law," see 8 R. O. L. 38.

§ 2254. Persons Punishable.

The following persons are liable to punishment:

1. A person who commits in the state any crime, in whole or in part.
2. A person who commits out of the state any act which, if after committed within it, would be larceny, and is afterward found in the state with any of the stolen property.
3. A person who, being out of the state, counsels, causes, procures, aids, or abets another to commit a crime in this state.
4. A person who, being out of the state, abducts or kidnaps, by force or fraud, any person, contrary to the laws of the place where the act is committed, and brings, sends or conveys such person into this state.
5. A person who commits an act without the state which affects persons or property within the state, or the public health, morals or decency of the state, which, if committed within the state, would be a crime. [L. '09, p. 890, § 2.]

See, also, § 2010.

Cited in 105 Wash. 425.

Under this section evidence is admissible of a conversation had with accused in another state, after agreement for a theft had been made in this state: State v. Vane, 105 Wash. 421, 178 Pac. 456.

§ 2255. Duress of Married Woman No Defense.

It is no defense for a married woman charged with the commission of a crime, that the alleged act committed by her was committed in the presence of her husband. [L. '09, p. 891, § 3.]

Presumption of coercion by husband in case of commission of crime by wife.
4 A. L. R. 271.

§ 2256. Duress as a Defense.

Whenever any crime, except murder, is committed or participated in by two or more persons, any one of whom participates only under compulsion by another engaged therein, who by threats creates a reasonable apprehension in the mind of such participator that in case of refusal he is liable to instant death or grievous bodily harm, such threats and apprehension constitute duress, which will excuse such participator from criminal prosecution. [L. '09, p. 891, § 4.]

to charge of crime. Ann. Cas.

§ 2257. Responsibility of Children.

Children under the age of eight years are incapable of committing crime. Children of eight and under twelve years of age are presumed to be incapable of committing crime, but this presumption may be removed by proof that they have sufficient capacity to understand the act or neglect, and to know that it was wrong. Whenever in legal proceedings it becomes necessary to determine the age of a child, he may be produced for inspection, to enable the court or jury to determine the age thereby; and the court may also direct his examination by one or more physicians, whose opinion shall be competent evidence upon the question of his age. [L. '09, p. 891, § 5.]

Criminal liability of children. 36 L. R. A. 196.

§ 2258. Intoxication No Defense.

No act committed by a person while in a state of voluntary intoxication shall be deemed less criminal by reason of his condition, but whenever the actual existence of any particular purpose, motive or intent is a necessary element to constitute a particular species or degree of crime, the fact of his intoxication may be taken into consideration in determining such purpose, motive or intent. [L. '09, p. 891, § 6.]

What intoxication will excuse crime.
36 L. R. A. 465; 19 Ann. Cas. 1169.

Voluntary intoxication as defense to homicide. 12 A. L. R. 861.

§ 2260. Principal Defined.

Every person concerned in the commission of a felony, gross misdemeanor or misdemeanor, whether he directly commits the act constituting the offense, or aids or abets in its commission, and whether present or absent; and every person who directly or indirectly counsels, encourages, hires, commands, induces or otherwise procures another to commit a felony, gross misdemeanor or misdemeanor, is a principal, and shall be proceeded against and punished as such. The fact that the person aided, abetted, counseled, encouraged, hired, commanded, induced or procured, could not or did not entertain a criminal intent, shall not be a defense to any person aiding, abetting, counseling, encouraging, hiring, commanding, inducing or procuring him. [L. '09, p. 892, § 8.]

See, also, § 2008.

Cited in 66 Wash. 468; 80 Wash. 100;
82 Wash. 673, 674; 94 Wash. 216; 97 Wash.
245; 105 Wash. 422, 424.

This section has no application to the offense of receiving deposits in a bank knowing it to be insolvent; inasmuch as by section 2640, the offense is confined to a class within the bank, and the act has its own aider and abetter clause, also confined to the same class, indicating an intention not to include anyone without the class who should aid or abet the criminal act; hence an outsider having no connection with the insolvent bank cannot be prosecuted as aiding and abetting some officer or employee of the bank in receiving deposits knowing the bank to be insolvent: State v. Furth, 82 Wash. 665, 144 Pac. 907.

It is error to instruct that one jointly informed against for grand larceny may be convicted if the property was taken by his codefendants with his aid "or assent," in view of this section; since mere assent to an act is a mental attitude and does not imply a contribution or expressed concurrence: State v. Peasley, 80 Wash. 99, 141 Pac. 316.

§ 2261. Accessory Defined.

Every person not standing in the relation of husband or wife, brother or sister, parent or grandparent, child or grandchild, to the offender, who after the commission of a felony shall harbor, conceal or aid such offender with intent that he may avoid or escape from arrest, trial, conviction or punishment, having knowledge that such offender has committed a felony or is liable to arrest, is an accessory to the felony. [L. '09, p. 892, § 9.]

Criminal responsibility of one co-operating in offense which he is incapable of committing personally.

5 A. L. B. 782.

§ 2262. Trial and Punishment of Accessories.

Every accessory to a felony may be indicted, tried and convicted either in the county where he became an accessory, or where the principal felony was committed; and whether the principal offender has or has not been convicted, or is or is not amenable to justice, or has been pardoned or otherwise discharged after conviction; and, except where a different punishment is specially provided by law, such accessory shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 892, § 10.]

See, also, supra, §§ 2009, 2010.

§ 2263. Conviction of Lesser Crime.

Upon the trial of an indictment or information, the defendant may be convicted of the crime charged therein, or of a lesser degree of the same crime, or of an attempt to commit the crime so charged, or of any attempt to commit a lesser degree of the same crime. Whenever the jury shall find a verdict of guilty against a person so charged, they shall in their verdict specify the degree or attempt of which the accused is guilty. [L. '09, p. 893, § 11.]

Under this section, one informed against for larceny by false pretenses may be convicted of an attempt to commit the offense: State v. Peterson, 109 Wash. 25, 186 Pac. 264.

§ 2264. Attempts, How Punished.

An act done with intent to commit a crime, and tending but failing to accomplish it, is an attempt to commit that crime; and every person who attempts to commit a crime, unless otherwise prescribed by statute, shall be punished as follows:

(1) If the crime attempted is punishable by death or life imprisonment, the person convicted of the attempt shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than twenty years.

(2) In every other case he shall be punished by imprisonment in such manner as may be prescribed for the commission of the completed offense, for not more than half the longest term, or by a fine of not more than half the largest sum, prescribed upon conviction for the commission of the offense attempted, or by both such fine and imprisonment; but nothing herein shall protect a person who, in an unsuccessful attempt to commit one crime, does commit another and different one, from the punishment prescribed for the crime actually committed; and a person may be convicted of an attempt to commit a crime, although it appears on the trial that the crime was consummated, unless the court in its discretion shall discharge the jury and direct the defendant to be tried for the crime itself. [L. '09, p. 893, § 12.]

The fact that no penalty has been fixed by statute for the crime of sodomy does not prevent a prosecution for an attempt to commit the crime: State v. Place, 5 Wash. 773, 32 Pac. 736.

Provisions for the punishment of attempts to commit crime are not rendered inapplicable to a prosecution for sodomy by the fact that another section prescribes punishment for assaults with intent to commit sodomy and certain other crimes, which defines a substantive offense, with the punishment therefor entirely distinct from that of an attempt to commit a crime: State v. Romans, 21 Wash. 284, 57 Pac. 819.

§ 2265. Punishment of Felony When not Fixed by Statute.

Every person convicted of a felony for which no punishment is specially prescribed by any statutory provision in force at the time of conviction and sentence, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 894, § 13.]

This section renders enforceable the section defining a jointist as a felony without specifying the place of imprisonment: State v. Burgess, 111 Wash. 537, 191 Pac. 635.

§ 2266. Punishment of Misdemeanor When not Fixed by Statute.

Every person convicted of a misdemeanor for which no punishment is prescribed by any statute in force at the time of conviction and sentence, shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than ninety days, or by a fine of not more than two hundred and fifty dollars. [L. '09, p. 894, § 14.]

Cited in 62 Wash. 246; 78 Wash. 588.

§ 2267. Punishment of Gross Misdemeanor When not Fixed by Statute.

Every person convicted of a gross misdemeanor for which no punishment is prescribed in any statute in force at the time of conviction and sentence, shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 894, § 15.]

§ 2268. Nonfeasance in Office.

Whenever any duty is enjoined by law upon any public officer or other person holding any public trust or employment, their willful neglect to perform such duty, except where otherwise specially provided for, shall be a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 894, § 16.]

Cited in 82 Wash. 535.

§ 2269. Prohibited Acts.

Whenever the performance of any act is prohibited by any statute, and no penalty for the violation of such statute is imposed, the committing of such act shall be a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 894, § 17.]

§ 2270. Acts Punishable Elsewhere.

An act or omission punishable as a crime in this state is not less so because it is also punishable under the laws of another state, government or country, unless the contrary is expressly declared in the law relating thereto. [L. '09, p. 894, § 18.]

§ 2271. Foreign Conviction or Acquittal.

Whenever, upon the trial of any person for a crime, it appears that the offense was committed in another state or country, under such circumstances that the courts of this state had jurisdiction thereof, and that the defendant has already been acquitted or convicted upon the merits, upon a criminal prosecution under the laws of such state or country, founded upon the act or omission with respect to which he is upon trial, such former acquittal or conviction is a sufficient defense. [L. '09, p. 895, § 19.]

§ 2272. Conviction or Acquittal in Other County.

Whenever, upon the trial of any person for a crime, it shall appear that the defendant has already been acquitted or convicted upon the merits, of the same crime, in a court having jurisdiction of such offense in another county of this state, such former acquittal or conviction is a sufficient defense. [L. '09, p. 895, § 20.]

See, also, supra, § 2113; infra, § 2316.

§ 2273. Punishment for Contempt.

A criminal act which at the same time constitutes contempt of court, and has been punished as such, may also be punished as a crime, but in such case the punishment for contempt may be considered in mitigation. [L. '09, p. 895, § 21.]

See, also, "Contempts."

§ 2274. Sending Letter, When Complete.

Whenever any statute makes the sending of a letter criminal, the offense shall be deemed complete from the time it is deposited in any postoffice or other place, or delivered to any person, with intent that it shall be forwarded; and the sender may be proceeded against in the county wherein it was so deposited or delivered, or in which it was received by the person to whom it was addressed. [L. '09, p. 895, § 22.]

§ 2275. Omission, When not Punishable.

No person shall be punished for an omission to perform an act when such act has been performed by another acting in his behalf, and competent to perform it. [L. '09, p. 895, § 23.]

§ 2276. Commitment to Washington State Training School.

Whenever any boy between the ages of eight and sixteen years, or any girl between the ages of eight and eighteen years, shall be found guilty of any crime, except murder or manslaughter, the court may, in its discretion, order such person committed to the Washington state training school to remain, in case of a boy, until he shall arrive at the age of eighteen years and, in case of a girl, until she shall arrive at the age of nineteen years, unless sooner paroled or legally discharged. § 2277. Commitment to Washington State Reformatory.

Whenever any male person, between the ages of sixteen and thirty years, never before convicted in this state or elsewhere of any crime which under the laws of this state would amount to a felony, shall be convicted of any felony except murder, arson in the first degree, or robbery, the court may, in its discretion order such person to be committed to and confined in the Washington state reformatory. persons between the ages of sixteen and thirty: Fellissier v. Reed, 75 Wash. 201, 134 Pac. 813.

§ 2278. Transfer of Prisoners.

Whenever in their judgment, the welfare of any prisoner or prisoners confined in any penal institution shall require that any prisoner be removed from one institution to another, the board having control of such institution shall have authority to order such removal. [L. '09, p. 986, § 26.]

§ 2280. Suspending Sentences.

Whenever any person never before convicted of a felony or gross misdemeanor shall be convicted of any crime except murder, burglary in the first degree, arson in the first degree, robbery, carnal knowledge of a female child under the age of ten years, or rape, the court may in its discretion, at the time of imposing sentence upon such person, direct that such sentence be stayed and suspended until otherwise ordered by such court, and that the sentenced person be placed under the charge of a parole or peace officer during the term of such suspension, upon such terms as the court may determine. In no case shall a sentence be suspended under the provisions of this section unless the prisoner if sentenced to confinement in a penal institution be placed under the charge of a parole officer, who is a duly appointed and acting officer of the institution to which the person is sentenced. § 2281. Indeterminate Sentences.

Whenever any person shall be convicted of any felony for which no fixed period of confinement is imposed by law, the court shall, in addition to any fine or forfeiture which he may impose, direct that such person be confined in the state penitentiary, or in the Washington state reformatory, as the case may be, for a term not less than the minimum nor greater than the maximum term of imprisonment prescribed by law for the offense of which such person shall be convicted; and where no minimum term of imprisonment is prescribed by law, the court shall fix the same in his discretion at not less than six months nor more than five years; and where no maximum term of imprisonment is prescribed by law, the court shall fix such maximum term of imprisonment. § 2285. Imprisonment on Two or More Convictions.

Whenever a person shall be convicted of two or more offenses before sentence has been pronounced for either, the imprisonment to which he is sentenced upon the second or other subsequent conviction shall commence at the termination of the first or other prior term or terms of imprisonment to which he is sentenced; and whenever a person while under sentence of felony shall commit another felony and be sentenced to another term of imprisonment, such latter term shall not begin until the expiration of all prior terms. [L. '09, p. 898, § 33.]

§ 2286. Habitual Criminals.

Every person convicted in this state of any crime of which fraud or intent to defraud is an element, or of petit larceny, or of any felony, who shall previously have been convicted, whether in this state or elsewhere, of any crime which under the laws of this state would amount to a felony, or who shall previously have been twice convicted, whether in this state or elsewhere, of petit larceny, or of any misdemeanor or gross misdemeanor of which fraud or intent to defraud is an element, shall be adjudged to be an habitual criminal and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than ten years.

Every person convicted in this state of any crime of which fraud or intent to defraud is an element, or of petit larceny, or of any felony, who shall previously have been twice convicted, whether in this state or elsewhere, of any crime which under the laws of this state would amount to a felony, or who shall previously have been four times convicted, whether in this state or elsewhere, of petit larceny, or of any misdemeanor or gross misdemeanor of which fraud or intent to defraud is an element, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for life. and making no such provision, is an independent act; and one charged as an habitual criminal under this section need not be tried in five days: State v. Alexander, 65 Wash. 488, 118 Pac. 645.

Rem. & Bal. Code, section 2177, requiring that an information against an habitual criminal must set forth the fact, time and place of the former convictions, was repealed by this section, a later enactment covering the whole subject matter: State v. § 2287. Prevention of Procreation.

Whenever any person shall be adjudged guilty of carnal abuse of a female person under the age of ten years, or of rape, or shall be adjudged to be an habitual criminal, the court may, in addition to such other punishment or confinement as may be imposed, direct an operation to be performed upon such person, for the prevention of procreation. § 2288. Convicts Protected—Forfeitures Abolished.

Every person sentenced to imprisonment in any penal institution shall be under the protection of the law, and any unauthorized injury to his person shall be punished in the same manner as if he were not so convicted or sentenced. A conviction of crime shall not work a forfeiture of any property, real or personal, or of any right or interest therein. All forfeitures in the nature of deodands, or in case of suicide or where a person flees from justice, are abolished. [L. '09, p. 899, § 36.]

§ 2289. Conviction of Public Officer Forfeits Office.

The conviction of a public officer of any felony or malfeasance in office shall entail, in addition to such other penalty as may be imposed, the forfeiture of his office, and shall disqualify him from ever afterward holding any public office in this state. [L. '09, p. 900, § 37.]

§ 2290. Convict as Witness.

Every person convicted of a crime shall be a competent witness in any civil or criminal proceeding, but his conviction may be proved for the purpose of affecting the weight of his testimony, either by the record thereof, or a copy of such record duly authenticated by the legal custodian thereof, or by other competent evidence, or by his cross-examination, upon which he shall answer any proper question relevant to that inquiry, and the party cross-examining shall not be concluded by his answer thereto. Upon cross-examination of the accused, it may, under this section, be shown that he has previously been convicted of a crime; whether a felony or a misdemeanor: State v. Overland, 68 Wash. 566, 123 Pac. 1011.

It is not a violation of the constitutional guaranty of a fair trial that the court compelled the accused on cross-examination to testify to a former conviction, under this section, where the jury were instructed that evidence of a former conviction could be considered only for the purpose of determining the weight to be given to his testimony: State v. Blaine, 64 Wash. 122, 116 Pac. 660.

An assault and battery, even if made punishable by a municipal ordinance as a misdemeanor, being malum in se, is a "crime," within this section: Marshall v. Dunn, 93 Wash. 156, 160 Pac. 298.

§ 2291. Incriminating Testimony not to be Used.

In every case where it is provided in this act that a witness shall not be excused from giving testimony tending to criminate himself, no person shall be excused from testifying or producing any papers or documents on the ground that his testimony may tend to criminate or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture; but he shall not be prosecuted or subjected to a penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any action, matter or thing concerning which he shall so testify, except for perjury or offering false evidence committed in such testimony. The saving clause in this section of the Penal Code is sufficient to continue in force the penal provisions repealed by the act until the date when the new act went into effect: State v. Newcomb, 58 Wash. 414, 109 Pac. 355; State v. Ware, 58 Wash. 526, 109 Pac. 359; State v. Lor- enzy, 59 Wash. 308, 109 Pac. 1064, Ann. Cas. 1912B, 153.

Under the general savings clause in the former law of 1901 and in this section, it is not essential to a prosecution for such prior offense that it was pending when the penal code of 1909 took effect: State v. Lorenzy, 59 Wash. 308, 109 Pac. 1064, Ann. Cas. 1912B, 153.

§ 2295. Application to Existing Civil Rights.

Nothing in this act shall be deemed to affect any civil right or remedy existing at the time when it shall take effect, by virtue of the common law or of the provision of any statute. [L. '09, p. 901, § 43.]

§ 2296. Civil Remedies Preserved.

The omission to specify or affirm in this act any liability to any damages, penalty, forfeiture or other remedy, imposed by law, and allowed to be recovered or enforced in any civil action or proceeding, for any act or omission declared punishable herein, shall not affect any right to recover or enforce the same. [L. '09, p. 901, § 44.]

§ 2297. Proceedings to Impeach, etc., Preserved.

The omission to specify or affirm in this act any ground of forfeiture of a public office or other trust or special authority conferred by law, or any power conferred by law to impeach, remove, depose or suspend any public officer or other person holding any trust, appointment or other special authority conferred by law, shall not affect such forfeiture or power, or any proceeding authorized by law to carry into effect such impeachment, removal, deposition or suspension. [L. '09, p. 901, § 45.]

§ 2298. Rule of Construction.

Every provision of this act shall be construed according to the fair import of its terms. [L. '09, p. 902, § 46.]

§ 2299. Common Law to Supplement Statute.

The provisions of the common law relating to the commission of crime and the punishment thereof, in so far as not inconsistent with the institutions and statutes of this state, shall supplement all penal statutes of this state and all persons offending against the same shall be tried in the superior courts of this state. [L. '09, p. 902, § 47.]

Application and Operation of Common Law—Adoption and Abrogation: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 1; Bradshaw v. Territory, 3 W. T. 265, 14 Pac. 594; State v. Womack, 4 Wash. 19, 29 Pac. 939.

Though the crime against nature is punishable as a felony at common law, and all common-law crimes are indictable under Code of 1881, section 782, it is not so punishable in this state, because no penalty has been fixed by statute: State v. Place, 5 Wash. 773, 32 Pac. 736.

§ 2300. To be Construed as Continuation of Former Acts.

The provisions of this act, in so far as they are substantially the same as existing statutes, shall be construed as continuations thereof and not as new enactments. [L. '09, p. 902, § 48.]

Cited in 86 Wash. 463.

§ 2301. Act as Measure of Law.

No statute, law or rule is continued in force because it is consistent with the provisions of this act on the same subject; but in all cases provided for by this act, all statutes, laws and rules heretofore in force in this state, whether consistent or not with the provisions of this act, unless expressly continued in force by it, are repealed and abrogated. [L. '09, p. 902, § 49.]

Cited in 86 Wash. 463.

§ 2302. Repeal Does not Revive Former Law.

The repeal or abrogation by this act of any existing law shall not revive any former law heretofore repealed, nor affect any right already existing or accrued or any action or proceeding already taken, except as in this act provided; nor does it repeal any private statute or statutes affecting civil rights or liabilities not expressly repealed. [L. '09, p. 902, § 50.]

The repeal of a law after conviction arrests judgment, and works a reversal on a pending writ of error: Corbett v. Territory, 1 W. T. 431.

When a statute requiring an indictment is repealed, an information will not lie for an offense committed before the repeal: McCarty v. State, 1 Wash. 377, 25 Pac. 299, 22 Am. St. Rep. 152.

The repeal of Penal Code, section 192, by the laws of 1895, page 371, without any saving clause as to prior offenses, or pending cases, operated as a bar to the prosecution of parties, charged with adultery committed prior to the passage of the act of 1895: State v. Oliver, 12 Wash. 547, 41 Pac. 895.

§ 2303. Definition of Terms.

In construing the provisions of this act, save when otherwise plainly declared or clearly apparent from the context, the following rules shall be observed:

(1.) Each of the words "neglect," "negligence," "negligent," and "negligently" shall import a want of such attention to the nature or probable consequences of an act or omission as an ordinarily prudent man usually exercises in his own business.

(2.) Each of the words "corrupt" and "corruptly" shall import a wrongful desire to acquire or cause some pecuniary or other advantage to himself or another, by the person to whom applicable.

(3.) "Malice" and "maliciously" shall import an evil intent, wish or design to vex, annoy or injure another person. Malice may be inferred from an act done in willful disregard of the rights of another, or an act wrongfully done without just cause or excuse, or an act or omission of duty betraying a willful disregard of social duty.

(4.) The word "knowingly" imports a knowledge that the facts exist which constitute the act or omission of a crime, and does not require knowledge of its unlawfulness; knowledge of any particular fact may be inferred from the knowledge of such other facts as should put an ordinarily prudent man upon inquiry.

(5.) Whenever an intent to defraud constitutes a part of a crime, it is not necessary to aver or prove an intent to defraud any particular person.

(6.) The word "boat" shall include ships, steamers and other structures adapted to navigation or movement from place to place by water.

(7.) The word "signature" shall include any memorandum, mark, or sign made with intent to authenticate any instrument or writing, or the subscription of any person thereto.

(8.) The word "writing" shall include printing.

(9.) The word "property" shall include both real and personal property.

(10.) The term "real property" shall include every estate, interest and right in lands, tenements and hereditaments, corporeal or incorporeal.

(11.) The term "personal property" shall include dogs and all domestic animals and birds, water, gas and electricity, all kinds or descriptions of money, chattels and effects, all instruments or writings completed and ready to be delivered or issued by the maker, whether actually delivered or issued or not, by which any claim, privilege, right, obligation or authority, or any right or title to property real or personal, is, or purports to be, or upon the happening of some future event may be evidenced, created, acknowledged, transferred, increased, diminished, encumbered, defeated, discharged or affected, and every right and interest therein.

(12.) The word "bond" shall include an undertaking.

(13.) Words in the present tense shall include the future tense; and in the masculine shall include the feminine and neuter genders; and in the singular shall include the plural; and in the plural shall include the singular.

(14.) The word "person" shall include a corporation or joint stock association; and whenever it is used to designate a party whose property may be the subject of the offense, it shall also include the state, or any other state, government or country which may lawfully own property within this state.

(15.) The term "judge" shall include every judicial officer authorized, alone or with others, to hold or preside over a court of record.

(16.) Any person shall be deemed an "owner" of any property who has a general or special property in the whole or any part thereof, or lawful possession thereof, either actual or constructive.

(17.) The words "dwelling-house" shall include every building or structure which shall have been usually occupied by a person lodging therein at night, and whenever it shall be so constructed as to consist of two or more parts or rooms occupied or intended to be occupied, whether permanently or temporarily, by different tenants separately by usually lodging therein at night, or for any other separate purpose, each part shall be deemed a separate dwelling-house of the tenant occupying the same.

(18.) The word "building" shall include every house, shed, boat, water craft, railway car, tent or booth, whether completed or not, suitable for affording shelter for any human being, or as a place where any property is or shall be kept for use, sale or deposit.

(19.) The word "night-time" shall include the period between sunset and sunrise; the word "daytime" the period between sunrise and sunset.

(20.) The word "break" when used in connection with the crime of burglary, shall include:

(a) Breaking or violently detaching any part, internal or external, of a building;

(b) Opening, for the purpose of entering therein, any outer door of a building or of any room, apartment or set of apartments therein separately used and occupied, or any window, shutter, scuttle or other thing used for covering any opening thereto or therein, or which gives passage from one part thereof to another;

(c) Obtaining entrance into such building or apartment by any threat or artifice, used for that purpose, or by collusion with any person therein;

(d) Entering such building, room or apartment by or through any pipe, chimney or other opening, or by excavating or digging through or under a building or the walls or foundation thereof.

(21.) The word "enter," when constituting an element or part of a crime, shall include the entrance of the offender, or the insertion of any part of his body, or of any instrument or weapon held in his hand and used or intended to be used to threaten or intimidate a person, or to detach or remove property.

(22.) The term "railway" or "railroad" shall include all railways, railroads and street railways, whether operated by steam, electricity or any other motive power.

(23.) The words "indicted" and "indictment" shall include "informed against" and "information"; and the words "informed against" and "information" shall include the words "indicted" and "indictment."

(24.) The words "officer" and "public officer" shall include all assistants, deputies, clerks and employees of any public officer and all persons exercising or assuming to exercise any of the powers or functions of a public officer.

(25.) The word "juror" shall include a talesman, and extend to jurors in all courts, whether of record or not.

(26.) The word "prisoner" shall include any person held in custody under process of law, or under lawful arrest.

(27.) The word "prison" shall mean any place designated by law for the keeping of persons held in custody under process of law, or under lawful arrest. [L. '09, p. 902, § 51.]

CHAPTER II.

RIGHTS OF ACCUSED.

§ 2305. Right to Counsel.

Whenever a defendant shall be arraigned upon the charge that he has committed any felony, and shall request the court to appoint counsel to assist in his defense, and shall by his own oath or such other proof as may be required to satisfy the court that he is unable, by reason of poverty, to procure counsel, the court shall appoint counsel, not exceeding two, for such defendant, to be paid, upon its order by the county in which such proceeding is had, compensation not exceeding ten dollars per day for each counsel, for the number of days such counsel is actually employed in court upon the trial. [L. '09, p. 906, § 53.]

See, also, supra, § 2095.

§ 2306. Witnesses.

Every person accused of crime shall have the right to meet the witnesses produced against him face to face: Provided, that whenever any witness whose deposition shall have been taken pursuant to law by a magistrate, in the presence of the defendant and his counsel, shall be absent, and cannot be found when required to testify upon any trial or hearing, so much of such deposition as the court shall deem admissible and competent shall be admitted and read as evidence in such case. [L. '09, p. 907, § 54.]

Right of Accused to Confront Witnesses: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, §§ 221, 222; State v. Baldwin, 15 Wash. 15, 45 Pac. 650; State v. Lewis, 31 Wash. 75, 71 Pac. 778; State v. Keech, 103 Wash. 533, 175 Pac. 176. Use of Deposition: Freidrich v. Territory, 2 Wash. 358, 26 Pac. 976; State v. Humason, 5 Wash. 499, 32 Pac. 111; State v. Paggett, 8 Wash. 579, 36 Pac. 487; State v. Hunter, 18 Wash. 670, 52 Pac. 247.

Compelling Calling of Witness and Production of Evidence: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 224; State v. Payne, 10 Wash. 545, 39 Pac. 157.

— Compulsory Process for the Attendance of Witnesses for Accused: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 225; State ex rel. Thurston County v. Grimes, 7 Wash. 445, 35 Pac. 361; State ex rel. Carraher v. Graves, 13 Wash. 485, 43 Pac. 376.

§ 2307. Right to Subpoena.

Every person charged with the commission of a crime shall have the right upon the trial of such charge to be heard in person or by counsel, and to produce witnesses and proofs in his favor and to have compulsory process to compel the attendance of all witnesses who may be necessary for his proper defense. [L. '09, p. 907, § 55.]

TIME OF TRIAL—Right to Speedy Trial in General: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 186; Thompson v. Territory, 1 W. T. 547; State ex rel. Repath v. Caldwell, 9 Wash. 336, 37 Pac. 669; State v. Hansen, 10 Wash. 235, 38 Pac. 1023;

State v. Miller, 72 Wash. 154, 129 Pac. 1100.

Time for Trial: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 190; State v. Humason, 5 Wash. 499, 32 Pac. 111; State v. Alexander, 65 Wash. 488, 118 Pac. 645; State v. Macleod, 78 Wash. 175, 138 Pac. 648.

§ 2308. Presumption of Innocence—Conviction of Lowest Degree, When.

Every person charged with the commission of a crime shall be presumed innocent until the contrary is proved by competent evidence beyond a reasonable doubt; and when an offense has been proved against him, and there exists a reasonable doubt as to which of two or more degrees he is guilty, he shall be convicted only of the lowest. [L. '09, p. 907, § 56.]

See, also, supra, § 2263.

Cited in 85 Wash. 223.

Under the constitution and this section, the inadvertence of the court in failing to instruct on the presumption of innocence is not prejudicial error, where no request had been made for such instruction, and the court gave a correct instruction as to reasonable doubt and the requirements of the prosecution in establishing a case: State v. Ross, 85 Wash. 218, 147 Pac. 1149.

§ 2309. Conviction, When had.

No person informed against or indicted for a crime shall be convicted thereof, unless by admitting the truth of the charge in his plea, by confession in open court, or by the verdict of a jury, accepted and recorded by the court. [L. '09, p. 907, § 57.]

Cited in 68 Wash. 12.

Under this section, and Const., Art. I, § 22, in a criminal prosecution, it is error for the court to direct a verdict of guilty: State v. Holmes, 68 Wash. 7, 122 Pac. 345.

§ 2310. Bail, When Allowable.

Every person charged with an offense, except that of murder in the first degree, where the proof is evident or the presumption great, may be bailed by sufficient sureties, and bail shall justify and have the same rights as in civil cases, except as otherwise provided by law. The amount of bail in each case shall be determined by the court in its discretion and may from time to time be increased or decreased as circumstances may justify. [L. '09, p. 908, § 58.]

See, also, supra, § 1957.

Cited in 64 Wash. 141.

§ 2311. Proceedings Within Thirty Days.

Whenever a person has been held to answer to any criminal charge, if an indictment be not found or information filed against him within thirty days, the court shall order the prosecution to be dismissed, unless good cause to the contrary be shown. [L. '09, p. 908, § 59.]

Cited in 64 Wash. 50.

Time of Filing: See Remington's Digest, Ind. & Inf., § 17; State v. Lewis, 35 Wash. 261, 77 Pac. 198; State v. Fletcher, 50 Wash. 303, 97 Pac. 242; State v. Strange, 50 Wash. 321, 97 Pac. 233; State v. Lorenzy, 59 Wash. 308, 109 Pac. 1064, Ann. Cas. 1912B, 153.

Under the statute requiring the dismissal of a criminal prosecution if an indictment is not found or information filed within thirty days after the holding of the person, the motion for dismissal must be made at the time the accused is called to plead; since such dismissal is not a bar to another prosecution, and the objection is waived by pleading and going to trial: State v. Seright, 48 Wash. 307, 93 Pac. 521.

§ 2312. Trial Within Sixty Days.

If a defendant indicted or informed against for an offense, whose trial has not been postponed upon his own application, be not brought to trial within sixty days after the indictment is found or the information filed, the court shall order it to be dismissed, unless good cause to the contrary is shown. [L. '09, p. 908, § 60.]

Cited in 64 Wash. 50; 65 Wash. 489; 71 Wash. 188; 72 Wash. 157, 450; 80 Wash. 337; 82 Wash. 332, 478; 100 Wash. 418; 107 Wash. 561.

Right to Speedy Trial in General: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 186; Thompson v. Territory, 1 W. T. 547; State ex rel. Repath v. Caldwell, 9 Wash. 336, 37 Pac. 669; State v. Hansen, 10 Wash. 235, 38 Pac. 1023; State v. Miller, 72 Wash. 154, 129 Pac. 1100.

This section has no application to appeals from convictions in justice court, in view of sections 1919 and 1920, providing that the bond on appeal shall require the defendant to appear in the superior court and prosecute the appeal, and directing default of his recognizance and sentence against him if he fails to do so: State v. Jones, 80 Wash. 335, 141 Pac. 700.

Rem. Code, § 2312, requiring the dismissal of prosecutions where the accused is not brought to trial within sixty days, applies only to criminal prosecutions, and not to proceedings against a delinquent child, under Rem. Code, § 1987-1, par. 6, of the juvenile act: Chartrand, In re, 107 Wash. 560, 182 Pac. 610.

Discharge of Accused for Delay: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 188; State v. Brodie, 7 Wash. 442, 35 Pac. 137; State v. Lewis, 35 Wash. 261, 77 Pac. 198; State v. Fox, 71 Wash. 185, 127 Pac. 1111; State v. Alexander, 65 Wash. 488, 118 Pac. 645; State v. Jones, 80 Wash. 335, 141 Pac. 700.

— Delay in Second Trial: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 189; Murphy, In re, 7 Wash. 257, 34 Pac. 834; State v. Parmeter, 49 Wash. 435, 95 Pac. 1012; State v. Miller, 72 Wash. 154, 129 Pac. 1100.

Discretion: See Remington's Digest, Crim. Law, § 191; State v. Grune, 72 Wash. 448, 130 Pac. 751.

Under this section, it must be presumed on appeal, in the absence of any record as to the showing made below, that there was good cause for denying a motion to dismiss a prosecution for failure to bring it to trial within time: State v. Clay, 100 Wash. 417, 171 Pac. 241.

§ 2313. Discharge of Defendant and Bail upon Dismissal.

Whenever the court shall direct any criminal prosecution to be dismissed, the defendant shall, if in custody, be discharged therefrom, or if admitted to bail, his bail shall be exonerated, and if money has been deposited instead of bail it shall be refunded to the person depositing the same. [L. '09, p. 908, § 61.]

Discharge of Sureties: State v. Lewis, 35 Wash. 261, 77 Pac. 198.

§ 2314. Nolle Prosequi.

The court may, either upon its own motion or upon application of the prosecuting attorney, and in furtherance of justice, order any criminal prosecution to be dismissed; but in such case the reason of the dismissal must be set forth in the order, which must be entered upon the record. No prosecuting attorney shall hereafter discontinue or abandon a prosecution except as provided in this section. [L. '09, p. 908, § 62.]

Cited in 64 Wash. 50; 92 Wash. 504, 505.

The dismissal of a prosecution in a justice court for assault in the third degree, which is a gross misdemeanor, by section 2415, for the stated reason that an information had been filed in the superior court, does not bar a prosecution in the superior court for assault in the second degree, which is a felony under this section; since the reasons given show there was no intent to abandon the prosecution; and the later charge of a felony was not a charge of the same gross misdemeanor, and therefore is not within the act: State v. Wickstrom, 92 Wash. 503, 159 Pac. 753.

Order or Judgment: See Remington's

Digest, Ind. & Inf., §§ 84, 85; State v. Hansen, 10 Wash. 235, 38 Pac. 1023. Operation and Effect of Decision: State v. Bodekar, 11 Wash. 417, 39 Pac. 645; State v. Williams, 43 Wash. 505, 86 Pac. 847.

It is within the discretion of the court to allow the prosecuting attorney to withdraw an information prior to the commencement of a trial, and file another charging the same offense: State v. Gile, 8 Wash. 12, 35 Pac. 417.

§ 2315. Dismissal, When a Bar.

An order dismissing a prosecution under the provisions of sections 2311, 2312, or 2314 shall bar another prosecution for a misdemeanor or gross misdemeanor where the prosecution dismissed charged the same misdemeanor or gross misdemeanor, but in no other case shall such order of dismissal bar another prosecution. § 2316. Acquittal, When a Bar.

No order of dismissal or directed verdict of not guilty on the ground of a variance between the indictment or information and the proof, or on the ground of any defect in such indictment or information, shall bar another prosecution for the same offense. Whenever a defendant shall be acquitted or convicted upon an indictment or information charging a crime consisting of different degrees, he cannot be proceeded against or tried for the same crime in another degree, nor for an attempt to commit such crime, or any degree thereof. The title to the Penal Code (§ 2253 et seq.), is sufficiently broad to include this section, which impliedly repeals section 2113, supra: State v. George, 84 Wash. 113, 146 Pac. 378.

The fact that a defendant has been discharged before verdict upon a prosecution for larceny of certain property by fraudulently and falsely personating another is not a bar to a subsequent prosecution for obtaining the property under false pretenses, when the first discharge resulted from a variance between the information and the proof: State v. Reiff, 14 Wash. 664, 45 Pac. 318.

This section does not use the word "proof" in its technical sense as distinguished from "evidence," and hence applies where the prosecuting attorney moved to dismiss before trial on the ground of a variance between the charge and the "evidence" disclosed to him on interviewing the witnesses and preparing the case: State v. Poole, 64 Wash. 47, 116 Pac. 468.

This section does not apply to dismissals before trial: State v. Wickstrom, 92 Wash. 503, 159 Pac. 753.

CHAPTER III.

CRIMES AGAINST THE SOVEREIGNTY OF THE STATE.

§ 2317. Treason, Defined—Penalty.

Treason against the people of the state consists in—

1. Levying war against the people of the state, or
2. Adhering to its enemies, or
3. Giving them aid and comfort.

Treason is punishable by death.

No person shall be convicted for treason unless upon the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or by confession in open court. [L. '09, p. 909, § 65.]

What constitutes adherence to enemies within law of treason. Ann. Cas. 1917D, 479.

§ 2318. Levying War.

To constitute levying war against the state an actual act of war must be committed. To conspire to levy war is not enough. When persons arise in insurrection with intent to prevent, in general, by force and intimidation, the execution of a statute of this state, or to force its repeal, they shall be guilty of levying war. But an endeavor, although by numbers and force of arms, to resist the execution of a law in a single instance, and for a private purpose, is not levying war. [L. '09, p. 909, § 66.]

§ 2319. Misprision of Treason.

Every person having knowledge of the commission of treason, who conceals the same, and does not, as soon as may be, disclose such treason to the governor or a judge of the supreme court or a superior court, shall be guilty of misprision of treason and punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years or in a county jail for not more than one year. [L. '09, p. 910, § 67.]

CHAPTER IV.

CRIMES BY OR AGAINST PUBLIC OFFICERS.

§ 2320. Bribery of Public Officer.

Every person who shall give, offer or promise, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward to any executive or administrative officer of the state, with intent to influence him with respect to any act, decision, vote, opinion or other proceeding, as such officer; or who shall give, offer or promise, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward to a member of the legislature, or attempt, directly or indirectly, by menace, deceit, suppression of truth or other corrupt means, to influence such member to give or withhold his vote, or to absent himself from the house of which he is a member or from any committee thereof; or who shall give, offer or promise, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward to a judicial officer, juror, referee, arbitrator, appraiser, assessor or other person authorized by law to hear or determine any question, matter, cause, proceeding, or controversy, with intent to influence his action, vote, opinion or decision thereupon; or shall give, offer or promise, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward to a person executing any of the functions of a public officer other than as hereinbefore specified, with intent to influence him with respect to any act, decision, vote or other proceeding in the exercise of his powers or functions, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars or both. [L. '09, p. 910. § 68.]

See, infra, § 2676, bribery of labor representative.

In General: See Remington's Digest, Bribery, and cases cited.

This section is not subject to the rule of ejusdem generis; but covers the bribery of all public officers: State v. Nick, 66 Wash. 134, 119 Pac. 15.

When an indictment for bribing a police officer is not demurrable as failing to allege that a policeman of a city is a "public officer" within this section: State v. Nick, 66 Wash. 134, 119 Pac. 15.

Effect on question of bribery of public officer that act for which bribe is taken or offered is beyond his power or jurisdiction: 14 Ann. Cas. 246; 15 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1173.

§ 2321. Asking or Receiving Bribe.

Every executive or administrative officer or person elected or appointed to an executive or administrative office who shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward, or any promise thereof, upon an agreement or understanding that his vote, opinion or action upon any matter then pending, or which may by law be brought before him in his official capacity, shall be influenced thereby; and every member of either house of the legislature of the state who shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward, or any promise thereof, upon an agreement or understanding that his official vote, opinion, judgment or action shall be influenced thereby, or shall be given in any particular manner, or upon any particular side of any question or matter upon which he may be required to act in his official capacity; and every judicial officer, and every person who executes any of the functions of a public office not hereinbefore specified, and every person employed by or acting for the state or for any public officer in the business of the state, who shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward, or any promise thereof, upon an agreement or understanding that his vote, opinion, judgment, action, decision or other official proceeding shall be influenced thereby, or that he will do or omit any act or proceeding or in any way neglect or violate any official duty, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 911, § 69.]

Cited in 67 Wash. 506, 527.

§ 2321-1. Offering a Bribe as to Baseball Game.

Any person who shall bribe or offer to bribe, any baseball player with intent to influence his play, action or conduct in any baseball game, or any person who shall bribe or offer to bribe any umpire of a baseball game, with intent to influence him to make a wrong decision or to bias his opinion or judgment in relation to any baseball game or any play occurring therein, or any person who shall bribe or offer to bribe any manager, or other official of a baseball club, league or association, by whatsoever name called, conducting said game of baseball to throw or lose a game of baseball, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '21, p. 716, § 1.]

§ 2321-2. Accepting a Bribe by Baseball Player.

Any baseball player who shall accept or agree to accept, a bribe offered for the purpose of wrongfully influencing his play, action or conduct in any baseball game, or any umpire of a baseball game who shall accept or agree to accept a bribe offered for the purpose of influencing him to make a wrong decision, or biasing his opinions, rulings or judgment with regard to any play, or any manager of a baseball club, or league official, who shall accept or agree to accept, any bribe offered for the purpose of inducing him to lose or cause to be lost any baseball game, as set forth in the preceding section of this act, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '21, p. 716, § 2.]

§ 2321-3. Completion of Baseball Bribery.

To complete the offenses mentioned in the two preceding sections of this act, it shall not be necessary that the baseball player, manager, umpire or official, shall, at the time, have been actually employed, selected or appointed to perform their respective duties; it shall be sufficient if the bribe be offered, accepted or agreed to with the view of probable employment, selection or appointment of the person to whom the bribe is offered, or by whom it is accepted. Neither shall it be necessary that such baseball player, umpire or manager actually play or participate in a game or games concerning which said bribe is offered or accepted; it shall be sufficient if the bribe be given, offered or accepted in view of his or their possibly participating therein. [L. '21, p. 717, § 3.]

§ 2321-4. "Bribe" as to Baseball Game Defined.

By a "bribe" as used in this act, is meant any gift, emolument, money or thing of value, testimonial, privilege, appointment or personal advantage, or the promise of either, bestowed or promised for the purpose of influencing, directly or indirectly, any baseball player, manager, umpire, club or league official, to see which game an admission fee may be charged, or in which game of baseball any player, manager or umpire is paid any compensation for his services. Said bribe as defined in this act need not be direct; it may be such as is hidden under the semblance of a sale, bet, wager, payment of a debt, or in any other manner designed to cover the true intention of the parties. [L. '21, p. 717, § 4.]

§ 2321-5. Corrupt Baseball Playing.

Any baseball player, manager or club or league official who shall commit any willful act of omission or commission in playing, or directing the playing, of a baseball game, with intent to cause the ball club, with which he is affiliated, to lose a baseball game; or any umpire officiating in a baseball game, or any club or league official who shall commit any willful act connected with his official duties for the purpose and with the intent to cause a baseball club to win or lose a baseball game, which it would not otherwise have won or lost under the rules governing the playing of said game, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '21, p. 717, § 5.]

§ 2321-6. Venue of Action.

In all prosecutions under this act the venue may be laid in any county where the bribe herein referred to was given, offered or accepted, or in which the baseball game was played in relation to which the bribe was offered, given or accepted, or the acts referred to in section 2321-5 committed. [L. '21, p. 718, § 6.]

§ 2321-7. Bonus or Extra Compensation.

Nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit the giving or offering of any bonus or extra compensation to any manager or baseball player by any person to encourage such manager or player to a higher degree of skill, ability or diligence in the performance of his duties. [L. '21, p. 718, § 7.]

§ 2321-8. Scope of Act.

This act shall apply only to baseball league and club officials, umpires, managers and players who act in such capacity in games where the public is generally invited to attend and a general admission fee is charged. [L. '21, p. 718, § 8.]

"Act" refers to seven preceding sections.

§ 2322. Juror, etc., Accepting Bribe.

Every juror, referee, arbitrator, appraiser, assessor, or other person authorized by law to hear or determine any question, matter, cause, controversy or proceeding, who shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward, or any promise thereof, upon an agreement or understanding that his vote, opinion, action, judgment or decision shall be influenced thereby, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 911, § 70.]

§ 2323. Bribing Witness.

Every person who shall give, offer or promise, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward to any witness or person who may be called as a witness upon an agreement or understanding that the testimony of such witness shall be thereby influenced, or who shall willfully attempt by any other means to induce any witness or person who may be called as a witness to give false testimony, or to withhold true testimony, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 912, § 71.]

See infra, § 2363, tampering with witness.

§ 2324. Witness Accepting Bribe.

Every person who is or may be a witness upon a trial, hearing, investigation or other proceeding before any court, tribunal or officer authorized to hear evidence or take testimony, who shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward, or any promise thereof, upon an agreement or understanding that his testimony shall be influenced thereby, or that he will absent himself from the trial, hearing or other proceeding, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 912, § 72.]

Cited in 82 Wash. 484.

One who for a consideration offers to make an affidavit to be used on a motion for a new trial, stating that his former testimony in the case was a fabrication, is a "witness" within the meaning of, and is guilty of violating, this section; since by sections 399, 401, supra, an affidavit is made a distinct means for bringing the testimony of witnesses before the court on motions for a new trial, and one who testifies by affidavit is a witness: State v. Dooley, 82 Wash. 483, 144 Pac. 654.

§ 2325. Influencing Juror.

Every person who shall influence, or attempt to influence, improperly, a juror in a civil or criminal action or any proceeding, or any person chosen or appointed as an arbitrator or referee, in respect to his verdict, judgment, report, award or decision in any cause or matter pending or about to be brought before him, in any case or in any manner not hereinbefore provided for, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 912, § 73.]

§ 2326. Juror, etc., Promising Verdict, etc.

Every juror and every person chosen or appointed arbitrator or referee, who shall make any promise or agreement to give a verdict, judgment, report, award or decision for or against any party, or who shall willfully receive any communication, book, paper, instrument or information relating to a cause or matter pending before him, except according to the regular course of proceeding upon the trial or hearing of such cause or matter, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 913, § 74.]

§ 2327. Misconduct of Officer Drawing Jury.

Every person charged by law with the preparation of any jury list or list of names from which any jury is to be drawn, and every person authorized by law to assist at the drawing of a grand or petit jury to attend a court or term of court or to try any cause or issue, who shall—

(1.) Place in any such list any name at the request or solicitation, direct or indirect, of any person; or

(2.) Designedly put upon the list of jurors, as having been drawn, any name which was not lawfully drawn for that purpose; or

(3.) Designedly omit to place upon such list any name which was lawfully drawn; or

(4.) Designedly sign or certify a list of such jurors as having been drawn which were not lawfully drawn; or

(5.) Designedly and wrongfully withdraw from the box or other receptacle for the ballots containing the names of such jurors any paper or ballot lawfully placed or belonging there and containing the name of a juror, or omit to place therein any name lawfully drawn or designated, or place therein a paper or ballot containing the name of a person not lawfully drawn, and designated as a juror; or

(6.) In drawing or impaneling such jury, do any act which is unfair, partial or improper in any respect;

Shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 913, § 75.]

Misconduct of officers in selection or summoning jurors or grand jurors as contempt of court. 7 A. L. R.

§ 2328. Soliciting Jury Duty.

Every person who shall, directly or indirectly, solicit or request any person charged with the duty of preparing any jury list to put his name, or the name of any other person, on any such list, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 914, § 76.]

§ 2329. Misconduct of Officer in Charge of Jury.

Every person to whose charge a jury shall be committed by a court or magistrate, who shall knowingly, without leave of such court or magistrate, permit them or any one of them to receive any communication from any person, to make any communication to any person, to obtain or receive any book, paper or refreshment, or to leave the jury-room, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 914, § 77.]

§ 2330. Offender a Competent Witness.

Every person offending against any of the provisions of law relating to bribery or corruption shall be a competent witness against another so offending and shall not be excused from giving testimony tending to criminate himself. [L. '09, p. 914, § 78.]

See, also §§ 2149, 2150.

§ 2331. Interfering With Public Officer.

Every person who, by means of any threat, force or violence, shall attempt to deter or prevent any executive or administrative officer from performing any duty imposed upon him by law, or who shall knowingly resist by force or violence any executive or administrative officer in the performance of his duty, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. & Bal. Code, § 2874, superseded by this section: State v. Knapf, 50 Wash. 229, 96 Pac. 1076, 21 L. R. A. (N. S.) 66.

§ 2332. Offering Reward for Appointment.

Every person who shall give, offer or promise, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward, in consideration that he or another person shall be appointed to a public office, or to a clerkship, deputation or other subordinate position in such office, or that he or any other person shall be permitted to exercise, perform or discharge any prerogative or duty or receive any emolument of such office, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 914, § 80.]

§ 2333. Grafting.

Every person who shall ask or receive any compensation, gratuity or reward, or any promise thereof, upon the representation that he can, directly or indirectly, or in consideration that he shall, or shall attempt to, directly or indirectly, influence any public officer, whether executive, administrative, judicial or legislative, to refuse, neglect, or defer the performance of any official duty; or who shall ask or receive any compensation, gratuity or reward, or any promise thereof, the right to retain or receive which shall be conditioned that such person shall, directly or indirectly, successfully influence by any means whatever any executive, administrative or legislative officer, in respect to any act, decision, vote, opinion or other proceeding, as such officer; or who shall ask or receive any compensation, gratuity or reward, or any promise thereof, upon the representation that he can, directly or indirectly, or in consideration that he shall, or shall attempt to, directly or indirectly, influence any public officer, whether executive, administrative, judicial or legislative, in respect to any act, decision, vote, opinion or other proceeding, as such officer, unless it be clearly understood and agreed in good faith between the parties thereto, on both sides, that no means or influence shall be employed except explanation and argument upon the merits, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor, and, in any prosecution, under the third clause of this section, evidence of the means actually employed to influence such officer shall be admitted as proof of the means originally contemplated by the defendant. § 2333-1. Suppression of Competitive Bidding.

When any competitive bid or bids are to be or have been solicited, requested, or advertised for by the state of Washington, or any county, city, town or other municipal corporation therein, or any department of either thereof, for any work or improvement to be done or constructed for or by such state, county, city, town, or other municipal corporation, or any department of either thereof, it shall be unlawful for any person acting for himself or as agent of another, or as agent for or as a member of any partnership, unincorporated firm or association, or as an officer or agent of any corporation, to offer, give, or promise to give, any money, check, draft, property, or other thing of value, to another or to any firm, association, or corporation for the purpose of inducing such other person, firm, association, or corporation, either to refrain from submitting any bids upon such public work or improvement, or to enter into any agreement, understanding or arrangement whereby full and unrestricted competition for the securing of such public work will be suppressed, prevented, or eliminated; and it shall be unlawful for any person to solicit, accept, or receive any money, check, draft, property, or other thing of value upon a promise or understanding, express or implied, that he individually or as an agent or officer of another person, persons, or corporation, will refrain from bidding upon such public work or improvement, or that he will on behalf of himself or such others submit or permit another to submit for him any bid upon such public work or improvement in such sum as to eliminate full and unrestricted competition thereon. [L. '21, p. 77, § 1.]

§ 2333-2. Collusion in Competitive Bidding.

It shall be unlawful for any person for himself or as an agent or officer of any other person, persons, or corporation to in any manner enter into collusion or an understanding with any other person, persons, or corporation to prevent or eliminate full and unrestricted competition upon any public work or improvement mentioned in section 2333-1. [L. '21, p. 78, § 2.]

§ 2333-3. Penalty.

Any person violating any provisions of this act shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '21, p. 78, § 3.]

"Act," in this section refers to sections 2333-1 to 2333-4, inclusive.

§ 2333-4. Agreement Outside State.

It shall be no defense to a prosecution under this act that a payment or promise of payment of any money, check, draft, or anything of value, or any other understanding or arrangement to eliminate unrestricted competitive bids was had or made outside of the state of Washington, if such work or improvement for which bids are called is to be done or performed within the state. [L. '21, p. 78, § 4.]

§ 2334. Misconduct of Public Officer.

Every public officer who shall—

(1.) Ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward, or promise thereof, for omitting or deferring the performance of any official duty; or for any official service which has not been actually rendered, except in case of charges for prospective costs or fees demandable in advance in a case allowed by law; or

(2.) Be beneficially interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract, sale, lease or purchase which may be made by, through or under the supervision of such officer, in whole or in part, or which may be made for the benefit of his office, or accept, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward from any other person beneficially interested therein; or (3.) Employ or use any person, money or property under his official control or direction, or in his official custody, for the private benefit or gain of himself or another;

Shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor, and any contract, sale, lease or purchase mentioned in subdivision 2 hereof shall be void. [L. '09, p. 915, § 82.]

Validity of statute discriminating against laborers in employment of aliens. Ann. Cas. 1917B, 286.

§ 2334-2. Acceptance of Such Employment.

It shall be unlawful for any such alien to accept employment with any officer or agent of, or any contractor for, the state of Washington, or any county, city, town or municipal corporation thereof. [L. '19, p. 273, § 2.]

§ 2334-3. List of Employees.

Every contractor shall, upon demand of the executive officer of the state or municipal corporation with which he has contracted, furnish a list of his employees which shall set forth whether they are citizens of the United States. [L. '19, p. 273, § 3.]

§ 2334-4. Penalty.

Every person violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '19, p. 273, § 4.]

"Act" refers to three previous sections.

§ 2335. Grant of Official Powers.

Every public officer who, for any reward, consideration or gratuity paid or agreed to be paid, shall, directly or indirectly, grant to another the right or authority to discharge any function of his office, or permit another to perform any of his duties, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 916, § 83.]

§ 2336. Intrusion into and Refusal to Surrender Public Office.

Every person who shall falsely personate or represent any public officer, or who shall willfully intrude himself into a public office to which he has not been duly elected or appointed, or who shall willfully exercise any of the functions or perform any of the duties of such officer, without having duly qualified therefor, as required by law, or who, having been an executive or administrative officer, shall willfully exercise any of the functions of his office after his right to do so has ceased, or wrongfully refuse to surrender the official seal or any books or papers appertaining to such office, upon the demand of his lawful successor, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 916, § 84.]

§ 2337. Disturbing Legislature or Intimidating Member.

Every person who shall willfully disturb the legislature of this state, or either house thereof, while in session, or who shall commit any disorderly conduct in the presence or view of either house thereof, tending to interrupt its proceedings or impair the respect due to its authority, or who willfully, by intimidation or otherwise, shall prevent any member of the legislature from attending any session of the house of which he shall be a member or any committee thereof, or from giving his vote upon any question which may come before such house or committee, or from performing any other official act, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 916, § 85.]

Cited in 108 Wash. 207.

§ 2338. Witness Refusing to Attend Legislature or Committee or to Testify.

Every person duly summoned to attend as a witness before either house of the legislature of this state, or any committee thereof authorized to summon witnesses, who shall refuse or neglect, without lawful excuse, to attend pursuant to such summons, or who shall willfully refuse to be sworn or to affirm or to answer any material or proper question, or to produce, upon reasonable notice, any material or proper books, papers or documents in his possession or under his control, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 917, § 86.]

See infra, §§ 8188-8190, penalties on same subject.

RESCUES AND ESCAPES.

§ 2339. Rescuing Prisoner.

Every person who shall, by force or fraud, rescue from lawful custody, or from an officer or person having him in lawful custody, a prisoner held upon a charge, arrest, commitment, conviction or sentence for felony, shall be guilty of a felony; and every person who shall rescue a prisoner held upon a charge, arrest, commitment, conviction or sentence for a gross misdemeanor or misdemeanor shall be guilty of misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 917, § 87.]

§ 2340. Taking Property from an Officer.

Every person who shall take from the custody of any officer or other person any personal property in his charge under any process of law, or who shall willfully injure or destroy such property, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 917, § 88.]

§ 2341. Escaped Prisoner Recaptured.

Every person in custody, under sentence of imprisonment for any crime, who shall escape from custody, may be recaptured and imprisoned for a term equal to the unexpired portion of the original term. [L. '09, p. 917, § 89.]

§ 2342. Prisoner Escaping.

Every prisoner confined in a prison, or being in the lawful custody of an officer or other person, who shall escape or attempt to escape from such prison or custody, by force or fraud, if he is held on a charge, conviction or sentence of a felony, shall be guilty of a felony; if held on a charge, conviction or sentence of a gross misdemeanor or misdemeanor, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 918, § 90.]

Cited in 69 Wash. 271, 272.

§ 2343. Aiding Prisoner to Escape.

Every person who, with intent to effect or facilitate the escape of a prisoner, whether such escape shall be effected or attempted or not, shall convey or send to a prisoner any information or aid, or convey or send into a prison any disguise, instrument, weapon or other thing, or aid or assist a prisoner in escaping or attempting to escape from the lawful custody of a sheriff or other officer or person, shall be guilty of a felony if such prisoner is held upon a charge, arrest, commitment, conviction or a sentence for a felony, and shall be guilty of a misdemeanor if such prisoner is held upon a charge, arrest, commitment, conviction or sentence for a gross misdemeanor or misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 918, § 91.]

See infra, § 10232, assisting prisoner to escape from penitentiary.

See infra, § 10233, supplying with weapons or drugs.

§ 2344. Custodian Suffering Escape.

Every person who shall allow a prisoner lawfully in his custody to escape, or shall connive at or assist such escape, or shall omit any act or duty by reason of which omission such escape is occasioned, contributed to or assisted, shall, if he connive at or assist such escape, be guilty of a felony; and in any other case, of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 918, § 92.]

§ 2345. Ministerial Officer Permitting Escape.

Every officer who shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward, or promise thereof, to procure, assist, connive at or permit any prisoner in his custody to escape, whether such escape shall be attempted or not, or shall commit any unlawful act tending to hinder justice, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 918, § 93.]

§ 2346. Concealing Escaped Prisoner.

Every person who shall conceal, or harbor for the purpose of concealment, a prisoner who has escaped or is escaping from custody, shall be guilty of a felony if the prisoner is held upon a charge or conviction or sentence of felony, and of a misdemeanor if the prisoner is held upon a charge or conviction of a gross misdemeanor or misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 919, § 94.]

§ 2347. Injury to Public Record.

Every person who shall willfully and unlawfully remove, alter, mutilate, destroy, conceal or obliterate a record, map, book, paper, document or other thing filed or deposited in a public office, or with any public officer, by authority of law, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 919, § 95.]

PUBLIC RECORDS.

§ 2348. Injury to and Misappropriation of Record.

Every officer who shall mutilate, destroy, conceal, erase, obliterate or falsify any record or paper appertaining to his office, or who shall fraudulently appropriate to his own use or to the use of another person, or secrete with intent to appropriate to such use, any money, evidence of debt or other property intrusted to him by virtue of his office, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 919, § 96.]

§ 2349. Offering False Instrument for Filing or Record.

Every person who shall knowingly procure or offer any false or forged instrument to be filed, registered or recorded in any public office, which instrument, if genuine, might be filed, registered or recorded in such office under any law of this state or of the United States, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 919, § 97.]

§ 2350. False Report.

Every public officer who shall knowingly make any false or misleading statement in any official report or statement, under circumstances not otherwise prohibited by law, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 920, § 98.]

See infra, § 2380, false certificates by officers.

See infra, § 7841, false appraisement of public lands.

PERJURY AND OTHER CRIMES.

§ 2351. Perjury—First Degree.

Every person who, in any action, proceeding, hearing, inquiry or investigation, in which an oath may lawfully be administered, shall swear that he will testify, declare, depose or certify truly, or that any testimony, declaration, deposition, certificate, affidavit or other writing by him subscribed is true, and who, in such action, proceeding, hearing, inquiry or investigation shall state or subscribe as true any material matter which he knows to be false, shall be guilty of perjury in the first degree and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than fifteen years. [L. '09, p. 920, § 99.]

Cited in 83 Wash. 422—425; 105 Wash. 174.

Perjury in General: See Remington's Digest, "Perjury."

An information for perjury sufficiently charges the materiality of the testimony, within this section, defining perjury, even if insufficient at common law, where it alleges that accused willfully testified falsely "to the following material facts in the case," setting forth the testimony; in view of sections 2065, 2066, supra: State v. Vane, 105 Wash. 170, 177 Pac. 728.

Form of oath as affecting crime of perjury. Ann. Cas. 1914B, 595; Ann. Cas. 1916A, 497.

False statement made under fear or compulsion as perjury. 4 A. L. R. 1319.

§ 2352. Knowledge of Materiality not Necessary.

It shall be no defense to a prosecution for perjury in the first degree that the defendant did not know the materiality of his false statement or that it did not in fact affect the proceeding in or for which it was made. It shall be sufficient that it was material and might have affected such proceeding. [L. '09, p. 920, § 100.]

Cited in 83 Wash. 425.

This section does not contemplate that, if the testimony be material to the issue, the offense would be perjury in the first degree, and, if not material, "perjury in the second degree": State v. Wilson, 83 Wash. 419, 145 Pac. 455.

§ 2353. Perjury—Second Degree.

Every person who, whether orally or in writing, and whether as a volunteer or in a proceeding or investigation authorized by law, shall knowingly swear falsely concerning any matter whatsoever, shall be guilty of perjury in the second degree and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year. [L. '09, p. 920, § 101.]

Cited in 69 Wash. 86; 83 Wash. 423—425; 84 Wash. 116; 91 Wash. 482—485.

"Perjury in the second degree" as defined by this section is not included within, and conviction thereof cannot be had under, a charge of perjury under section 2351, defining perjury in the "first degree": State v. Wilson, 83 Wash. 419, 145 Pac. 455.

A prosecution for perjury in the second degree may be predicated upon an affidavit as to the financial condition of a bank voluntarily made by one of its officers and not required by law, under this section, the use of the disjunctive plainly manifesting the intent to treat voluntary false swearing the same as false swearing in a proceeding or investigation: State v. Howard, 91 Wash. 481, 158 Pac. 104.

§ 2354. "Oath" and "Swear" Defined.

The term "oath" shall include an affirmation and every other mode authorized by law of attesting the truth of that which is stated. A person who shall state any matter under oath shall be deemed to "swear" thereto. [L. '09, p. 920, § 102.]

Cited in 91 Wash. 483, 485.

In view of this section an "oath" as a basis of a prosecution for false swearing or perjury in the second degree does not imply a form of inquiry required by law: State v. Howard, 91 Wash. 481, 158 Pac. 104.

§ 2355. Irregularity in Administering Oath or Incompetency of Witness No Defense.

It shall be no defense to a prosecution for perjury that an oath was administered or taken in an irregular manner or that the defendant was not competent to give the testimony, deposition, certificate or affidavit of which falsehood is alleged. It shall be sufficient that he actually gave such testimony or made such deposition, certificate or affidavit. [L. '09, p. 921, § 103.]

False swearing, where no oath, or the particular one administered, was not required, as perjury. 39 L. R. A. (N. S.) 96.

§ 2356. Deposition—When Complete.

The making of a deposition, certificate or affidavit shall be deemed to be complete when it is subscribed and sworn to or affirmed by the defendant with intent that it be uttered or published as true. [L. '09, p. 921, § 104.]

§ 2357. Statement of What One Does not Know to be True.

Every unqualified statement of that which one does not know to be true is equivalent to a statement of that which he knows to be false. [L. '09, p. 921, § 105.]

§ 2358. Offering False Evidence.

Every person who, upon any trial, hearing, inquiry, investigation or other proceeding authorized by law, shall offer or procure to be offered in evidence, as genuine, any book, paper, document, record or other instrument in writing, knowing the same to have been forged or fraudulently altered, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years. [L. '09, p. 921, § 106.]

§ 2359. Committal of Witness—Detention of Documents.

Whenever it shall appear probable to a judge, justice of the peace, magistrate, or other officer lawfully authorized to conduct any hearing, proceeding or investigation, that a person who has testified before him has committed perjury in any testimony so given, or offered any false evidence, he may, by order or process for that purpose, immediately commit such person to jail or take a recognizance for his appearance to answer such charge. In such case he may detain any book, paper, document, record or other instrument produced before him or direct it to be delivered to the prosecuting attorney. [L. '09, p. 921, § 107.]

§ 2360. Subornation of Perjury.

Every person who shall willfully procure another to commit perjury, in either degree, or to offer any false evidence, shall be guilty of subornation of perjury and shall be punished in the same manner as if he had himself committed the perjury so procured or offered the false evidence so offered. [L. '09, p. 922, § 108.]

§ 2361. Attempt to Suborn Perjury.

Every person who, without giving, offering or promising a bribe, shall incite or attempt to procure another to commit perjury, in either degree, or to offer any false evidence, or to withhold true testimony, though no perjury be committed or false evidence offered or true testimony withheld, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 922, § 109.]

What constitutes offense of attempting to suborn perjury. 17 Ann. Cas. 1182.

§ 2362. Destroying Evidence.

Every person who, with intent to conceal the commission of any felony, or to protect or conceal the identity of any person committing the same, or with intent to delay or hinder the administration of the law or to prevent the production thereof at any time, in any court or before any officer, tribunal, judge or magistrate, shall willfully destroy, alter, erase, obliterate or conceal any book, paper, record, writing, instrument or thing, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 922 § 110.]

§ 2363. Tampering With Witness.

Every person who shall willfully prevent or attempt to prevent, by persuasion, threats or otherwise, any person from appearing before any court, or officer authorized to subpoena witnesses, as a witness in any action, proceeding or investigation, with intent thereby to obstruct the course of justice, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 922, § 111.]

Cited in 92 Wash. 221.

An information charging accused with tampering with witnesses in a certain action before a designated justice court is sufficient without alleging that such court was "authorized to subpoena witnesses": State v. Wingard, 92 Wash. 219, 158 Pac. 725.

§ 2364. Neglect or Refusal to Receive a Person into Custody.

Every officer who, in violation of any legal duty, shall willfully neglect or refuse to receive a person into his official custody or into a prison under his charge, shall, in a case where no other punishment is specially provided by law, be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 922, § 112.]

§ 2365. Refusal to Make Arrest or to Aid Officer.

Every person who, after having been lawfully commanded by any magistrate to arrest another person, shall willfully neglect or refuse so to do; and every person who, after having been lawfully commanded to aid an officer in arresting any person, or in retaking any person who has escaped from lawful custody, or in executing any lawful process, shall willfully neglect or refuse to aid such officer, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 923, § 113.]

Cited in 90 Wash. 153.

Under this section, the owner of a boat is not liable for the acts of the purser in ejecting a person from the boat, if the purser was acting under the direct command of a police officer and aiding him to make an arrest: Duval v. Inland Nav. Co., 90 Wash. 149, 155 Pac. 768.

§ 2366. Resisting Public Officer.

Every person who, in any case or under any circumstances not otherwise specially provided for, shall willfully resist, delay or obstruct a public officer in discharging or attempting to discharge any legal duty of his office, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 923, § 114.]

See supra, § 2331, interfering with or resisting officer.
 See supra, § 2365, resisting and refusing to aid in arrest.
 See infra, § 2520, obstructing firemen.
 See infra, § 2555, combination to resist process.
 See infra, § 2672, obstructing officer.

§ 2367. Compounding Crimes.

Every person who shall ask or receive, directly or indirectly, any compensation, gratuity or reward, or any promise thereof, upon an agreement or understanding that he will compound or conceal a crime or violation of a statute, or abstain from testifying thereto, delay a prosecution therefor or withhold any evidence thereof, except in a case where a compromise is allowed by law, shall be guilty—

(1) Of a felony and punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, where the agreement or understanding relates to a felony;

(2) Of a misdemeanor, where the agreement or understanding relates to a gross misdemeanor or misdemeanor, or to a violation of statute for which a pecuniary penalty or forfeiture is prescribed.

In any proceeding against a person for compounding a crime, it shall not be necessary to prove that any person has been convicted of the crime or violation of statute in relation to which an agreement or understanding herein prohibited was made. [L. '09, p. 923, § 115.]

Necessity of alleging and proving actual commission of offense charged to have been compounded.

§ 2368. Intimidating Public Officer.

Every person who shall, directly or indirectly, address any threat or intimidation to a public officer or to a juror, referee, arbitrator, appraiser or assessor, or to any other person authorized by law to hear or determine any controversy or matter, with intent to induce him, contrary to his duty to do or make or to omit or delay any act, decision or determination, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 924, § 116.]

§ 2369. Malicious Prosecution.

Every person who shall, maliciously and without probable cause therefor, cause or attempt to cause another to be arrested or proceeded against for any crime of which he is innocent—

(1) If such crime be a felony, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years; and.

(2) If such crime be a gross misdemeanor or misdemeanor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 924, § 117.]

Cited in 85 Wash. 353, 354.

Under this section, an information charging a malicious prosecution without specifying the charge on which the arrest was made is fatally defective, in that it charges two offenses, if any, in violation of section 2059, and also in that it fails to comply with section 2057, providing that an information must be direct and certain as regards the crime charged: State v. Smith, 85 Wash. 352, 148 Pac. 25.

§ 2370. Barratry—Solicitation by Attorneys.

Every person who shall bring on his own behalf, or instigate, incite or encourage another to bring, any false suit at law or in equity in any court of this state, with intent thereby to distress or harass a defendant therein; and every person, being an attorney or counselor at law, who shall personally, or through the agency of another, solicit employment as such attorney, in any suit pending or prospective, or, with intent to obtain such employment shall, directly or indirectly, loan any money or give or promise to give any money, property or other consideration to the person from whom such employment is sought; and every person who shall serve or send any paper or document purporting to be or resembling a judicial process, not in fact a judicial process shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and in case the person offending is an attorney, he may, in addition thereto be disbarred from practicing law within this state. [L. '15, p. 492, § 1; L. '09, p. 924, § 118.]

§ 2371. Buying Demand or Promising Reward by Justice or Constable.

Every justice of the peace or constable who shall, directly or indirectly, buy or be interested in buying anything in action for the purpose of commencing a suit thereon before a justice of the peace, or who shall give or promise any valuable consideration to any person as an inducement to bring, or as a consideration for having brought, a suit before a justice of the peace, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 924, § 119.]

§ 2372. Criminal Contempt.

Every person who shall commit a contempt of court of any one of the following kinds shall be guilty of a misdemeanor:

(1.) Disorderly, contemptuous or insolent behavior committed during the sitting of the court, in its immediate view and presence, and directly tending to interrupt its proceeding or to impair the respect due to its authority; or,

(2.) Behavior of like character in the presence of a referee, while actually engaged in a trial or hearing pursuant to an order of court, or in the presence of a jury while actually sitting in the trial of a cause or upon an inquest or other proceeding authorized by law; or,

(3.) Breach of the peace, noise, or other disturbance directly tending to interrupt the proceedings of a court, jury or referee; or,

(4.) Willful disobedience to the lawful process or mandate of a court; or,

(5.) Resistance, willfully offered, to its lawful process or mandate; or,

(6.) Contumacious and unlawful refusal to be sworn as a witness, or after being sworn, to answer any legal and proper interrogatory; or,

(7.) Publication of a false or grossly inaccurate report of its proceedings; or,

(8.) Assuming to be an attorney or officer of a court or acting as such without authority. [L. '09, p. 925, § 120.]

See supra, §§ 1049-1062, contempts and their punishment.

Cited in 63 Wash. 28; 79 Wash. 555; 104 Wash. 680, 682, 684.

This section defining contempt of court as disorderly or insolent behavior committed during the sitting of the court, "in its immediate view and presence," is declaratory of the common law and equivalent to contempt "in the face of the court": State v. Buddress, 63 Wash. 26, 114 Pac. 879.

When a judgment shows a contempt within this section by a breach of the peace or other disturbance directly tending to interrupt the proceedings of the court: State v. Buddress, 63 Wash. 26, 114 Pac. 879.

The publication of a false or grossly inaccurate report of the proceedings of a court is criminal contempt, within this section, subdivision 7, whether the proceedings are pending at the time of the publication or concluded prior thereto: State v. Angevine, 104 Wash. 679, 177 Pac. 701.

In a prosecution for criminal contempt by publishing a false report of court proceedings, the admission of the publication, and evidence of its gross inaccuracy and the synchronous pendency of the action, sustained a verdict, the weight and credibility of the evidence being for the jury: State v. Angevine, 104 Wash. 679, 177 Pac. 701.

§ 2373. Grand Juror Acting After Challenge Allowed.

Every grand juror who, with knowledge that a challenge interposed against him by a defendant has been allowed, shall be present at, or take part, or attempt to take part, in the consideration of the charge against the defendant who interposed such challenge, or the deliberations of the grand jury thereon, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 925, § 121.]

§ 2374. Production of Pretended Heir.

Every person who shall fraudulently or falsely pretend that any infant child was born of a parent whose child is or would be entitled to inherit real property or to receive any personal property, or who shall falsely represent himself or another to be a person entitled to an interest or share in the estate of a deceased person as executor, administrator, husband, wife, heir, legatee, devisee, next of kin or relative of such deceased person, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years. [L. '09, p. 926, § 122.]

§ 2375. Substitution of a Child.

Every person to whom a child has been confided for nursing, education or any other purpose, who, with intent to deceive a person [parent], guardian or relative of such child, shall substitute or produce to such parent, guardian or relative, another child or person in the place of the child so confided, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years. [L. '09, p. 926, § 123.]

§ 2376. Instituting Suit in Name of Another.

Every person who shall institute or prosecute any action or other proceeding in the name of another, without his consent and contrary to law, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 926, § 124.]

§ 2377. Unauthorized Communication With Prisoner.

Every person who, not being authorized by law or by any officer authorized thereto, shall have any verbal communication with any prisoner in any jail, reformatory, penitentiary, or other penal institution, or shall bring into or convey out of the same any writing, clothing, food, tobacco or any article whatsoever, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 926, § 125.]

§ 2378. Disclosing Transaction of Grand Jury.

Every judge, grand juror, prosecuting attorney, clerk, stenographer or other officer who, except in the due discharge of his official duty, shall disclose the fact that a presentment has been made or indictment found or ordered against any person, before such person shall be in custody; and every grand juror, clerk or stenographer who, except when lawfully required by the court or officer, shall disclose any evidence adduced before the grand jury, or any proceeding, discussion or vote of the grand jury or any member thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 927, § 126.]

See, also, § 2046, supra.

§ 2379. Disclosure of Deposition Returned by Grand Jury.

Every clerk of any court or other officer who shall willfully permit any deposition, or the transcript of any testimony, returned by a grand jury and filed with such clerk or officer, to be inspected by any person except the court, the deputies or assistants of such clerk, and the prosecuting attorney and his deputies, until after the arrest of the defendant, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 927, § 127.]

§ 2380. Public Officer Making False Certificate.

Every public officer who, being authorized by law to make or give a certificate or other writing, shall knowingly make and deliver as true such a certificate or writing containing any statement which he knows to be false, in a case where the punishment thereof is not expressly prescribed by law, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 927, § 128.]

See supra, § 2350, false reports by officers.

See infra, § 2584, false certificates to certain instruments.

§ 2381. Falsely Auditing and Paying Claims.

Every public officer or person holding or discharging the duties of any public office or place of trust under the state or in any county, town or city, a part of whose duty it is to audit, allow or pay, or take part in auditing, allowing or paying, claims or demands upon the state or such county, town or city, who shall knowingly audit, allow or pay, or, directly or indirectly, consent to or in any way connive at the auditing, allowance or payment of any claim or demand against the state or such county, town or city, which is false or fraudulent or contains any charge, item or claim which is false or fraudulent, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 927, § 129.]

Cited in 88 Wash. 665.

The use of the word "false" in connection with the word "fraudulent" in this section does not show a legislative intent to include only such claims as are corruptly false or acts done with willful design to cheat the public: State v. Case, 88 Wash. 664, 153 Pac. 1070.

The crime of submitting a false audit by a public officer, without intent to cheat was not an offense at common law, and being an offense malum prohibitum, an intent to violate the law is implied from the fact of violation: State v. Case, 88 Wash. 664, 153 Pac. 1070.

§ 2382. Conspiracy.

Whenever two or more persons shall conspire—

- (1.) To commit a crime; or
- (2.) Falsely and maliciously to procure another to be arrested or proceeded against for a crime; or

- (3.) Falsely to institute or maintain any action or proceeding; or (4.) To cheat or defraud another out of any property by unlawful or fraudulent means; or (5.) To prevent another from exercising any lawful trade or calling, or from doing any other lawful act, by force, threats or intimidation, or by interfering or threatening to interfere with any tools, implements or property belonging to or used by another, or with the use or employment thereof; or
 (6.) To commit any act injurious to the public health, public morals, trade or commerce, or for the perversion or corruption of public justice or the due administration of the law; or (7.) To accomplish any criminal or unlawful purpose, or to accomplish a purpose, not in itself criminal or unlawful, by criminal or unlawful means;

Every such person shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 928, § 130.]

CHAPTER V.

CRIMES AGAINST THE PERSON.

§ 2385. Suicide Defined.

Suicide is the intentional taking of one's own life. [L. '09, p. 929, § 133.]

§ 2386. Attempting Suicide.

Every person who, with intent to take his own life, shall commit upon himself any act dangerous to human life, or which, if committed upon or toward another person and followed by death as a consequence, would render the perpetrator chargeable with homicide, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than two years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars. [L. '09, p. 929, § 134.]

§ 2387. Aiding Suicide.

Every person who, in any manner, shall willfully advise, encourage, abet or assist another person in attempting to take the latter's life shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years. [L. '09, p. 929, § 136.]

§ 2389. Incapacity of Person Aided No Defense.

The fact that the person attempting to take his own life was incapable of committing crime shall not be a defense to a prosecution under either of sections 2387 or 2388. [L. '09, p. 929, § 137.]

HOMICIDE.

§ 2390. Homicide—Defined and Classified.

Homicide is the killing of a human being by the act, procurement or omission of another and is either (1) murder, (2) manslaughter, (3) excusable homicide or (4) justifiable homicide. [L. '09, p. 929, § 138.]

Cited in 88 Wash. 309.

For text treatment of "Homicide," see 13 E. O. L. 697.

§ 2391. Proof of Death and of Killing by Defendant.

No person shall be convicted of murder or manslaughter unless the death of the person alleged to have been killed and the fact of killing by the defendant, as alleged, are each established as independent facts beyond a reasonable doubt. [L. '09, p. 930, § 139.]

§ 2392. Murder in the First Degree—Death Penalty.

The killing of a human being, unless it is excusable or justifiable, is murder in the first degree when committed either—

1. With a premeditated design to effect the death of the person killed, or of another; or,

2. By an act imminently dangerous to others and evincing a depraved mind, regardless of human life, without a premeditated design to effect the death of any individual; or,

3. Without design to effect death, by a person engaged in the commission of, or in an attempt to commit, or in withdrawing from the scene of, a robbery, rape, burglary, larceny or arson in the first degree; or,

4. By maliciously interfering or tampering with or obstructing any switch, frog, rail, roadbed, sleeper, viaduct, bridge, trestle, culvert, embankment, structure or appliance pertaining to or connected with any railway, or any engine, motor or car of such railway.

Murder in the first degree shall be punishable by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for life, unless the jury shall find that the punishment shall be death; and in every trial for murder in the first degree the jury shall, if it find the defendant guilty, also find a special verdict as to whether or not the death penalty shall be inflicted; and if such special verdict is in the affirmative, the penalty shall be death, otherwise, it shall be as herein provided. All executions in accordance herewith shall take place at the state penitentiary under the direction of and pursuant to arrangements made by the superintendent thereof. [L. '19, p. 273, § 1. Cf. L. '13, p. 581, § 1; L. '09, p. 930, § 140.]

In General: See Remington's Digest, Homicide.

Upon the defense that accused participated in a robbery because of duress, it is not error to instruct that, on a resulting murder, there was no question of justifiable or excusable homicide, where the accused had participated in the robbery and the victim was murdered by a confederate in committing the robbery; in view of this section, subdivision 3: State v. Moretti, 66 Wash. 537, 120 Pac. 102.

Under this section, it is not necessary that the indictment or information negative that the killing was without excuse or justification; at least, not further than to allege that the killing was done "willfully, unlawfully, feloniously and with a premeditated design"; in view of sections 2055, 2057, 2064—2066, supra, defining the requisites of indictments and informations and declaring the effect of informal defects that do not affect the substantial rights of the defendant: State v. Siefert, 65 Wash. 596, 118 Pac. 746.

An information charging that the accused did, with premeditated design to effect her death, kill and murder A. J. by beating and mortally wounding, etc., follows the language of this section, and is sufficient, without further alleging that the person died: State v. Jahns, 61 Wash. 636, 112 Pac. 747.

Sufficient evidence to sustain a conviction of second degree murder is by evidence of malice or "premeditated design to effect the death," within this section: State v. Hawkins, 89 Wash. 449, 154 Pac. 827.

Under this and the following sections, killing with a design to effect death is murder and the element of manslaughter is excluded, even if under provocation or sudden heat of passion: State v. Palmer, 104 Wash. 396, 176 Pac. 547; State v. Hoyer, 105 Wash. 160, 177 Pac. 683.

§ 2393. Murder in the Second Degree.

The killing of a human being, unless it is excusable or justifiable, is murder in the second degree when—

(1.) Committed with a design to effect the death of the person killed or of another, but without premeditation; or

(2.) When perpetrated by a person engaged in the commission of, or in an attempt to commit, or in withdrawing from the scene of, a felony other than those enumerated in section 2392.

Murder in the second degree shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than ten years. [L. '09, p. 931, § 141.]

Cited in 64 Wash. 129; 88 Wash. 310; 94 Wash. 123; 104 Wash. 400.

§ 2394. Killing in Duel.

Every person who shall fight or participate in, as second or assistant, any duel within this state, in which any person is killed, or who, by previous appointment made within this state, shall fight or participate in, as second or assistant, any duel out of the state, in which any person is killed, shall be guilty of murder in the second degree; and, in the latter case, may be proceeded against in any county in this state. of killing in duel. 63 L. R. A. 377;

§ 2395. Manslaughter.

In any case other than those specified in sections 2392, 2393 and 2394, homicide, not being excusable or justifiable, is manslaughter.

Manslaughter is punishable by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than twenty years, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment. [L. '09, p. 931, § 143.]

Cited in 64 Wash. 129, 130; 66 Wash. 470; 80 Wash. 534; 88 Wash. 310; 104 Wash. 399.

Under this section defining manslaughter, the court cannot determine the degree and decide, as a matter of law, that the defendant was necessarily guilty of one of the higher degrees, where it appears that defendant was having a dispute with the deceased over a fence, called his attention to the gun carried by defendant's daughter, who evidently heard the remark and who had made threats against the deceased; since defendant's guilt did not depend entirely on the presence or absence of design on her part, the same being a question for the jury: State v. Beebe, 66 Wash. 463, 120 Pac. 122.

Under this section, if a homicide is neither excusable nor justifiable, it must at least be manslaughter, and the purpose of the code is to do away in homicide with instructions submitting lesser degrees of statutory offenses: State v. Blaine, 64 Wash. 122, 116 Pac. 660.

Under this section, the accused is not entitled to an instruction upon the subject of manslaughter, where it appears by his own testimony that the killing was with the admitted design to effect death and was not in any manner connected with any offense less than a felony: State v. Gounagias, 88 Wash. 304, 153 Pac. 9, L. R. A. 1916C, 581.

Under this statute, it is not error in defining manslaughter to use the words "voluntarily" and "involuntarily" as excluded in the definitions of first and second degree murder; and such words are not confusing as capable of a varied meaning without any further definition: State v. Totten, 67 Wash. 192, 121 Pac. 70.

The act of selling unbranded poison, from which death results is manslaughter, although without intent to take human life, under this section: State v. Takano, 94 Wash. 119, 162 Pac. 35.

Under a plea of self-defense, admitting that the killing was with a design to kill, the accused is guilty of murder or not guilty, and is not entitled to an instruction on the subject of manslaughter, as defined by this section: State v. Palmer, 104 Wash. 396, 176 Pac. 547.

§ 2398. Woman Taking Drugs.

Every woman quick with child who shall take or use, or submit to the use of, any drug, medicine or substance, or any instrument or other means, with intent to procure her own miscarriage, unless the same is necessary to preserve her own life or that of the child whereof she is pregnant, and thereby causes the death of such child, shall be guilty of manslaughter. [L. '09, p. 932, § 146.]

§ 2399. Owner of Vicious Animal.

If the owner or custodian of any vicious or dangerous animal, knowing its propensities, shall willfully or negligently allow it to go at large, and such animal while at large shall kill a human being not himself in fault, such owner or custodian shall be guilty of manslaughter. [L. '09, p. 932, § 147.]

§ 2400. Killing by Overloading Passenger Vessel.

Every person navigating a vessel for gain who shall willfully or negligently receive so many passengers or such a quantity of other lading on board, that by means thereof such vessel shall sink, be overset or injured, and thereby a human being shall be drowned or otherwise killed, shall be guilty of manslaughter. [L. '09, p. 932, § 148.]

§ 2401. Reckless Operation of Steamboat or Engine.

Every person having charge of a steamboat used for the conveyance of passengers, or of a boiler or engine thereof, who, from ignorance, recklessness or gross negligence, or for the purpose of excelling another boat in speed, shall create or allow to be created such an undue quantity of steam as to burst the boiler or other apparatus in which it is generated or contained, or to break any apparatus or machinery connected therewith, whereby the death of a human being is occasioned; and every engineer or other person having charge of a steam boiler, steam engine or other apparatus for generating or applying steam, who willfully or from ignorance or gross negligence, shall create or allow to be created such an undue quantity of steam as to burst the boiler, engine or apparatus, or to cause any other accident, whereby the death of a human being is occasioned, shall be guilty of manslaughter. [L. '09, p. 932, § 149.]

§ 2402. Liability of Intoxicated Physician.

Every physician or surgeon, or person practicing as such, who, being in a state of intoxication, or under the influence of any narcotic drug, shall prescribe or administer any poison, drug or medicine, or do any other act as a physician, to another person, which, though done without design, shall cause the death of the latter, shall be guilty of manslaughter. § 2403. Keeping Explosive Unlawfully.

Every person who shall make or keep gunpowder, or any other explosive substance, in a city or village, in any quantity or manner prohibited by law or by ordinance of such municipality, if an explosion thereof shall occur whereby the death of a human being is occasioned, shall be guilty of manslaughter. [L. '09, p. 933, § 151.]

§ 2404. Homicide, When Excusable.

Homicide is excusable when committed by accident or misfortune in doing any lawful act by lawful means, with ordinary caution and without any unlawful intent. [L. '09, p. 933, § 152.]

Cited in 88 Wash. 310.

In General: See Remington's Digest, Homic., §§ 14—19-1.

§ 2405. Justifiable Homicide by Public Officer.

Homicide is justifiable when committed by a public officer, or person acting under his command and in his aid, in the following cases:

(1.) In obedience to the judgment of a competent court.

(2.) When necessary to overcome actual resistance to the execution of the legal process, mandate or order of a court or officer, or in the discharge of a legal duty.

(3.) When necessary in retaking an escaped or rescued prisoner who has been committed, arrested for, or convicted of a felony; or in arresting a person who has committed a felony and is fleeing from justice; or in attempting, by lawful ways or means, to apprehend a person for a felony actually committed; or in lawfully suppressing a riot or preserving the peace. § 2406. Homicide by Other Person, When Justifiable.

Homicide is also justifiable when committed either—

(1.) In the lawful defense of the slayer, or his or her husband, wife, parent, child, brother or sister, or of any other person in his presence or company, when there is reasonable ground to apprehend a design on the part of the person slain to commit a felony or to do some great personal injury to the slayer or to any such person, and there is imminent danger of such design being accomplished; or

(2.) In the actual resistance of an attempt to commit a felony upon the slayer, in his presence, or upon or in a dwelling, or other place of abode in which he is. [L. '09, p. 934, § 154.]

Cited in 64 Wash. 126; 66 Wash. 397, 399; 88 Wash. 310; 96 Wash. 264.

This section is but declaratory of the common law: State v. Meyer, 96 Wash. 257, 164 Pac. 926.

Under this section, it is not error against the defendant to instruct as to the right of self-defense "if the defendant believes and has reasonable ground to believe" that the killing was necessary to protect himself from great personal danger; as the instruction is more liberal to the defendant than the law, and the "reasonable ground to apprehend" must be such as to produce an honest belief of the existence of danger: State v. Bowinkelman, 66 Wash. 396, 119 Pac. 824.

Upon an issue as to self-defense, an instruction that before the killing there must have been some overt act of the person killed is not erroneous in failing to use the words "assault with the naked fist," where there was no dispute as to the deceased's having used his hands only in the immediately preceding encounter, in view of proper following instructions from which the jury could not have been misled by the words "overt act": State v. Hoyer, 105 Wash. 160, 177 Pac. 683.

In a prosecution for murder, where there was evidence that accused armed himself and then provoked an attack and shot the deceased, it is proper to instruct that the right of self-defense is allowed as a shield and not a sword, and that a person must act honestly and not provoke an attack as an excuse for killing: State v. Hoyer, 105 Wash. 160, 177 Pac. 683.

An instruction that a homicide is excusable when committed by accident or misfortune in doing a lawful act without unlawful intent and that an accident is an event without occurrence of the will or expectation, is clear and sufficient on the subject: State v. Sowders, 109 Wash. 10, 186 Pac. 260.

MAIMING.

§ 2407. "Maiming" Defined—How Punished.*

Every person who, with intent to commit a felony, or to injure, disfigure or disable another, shall willfully inflict upon him an injury which—

- (1.) Seriously disfigures his person by any mutilation thereof; or
- (2.) Destroys or displaces any member or organ of his body; or
- (3.) Seriously diminishes his physical vigor by the injury of any member or organ;

Shall be guilty of maiming and be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, and the willful infliction of the injury shall be prima facie evidence of the intent. [L. '09, p. 934, § 155.]

Cited in 62 Wash. 71.

An information practically in the language of the statute, charging the accused with biting off the end of the nose of a person with intent to disfigure him, sufficiently charges maiming, as defined by this section: State v. Catsampas, 62 Wash. 70, 112 Pac. 1116.

Malice and premeditation as element of offense of mayhem or maiming. L. R. A. 1916E, 494.

Mayhem as depending upon the means or instrument used to inflict the injury. 40 L. R. A. (N. S.) 1132.

§ 2409. Recovery from Injury, When a Defense.

Whenever upon a trial for maiming another person it shall appear that the injury inflicted will not result in any permanent disfiguration of appearance, diminution of vigor, or other permanent injury, no conviction for maiming shall be had, but the defendant may be convicted of assault in any degree. KIDNAPING.

§ 2410. Kidnaping Defined—How Punished.

Every person who shall willfully—

(1.) Seize, confine or inveigle another with intent to cause him without authority of law to be secretly confined or imprisoned, or in any way held to service, or with intent to extort or obtain money or reward for his return, release, or disposition, or to lead, take, entice away, or detain, a child under the age of sixteen years with intent to conceal him from his parent, guardian or other person having lawful care or control of him, or to steal any article upon his person; or

(2.) Abduct, entice, or by force or fraud unlawfully take or carry away another to or from a place without the state, and shall afterwards send, bring or keep such person, or cause him to be kept or secreted within this state;

Shall be guilty of kidnaping, and punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than ten years. [L. '09, p. 935, § 158.]

Criminal liability of parent taking child from another to whom custody has been awarded. Ann. Cas.

§ 2411. Selling Services of Person Kidnaped.

Every person, who within this state or elsewhere, shall sell or in any manner transfer for any term, the services or labor of any person who has been forcibly taken, inveigled, or kidnaped in or from this state, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years. [L. '09, p. 935, § 159.]

§ 2412. Venue—Effect of Consent.

Any proceeding for kidnaping may be instituted either in the county where the offense was committed or in any county through or in which the person kidnaped or confined was taken or kept while under confinement or restraint. Upon a trial for violation of section 2410 or 2411, the consent thereto of the person kidnaped or confined shall not be a defense unless it appears satisfactorily to the jury that such person was above the age of sixteen years and that his consent was not extorted by threats, duress or fraud. [L. '09, p. 935, § 160.]

ASSAULT.

§ 2413. Assault in First Degree Defined—How Punished.

Every person who, with intent to kill a human being, or to commit a felony upon the person or property of the one assaulted, or of another—

(1.) Shall assault another with a firearm or any deadly weapon or by any force or means likely to produce death; or

(2.) Shall administer to or cause to be taken by another, poison or any other destructive or noxious thing so as to endanger the life of another person, shall be guilty of assault in the first degree and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than five years. [L. '09, p. 936, § 161.]

Cited in 60 Wash. 111; 66 Wash. 245; 69 Wash. 563, 564; 79 Wash. 226; 83 Wash. 471; 84 Wash. 172; 98 Wash. 84.

Formerly, there was no such offense as assault with a deadly weapon, under the law of this state, and rejecting the words "with a deadly weapon" as surplusage in an indictment the defendant could be found guilty of assault which is necessarily included in the offense charged: State v. Snider, 32 Wash. 229, 73 Pac. 355.

Under this section, making both the assault and the intent to kill material in a prosecution for assault in the first degree by shooting and wounding a police officer, it is admissible to prove the defendant's conduct immediately prior to the shooting, when he entered a saloon in a drunken condition and committed other offenses, as bearing upon the intent to kill, and the same is not objectionable in that it includes evidence of other crimes: State v. Clark, 98 Wash. 81, 167 Pac. 84.

§ 2414. Assault in the Second Degree—How Punished.

Every person who, under circumstances not amounting to assault in the first degree—

(1.) With intent to injure, shall unlawfully administer to or cause to be taken by another, poison or any other destructive or noxious thing, or any drug or medicine the use of which is dangerous to life or health; or

(2.) With intent thereby to enable or assist himself or any other person to commit any crime, shall administer to, or cause to be taken by, another, chloroform, ether, laudanum or any other intoxicating narcotic or anaesthetic; or

(3.) Shall willfully inflict grievous bodily harm upon another with or without a weapon; or

(4.) Shall willfully assault another with a weapon or other instrument or thing likely to produce bodily harm; or

(5.) Being armed with a deadly weapon shall willfully assault another with a whip; or

(6.) Shall assault another with intent to commit a felony, or to prevent or resist the execution of any lawful process or mandate of any court officer, or the lawful apprehension or detention of himself or another person; or

(7.) While hunting any game or other animals or birds, shall shoot another;

Shall be guilty of assault in the second degree and be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 936, § 162.]

Hamilton, 69 Wash. 561, 125 Pac. 950; State v. Copeland, 66 Wash. 243, 119 Pac. 607; State v. Steele, 83 Wash. 470, 145 Pac. 581.

Sufficiency of an information for an assault with intent to commit sodomy, under this section, subdivision 6, without stating the precise facts constituting the attempt: State v. Harsted, 66 Wash. 158, 119 Pac. 24.

Sufficiency of an information charging second degree under this section, subdivision 3: State v. Richter, 95 Wash. 544, 164 Pac. 250.

A conviction of assault in the second degree, when warranted, under this section: State v. Ross, 85 Wash. 218, 147 Pac. 1149.

An information charging first degree assault with intent to kill by stabbing with a knife sustains a conviction for second degree assault with intent to do "grievous bodily harm," or that the "weapon or other instrument or thing was likely to produce bodily harm": State v. Letica, 61 Wash. 629, 112 Pac. 748.

In a prosecution for assault by shooting another with a pistol, in which the accused admitted the shooting and claimed that it was done in self-defense, which constitutes assault in the second degree under this section, subdivisions 3 and 4, it is reversible error to submit an instruction upon the subject of assault in the third degree; since accused was either guilty of assault in the second degree or not at all, even if grievous bodily harm was not inflicted: State v. Reynolds, 94 Wash. 270, 162 Pac. 358.

§ 2415. Assault in the Third Degree—How Punished.

Every person who shall commit an assault or an assault and battery not amounting to assault in either the first or second degrees, shall be guilty of assault in the third degree, and shall be punished as for a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 937, § 163.]

Cited in 60 Wash. 543; 69 Wash. 563, 564; 80 Wash. 15; 83 Wash. 471; 84 Wash. 172; 92 Wash. 506.

Under this section, an assault in the third degree is not necessarily included in the greater offense, and there can be no conviction of assault in the third degree, under a charge of assault with the intent to commit a felony (second degree assault), where the evidence of the prosecutrix showed a consummated rape, and that of the defendant proved an alibi, and there was no evidence of assault in the third degree: State v. Kruger, 60 Wash. 542, 111 Pac. 769.

A conviction for assault in the third degree may be had under an information for manslaughter charging an assault upon a pregnant woman and her unborn child with intent to cause a miscarriage and resulting in her death, where, omitting that portion relating to the death, it satisfies all requirements of a charge of assault and battery: State v. Hamilton, 69 Wash. 561, 125 Pac. 950.

Under this section, an information charging assault with intent to commit a felony, to wit, a rape, which is a charge of second degree assault, is sufficient to sustain a conviction for the lesser offense of third degree assault, without specifically defining the crime of assault in the third degree: State v. Steele, 83 Wash. 470, 145 Pac. 581.

§ 2416. Force, When Lawful.

The use, attempt, or offer to use force upon or toward the person of another shall not be unlawful in the following cases:

(1.) Whenever necessarily used by a public officer in the performance of a legal duty, or a person assisting him and acting under his direction;

(2.) Whenever necessarily used by a person arresting one who has committed a felony and delivering him to a public officer competent to receive him into custody;

(3.) Whenever used by a party about to be injured, or by another lawfully aiding him, in preventing or attempting to prevent an offense against his person, or a malicious trespass, or other malicious interference with real or personal property lawfully in his possession, in case the force is not more than shall be necessary;

(4.) Whenever used in a reasonable and moderate manner by a parent or his authorized agent, a guardian, master, or teacher in the exercise of lawful authority to restrain or correct his child, ward, apprentice or scholar;

(5.) Whenever used by a carrier of passengers or his authorized agent or servant, or other person assisting them at their request in expelling from a carriage, railway car, vessel, or other vehicle, a passenger who refuses to obey a lawful and reasonable regulation prescribed for the conduct of passengers, if such vehicle has first been stopped and the force used is not more than shall be necessary to expel the offender with reasonable regard to his personal safety;

(6.) Whenever used by any person to prevent an idiot, lunatic or insane person from committing an act dangerous to himself or another, or in enforcing necessary restraint for the protection of his person, or his restoration to health, during such period only as shall be necessary to obtain legal authority for the restraint or custody of his person. [L. '09, p. 937, § 164.]

This section, warranting the repulsion of a robbery by force, even to taking life, is not applicable where the deceased was only guilty of a trespass in taking a whisky bottle away from the accused after learning that the accused had given his son whisky, and with no intent to commit a robbery: State v. Blaine, 64 Wash. 122, 116 Pac. 660.

ROBBERY.

§ 2418. Robbery, Defined.

Robbery is the unlawful taking of personal property from the person of another, or in his presence, against his will, by means of force or violence or fear of injury, immediate or future, to his person or property, or the person or property of a member of his family, or of anyone in his company at the time of the robbery. Such force or fear must be used to obtain or retain possession of the property, or to prevent or overcome resistance to the taking; in either of which cases the degree of force is immaterial. If used merely as a means of escape, it does not constitute robbery. Such taking constitutes robbery whenever it appears that, although the taking was fully completed without the knowledge of the person from whom taken, such knowledge was prevented by the use of force or fear. Every person who shall commit robbery shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than five years. [L. '09, p. 938, § 166.]

Cited in 63 Wash. 397; 64 Wash. 126; 69 Wash. 591; 84 Wash. 160.

In General: See Remington's Digest, Robbery.

An information charging an attempt to commit robbery is not insufficient in that the physical acts done toward the commission of the offense are not set forth, where it follows the language of this section, defining robbery and charges the defendant with an attempt to do the precise thing recited in the statute as.

constituting the crime: State v. Baker, 69 Wash. 589, 125 Pac. 1016.

The value of goods taken is not an element of the crime of robbery, and hence need not be alleged, under this section: State v. Rowan, 84 Wash. 158, 146 Pac. 374.

DUELS.

§ 2419. Duel, How Punished.

Every person who shall fight a duel or engage in any combat with another with a deadly weapon, by previous agreement, or upon a previous quarrel, although no death or wound shall ensue, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years. [L. '09, p. 938, § 167.]

§ 2420. Challenger, Abettor, etc.

Every person who shall challenge another to fight a duel, or who shall send a written or verbal message purporting or intended to be a challenge to fight a duel, or an invitation to a combat with deadly weapons, or shall accept such a challenge or message, or shall knowingly carry or deliver such challenge or message, or be present at the time appointed for such duel or combat, or when the same is fought, either as second, aide, or surgeon, or who shall advise, or abet, or give any countenance or assistance to such duel or combat upon previous agreement, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years. § 2421. Attempt to Induce Challenge, Posting.

Every person who shall send or use to another any word or sign whatever with intent to provoke or induce such person to give or receive a challenge to fight a duel, or who shall post or advertise another for not fighting a duel or for not sending or accepting a challenge to fight a duel, or who, in writing or in print, shall use reproachful or contemptuous language to or concerning anyone for not sending or accepting a challenge to fight a duel, or for not fighting a duel, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 939, § 169.]

§ 2422. Duel Outside State, Venue.

Every person who shall leave the state with intent to elude any provision of section 2419 or 2420, or to commit any act outside of the state punished by the provisions thereof, if committed in the state, shall be guilty of the same offense and subject to the same punishment as if the act had been committed or was to have been consummated in the state and may be proceeded against and tried in any county therein, but a former conviction or acquittal in another state or county for the same offense shall be a bar to further proceedings against him for such offense. [L. '09, p. 939, § 170.]

§ 2423. Witnesses.

Every person offending against any provision contained in sections 2419 to 2422, inclusive, shall be a competent witness against any other offender in the same transaction, and shall not be excused from giving testimony tending to incriminate himself. [L. '09, p. 940, § 171.]

LIBEL AND SLANDER.

§ 2424. Libel, Defined.

Every malicious publication by writing, printing, picture, effigy, sign or otherwise than by mere speech, which shall tend:

(1.) To expose any living person to hatred, contempt, ridicule or obloquy, or to deprive him of the benefit of public confidence or social intercourse; or

(2.) To expose the memory of one deceased to hatred, contempt, ridicule or obloquy; or

(3.) To injure any person, corporation or association of persons in his or their business or occupation, shall be libel. Every person who publishes a libel shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 940, § 172.]

The publication of plaintiff's photograph, which was a true likeness and inoffensive in itself, in connection with a story of her father's crime, is not a libel as defined by this section, since the photograph did not make the article "of and concerning" the plaintiff: Hillman v. § 2425. How Justified or Excused—Malice, When Presumed.

Every publication having the tendency or effect mentioned in section 2424 shall be deemed malicious unless justified or excused. Such publication is justified whenever the matter charged as libelous charges the commission of a crime, is a true and fair statement, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends. It is excused when honestly made in belief of its truth and fairness and upon reasonable grounds for such belief, and consists of fair comments upon the conduct of any person in respect of public affairs, made after a fair and impartial investigation. § 2427. Liability of Editors and Others.

Every editor or proprietor of a book, newspaper or serial, and every manager of a copartnership or corporation by which any book, newspaper or serial is issued, is chargeable with the publication of any matter contained in any such book, newspaper or serial, but in every prosecution for libel the defendant may show in his defense that the matter complained of was published without his knowledge or fault and against his wishes by another who had no authority from him to make such publication, and was retracted by him as soon as known with an equal degree of publicity. [L. '09, p. 941, § 175.]

§ 2428. Report of Proceedings Privileged.

No prosecution for libel shall be maintained against a reporter, editor, proprietor, or publisher of a newspaper for the publication therein of a fair and true report of any judicial, legislative or other public and official proceeding, or of any statement, speech, argument or debate in the course of the same, without proving actual malice in making the report. The editor or proprietor of a book, newspaper or serial shall be proceeded against in the county where such book, newspaper or serial is published. [L. '09, p. 941, § 176.]

Under this section, the privilege is to be confined strictly to a fair report of the actual proceedings in court, and is no defense to the publication of a charge that a prosecuting attorney refused to prosecute a criminal the purport of which was not to report proceedings, but to criticise the official: State v. Sefrit, 82 Wash. 520, 144 Pac. 725.

§ 2429. Venue.

Every other person publishing a libel in this state may be proceeded against in any county where such libelous matter was published or circulated, but a person shall not be proceeded against for the publication of the same libel against the same person in more than one county. § 2431. Furnishing Libelous Information.

Every person who shall willfully state, deliver or transmit by any means whatever, to any manager, editor, publisher, reporter or other employee of a publisher of any newspaper, magazine, publication, periodical or serial, any statement concerning any person or corporation, which, if published therein, would be a libel, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 941, § 179.]

§ 2432. Threatening to Publish Libel.

Every person who shall threaten another with the publication of a libel concerning the latter, or his spouse, parent, child, or other member of his family, and every person who offers to prevent the publication of a libel upon another person upon condition of the payment of, or with intent to extort money or other valuable consideration from any person, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 942, § 180.]

§ 2432-1. Slander of Financial Institutions.

Any person who shall willfully and maliciously instigate, make, circulate, or transmit to another or others any false statements concerning the moral or financial condition or affecting the solvency or financial standing of any bank, banking institution or trust company doing business in this state, or who shall willfully counsel, aid, procure, or induce another to start, transmit or circulate any such statement or rumor, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '13, p. 278, § 1.]

§ 2433. Slander of Woman.

Every person who, in the presence or hearing of any person other than the female slandered, whether she be present or not, shall maliciously speak of or concerning any female of the age of twelve years or upwards not a common prostitute, any false or defamatory words or language which shall injure or impair the reputation of any such female for virtue or chastity or which shall expose her to hatred, contempt or ridicule, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Every slander herein mentioned shall be deemed to be malicious unless justified, and shall be justified when the language charged as slanderous, false or defamatory is true and fair, and was spoken with good motives and for justifiable ends. [L. '09, p. 942, § 181.]

Cited in 80 Wash. 604; 106 Wash. 236.

Where the slander was not justified, it is presumed that the words were maliciously spoken, in a prosecution under this section: State v. Paysse, 80 Wash. 603, 142 Pac. 3.

This section, defining criminal slander and requiring that the words be spoken in the presence or hearing of a third person, has no application to a civil action for damages: Enright v. Bringgold, 106 Wash. 233, 179 Pac. 844.

§ 2434. Testimony Necessary to Convict.

No conviction shall be had under the provisions of the preceding sections of this act, upon the testimony of the woman slandered unsupported by other evidence. [L. '09, p. 942, § 182.]

Cited in 64 Wash. 133, 137; 80 Wash. 605.

Under this section, corroboration is only necessary of the facts constituting the gravamen of the offense, so that the testimony of the prosecutrix tending to show that she was entitled to the protection of the statute need not be corroborated: State v. Paysse, 80 Wash. 603, 142 Pac. 3.

CHAPTER VI.

CRIMES AGAINST MORALITY, DECENCY, ETC.

§ 2435. Rape, Defined.

Rape is an act of sexual intercourse with a female not the wife of the perpetrator committed against her will and without her consent. Every person who shall perpetrate such an act of sexual intercourse with a female of the age of ten years or upwards not his wife;

(1.) When, through idiocy, imbecility or any unsoundness of mind, either temporary or permanent, she is incapable of giving consent; or

(2.) When her resistance is forcibly overcome; or

(3.) When her resistance is prevented by fear of immediate and great bodily harm which she has reasonable cause to believe will be inflicted upon her; or

(4.) When her resistance is prevented by stupor or weakness of mind produced by an intoxicating narcotic or anaesthetic agent administered by or with the privity of the defendant; or

(5.) When she is at the time unconscious of the nature of the act, and this is known to the defendant;

Shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than five years. [L. '09, p. 942, § 183.]

Cited in 69 Wash. 102; 81 Wash. 389; 82 Wash. 608; 83 Wash. 471; 100 Wash. 586.

In General: See Remington's Digest, Rape.

Under this section, the "resistance" spoken of is not one of the essential elements of the crime, but is evidence of want of consent, which is one of the essential elements: State v. Meyerkamp, 82 Wash. 607, 144 Pac. 942.

Under this section, subdivision 3, a conviction of rape is sustained where the prosecutrix was taken to a lonely spot by a number of men for the purpose under a prearranged plan of which she had no notice, and submitted without forcible resistance through fear and because she felt it useless to resist: State v. Miller, 100 Wash. 586, 171 Pac. 524.

§ 2436. Carnal Knowledge of Children.

Every male person who shall carnally know and abuse any female child under the age of eighteen years, not his wife, and every female person who shall have sexual intercourse with any male child under the age of eighteen years, not her husband, shall be punished as follows:

(1.) When such child is under the age of ten years, by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for life;

(2.) When such child is ten and under fifteen years of age, by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than five years;

(3.) When such child is fifteen and under eighteen years of age, by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year. [L. '19, p. 368, § 1. Cf. L. '09, p. 943, § 184.]

Cited in 59 Wash. 239; 62 Wash. 693, 694; 66 Wash. 293; 69 Wash. 102; 70 Wash. 66; 81 Wash. 388, 390; 86 Wash. 241; 87 Wash. 276; 94 Wash. 386.

Want of Consent of Female—Female Under Age of Consent.—The age of consent in this state, as respects the crime of rape is twelve years, and not sixteen, since the act of 1885-86, page 84, attempting to amend Code of 1881, section 812, by substituting the word "sixteen" for the word "twelve" was void for the reason that its object was not expressed in its title: State v. Halbert, 14 Wash. 306, 44 Pac. 538.

The Laws of 1897, page 19, fixes the age of consent in this state at eighteen years: State v. Hunter, 18 Wash. 670, 52 Pac. 247.

Under Ballinger's Code, section 7062, defining rape as (1) the carnal knowledge by force of a female over eighteen years of age, and (2) the carnal knowledge of a female child under the age of eighteen years, an information charging the offense by carnally knowing, by force, a female child under the age of eighteen years, states but one offense, since the act constitutes but a single offense whether one or all of the means specified in the statute were employed in its commission: State v. Adams, 41 Wash. 552, 83 Pac. 1108.

An information charging that defendant committed the crime of rape by feloniously making an assault upon a female child of the age of fourteen years, and that he did then and there feloniously ravish, carnally know and abuse her does not charge more than one crime, but sufficiently charges the crime under that subdivision of Ballinger's Code, section 7062, which provides that a person shall be guilty of rape who shall carnally know any female child under the age of eighteen years: State v. Priest, 32 Wash. 74, 72 Pac. 1024.

Ballinger's Code, section 7062, defines carnal knowledge of a female under the age of eighteen years as constituting the crime of rape, and an information which conforms to the terms of the statute is sufficient, without conforming to the common-law requirements in charging such an offense: State v. Phelps, 22 Wash. 181, 60 Pac. 134.

In a prosecution for statutory rape under this section, evidence is admissible on the part of the defense of the previous general reputation of the prosecutrix as to unchastity, as going to her credibility as a witness, but is not admissible to prove her unchaste condition: State v. Workman, 66 Wash. 292, 119 Pac. 751.

Under this section, there can be no conviction for an offense committed on a certain date where for months prior thereto, the parties had continued sexual relations, without any intervening reformation; and it is immaterial that the prosecutrix was chaste except as to the defendant, "previous chaste character" meaning sexual purity: State v. Dacke, 59 Wash. 238, 109 Pac. 1050, 30 L. R. A. (N. S.) 173.

The act is a crime whether or not force is used, and the fact that the prosecuting witness testified in the trial that the defendant used force, while the information charged that defendant did "feloniously carnally know and abuse" the prosecutrix, would not support the objection that the defendant was extradited for one crime and tried for another: State v. Roller, 30 Wash. 692, 71 Pac. 718.

ATTEMPTS.—Under sections 28 and 303 of the old Penal Code, an attempt to commit sexual intercourse with a female under the age of consent is punishable, although the act is not accompanied with violence: State v. Berzaman, 10 Wash. 277, 38 Pac. 1037.

Assaults With Intent to Rape.—Though the statutes make it rape to have carnal knowledge of a female under the age of consent, there can, in the absence of fraud, be no assault with intent to rape when she consents, since there can be no assault without force or fraud: Whitcher

v. State, 2 Wash. 286, 26 Pac. 268 (overruled).

The consent of the female does not constitute a defense upon a charge of assault with intent to rape a female child under the age of consent, and it is not necessary to allege force: State v. Hunter, 18 Wash. 670, 52 Pac. 247; State v. Smith, 19 Wash. 376, 53 Pac. 338.

Admissibility of complaint by infant victim of rape who is incompetent to testify. 2 A. L. B. 1523.

§ 2437. Sexual Intercourse and Carnal Knowledge Defined.

Any sexual penetration, however slight, is sufficient to complete sexual intercourse or carnal knowledge. [L. '09, p. 943, § 186 (185).]

Cited in 69 Wash. 276; 70 Wash. 66; 82 Wash. 431.

In a prosecution for rape, under this section evidence of any penetration, however slight, is sufficient proof of consummation; and the fact may be proved by direct or circumstantial evidence: State v. Gay, 82 Wash. 423, 144 Pac. 711.

Under this section, evidence of repeated attempts by the accused and pain suffered by a child of twelve is sufficient to make a case for the jury upon the question of consummation of a statutory rape: State v. Kincaid, 69 Wash. 273, 124 Pac. 684.

§ 2438. Compelling a Woman to Marry.

Every person who, by force, menace, or duress, shall compel a woman against her will to marry him or to marry any other person, or to be defiled, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than twenty years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 943, § 186.]

§ 2439. Abduction.

Every person who—

(1.) Shall take a female under the age of eighteen years for the purpose of prostitution or sexual intercourse, or without the consent of her father, mother, guardian or other person having legal charge of her person, for the purpose of marriage; or

(2.) Shall inveigle or entice an unmarried female of previously chaste character into a house of ill fame or assignation, or elsewhere, for the purpose of prostitution; or

(3.) Shall take or detain a woman unlawfully against her will, with intent to compel her by force, menace or duress, to marry him or another person, or to be defiled; or

(4.) Being the parent, guardian or other person having legal charge of the person of a female under the age of eighteen years, shall consent to her taking or detention by any person for the purpose of prostitution or sexual intercourse or for any obscene, indecent or immoral purpose;

Shall be guilty of abduction and punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 944, § 187.]

Cited in 68 Wash. 680; 88 Wash. 161.

Under this section, an information would be sufficient if it alleges a taking "by means of persuasion, entreaty, advice, flattery, promises or other means to the prosecuting attorney unknown": State v. Richards, 88 Wash. 160, 152 Pac. 720.

§ 2440. Placing Female in House of Prostitution.

Every person who—

(1.) Shall place a female in the charge or custody of another person for immoral purposes, or in a house of prostitution, with intent that she shall live a life of prostitution, or who shall compel any female to reside with him or with any other person for immoral purposes, or for the purposes of prostitution, or shall compel any such female to reside in a house of prostitution or to live a life of prostitution; or

(2.) Shall ask or receive any compensation, gratuity or reward, or promise thereof, for or on account of placing in a house of prostitution or elsewhere any female for the purpose of causing her to cohabit with any male person or persons not her husband; or

(3.) Shall give, offer, or promise any compensation, gratuity or reward, to procure any female for the purpose of placing her for immoral purposes in any house of prostitution, or elsewhere, against her will; or

(4.) Being the husband of any woman, or the parent, guardian or other person having legal charge of the person of a female under the age of eighteen years, shall connive at, consent to, or permit her being or remaining in any house of prostitution or leading a life of prostitution; or

(5.) Shall live with or accept any earnings of a common prostitute, or entice or solicit any person to go to a house of prostitution for any immoral purpose, or to have sexual intercourse with a common prostitute;

Shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years or by a fine of not more than two thousand dollars. [L. '09, p. 944, § 188.]

§ 2441. Seduction.

Every person who shall seduce and have sexual intercourse with any female of previously chaste character, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment: Provided, that if at any time before judgment upon an information or indictment, a defendant shall marry such female, the court shall order all further proceedings stayed; and if at any time within three years from the date of such marriage the defendant shall wrongfully fail to support or provide for or shall wrongfully desert or abandon such wife, said proceeding shall be revived and continued in the same manner as though no marriage had taken place, and in the trial of such cause the wife shall be competent to testify and may testify against her husband. § 2445. Keeper of Concert and Liquor Saloons.

Every person who—

(1.) Shall admit to or allow to remain in any concert saloon, or in any place owned, kept, or managed by him where intoxicating liquors are sold, given away or disposed of—except a restaurant or dining-room, any person under the age of twenty one years; or,

(2.) Shall admit to, or allow to remain in any dance-house, public pool or billiard hall, or in any place of entertainment injurious to health or morals, owned, kept or managed by him, any person under the age of twenty-one years; or,

(3.) Shall suffer or permit any such person to play any game of skill or chance, in any such place, or in any place adjacent thereto, or to be or remain therein, or admit or allow to remain in any reputed house of prostitution or assignation, or in any place where opium or any preparation thereof, is smoked, or where any narcotic drug is used, any person under the age of twenty-one years; or,

(4.) Shall sell or give, or permit to be sold or given to any person under the age of twenty-one years any intoxicating liquor, cigar, cigarette, cigarette paper or wrapper, or tobacco in any form; or,

(5.) Shall sell, or give, or permit to be sold or given to any person under the age of eighteen years, any revolver, pistol, or toy pistol;

Shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

It shall be no defense to a prosecution for a violation of this section that the person acted, or was believed by the defendant to act, as agent or representative of another.

Any person between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one years who shall by affirmative misrepresentation of age, purchase, or shall have in his or her possession, any cigar, cigarette, cigarette paper or wrapper, or tobacco in any form, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '19, p. 42, § 1. Cf. L. '11, p. 649, § 1. Cf. L. '09, p. 947, § 193; L. '09, Ex. Sess., p. 66, § 1.]

Under this section, the words "where intoxicating liquors are sold," qualify all the preceding terms, and it is not an offense to allow minors in poolrooms in which no intoxicating liquors are sold:

State v. Anderson, 61 Wash. 674, 112 Pac. 931.

Under this section, neither intent nor willfulness is an element of the offense, and belief that the liquor sold was non-intoxicating is no defense: State v. Moser, 98 Wash. 481, 167 Pac. 1101.

§ 2446. Employment of Minors Prohibited.

Every person who shall employ, or cause to be employed, exhibit or have in his custody for exhibition or employment any minor actually or apparently under the age of eighteen years; and every parent, relative, guardian, employer or other person having the care, custody, or control of any such minor, who shall in any way procure or consent to the employment of such minor—

(1.) In begging, receiving alms, or in any mendicant occupation; or,

(2.) In any indecent or immoral exhibition or practice; or,

(3.) In any practice or exhibition dangerous or injurious to life, limb, health or morals; or,

(4.) As a messenger for delivering letters, telegrams, packages or bundles, to any known house of prostitution or assignation;

Shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 948, § 194.]

§ 2447. Employment of Children.

Every person who shall employ, and every parent, guardian or other person having the care, custody or control of such child, who shall permit to be employed, by another, any male child under the age of fourteen years or any female child under the age of sixteen years at any labor whatever, in or in connection with any store, shop, factory, mine or any inside employment not connected with farm or house work, without the written permit thereto of a judge of a superior court of the county wherein such child may live, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. conspiring to commit the crime. 5 A. L. R. 788.

§ 2450. Selling Drugs, etc.

Every person who shall manufacture, sell or give away any instrument, drug, medicine, or other substance, knowing or intending that the same may be unlawfully used in procuring the miscarriage of a woman, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 949, § 198.]

§ 2451. Evidence.

In any prosecution for abortion, attempting abortion, or selling drugs unlawfully, no person shall be excused from testifying as a witness on the ground that said testimony would tend to incriminate himself. [L. '09, p. 949, § 199.]

§ 2452. Concealing Birth.

Every person who shall endeavor to conceal the birth of a child by any disposition of its dead body, whether the child died before or after its birth, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 949, § 200.]

BIGAMY, ADULTERY, ETC.

§ 2453. Bigamy Defined—How Punished—Exceptions.

Every person who, having a husband or wife living, shall marry another person, or continue to cohabit with such second husband or wife in this state, shall be guilty of bigamy and be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years: Provided, that this section shall not extend to a person—

(1.) Whose former husband or wife has been absent for five years exclusively then last past, without being known to him or her within that time to be living, and believed to be dead; or,

(2.) Whose former marriage has been pronounced void, annulled or dissolved by a court of competent jurisdiction. [L. '09, p. 949, § 201.]

Every person who shall expose for sale, loan or distribution, any instrument or article, or any drug or medicine, for the prevention of conception, or for causing unlawful abortion; or shall write, print, distribute, or exhibit any card, circular, pamphlet, advertisement or notice of any kind, stating when, where, how, or of whom such article or medicine can be obtained, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 951, § 208.]

§ 2461. Prohibited Publications.

Every person who shall publish, and every proprietor, manager or editor who shall permit to be published, in any book, newspaper, magazine or other printed publication circulated wholly or in part in this state—

(1.) Any detailed account of the commission or attempted commission of the crime of rape, carnal knowledge, seduction, adultery, sodomy or any other sexual crime, or of the trial of any person charged therewith; or,

(2.) Any detailed account of the execution of any person convicted of crime; or,

(3.) Any detailed statement of any evidence of indecent, obscene or immoral acts offered in any trial or proceeding; or,

(4.) Any interview with, advertisement for, communication from or account of the actions of any public prostitute, except upon a matter concerning public welfare;

Shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 952, § 209.]

Prohibitory statutes against advertising cure of venereal diseases. Ann. Cas. 1916A, 910.

§ 2462-1. Use of Certain Words Prima Facie Evidence.

Any advertisement in any newspaper, periodical, pamphlet, circular or other written or printed paper, containing the words, "lost manhood," "lost vitality," "lost vigor," "monthly regulators for women," or words synonymous therewith, shall be prima facie evidence of intent to violate this act by the person or persons so advertising, or causing to be advertised, or publishing or permitted to be published, or distributing, circulating and displaying or causing to be distributed, circulated or displayed, any such advertisement. [L. '21, p. 662, § 2.]

§ 2463. Advertising for Divorce Business.

Every person who shall cause to be published in any newspaper, magazine or other publication, or who shall cause or allow to be posted or distributed, in any place frequented by the public, any card or notice offering to procure or obtain, or to directly or indirectly aid in procuring or obtaining any divorce or the dissolution or nullification of any marriage, or offering to appear or act as attorney or counsel in any suit for divorce, alimony, or the dissolution or nullification of any marriage, either in this state or elsewhere, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Any advertisement stating or intimating that any person is a specialist in "the laws of husband and wife" or "domestic relations," or is engaged in the business of procuring divorces, shall be considered a violation of this act. [L. '17, p. 343, § 1. Cf. L. '09, p. 592, § 211.]

LOTTERIES.

§ 2464. Lotteries, Defined—A Nuisance—Drawing, How Punished.

A lottery is a scheme for the distribution of money or property by chance, among persons who have paid or agreed to pay a valuable consideration for the chance, whether it shall be called a lottery, raffle, gift enterprise, or by any other name, and is hereby declared unlawful and a public nuisance.

Every person who shall contrive, propose or draw a lottery, or shall assist in contriving, proposing or drawing a lottery, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 953, § 212.]

For text treatment of "Lotteries," see 17 B. C. L. 1208.

§ 2465. Selling Tickets—Advertising.

Every person who shall sell, give, or in any way whatever furnish or transfer to or for another, a ticket, chance, share or interest, or any paper, certificate or instrument purporting to be or to represent a ticket, chance, share or interest in, or dependent upon the event of, a lottery, to be drawn within or without the state; or who by writing, printing, circular or letter, or in any other way shall advertise or publish the account of a lottery in or out of the state, stating how, when or where the same is to be or has been drawn, or what are the prizes therein, or any of them, or the price of a ticket, or any share or interest therein, or where or how it may be obtained, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 953, § 213.]

The provision in Penal Code, section 139 (Bal. Code, § 7259), permitting lotteries for charitable purposes, although enacted prior to the framing of the constitution, falls within the constitutional prohibition against lotteries, and is therefore invalid: Seattle v. Chin Let, 19 Wash. 38, 52 Pac. 324.

§ 2466. Disposal of Property by Lottery—Keeping Office—Letting Building.

Every person who shall offer for sale or distribution in any way any real or personal property, or any interest therein, to be determined by lot or chance, dependent upon the drawing of a lottery in or out of the state; or who shall sell, furnish or procure in any manner a chance or share, or any interest in property offered for sale or distribution in violation of this section, or a ticket or other evidence of any such chance, share or interest; or who shall open, set up, or keep for himself or another, an office or place for registering the number of tickets in a lottery in or out of the state, or for making, receiving, or registering any bets or stakes for the drawing or result of such lottery; or who shall advertise or in any way publish any account of an opening, setting up, or keeping of such an office or place; or who shall knowingly let, or permit to be used, any building or portion thereof for any of the purposes specified in this subdivision;

Shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 953, § 214.]

§ 2467. Insuring Lottery Tickets—Advertising Offers to Insure.

Every person who shall insure, or receive any consideration for insuring, for or against the drawing of a ticket, share or interest in a lottery, or of a number of such ticket, share or interest; or who shall receive any valuable consideration, upon an agreement to pay money or deliver property in the event that a ticket, share or interest, or a number of such a ticket, share or interest in a lottery shall prove fortunate or unfortunate, or shall be drawn or not drawn in a proper way or in a proper order; or who shall promise or agree or offer to pay money or deliver property, or to do or forbear to do any act for the benefit of any person, with or without consideration, upon any accident or contingency dependant upon the drawing thereof, or of any number or ticket therein, or who, by writing, printing, circular or letter, or in any way, shall advertise or publish an offer or proposition in violation of the provisions of this section;

Shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 954, § 215.]

§ 2468. Lotteries Out of State—Advertisement by Nonresidents.

The provisions of this subdivision are applicable to lotteries drawn, or to be drawn out of the state, whether authorized or not by the laws of the state or county where they are to be drawn, in the same manner as to those in the state, and every provision of law relating to advertising lotteries or offers to insure lottery tickets, shall be applicable, whenever the advertisement was published, or the letter or circular sent or delivered, through or in the state, though the person causing or procuring the same to be published, sent or delivered was out of the state at the time of so doing. [L. '09, p. 954, § 216.]

GAMBLING.

§ 2469. Conducting Gambling.

Every person who shall open, conduct, carry on or operate, whether as owner, manager, agent, dealer, clerk, or employee, and whether for hire or not, any gambling game or game of chance, played with cards, dice, or any other device, or any scheme or device whereby any money or property or any representative of either, may be bet, wagered or hazarded upon any chance, or any uncertain or contingent event, shall be a common gambler, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years. [L. '09, p. 955, § 217.]

Every person being in possession or control of any tent, building, float or vessel, or part thereof, who shall knowingly permit the same, or any part thereof, to be used for gambling, swindling, poolselling, or book-making, or for betting, wagering or hazarding money or property, or any representative of either, upon any game, scheme or device, or upon the result of any lot, chance, or uncertain or contingent event whatever, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 956, § 222.]

§ 2475. Bucket-shop, Defined.

A bucket-shop is hereby defined to be a shed, tent, tenement, booth, building, float or vessel, or any part thereof, wherein may be made contracts respecting the purchase or sale upon margin or credit of any commodities, securities, or property, or option for the purchase thereof, wherein both parties intend that such contract shall or may be terminated, closed and settled; either;

(1) Upon the basis of the market prices quoted or made on any board of trade or exchange upon which such commodities, securities or property may be dealt in; or,

(2) When the market prices for such commodities, securities or property shall reach a certain figure in any such board of trade or exchange; or,

(3) On the basis of the difference in the market prices at which said commodities, securities or property are, or purport to be, bought and sold. [L. '09, p. 956, § 223.]

Applicability to bucket shops of penal statutes in relation to "games of hazard," "gambling devices," etc.

§ 2476. Maintaining Bucket-shop—Penalty.

Every person, whether in his own behalf, or as agent, servant or employee of another person, within or outside of this state, who shall open, conduct or carry on any bucket-shop, or make or offer to make any contract described in the last section, or with intent to make such a contract, or assist therein, shall receive, exhibit, or display, any statement of market prices of any commodities, securities, or property, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years. [L. '09, p. 957, § 224.]

§ 2477. Written Statement to be Furnished—Presumption.

Every person, whether in his own behalf, or as the servant, agent or employee of another person, within or outside of this state, who shall buy or sell for another, or execute any order for the purchase or sale of any commodities, securities or property, upon margin or credit, whether for immediate or future delivery, shall, upon written demand therefor, furnish such principal or customer with a written statement containing the names of the persons from whom such property was bought, or to whom it has been sold, as the case may be, the time when, the place where, the amount of, and the price at which the same was either bought or sold; and if such person shall refuse or neglect to furnish such statement within forty-eight hours after such written demand, such refusal shall be prima facie evidence as against him that such purchase or sale was made in violation of section 2476. [L. '09, p. 957, § 225.]

§ 2478. Seizure and Disposition of Gambling Devices.

It shall be the duty of all peace officers to search for and seize all tables, slot machines, or other article, machine, device or apparatus of the kind commonly used for gambling, or operated for the winning or losing of money or property, or any representative of either, upon any chance or uncertain or contingent event, and all property useful in the operation or maintenance of a bucket-shop, and take the same before a magistrate. If in the judgment of such magistrate any of such articles may be useful as evidence in the trial of any case, he may order the same held for such trial or delivered to the prosecuting attorney; otherwise, he shall order the same to be forthwith destroyed. After the final hearing and disposition of any case in which any of said articles may be held or used as evidence, whether such case result in a conviction or acquittal, the magistrate or judge having jurisdiction of such case shall forthwith order all such articles destroyed. [L. '09, p. 957, § 226.]

apparatus. 2 Ann. Cas. 936; 13 Ann. Cas. 454.

§ 2479. Bunco-steering.

Every person who shall entice or induce another, upon any pretense, to go to any place where any gambling game, scheme or device, or any trick, sleight-of-hand performance, fraud or fraudulent scheme, cards, dice or device, is being conducted or operated; or while in such place shall entice or induce another to bet, wager or hazard any money or property, or representative of either, upon any such game, scheme, device, trick, sleight-of-hand performance, fraud or fraudulent scheme, cards, dice, or device, or to execute any obligation for the payment of money, or delivery of property, or to lose, advance, or loan any money or property, or representative of either, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years. [L. '09, p. 957, § 227.]

§ 2480. Evidence—Testimony of Player.

No person shall be excused from giving testimony concerning any offense committed by another against any of the provisions of sections 2469 or 2473, inclusive by reason of his having bet or played at the prohibited game or device. [L. '09, p. 957, § 228.]

PAWNBROKERS AND SECOND-HAND DEALERS.

§ 2481. Pawnbrokers and Second-hand Dealers—Duty to Record Transactions.

It shall be the duty of every pawnbroker and second-hand dealer doing business in any city of the first class in this state to maintain in his place of business a book or other permanent record in which shall be legibly written in the English language, at the time of each loan, purchase or sale, a record thereof containing—

- (1) The date of the transaction;
- (2) The name of the person or employee conducting the same;
- (3) The name, age, street and house number, and a general description of the dress, complexion, color of hair, and facial appearance of the person with whom the transaction is had;
- (4) The name and street and house number of the owner of the property bought or received in pledge;
- (5) The street and house number of the place from which the property bought or received in pledge was last removed;
- (6) A description of the property bought or received in pledge, which in the case of watches shall contain the name of the maker and the number of both the works and the case, and in the case of jewelry shall contain a description of all letters and marks inscribed thereon: Provided, that when the article bought or received is furniture, or the contents of any house or room actually inspected on the premises, a general record of the transaction shall be sufficient;
- (7) The price paid or the amount loaned;
- (8) The names and street and house numbers of all persons witnessing the transaction; and
- (9) The number of any pawn ticket issued therefor. [L. '09, p. 959, § 229.]

Such record, and all goods received, shall at all times during the ordinary hours of business be open to the inspection of the prosecuting attorney or of any peace officer. [L. '09, p. 959, § 230.]

Cited in 80 Wash. 173.

§ 2483. Report to Chief of Police.

Every pawnbroker and second-hand dealer doing business in any city of the first and second class shall, before noon of each day, furnish to the chief of police of such city, on such forms as such chief of police may provide therefor, a full, true and correct transcript of the record of all transactions had on the preceding day, and having good cause to believe that any property in his possession has been previously lost or stolen, he shall forthwith report such fact to the chief of police, together with the name of the owner, if known, and the date when, and the name of the person from whom the same was received by him. [L. '09, p. 960, § 231.]

Cited in 80 Wash. 173.

§ 2484. Retention of Property.

No property bought or received in pledge by any pawnbroker or second-hand dealer shall be removed from his place of business, except when redeemed by the owner thereof, within four days after the receipt thereof shall have been reported to the chief of police as herein provided. [L. '09, p. 960, § 232.]

§ 2485. Penalty.

Every pawnbroker or second-hand dealer, and every clerk, agent or employee of such pawnbroker or second-hand dealer, who shall—

(1.) Fail to make an entry of any material matter in his book or record kept as provided for in section 2483; or,

(2.) Make any false entry therein; or,

(3.) Falsify, obliterate, destroy or remove from his place of business such book or record; or,

(4.) Refuse to allow the prosecuting attorney or any peace officer to inspect the same, or any goods in his possession, during the ordinary hours of business; or,

(5.) Report any material matter falsely to the chief of police; or,

(6.) Having forms provided therefor, shall fail before noon of each day to furnish the chief of police with a full, true and correct transcript of the record of all transactions had on the previous day, it being the intent of this section that Saturday's business may be reported on Monday; or,

(7.) Fail to report forthwith to the chief of police the possession of any property which he may have good cause to believe has been lost or stolen, together with the name of the owner, if known, and the date when, and the name of the person from whom the same was received by him; or,

(8.) Remove, or allow to be removed from his place of business, except upon redemption by the owner thereof, any property received, within four days after the receipt thereof shall have been reported to the chief of police; or,

(9.) Receive any property from any person under the age of twenty-one years, any common drunkard, any habitual user of narcotic drugs, any habitual criminal, any person in an intoxicated condition, any known thief or receiver of stolen property, or any known associate of such thief or receiver of stolen property, whether such person be acting in his own behalf or as the agent of another;

Shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 960, § 233.]

§ 2486. Rates of Interest and Sale of Pledged Property.

All pawnbrokers are authorized to charge and receive interest at the rate of three per cent a month for money loaned on the security of personal property actually received in pledge, and every person who shall ask or receive a higher rate of interest or discount on any such loan, or on any actual or pretended sale, or redemption of personal property, or who shall sell any property held for redemption within ninety days after the period for redemption shall have expired, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 961, § 234.]

See infra, § 7300, legal rate of interest.

§ 2487. "Pawnbroker" Defined.

Every person engaged, in whole or in part, in the business of loaning money on the security of pledges, deposits or conditional sales of personal property, shall be deemed to be a pawnbroker. [L. '09, p. 961, § 235.]

§ 2488. "Second-hand Dealer" Defined.

Every person engaged in whole or in part in the business of buying or selling second-hand personal property, metal junk, or melted metals, shall be deemed to be a second-hand dealer. [L. '09, p. 961, § 236.]

RIGHTS OF SEPULTURE.

§ 2489. Rights of Sepulture—Dissection, When Permitted.

The right to dissect the dead body of a human being shall be limited to cases specially provided by statute or by the direction or will of the deceased; cases where a coroner is authorized to hold an inquest upon the body, and then only as he may authorize dissection; and cases where the husband, wife or next of kin charged by law with the duty of burial shall authorize dissection for the purpose of ascertaining the cause of death, and then only to the extent so authorized. Every person who shall make, cause or procure to be made any dissection of the body of a human being, except as hereinbefore provided, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 962, § 237.]

See, also, infra, § 10029.

§ 2490. Burial or Cremating.

Except in cases of dissection provided for in the last section, and where a dead body shall rightfully be carried through or removed from the state for the purpose of burial elsewhere, every dead body of a human being lying within this state, and the remains of any dissected body, after dissection, shall be decently buried, or cremated within a reasonable time after death. [L. '09, p. 962, § 238.]

See infra, § 6038, burial without permit.

§ 2491. Opening Grave—Stealing Body—Receiving Same.

Every person who shall remove the dead body of a human being, or any part thereof, from a grave, vault, or other place where the same has been buried or deposited awaiting burial or cremation, without authority of law, with intent to sell the same, or for the purpose of securing a reward for its return, or for dissection, or from malice or wantonness, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both.

Every person who shall purchase or receive, except for burial or cremation, any such dead body, or any part thereof, knowing that the same has been removed contrary to the foregoing provisions, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than three years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both.

Every person who shall open a grave or any other place of interment, temporary or otherwise, or a building where such dead body is deposited while awaiting burial or cremation, with intent to remove said body or any part thereof, for the purpose of selling or demanding money for the same, for dissection, from malice or wantonness, or with intent to sell or remove the coffin or of any part thereof, or anything attached thereto, or any vestment, or other article interred, or intended to be interred with the body, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than three years or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 962, § 239.]

§ 2492. Interfering With Dead Body or Funeral.

Every person who shall arrest or attach the dead body of a human being upon a debt or demand, or shall detain or claim to detain it for any debt or demand, or upon any pretended lien or charge; or who, without authority of law, shall obstruct or detain a person engaged in carrying or accompanying the dead body of a human being to a place of burial or cremation shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 963, § 240.]

§ 2493. Opening Road Through Cemetery.

Every person who shall make or open any road, or construct any railway, turnpike, canal, or other public easement over, through, in, or upon, such part of any inclosure as may be used for the burial of the dead, without authority of law or the consent of the owner thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 963, § 241.]

SABBATH-BREAKING.

§ 2494. Sabbath-breaking, Defined.

Every person who, on the first day of the week, shall promote any noisy or boisterous sport or amusement, disturbing the peace of the day; or who shall conduct or carry on, or perform or employ any labor about any trade or manufacture, except livery-stables, garages and works of necessity or charity conducted in an orderly manner so as not to interfere with the repose and religious liberty of the community; or who shall open any drinking saloon, or sell, offer or expose for sale, any personal property, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, that meals, without intoxicating liquors, may be served on the premises or elsewhere by caterers, and prepared tobacco, milk, fruit, confectionery, newspapers, magazines, medical and surgical appliances may be sold in a quiet and orderly manner. In works of necessity or charity is included whatever is needful during the day for the good order or health or comfort of a community; but keeping open a barber-shop, shaving or cutting hair shall not be deemed a work of necessity or charity, and nothing in this section shall be construed to permit the sale of uncooked meats, groceries, clothing, boots or shoes. § 2495. Obstructing View of Saloon.

Every person being the owner or manager of or an employee in any drinking saloon who shall obstruct the view of the inside thereof from the outside by means of any screen, shade or other devices on any day shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 964, § 243.]

§ 2496. Observance of Other Day.

It shall be a sufficient defense to a prosecution for performing work or labor on the first day of the week that the defendant uniformly keeps another day of the week as holy time and that the act complained of was done in such manner as [will] not disturb others in the observance of the Sabbath. [L. '09, p. 964, § 244.]

§ 2497. Service of Process on the Sabbath Prohibited.

Every person who shall serve any legal process on the Sabbath day, except in case of a breach, or apprehended breach, of the peace, or when sued out for the apprehension of a person charged with a crime, or where such service is expressly authorized by statute, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 964, § 245.]

§ 2498. Preventing Religious Act.

Every person who by threats or violence shall willfully prevent another person from performing any lawful act enjoined upon or recommended to him by the religion which he professes, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 965, § 246.]

§ 2499. Disturbing Religious Meeting.

Every person who shall willfully disturb, interrupt, or disquiet any assemblage of people met for religious worship—

(1.) By noisy, rude or indecent behavior, profane discourse, either within the place where such meeting is held, or so near it as to disturb the order and solemnity of the meeting; or,

(2.) By exhibiting shows or plays, or promoting any racing of animals, or gaming of any description, or engaging in any boisterous or noisy amusement; or,

(3.) By disturbing in any manner, without authority of law within one mile thereof, free passage along a highway to the place of such meeting, or by maliciously cutting or otherwise injuring or disturbing a harness, conveyance, tent or other property belonging to any person in attendance upon such meeting;

Shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 965, § 247.]

CHAPTER VII.

CRIMES AGAINST PUBLIC HEALTH AND SAFETY.

§ 2500. Public Nuisance.

A public nuisance is a crime against the order and economy of the state. Every place

(1.) Wherein any gambling, swindling game or device, book-making, pool-selling, or bucket-shop or any agency therefor shall be conducted, or any article, apparatus or device useful therefor shall be kept; or,

(2.) Wherein any fighting between men or animals or birds shall be conducted; or,

(3.) Wherein any intoxicating liquors are kept for unlawful use, sale or distribution; or,

(4.) Where vagrants resort; and

Every act unlawfully done and every omission to perform a duty, which act or omission

(1.) Shall annoy, injure or endanger the safety, health, comfort, or repose of any considerable number of persons; or,

(2.) Shall offend public decency; or,

(3.) Shall unlawfully interfere with, befoul, obstruct, or tend to obstruct, or render dangerous for passage, a lake, navigable river, bay, stream, canal or basin, or a public park, square, street, alley or highway; or,

(4.) Shall in any way render a considerable number of persons insecure in life or the use of property;

Shall be a public nuisance. [L. '09, p. 965, § 248.]

An act which affects a considerable number of persons in any of the ways specified in section 2500, is not less a public nuisance because the extent of the damages is unequal. [L. '09, p. 966, § 249.]

§ 2502. Maintaining or Permitting Nuisance.

Every person who shall commit or maintain a public nuisance, for which no special punishment is prescribed; or who shall willfully omit or refuse to perform any legal duty relating to the removal of such nuisance; and every person who shall let, or permit to be used, any building or boat, or portion thereof, knowing that it is intended to be, or is being used, for committing or maintaining any such nuisance, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. § 2505. Possession of Uninspected Oils and Effacing Brands from Oil Barrels.

Every person who shall sell, or offer for sale, or have in his possession with intent to sell, or who shall knowingly use for illuminating purposes, any oil, or other petroleum product, which shall not have been tested and approved by the state oil inspector, or who shall sell or dispose of any empty oil barrel, cask or package without thoroughly removing and effacing all inspection brands thereon, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 967, § 253.]

§ 2506. Transporting Explosives.

Any person who shall put up for sale, or who shall deliver to any warehouseman, dock, depot, or common carrier, any package, cask or can containing benzine, gasoline, naphtha, nitroglycerine, dynamite, powder or other explosive or combustible substance, without having printed thereon in a conspicuous place in large letters the word "Explosive," shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 967, § 254.]

§ 2507. Person Omitting to Label Drugs, or Labeling Them Wrongly.

Every person who, in putting up any drug, medicine, or food, or preparation used in medical practice, or making up any prescription, or filling any order for drugs, medicines, food or preparation shall put any untrue label, stamp or other designation of contents upon any box, bottle or other package containing a drug, medicine, food or preparation used in medical practice, or substitute or dispense a different article for or in lieu of any article prescribed, ordered, or demanded, or put up a greater or less quantity of any ingredient specified in any such prescription, order or demand than that prescribed, ordered, or demanded, or otherwise deviate from the terms of the prescription, order, or demand by substituting one drug for another, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, however, that, except in the case of physician's prescriptions, nothing herein contained shall be deemed or construed to prevent or impair or in any manner affect the right of an apothecary, druggist, pharmacist or other person to recommend the purchase of an article other than that ordered, required or demanded, but of a similar nature, or to sell such other articles in place or in lieu of an article ordered, required or demanded, with the knowledge and consent of the purchaser. In a prosecution for manslaughter through the selling of unbranded poison, in violation of this section, it is not prejudicial error to instruct that one violating the act would be guilty of a misdemeanor: State v. Takano, 94 Wash. 119, 162 Pac. 35.

SELLING POISON WITH LABEL, AND RECORDING THE SAME.

§ 2508. Selling Poison Without Labeling and Recording the Sale.

It shall be unlawful for any person to sell at retail or furnish any of the poisons named in the schedules hereinafter set forth, without affixing or causing to be affixed to the bottle, box, vessel or package, a label containing the name of the article and the word "poison" distinctly shown, with the name and place of business of the seller, all printed in red ink, together with the name of such poison printed or written thereon in plain, legible characters, which schedules are as follows, to wit:

SCHEDULE "A."

Arsenic, cyanide or potassium, hydrocyanic acid, cocaine, morphine, strychnia and all other poisonous vegetable alkaloids and their salts, oil of bitter almonds, containing hydrocyanic acid, opium and its preparations, except paregoric and such others as contain less than two grains of opium to the ounce.

SCHEDULE "B."

Aconite, belladonna, cantharides, colchicum, conium, cotton root, digitalis, ergot, hellebore, henbane, phytolacca, strophanthus, oil of tansy, veratrum viride and their pharmaceutical preparations, arsenical solutions, carbolic acid, chloral hydrate, chloroform, corrosive sublimate, creosote, croton oil, mineral acids, oxalic acid, paris green, salts of lead, salts of zinc, white hellebore or any drug, chemical or preparation which, according to standard works on medicine or materia medica, is liable to be destructive to adult human life in quantities of sixty grains or less. Every person who shall dispose of or sell at retail or furnish any poisons included under schedule A shall, before delivering the same, make or cause to be made an entry in a book kept for that purpose, stating the date of sale, the name and address of the purchaser, the name and the quantity of the poison, the purpose for which it is represented by the purchaser to be required and the name of the dispenser, such book to be always open for inspection by the proper authorities, and to be preserved for at least five years after the last entry. He shall not deliver any of said poisons to any minor, intoxicated person, or person known to be of unsound mind, or to any person without satisfying himself that the purchaser is aware of its poisonous character and that the said poison is to be used for a legitimate purpose.

The foregoing portions of this section shall not apply to the dispensing of medicines, or poisons on physicians' prescriptions. Wholesale dealers in drugs, medicines, pharmaceutical preparations or chemicals shall affix or cause to be affixed to every bottle, box, parcel or outer inclosure of an original package containing any of the articles enumerated under said schedule A, a suitable brand in red ink with the word "poison" upon it. Every person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 968, § 256.]

§ 2509. Regulating the Sale of Narcotic Drugs.

It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, furnish or dispose of any opium, morphine, alkaloid cocaine, or alpha or beta eucaine, or any derivative, mixture or preparation of any of them, except upon the signed prescription of a physician duly licensed under the laws of this state, which prescription shall be retained by the person dispensing the same, shall be filled but once, and of which no copy shall be taken by any person. The person dispensing the same shall at the time thereof indorse on the back of such prescription the name and street and house number of the person to whom dispensed; and the proprietor or manager of the store where dispensed shall keep all such prescriptions in a permanent file, separate from all other prescriptions, in his place of business for the period of two years after the same shall have been dispensed, and shall at any time allow the same to be inspected, and copies thereof to be made by any peace officer, the prosecuting attorney of the county where sold, or any authorized inspector of drugs: Provided, that nothing herein contained shall prohibit any manufacturer or licensed druggist from selling or delivering any of the drugs named to a person known to be a licensed physician or licensed druggist, nor prohibit a physician from dispensing the same in good faith to his patients, nor prohibit the sale of patent or proprietary medicines containing opium or morphine, in combination or compound with other active elements wherein the dose of opium is less than one-quarter grain, or the dose of morphine is less than one-twentieth grain. Every person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 969, § 257.]

§ 2517-1. Aliens—Firearms Without License Prohibited.

It shall be unlawful for any person who is not a citizen of the United States, or who has not declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, to carry or have in his possession at any time any shotgun, rifle or other firearm, without first having obtained a license from the state auditor, and said license is not to be issued by said state auditor except upon the certificate of the consul domiciled in the state of Washington and representing the country of such alien, that he is a responsible person and upon the payment for said license of the sum of fifteen dollars ($15); nothing in this section contained shall be construed to allow aliens to hunt or fish in this state without first having obtained a regular hunting or fishing license. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '11, p. 303, § 1.]

§ 2518. Setting Spring-gun.

Every person who shall set a so-called trap, spring pistol, rifle, or other deadly weapon, shall be punished as follows:

(1.) If no injury result therefrom to any human being, by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both.

(2.) If injuries not fatal result therefrom to any human being, by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than twenty years.

(3.) If the death of a human being results therefrom, by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than twenty years. [L. '09, p. 973, § 266.]

§ 2519. Obstruction of Extinguishment of Fire.

Every person who, with intent to prevent or obstruct the extinguishment of any fire, shall cut or remove any bell rope, wire or other apparatus for communicating an alarm of fire, or cut, injure or destroy any engine, hose, or other fire apparatus, or otherwise prevent or obstruct the extinguishment of any fire, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars. [L. '09, p. 973, § 267.]

§ 2520. Obstructing Firemen.

Every person who at the burning of any building shall be guilty of any disobedience to the lawful orders of a public officer or fireman or of resistance to or interference with the lawful efforts of any fireman, or company of firemen to extinguish the same, or of disorderly conduct likely to interfere with the extinguishment thereof, or who shall forbid, prevent or dissuade others from assisting to extinguish such fire, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 973, § 268.]

§ 2521. Smoking, Where Prohibited.

Every person who shall light a pipe, cigar or cigarette in, or who shall enter with a lighted pipe, cigar or cigarette, any mill or other building on which is posted in a conspicuous place over and near each principal entrance a notice in plain, legible characters, stating that no smoking is allowed in such building, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 974, § 269.]

§ 2522. Setting Prohibited Fire.

Every person who, within a county where there is a deputy fire warden, shall burn any wood or brush between the 1st day of June and the 1st day of October in each year, without first obtaining a permit thereto from such deputy fire warden, or who, in setting, guarding or extinguishing any fire in such wood or brush, shall willfully or negligently fail to observe any precaution prescribed by such deputy fire warden, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided that nothing herein contained shall prevent any person from burning any logs, stumps, drift or brush heaps in small quantities isolated from other inflammable material under personal supervision and such other safeguard as shall prevent such fires from spreading. [L. '09, p. 974, § 270.]

See on this subject "Forests and Forest Fires."

§ 2523. Negligent Fires.

Every person who shall willfully or negligently set, or fail to carefully guard or extinguish any fire, whether on his own land or the land of another, whereby the timber or property of another shall be endangered, or who shall fail to respond to any lawful summons to aid in guarding or extinguishing any fire, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 974, § 271.]

§ 2524. Operating Dangerous Engine.

Every person who shall operate or permit to be operated in dangerous proximity to any brush, grass or other inflammable material, any engine or boiler which is not equipped with a modern spark-arrester, in good condition, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 974, § 272.]

§ 2525. Door of Public Buildings to Swing Outward.

The doors of all theaters, opera houses, school buildings, churches, public halls, or places used for public entertainments, exhibitions or meetings, which are used exclusively or in part for admission to or egress from the same, or any part thereof, shall be so hung and arranged as to open outwardly, and during any exhibition, entertainment or meeting, shall be kept unlocked and unfastened, and in such condition that in case of danger or necessity, immediate escape from such building shall not be prevented or delayed; and every agent or lessee of any such building who shall rent the same or allow it to be used for any of the aforesaid public purposes without having the doors thereof hung and arranged as hereinbefore provided, shall, for each violation of any provision of this section, be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 974, § 273.]

§ 2526. Engineer Who cannot Read.

Every person who, as an officer of a corporation or otherwise, shall knowingly employ as an engineer or engine driver, to run a locomotive or train on any railway, any person who cannot read time tables and ordinary handwriting; and every person who, being unable to read time tables and ordinary handwriting, shall act as an engineer or run a locomotive or train on any railway, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 975, § 274.]

§ 2527. Intoxication of Employees.

Every person who, being employed upon any railway, as engineer, motorman, gripman, conductor, switch-tender, fireman, bridge-tender, flagman or signalman, or having charge of stations, starting, regulating or running trains upon a railway, or being employed as captain, engineer or other officer of a vessel propelled by steam, or being the driver of any animal or vehicle upon any public highway, street, or other public place, shall be intoxicated while engaged in the discharge of any duties, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '15, p. 492, § 2. Cf. L. '09, p. 975, § 275.]

§ 2528. Failure to Ring Bell.

Every engineer driving a locomotive on any railway who shall fail to ring the bell or sound the whistle upon such locomotive, or cause the same to be rung or sounded at least eighty rods from any place where such railway crosses a traveled road or street on the same level (except in cities), or to continue the ringing of such bell or sounding of such whistle until such locomotive shall have crossed such road or street, shall be guilty of misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 975, § 276.]

Cited in 91 Wash. 391.

Failing to sound the bell or whistle continuously until a crossing is reached, as required by this section, is negligence as a matter of law: McKinney v. Port Townsend & Puget S. B. Co., 91 Wash. 387, 158 Pac. 107.

§ 2529. Other Violations of Duty.

Every engineer, motorman, gripman, conductor, brakeman, switch-tender, train-dispatcher or other officer, agent or servant of any railway company, who shall be guilty of any willful violation or omission of his duty as such officer, agent, or servant, by which human life or safety shall be endangered, for which no punishment is specially prescribed, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 976, § 277.]

§ 2530. Obstructing and Delaying Train.

Every person who shall willfully obstruct, hinder or delay the passage of any car lawfully operated upon any railway, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 96, § 278.]

§ 2532. Liability of Person Handling Steamboat or Steam Boiler.

Every person who shall apply, or cause to be applied to a steam boiler a higher pressure of steam than is allowed by law, or by an inspector, officer or person authorized to limit the same; every captain or other person having charge of the machinery or boiler in a steamboat used for the conveyance of passengers on the waters of this state, who, from ignorance or gross neglect, or for the purpose of increasing the speed of such boat, shall create or cause to be created an undue or unsafe pressure of steam; and every engineer or other person having charge of a steam boiler, steam engine or other apparatus for generating or employing steam, who shall willfully or from ignorance or gross neglect, create or allow to be created such an undue quantity of steam as to burst the boiler, engine or apparatus, or cause any other accident, whereby human life is endangered, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 977, § 280.]

§ 2533. Endangering Life by Refusal to Labor.

Every person who shall willfully and maliciously, either alone or in combination with others, break a contract of service or employment, knowing or having reasonable cause to believe that the consequence of his so doing will be to endanger human life or cause grievous bodily injury, or to expose valuable property to destruction or serious injury, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 977, § 281.]

§ 2534. Disturbance on Highway.

Every person who shall ride or drive any horse upon a public highway, in a manner likely to endanger the safety or life of another, or on such highway shall create or participate in any noise, disturbance or other demonstration calculated or intended to frighten, intimidate or disturb any person, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 977, § 282.]

See infra, § 2720, throwing glass on highway.

§ 2535. Dangerous Exhibitions.

Every proprietor, lessee or occupant of any place of amusement, or any plat of ground or building, who shall allow it to be used for the exhibition of skill in throwing any sharp instrument or in shooting any bow gun, pistol or firearm of any description, at or toward any human being, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 977, § 283.]

§ 2537. Deposit of Unwholesome Substance.

Every person who shall deposit, leave or keep, on or near a highway or route of public travel, on land or water, any unwholesome substance; or who shall establish, maintain or carry on, upon or near a highway or route of public travel, on land or water, any business, trade or manufacture which is noisome or detrimental to the public health; or who shall deposit or cast into any lake, creek or river, wholly or partly in this state, the offal from or the dead body of any animal, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 978, § 285.]

See, also, infra, § 9913.

§ 2538. Allowing Vicious Animal at Large.

Every person having the care or custody of any animal known to possess any vicious or dangerous tendencies, who shall allow the same to escape or run at large in any place or manner liable to endanger the safety of any person, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and any person may lawfully kill such animal when reasonably necessary to protect his own or the public safety. [L. '09, p. 978, § 286.]

§ 2539. Exposing Contagious Disease.

Every person who shall willfully expose himself to another, or any animal affected with any contagious or infectious disease, in any public place or thoroughfare, except upon his or its necessary removal in a manner not dangerous to the public health; and every person so affected who shall expose any other person thereto without his knowledge, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 978, § 287.]

See infra, § 6112, regulations as to tuberculosis in cities.

§ 2540. Diseased Animals.

Every owner or person having charge thereof, who shall import or drive into this state, or who shall turn out or suffer to run at large upon any highway or uninclosed lands, or upon any lands adjoining the inclosed lands kept by any person for pasture; or who shall keep or allow to be kept in any barn with other animals, or water or allow to be watered at any public drinking fountain or watering place, any animal having any contagious or infectious disease; or who shall sell, let or dispose of any such animal knowing it to be so diseased, without first apprising the purchaser or person taking it of the existence of such disease, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 978, § 288.]

§ 2541. Diseased Animals—Disposal of Carcasses.

Every person owning or having in charge any animal that has died or been killed on account of disease, shall immediately bury the carcass thereof at least three feet underground, or cause the same to be consumed by fire. No person shall sell or offer to sell or give away the carcass of any animal which died or was killed on account of disease, or convey the same along any public road or land not his own. Every violation of any provision of this section shall be a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 979, § 289.]

§ 2542. Polluting Water Supply.

Every person who shall deposit or suffer to be deposited in any spring, well, stream, river or lake, the water of which is or may be used for drinking purposes, or on any property owned, leased or otherwise controlled by any municipal corporation, corporation or person as a watershed or drainage basin for a public or private water system, any matter or thing whatever, dangerous or deleterious to health, or any matter or thing which may or could pollute the waters of such spring, well, stream, river, lake or water system, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 979, § 290.]

§ 2543. Furnishing Impure Water.

Every owner, agent, manager, operator or other person having charge of any waterworks furnishing water for public or private use, who shall knowingly permit any act or omit any duty or precaution by reason whereof the purity or healthfulness of the water supplied shall become impaired, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 979, § 291.]

§ 2544. Practicing Medicine Without a License.

Every person who shall practice medicine or surgery or dentistry without having obtained and filed in the office of the county clerk where he resides, a license as required by law, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 980, § 292.]

See infra, §§ 10018, 10029, practicing medicine without a license.

See infra, § 10035, practicing dentistry without a license.

See infra, §§ 10041, 10051, practicing veterinary without a license.

§ 2545. Unlicensed Pilotage.

Every person not duly licensed thereto, who shall pilot or offer to pilot any vessel into, within or out of the waters of Juan de Fuca Strait or Puget Sound, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, that nothing herein shall prohibit a master of a vessel acting as his own pilot, nor compel a master or owner of any vessel to take out a pilot license for that purpose. [L. '09, p. 980, § 293.]

See infra, §§ 9873-9875, piloting without a license.

CHAPTER VIII.CRIMES AGAINST THE PUBLIC PEACE.*§ 2546. Armed Association.

It shall not be lawful for any body of men other than the National Guard or troops of the United States, to associate themselves together as a military company with arms, without the consent of the governor; but members of social and benevolent associations are not prohibited from wearing swords. Every person who shall associate with others in violation of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 980, § 294.]

§ 2547. Disturbing Meeting.

Every person who, without [authority] of law, shall willfully disturb any assembly or meeting not unlawful in its character, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 980, § 295.]

See supra, § 2499, disturbing religious meeting.

Cited in 108 Wash. 207.

§ 2548. Riot, Defined.

Whenever three or more persons, having assembled for any purpose, shall disturb the public peace by using force or violence to any other person, or to property, or shall threaten or attempt to commit such disturbance, or to do any unlawful act by the use of force or violence, accompanied with the power of immediate execution of such threat or attempt, they shall be guilty of a riot. [L. '09, p. 980, § 296.]

§ 2549. Riot—Penalty.

Every person who shall be guilty of riot or of participating therein, by being present at, or by instigation, permitting or aiding the same shall be punished as follows:

(1.) If the purpose of the assembly or the acts done therein, or intended by the persons engaged, shall be to resist the enforcement of a statute of this state or of the United States, or to obstruct any public officer of this state or the United States in serving or executing any process or other mandate of a court, or in the performance of any other duty, or if at the time of the riot the offender shall carry a firearm or any other dangerous weapon, or shall be disguised, by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars.

(2.) If the offender shall direct, advise, encourage or solicit other persons present or participating in a riot or assembly to acts of force or violence, by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than two years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars.

(3.) In every other case, by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars. [L. '09, p. 981, § 297.]

§ 2550. Unlawful Assembly.

Whenever three or more persons shall assemble with intent—

(1.) To commit any unlawful act by force; or,

(2.) To carry out any purpose in such manner as to disturb the public peace; or,

(3.) Being assembled, shall attempt or threaten any act tending toward a breach of the peace, or an injury to persons or property, or any unlawful act—such an assembly is unlawful, and every person participating therein by his presence, aid or instigation, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 981, § 298.]

§ 2551. Remaining After Warning.

Every person who shall remain present at the place of an unlawful meeting after having been warned to disperse by a magistrate or public officer, unless as a public officer or at the request of such officer he is assisting in dispersing the same, or in protecting persons or property or in arresting offenders, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 981, § 299.]

§ 2552. Destruction of Property.

Whenever any of the persons so unlawfully assembled, shall pull down or destroy any dwelling-house or other building, or any shop, steamboat or vessel, he shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars. [L. '09, p. 982, § 300.]

§ 2553. Disguised and Masked Persons.

Any assemblage of three or more persons, disguised by having their faces painted, discolored, colored or concealed, shall be unlawful; and every person so disguised present thereat, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor; but nothing herein shall be construed as prohibiting any peaceful assemblage for a masquerade or fancy dress ball or entertainment. [L. '09, p. 982, § 301.]

§ 2554. Owner of Premises Allowing Masqueraders.

Every person, being the owner, lessee or occupant of any building, boat, or part thereof, who shall knowingly permit therein any unlawful assemblage of masked persons, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 982, § 302.]

§ 2555. Combination to Resist Process.

Every person who shall enter into a combination with another to resist the execution of any legal process or other mandate of a court of competent jurisdiction, under circumstances not amounting to a riot, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 982, § 303.]

PRIZEFIGHTING.§ 2556. Prizefighting—Aiding, Betting or Stake-holding.

Every person who shall engage in, instigate, aid, encourage, or do any act to further an encounter or fight with or without weapons, between two or more persons, or a fight commonly called a ring or prizefight, or an encounter commonly called a sparring match, with or without gloves, or who shall send a challenge or acceptance of a challenge for such an encounter or fight; or who shall carry or deliver such a challenge or acceptance, or shall train or assist any person in training or preparing for such an encounter or fight; or who shall bet, stake or wager money or other property upon the result of such encounter or fight; or hold or undertake to hold any money or other property so staked or wagered, to be delivered to, or for the benefit of the winner thereof, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor: Provided, that nothing in this section shall be so construed as to interfere with members of private clubs sparring or fencing for exercise among themselves. [L. '09, p. 982, § 304.]

§ 2557. Apprehension of Persons About to Fight.

Whenever it shall be made to appear to any magistrate that there are reasonable grounds to apprehend that an offense specified in section 2556 is about to be committed within his jurisdiction, or by any person therein, he shall issue his warrant for the arrest of the person or persons so about to offend, and if upon any such person being brought before him it shall appear that there is reasonable ground to believe that he is about to commit such an offense he shall require him to give bond to the state, approved by him, in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars, with or without sureties, conditioned that such person shall not within one year thereof commit such an offense. On failure to furnish such bond such person shall be committed to the county jail. [L. '09, p. 983, § 305.]

§ 2558. Forcible Entry and Detainer.

Every person who shall unlawfully use, or encourage or assist another in unlawfully using, any force or violence in entering upon or detaining any lands or other possessions of another; and every person who, having removed or been removed therefrom pursuant to the order or direction of any court, tribunal or officer, shall afterward return to settle or reside unlawfully upon or take possession of, such lands or possessions, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 983, § 306.]

§ 2559. Aiming or Discharging Firearms.

Every person who shall aim any gun, pistol, revolver or other firearm, whether loaded or not, at or toward any human being, or who shall willfully discharge any firearm, air-gun or other weapon, or throw any deadly missile in a public place, or in any place where any person might be endangered thereby, although no injury result, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 984, § 307.]

§ 2560. Use of Firearms by Minor.

No minor under the age of fourteen years shall handle or have in his possession or under his control, except while accompanied by or under the immediate charge of his parent or guardian, any firearm of any kind for hunting or target practice or for other purposes. Every person violating any of the foregoing provisions, or aiding or knowingly permitting any such minor to violate the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 984, § 308.]

§ 2561. Offenses in Public Conveyances.

Every person who shall willfully use profane, offensive, or indecent language or engage in any quarrel in any public conveyance, or interfere with or annoy any passenger therein, or, having refused to pay the proper fare, shall fail to leave any such conveyance upon demand, or, with intent to avoid the payment of fare shall ride upon any car or engine not commonly used for the carriage of passengers, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 984, § 309.]

§ 2562. Criminal Anarchy, Defined.

Criminal anarchy is the doctrine that organized government should be overthrown by force or violence, or by assassination of the executive head or of any of the executive officials of government, or by any unlawful means. The advocating of such doctrine either by word of mouth or writing is a felony. [L. '09, p. 984, § 310.]

§ 2563. Advocacy of Criminal Anarchy.

Every person who—

(1.) By word of mouth or writing shall advocate, advise or teach the duty, necessity or propriety of overthrowing or overturning organized government by force or violence, or by assassination of the executive head or of any of the executive officials of government, or by any unlawful means; or,

(2.) Shall print, publish, edit, issue or knowingly circulate, sell, distribute or publicly display any book, paper, document, or written or printed matter in any form, containing or advocating, advising or teaching the doctrine that organized government should be overthrown by force, violence or any unlawful means; or,

(3.) Shall openly, willfully and deliberately justify by word of mouth or writing the assassination or unlawful killing or assaulting of any executive or other officer of the United States or of any state or of any civilized nation having an organized government because of his official character, or any other crime, with intent to teach, spread or advocate the propriety of the doctrines of criminal anarchy; or,

(4.) Shall organize or help to organize or become a member of or voluntarily assemble with any society, group or assembly of persons formed to teach or advocate such doctrine,

Shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 984, § 311.]

§ 2563-2. Use of Property for Promoting Syndicalism.

Any owner, lessee, agent, occupant or person in control of any property who shall knowingly permit the use thereof by any person or persons engaged in doing any of the acts or things made unlawful by the preceding section, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '19, p. 519, § 2.]

§ 2563-3. Sabotage, Defined.

Whoever, with intent that his act shall, or with reason to believe that it may, injure, interfere with, or obstruct any agricultural, stock-raising, lumbering, mining, quarrying, fishing, manufacturing, transportation, mercantile or building enterprise wherein persons are employed for wage, shall willfully injure or destroy, or attempt or threaten to injure or destroy, any property whatsoever, or shall willfully derange, or attempt or threaten to derange, any mechanism or appliance, shall be guilty of a felony. [L. '19, p. 517, § 1.]

§ 2563-4. Interference With Owner's Control.

Whoever, with intent to supplant, nullify or impair the owner's management or control of any enterprise described in the preceding section, shall unlawfully take or retain, or attempt or threaten unlawfully to take or retain, possession or control of any property or instrumentality used in such enterprise, shall be guilty of a felony. [L. '19, p. 517, § 2.]

§ 2563-5. Advocacy of Sabotage.

Whoever shall

(1.) Advocate, advise or teach the necessity, duty, propriety or expediency of doing or practicing any of the acts made unlawful by the two preceding sections, or,

(2.) Print, publish, edit, issue or knowingly sell, circulate, distribute or display any book, pamphlet, paper, handbill, document or written or printed matter of any form, advocating, advising or teaching such necessity, duty, propriety or expediency, or,

(3.) By word of mouth or writing justify any act or conduct with intent to advocate, advise or teach such necessity, duty, propriety or expediency, or,

(4.) Organize or help to organize, give aid to, be a member of or voluntarily assemble with, any group of persons formed to advocate, advise or teach such necessity, duty, propriety or expediency,

Shall be guilty of a felony. [L. '19, p. 517, § 3.]

§ 2563-6. Act Cumulative.

This act shall not be construed to repeal or amend any existing penal statute. [L. '19, p. 518, § 4.]

§ 2563-7. Displaying Emblems of Seditious and Anarchistic Groups.

No flag, banner, standard, insignia, badge, emblem, sign or other device of, or suggestive of, any organized or unorganized group of persons who, by their laws, rules, declarations, doctrines, creeds, purposes, practices or efforts, espouse, propose or advocate any theory, principle or form of government antagonistic to, or subversive of, the constitution, its mandates, or laws of the United States or of this state, shall be displayed in this state. [L. '19, p. 555, § 1.]

Validity of statutory or other regulation forbidding display of red flag or other symbol tending to incite disorder. Ann. Cas. 1916D, 849; L. R. A. 1915B, 706.

§ 2563-8. Unlawful Possession of Such Emblems.

The ownership or possession of any article or thing, the display of which is forbidden by this act, shall be unlawful. [L. '19, p. 555, § 2.]

§ 2563-9. Penalties.

Any person who violates this act shall be guilty of a felony. An officer, trustee, director, agent or employee of a corporation or association who participates in the doing, or assists or acts for the corporation or association in the doing, of anything prohibited by this act, shall be guilty of a felony. [L. '19, p. 555, § 3.]

§ 2563-10. Searches and Seizures.

Every article or thing owned or kept in violation of this act is hereby declared to be pernicious and dangerous to the public welfare and subject to be searched for, seized, forfeited and destroyed. [L. '19, p. 555, § 4.]

§ 2563-11. Application of Act.

Nothing in this act shall apply to the ownership, possession or display of flags, banners, standards, insignia, badges or emblems of any nation having accredited representatives in the United States or in its territories or possessions; nor shall this act apply to historical museums of recognized standing. [L. '19, p. 555, § 5.]

§ 2564. Publishing Matter Inciting Breach of Peace.

Every person who shall willfully print, publish, edit, issue, or knowingly circulate, sell, distribute or display any book, paper, document, or written or printed matter, in any form, advocating, encouraging or inciting, or having a tendency to encourage or incite the commission of any crime, breach of the peace or act of violence, or which shall tend to encourage or advocate disrespect for law or for any court or courts of justice, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 985, § 312.]

Cited in 71 Wash. 186.

This section providing punishment for any person who edits printed matter which shall "tend to encourage disrespect for law" is not objectionable as uncertain in defining the nature of the crime: Stato v. Fox, 71 Wash. 185, 127 Pac. 1111.

§ 2565. Liability of Editors and Others.

Every editor or proprietor of a book, newspaper or serial and every manager of a partnership or incorporated association by which a book, newspaper or serial is issued, is chargeable with the publication of any matter contained in such book, newspaper or serial. But in every prosecution therefor, the defendant may show in his defense that the matter complained of was published without his knowledge or fault and against his wishes by another who had no authority from him to make the publication, and was retracted by him as soon as known. [L. '09, p. 985, § 313.]

§ 2566. Assemblages of Anarchists.

Whenever two or more persons assemble for the purpose of advocating or teaching the doctrines of criminal anarchy, as defined in section 2562, such an assembly is unlawful, and every person voluntarily participating therein by his presence, aid or instigation, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or both. [L. '09, p. 986, § 314.]

§ 2567. Permitting Premises to be Used for Assemblages of Anarchists.

Every owner, agent, superintendent, janitor, caretaker or occupant of any place, building or room, who shall willfully and knowingly permit therein any assemblage of persons prohibited by section 2566, or who, after notification that the premises are so used, shall permit such use to be continued, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 986, § 315.]

§ 2568. Witness' Privilege.

No person shall be excused from giving evidence upon an investigation or prosecution for any of the offenses specified in sections 2563 or 2566, upon the ground that the evidence might tend to criminate himself. [L. '09, p. 986, § 316.]

CHAPTER IX.CRIMES AGAINST PROPERTY.CRIMES AGAINST STATE PROPERTY.§ 2569. Misappropriation and Falsification of Accounts by Public Officer.

Every public officer, and every other person receiving money on behalf or for or on account of the people of the state or of any department of the state government or of any bureau or fund created by law in which the people are directly or indirectly interested, or for or on account of any county, city, town or any school, diking, drainage or irrigation district, who—

(1.) Shall appropriate to his own use or the use of any person not entitled thereto, without authority of law, any money so received by him as such officer or otherwise; or,

(2.) Shall knowingly keep any false account, or make any false entry or erasure in any account, of or relating to any money so received by him; or,

(3.) Shall fraudulently alter, falsify, conceal, destroy or obliterate any such account; or,

(4.) Shall willfully omit or refuse to pay over to the state, its officer or agent authorized by law to receive the same, or to such county, city, town or such school, diking, drainage or irrigation district or to the proper officer or authority empowered to demand and receive the same, any money received by him as such officer when it is a duty imposed upon him by law to pay over and account for the same, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than fifteen years. [L. '09, p. 986, § 317.]

§ 2570. Other Violations by Officers.

Every officer or other person mentioned in section 2569, who shall willfully disobey any provision of law regulating his official conduct in cases other than those specified in said section, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 987, § 318.]

§ 2571. Misappropriation, etc., by Treasurer.

Every state, county, city or town treasurer who shall willfully misappropriate any moneys, funds or securities received by or deposited with him as such treasurer, or who shall be guilty of any other malfeasance or willful neglect of duty in his office, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars. [L. '09, p. 987, § 319.]

See § 2569, misappropriation by public officer.

See infra, § 11027, embezzlement by state treasurer.

ARSON.

§ 2572. Arson—First Degree.

Every person who shall willfully—

(1.) Burn or set on fire in the night-time the dwelling-house of another, or any building in which there shall be at the time a human being; or,

(2.) Set any fire manifestly dangerous to any human life, shall be guilty of arson in the first degree and be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than five years. [L. '09, p. 987, § 320.]

Occupancy of Building.—Under section 823 of the code of 1881, as amended by Laws of 1885-86, page 77, it is unnecessary, in charging the crime of arson, to allege that the dwelling-house set fire to was used and occupied as a place of abode by any person or persons: McClaine v. Territory, 1 Wash. 345, 25 Pac. 453; State v. Biles, 6 Wash. 186, 33 Pac. 347; State v. Meyers, 9 Wash. 8, 36 Pac. 1051.

The Laws of 1895, page 173, defining the crimes of arson and attempted arson, and providing a punishment for each, does not violate article II, section 19 of the constitution, which provides that "no bill shall embrace more than one subject," since arson and attempted arson are sufficiently connected to permit legislation with reference thereto to be embodied in one act: State v. Hall, 24 Wash. 255, 64 Pac. 153.

§ 2573. Arson—Second Degree.

Every person who, under circumstances not amounting to arson in the first degree, shall willfully burn or set on fire any building, or any structure or erection appurtenant to or adjoining any building, or any wharf, dock, threshing-machine, threshing-engine, bridge or trestle, or any hay, grain, crop or timber, whether cut or standing, or any lumber, shingle or other timber products, shall be guilty of arson in the second degree, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars. [L. '09, p. 988, § 321.]

§ 2574. Contiguous Fires.

Whenever any building or structure which may be the subject of arson in either the first or second degree shall be so situated as to be manifestly endangered by any fire and shall subsequently be set on fire thereby, any person participating in setting such fire shall be deemed to have participated in setting such building or structure on fire. [L. '09, p. 988, § 322.]

§ 2575. "Set on Fire" Defined.

A building, structure or any property mentioned in section 2573 shall be deemed "set on fire," whenever any part thereof or anything therein shall be scorched, charred or burned. [L. '09, p. 988, § 323.]

§ 2576. Ownership of Building.

To constitute arson it shall not be necessary that another person than the defendant should have had ownership in the building or structure set on fire. [L. '09, p. 988, § 324.]

§ 2577. Preparation is Attempt.

Any willful preparation made by any person with a view to setting fire to any building or structure shall be deemed to be an attempt to commit the crime of arson, and shall be punished as such. [L. '09, p. 988, § 325.]

BURGLARY.

§ 2578. Burglary—First Degree.

Every person who, with intent to commit some crime therein, shall enter in the night-time, the dwelling-house of another in which there shall be at the time a human being—

- (1.) Being armed with a dangerous weapon; or
- (2.) Arming himself therein with such weapon; or
- (3.) Being assisted by a confederate actually present; or
- (4.) Who, while engaged in the night-time in effecting such entrance, or in committing any crime in such building or in escaping therefrom, shall assault any person; or

(5.) Who, with intent to commit some crime therein, shall break and enter any bank, postoffice, railway express or railway mail-car, shall be guilty of burglary in the first degree and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than five years. Every person who, in the commission of a burglary shall commit any other crime, shall be punished therefor as well as for the burglary, and may be prosecuted for each crime separately. [L. '09, p. 990, § 329.]

§ 2582. Making or Having Burglar Tools.

Every person who shall make or mend or cause to be made or mended, or have in his possession in the day or night-time, any engine, machine, tool, false key, pick lock, bit, nippers or implement adapted, designed or commonly used for the commission of burglary, larceny or other crime, under circumstances evincing an intent to use or employ, or allow the same to be used or employed in the commission of a crime, or knowing that the same is intended to be so used, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. The possession thereof except by a mechanic, artificer or tradesman at and in his established shop or place of business, open to public view, shall be prima facie evidence that such possession was had with intent to use or employ or allow the same to be used or employed in the commission of a crime. § 2584. False Certificate to Certain Instruments.

Every officer authorized to take a proof or acknowledgment of an instrument which by law may be recorded, who shall willfully certify falsely that the execution of such instrument was acknowledged by any party thereto, or that the execution thereof, was proved, shall be guilty of forgery in the first degree. [L. '09, p. 991, § 332.]

§ 2585. Forgery—Second Degree.

Every person who, with intent to injure or defraud shall—

- (1.) Make any false entry in any public or private record or account; or
- (2.) Fail to make a true entry of any material matter in any public or private record or account; or
- (3.) Forge any letter or written communication or copy or purported copy thereof, or send or deliver, or connive at the sending or delivery of any false or fictitious telegraph message or copy or purported copy thereof, whereby or wherein the sentiments, opinions, conduct, character, purpose, property, interests or rights of any person shall be misrepresented or may be injuriously affected, or, knowing any such letter, communication or message or any copy or purported copy thereof to be false, shall utter or publish the same or any copy or purported copy thereof as true, shall be guilty of forgery in the second degree, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars. [L. '09, p. 991, § 333.]

§ 2586. Falsely Indicating Person as Corporate Officer.

The false making or forging of any instrument or writing purporting to have been issued by or in behalf of a corporation or association, state or government and bearing the pretended signature of any person therein falsely indicated as an agent or officer of such corporation, association, state or government, is forgery in the same degree as if that person were in truth such officer or agent of such corporation, association, state or government. [L. '09, p. 992, § 334.]

§ 2587. Uttering Forged Instruments, Coins, etc., Forgery.

Every person who, knowing the same to be forged or altered, and with intent to defraud, shall utter, offer, dispose of or put off as true, or have in his possession with intent so to utter, offer, dispose of or put off any forged writing, instrument or other thing, the false making, forging or altering of which is punishable as forgery, shall be guilty of forgery in the same degree as if he had forged the same. § 2588. True Writing Signed by Wrongdoer's Name.

Whenever the false making or uttering of any instrument of writing is forgery in any degree, every person who, with intent to defraud shall offer, dispose of or put off such an instrument or writing subscribed or indorsed in his own name or that of any other person, whether such signature be genuine or fictitious, under the pretense that such subscription or indorsement is the act of another person of the same name, or that of a person not in existence, shall be forgery in the same degree. [L. '09, p. 992, § 336.]

§ 2589. Misconduct in Signing a Petition.

Every person who shall willfully sign the name of another person or of a fictitious person, or for any consideration, gratuity, or reward shall sign his own name to or withdraw his name from any referendum or other petition circulated in pursuance of any law of this state or any municipal ordinance; or in signing his name to such petition shall willfully subscribe to any false statement concerning his age, citizenship, residence or other qualifications to sign the same; or knowing that any such petition contains any such false or wrongful signature or statement, shall file the same, or put the same off with intent that it should be filed, as a true and genuine petition, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 993, § 337.]

§ 2590. Definitions.

Within the provisions of this subdivision relating to forgery, a "written instrument," or a "writing," shall include an instrument partly written and partly printed or wholly printed with a written signature thereto, or any signature or writing purporting to be a signature of or intended to bind an individual, partnership, corporation or association or an officer thereof.

The words "forge," "forgery," "forged" and "forging," shall include false making, "counterfeiting" and the alteration, erasure or obliteration of a genuine instrument in whole or in part, the false making or counterfeiting of the signature of a party or witness, real or fictitious, and the placing or connecting together with intent to defraud, of different parts or the whole of several genuine instruments.

A plate is in the "form and similitude," of the genuine instrument forged, if the finished parts of the engraving thereupon shall resemble or conform to the similar parts of the genuine instrument. [L. '09, p. 993, § 338.]

COUNTERFEITING—FRAUDULENT PRACTICES.

§ 2591. Possession of Counterfeit Coin.

Every person who shall have in his possession a counterfeit of any gold or silver coin, whether of the United States or any foreign country or government, knowing the same to be counterfeit, with intent to sell, utter, use, circulate or export the same as true or as false, or to cause the same to be so uttered or used, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 994, § 339.]

§ 2592. Advertising Counterfeit Money.

Every person who, with intent to defraud, shall print, circulate or distribute a letter, circular, card, pamphlet, handbill or any other written or printed matter offering or purporting to offer for sale, exchange or as a gift, counterfeit coin or paper money, or giving or purporting to give information where counterfeit coin or paper money can be procured, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars. [L. '09, p. 994, § 340.]

§ 2593. False Certificate of Registration of Animals—False Representation as to Breed.

Every person who, by color or aid of any false pretense, representation, token or writing shall obtain from any club, association, society or company for the improvement of the breed of cattle, horses, sheep, swine, fowls or other domestic animals or birds, a certificate of registration of any animal or bird in a herdbook, or other register of any such association, society or company, or a transfer of any such registration, and every person who shall knowingly represent an animal or bird for breeding purposes to be of a greater degree of any particular strain of blood than such animal actually possesses, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 994, § 341.]

§ 2594. Removing Lawful Brands.

Every person who shall willfully deface, obliterate, remove or alter any mark or brand placed by or with the authority of the owner thereof on any shingle bolt, log or stick of timber, or on any horse, mare, gelding, mule, cow, steer, bull, sheep, goat or hog, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment. [L. '09, p. 994, § 342.]

§ 2595. Imitating Lawful Brand.

Every person who, in any county, shall place upon any property, any brand or mark in the likeness or similitude of another brand or mark filed with the county auditor of such county by the owner thereof as a brand or mark for the designation or identification of a like kind of property, shall—

(1.) If done with intent to confuse or commingle such property with, or to appropriate to his own use, the property of such other owner, be guilty of a felony, and be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years, or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment; or

(2.) If done without such intent, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 995, § 343.]

§ 2596. Counterfeiting Trademark, Brand, etc.

Every person who shall use or display or have in his possession with intent to use or display, the genuine label, trademark, term, design, device, or form of advertisement of any person, corporation, association or union, lawfully filed for record in the office of the secretary of state, or the exclusive right to use which is guaranteed to any person, corporation, association or union, by the laws of the United States, without the written authority of such person, corporation, association or union, or who shall willfully forge or counterfeit or use or display or have in his possession with intent to use or display any representation, likeness, similitude, copy or imitation of any genuine label, trademark, term, design, device, or form of advertisement, so filed or protected, or any die, plate, stamp or other device for manufacturing the same, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 995, § 344.]

See infra, §§ 8386, 8387, counterfeiting marks and brands on logs.

See infra, §§ 11537–11540, 11547, counterfeiting and unlawful use of trademarks, etc.

§ 2597. Displaying Goods With False Trademark.

Every person who shall knowingly sell, display or advertise, or have in his possession with intent to sell, any goods, wares, merchandise, mixture, preparation or compound having affixed thereto any label, trademark, term, design, device, or form of advertisement lawfully filed for record in the office of the secretary of state by any person, corporation, association or union, or the exclusive right to the use of which is guaranteed to such person, corporation, association or union under the laws of the United States, which label, trademark, term, design, device or form of advertisement shall have been used or affixed thereto without the written authority of such person, corporation, association or union, or having affixed thereto any forged or counterfeit representation, likeness, similitude, copy or imitation thereof, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 996, § 345.]

§ 2598. When Deemed Affixed.

A label, trademark, term, design, device or form of advertisement shall be deemed to be affixed to any goods, wares, merchandise, mixture, preparation or compound whenever it is in any manner placed in or upon either the article itself, or the box, bale, barrel, bottle, case, cask or other vessel or package, or the cover, wrapper, stopper, brand, label or other thing in, by or with which the goods are packed, inclosed or otherwise prepared for sale or distribution. [L. '09, p. 996, § 346.]

§ 2599. Fraudulent Registration of Trademark.

Every person who shall for himself, or on behalf of any other person, corporation, association or union, procure the filing of any label, trademark, term, design, device or form of advertisement, with the secretary of state by any fraudulent means, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 996, § 347.]

§ 2600. Form and Similitude, Defined.

A plate, label, trademark, term, design, device or form of advertisement is in the form and similitude of the genuine instrument imitated if the finished parts of the engraving thereupon shall resemble or conform to the similar parts of the genuine instrument. [L. '09, p. 996, § 348.]

§ 2601. Larceny.

Every person who, with intent to deprive or defraud the owner thereof—

- (1) Shall take, lead or drive away the property of another; or
- (2) Shall obtain from the owner or another the possession of or title to any property, real or personal, by color or aid of any order for the payment or delivery of property or money or any check or draft, knowing that the maker or drawer of such order, check or draft was not authorized or entitled to make or draw the same, or by color or aid of any fraudulent or false representation, personation or pretense or by any false token or writing or by any trick, device, bunco game or fortune-telling; or
- (3) Having any property in his possession custody or control, as bailee, factor, pledgee, servant, attorney, agent, employee, trustee, executor, administrator, guardian or officer of any person, estate, association or corporation or as a public officer, or a person authorized by agreement or by competent authority to take or hold such possession, custody or control, or as a finder thereof, shall secrete, withhold or appropriate the same to his own use or to the use of any person other than the true owner or person entitled thereto; or

(4) Having received any property by reason of a mistake, shall with knowledge of such mistake secrete, withhold or appropriate the same to his own use or to the use of any person other than the true owner or person entitled thereto; and

(5) Every person who, knowing the same to have been so appropriated, shall bring into this state, or buy, sell, receive or aid in concealing or withholding any property wrongfully appropriated, whether within or outside of this state, in such manner as to constitute larceny under the provisions of this act—

Steals such property and shall be guilty of larceny. [L. '15, p. 493, § 3. Cf. L. '09, p. 997, § 349.]

Whiskey, although outlawed and unlawfully held by one whose possession the law did not protect, may be the subject of larceny: State v. Donovan, 108 Wash. 276, 183 Pac. 127.

§ 3. Taking—Fraud, Trick or Device: State v. Smith, 9 Wash. 248, 37 Pac. 290; State v. White, 12 Wash. 417, 41 Pac. 182; State v. Skilbrick, 25 Wash. 555, 66 Pac. 53, 87 Am. St. Rep. 784; State v. Ferrato, 72 Wash. 112, 129 Pac. 598; State v. Wheeler, 101 Wash. 293, 172 Pac. 225.

An information for the larceny of whiskey charging that defendant obtained it by the "trick and device" of appearing as a police officer, and so having obtained it, did feloniously take and appropriate it to his own use, sufficiently charges the act of taking and appropriation as one continuous transaction, and is therefore not confined to larceny by embezzlement by a public officer as defined by this section, subdivision 3: State v. Donovan, 108 Wash. 276, 183 Pac. 127.

§ 4. — Conversion by Agent: Brandenstein v. Way, 17 Wash. 293, 49 Pac. 511.

§ 5. Persons Liable: State v. Payne, 6 Wash. 563, 34 Pac. 317; State v. Duncan, 7 Wash. 336, 35 Pac. 117, 38 Am. St. Rep. 888.

Under this section, defining larceny as the taking of property with intent to deprive or defraud the owner thereof, and section 2303, defining an owner as any person who has a general or special property, in the whole or any part thereof, or the lawful possession thereof, either actual or constructive, a trustee in bankruptcy, in possession of property claimed and later decided to be exempt, is entitled to maintain his possession until the referee's finding is reversed; and hence has probable cause for instituting a prosecution for larceny thereof against the owner who took the same in an unlawful way: Prentiss v. Bogart, 84 Wash. 481, 147 Pac. 39.

Under this section, defining the crime of larceny as capable of being committed in one of the several ways stated disjunctively in the first subdivision of the section, and section 2260, abrogating the common-law distinction between principals and accessories before the fact, an information charging larceny by hiring two men to commit the theft of two steers, and that the men actually committed it, and that defendant purchased and received the steers from them, is not duplicitous in charging inconsistent offenses, and it is not error to refuse to require an election: State v. Klein, 94 Wash. 212, 162 Pac. 52.

False Pretenses: See Remington's Digest, False Pret., § 1.

Nature of Pretense: State v. Knowlton, 11 Wash. 512, 39 Pac. 966; State v. Reiff, 14 Wash. 664, 45 Pac. 318; State v. Mendenhall, 24 Wash. 12, 63 Pac. 1109; State v. Phelps, 41 Wash. 470, 84 Pac. 24; State v. Lynn, 89 Wash. 463, 154 Pac. 798.

A prosecution for attempted larceny by false pretenses in a telephone order for goods does not fail because the attempt was unsuccessful: State v. Peterson, 109 Wash. 25, 186 Pac. 264, 8 A. L. R. 652.

Under an information charging the larceny of fifty bushels of wheat during a certain month, and this section making it larceny to knowingly buy or receive stolen property, it is competent to show that the accused offered one B. and his associates one dollar and a half a sack for all wheat they would take from cars and put in his barn, and thereafter, on three different occasions during said month, he paid B. and his associates for wheat stolen by them and put in his barn; and the prosecution need not elect between the different deliveries; since it was all part of one continuous transaction: State v. Ray, 62 Wash. 582, 114 Pac. 439.

Under this section, subdivision 2, an information is sufficient if, rejecting additional matter as surplusage, enough remains to charge the offense in the language of the statute, in the absence of any motion to strike or make more definite, even though it did not describe any trick, fraud or device: State v. Ferrato, 72 Wash. 112, 129 Pac. 898.

False Pretenses as to Particular Subject Matters: See Remington's Digest, False Pret., § 2; State v. Reiff, 14 Wash. 644, 45 Pac. 318; State v. Swan, 55 Wash. 97, 104 Pac. 145, 133 Am. St. Rep. 1024, 19 Ann. Cas. 1120, 24 L. R. A. (N. S.) 575.

§ 2601-1. Taking Motor Vehicle Without Permission.

Every person who shall without the permission of the owner or person entitled to the possession thereof intentionally take or drive away any automobile or motor vehicle, whether propelled by steam, electricity or internal combustion engine, the property of another, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and every person voluntarily riding in or upon said automobile or motor vehicle with knowledge of the fact that the same was unlawfully taken shall be equally guilty with the person taking or driving said automobile or motor vehicle and shall be deemed guilty of a felony. [L. '19, p. 131, § 1. Cf. L. '15, p. 459, § 1.]

§ 2601-2. Unlawful Issuance of Bank Checks or Drafts.

Any person who shall with intent to defraud make, or draw, or utter, or deliver to another person any check, or draft, on a bank or other depository for the payment of money, knowing at the time of such drawing, or delivery, that he has not sufficient funds in, or credit with said bank or depository, to meet said check, in full upon its presentation, shall be guilty of larceny. The word "credit" as used herein shall be construed to mean an arrangement or understanding with the bank for the payment of such check or draft, and the uttering or delivery of such a check or draft to another person without such fund or credit to meet the same shall be prima facie evidence of an intent to defraud. [L. '15, p. 460, § 1.]

See, also, supra, § 2601.

§ 2601-3. Motor Serial Number—Purchase, Sale or Possession, When Altered.

Whoever knowingly buys, sells, receives, disposes of, conceals, or has in his possession any motor vehicle or motor boat from which the manufacturer's serial number or any other distinguishing number or identification mark has been removed, defaced, covered, altered or destroyed for the purpose of concealment or mispresenting the identity of the said motor vehicle or motor boat shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '17, p. 218, § 1.]

§ 2601-4. Possession Prima Facie Evidence of Guilt.

In any prosecution under the provisions of section 2601-3 evidence that any person has, or at the time of his arrest charged with the violation of said section 2601-3 had in his possession any motor vehicle or motor boat from which the manufacturer's serial number or numbers or other distinguishing number or identification mark has been removed, defaced, covered, altered or destroyed shall constitute prima facie proof of the guilt of such person. [L. '17, p. 218, § 2.]

§ 2602. Commission or Part Ownership No Defense.

It shall be no defense to a prosecution for larceny that the accused was entitled to a commission out of the money or property appropriated, as compensation for collecting or receiving the same for or on behalf of the owner thereof, or that the money or property appropriated was partly the property of another and partly the property of the accused; but it shall not be larceny for any bailee, factor, pledgee, servant, attorney, agent, employee, or trustee, executor, administrator, guardian, officer or other person to retain his reasonable collection fee or charges. [L. '09, p. 998, § 350.]

Cited in 84 Wash. 612; 106 Wash. 225; 113 Wash. 398.

Copartnership property is not the subject of larceny by one partner by reason of this section, which has no application, since partnership property is not the property of another; and penal statutes must be construed to reach no further than their words: State v. Eberhart, 106 Wash. 222, 179 Pac. 853.

It is not error to refuse an instruction under this section where it had no application: State v. Cook, 113 Wash. 391, 194 Pac. 401.

§ 2603. Sale of Mortgaged Property—When Larceny.

Every person who shall sell or mortgage any personal property which is at the time mortgaged or upon which any lien has been or may lawfully be filed, without informing the purchaser or mortgagee thereof, before the payment of the purchase price or money loaned, of the several amounts of all such mortgages and liens, shall be deemed to have made a false representation within the meaning of section 2601, subdivision 2. [L. '09, p. 998, § 351.]

See infra, §§ 2629, 3789, removal of mortgaged property.

§ 2604. Contractor Failing to Pay for Labor or Material.

Every person having entered into a contract to supply any labor or materials for the value or price of which any lien might lawfully be filed upon the property of another, who shall receive the full price or consideration thereof, or the amount of any account stated thereon, shall be deemed within the meaning of section 2601, subdivision 3, to receive the same as the agent of the party with whom such contract was made, his successor or assign, for the purpose of paying all claims for labor and materials supplied. [L. '09, p. 998, § 352.]

§ 2605. Grand Larceny—Penalty.

Every person who shall steal or unlawfully obtain, appropriate, bring into this state, buy, sell, receive, conceal or withhold in any manner specified in section 2601—

(1.) Property of any value by taking the same from the person of another or from the body of a corpse; or

(2.) Property of any value by taking the same from any building that is on fire or by taking the same after it has been removed from a building in consequence of an alarm of fire; or

(3.) A record of a court or officer, or a writing, instrument or record kept, filed or deposited according to law with or in the keeping of any public officer or officers; or

(4.) From any range or pasture, any horse, mare, gelding, foal or filly, ass or mule, one or more head of neat cattle or any sheep; or

(5.) Property of the value of more than twenty-five dollars, in any manner whatever,

Shall be guilty of grand larceny and be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than fifteen years.

Every other larceny shall be petit larceny and shall be a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 998, § 353.]

Cited in 62 Wash. 584; 63 Wash. 619; 65 Wash. 354; 77 Wash. 438; 83 Wash. 660; 84 Wash. 483; 89 Wash. 28; 108 Wash. 285; 110 Wash. 436.

Where the purchase of stolen property on three different occasions was pursuant to one offer and all part of one transaction, it amounts to grand larceny, under this section, if the total value was over $25, notwithstanding there might have been a conviction of petty larceny for any one of the three acts: State v. Ray, 62 Wash. 582, 114 Pac. 439.

Upon a prosecution, under this section, subdivision 4, for the larceny of one head of neat cattle by unlawfully taking it from a range or pasture, the jury should be instructed that it was essential to prove that the animal was taken or driven away from a range or pasture: State v. Crossen, 77 Wash. 438, 137 Pac. 1030.

§ 2606. Value—How Ascertained.

The value of all instruments not having a market value, whether issued or delivered or not, by which any claim, privilege, right, obligation or authority or any right or title to property, real or personal, is, or purports to be, or upon the happening of some future event may be, evidenced, created, acknowledged, transferred, increased, diminished, encumbered, defeated, discharged or affected, shall be deemed to be the amount of money due thereon or secured to be paid thereby and unpaid, or which in any contingency might be collected thereon or thereby, or the value of the property transferred or affected or the title to which is shown thereby, or the sum which might be recovered for the want thereof, as the case may be. In every other case not otherwise regulated by statute, "value" shall be deemed to mean market value. [L. '09, p. 999, § 354.]

§ 2607. Stealing Railway Tickets.

If any person in the employ of a railway or steamboat company shall fraudulently neglect to cancel or to return to the proper officer or agent of such company, any ticket, coupon or pass, with intent to permit the same to be used in fraud of any railway or steamboat company, or if any person shall steal or fraudulently stamp, print, sign, sell, or put into circulation any such ticket, coupon or pass, he shall be guilty of larceny. [L. '09, p. 1000, § 355.]

§ 2608. Claim of Title—When Ground of Defense.

In any prosecution for larceny it shall be a sufficient defense that the property was appropriated openly and avowedly under a claim of title preferred in good faith, even though the claim be untenable. [L. '09, p. 1000, § 356.]

Cited in 77 Wash. 439; 94 Wash. 95, 98.

In a prosecution for the larceny of "one head of neat cattle," from a range or pasture, in which the defense was that the accused had bought a calf of an Indian, and drove in and butchered the animal in question supposing it was the one he had bought, it is error to refuse to instruct as to the defense of this section: State v. Crossen, 77 Wash. 438, 137 Pac. 1030.

Upon a prosecution of a broker for larceny by embezzlement in withholding, as agent of the purchaser, part of the purchase price which he had deducted as his commission, in which there was conflicting evidence as to defendant's misrepresentations and as to the fact of agency, the defendant is entitled to an instruction to the jury in accordance with this section: State v. Rolette, 94 Wash. 94, 161 Pac. 1042.

§ 2609. Restoration of Stolen Property—Duty of Officers.

The officer arresting any person charged as principal or accessory in any robbery or larceny shall use reasonable diligence to secure the property alleged to have been stolen, and after seizure shall be answerable therefor while it remains in his hands, and shall annex a schedule thereof to his return of the warrant.

Whenever the prosecuting attorney shall require such property for use as evidence upon the examination or trial, such officer, upon his demand, shall deliver it to him, and take his receipt therefor, after which such prosecuting attorney shall be answerable for the same. [L. '09, p. 1000, § 357.]

EXTORTION OR OPPRESSION.

§ 2610. Extortion.

Every person, who, under circumstances not amounting to robbery, shall extort or gain any money, property or advantage, or shall induce or compel another to make, subscribe, execute, alter or destroy any valuable security or instrument or writing affecting or intended to affect any cause of action or defense, or any property, by means of force or any threat, either—

- (1.) To accuse any person of a crime; or
- (2.) To do any injury to any person or to any property; or
- (3.) To publish or connive at publishing any libel; or
- (4.) To expose or impute to any person any deformity or disgrace; or
- (5.) To expose any secret,

Shall be guilty of extortion and shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years. [L. '09, p. 1000, § 358.]

Cited in 67 Wash. 89; 99 Wash. 155, 156.

This section defining extortion as a crime against the person, creates a cause of action in favor of the person injured, although the statute is a general criminal statute: Bertschinger v. Campbell, 99 Wash. 142, 168 Pac. 977.

Under this section, one may be guilty of extorting a check, although it had no actual cash value from the fact that it would not have been cashed; as the claim which might have been made thereon imported value: State v. Barr, 67 Wash. 87, 120 Pac. 509.

Under the common law, it was not an indictable offense to extort money by threatening to institute a criminal prosecution against the party defrauded, since the threat is not of personal violence or such as to overcome a firm and prudent man: State v. Nethercutt, 48 Wash. 105, 92 Pac. 938.

The defendants are guilty of extortion by threats, where they accused the prosecuting witness of adultery and demanded the payment of money as satisfaction, which he at first refused, although they later enforced their demands by violence: State v. Barr, 67 Wash. 87, 120 Pac. 509.

This section creates a right of action in favor of the person injured: Bertschinger v. Campbell, 99 Wash. 142, 168 Pac. 977.

Failure of Proof of Extortion: See State v. Wainwright, 50 Wash. 225, 97 Pac. 51.

Criminal liability where demand for payment of debt is made in connection with threat of prosecution. Ann. Cas. 1917E, 246.

Public officer receiving fee before due as extortion: 15 Ann. Cas. 1117.

§ 2611. Oppression Under Color of Office.

Every officer, or person pretending to be such, who unlawfully and maliciously, under pretense or color of official authority, shall—

- (1.) Arrest another or detain him against his will; or
- (2.) Seize or levy upon another's property; or
- (3.) Dispossess another of any lands or tenements; or (4.) Do any act whereby another person shall be injured in his person, property or rights, commits oppression, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

(5.) No officer or person having the custody and control of the body or liberty of any person under arrest, shall refuse permission to such arrested person to communicate with his friends or with an attorney, nor subject any person under arrest to any form of personal violence, intimidation, indignity or threats for the purpose of extorting from such person incriminating statements or a confession. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1001, § 359.]

Cited in 68 Wash. 245.

A confession is inadmissible as one obtained by duress, where it appears that the prosecuting attorney threatened the accused with a series of prosecutions which would culminate in cumulative sentences, unless he confessed, he was subjected to solitary confinement in a dark cell, and testified that he was subjected to severe personal violence, and was denied communication with an attorney or any person; especially in view of this section: State v. Miller, 68 Wash. 239, 122 Pac. 1066.

§ 2612. Extortion by Public Officer.

Every public officer who shall ask or receive, or agree to receive a fee or other compensation for his official service, either—

(1.) In excess of the fee or compensation allowed to him by statute therefor; or

(2.) Where no fee or compensation is allowed to him by statute therefor, commits extortion, and is guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1001, § 360.]

§ 2613. Blackmail.

Every person who, with intent thereby to extort or gain any money or other property or to compel or induce another to make, subscribe, execute, alter or destroy any valuable security or instrument or writing affecting or intending to affect any cause of action or defense, or any property, or to influence the action of any public officer, or to do or abet or procure any illegal or wrongful act, shall threaten directly or indirectly—

(1.) To accuse any person of a crime; or

(2.) To do any injury to any person or to any property; or

(3.) To publish or connive at publishing any libel; or

(4.) To expose or impute to any person any deformity or disgrace; or

(5.) To expose any secret,

Shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment. [L. '09, p. 1002, § 361.]

Indictment and Information: See Remington's Digest, Threats, § 1; State v. Richards, 97 Wash. 587, 167 Pac. 47.

§ 2614. Coercion.

Every person who, with intent to compel another to do or abstain from doing any act which such other person has a right to do, or abstain from doing, shall wrongfully and unlawfully—

(1.) Use violence or inflict injury upon such other person or any of his family, or upon his property, or threaten such violence or injury; or

(2.) Deprive such person of any tool, implement or clothing, or hinder him in the use thereof; or

(3.) Attempt to intimidate such person by threats or force,

Shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1002, § 362.]

Cited in 97 Wash. 588; 104 Wash. 298.

FRAUDS.

§ 2615. Falsely Personating Another.

Every person who shall falsely personate another, and in such assumed character, shall—

(1.) Marry or pretend to marry or sustain the marriage relation toward another; or

(2.) Become bail or surety for a party in an action or special proceeding civil or criminal, before a court or officer authorized to take such bail or surety; or

(3.) Confess a judgment; or

(4.) Subscribe, verify, publish, acknowledge or approve a written instrument which by law may be recorded, with intent that the same may be delivered or issued as true; or

(5.) Appear for arraignment, trial or judgment in any criminal proceeding; or

(6.) Do any other act in the course of any action or proceeding wherein, if it were done by the person falsely personated such person might in any event become liable to an action or special proceeding, civil or criminal, or to pay a sum of money, or to incur a charge, forfeiture, or penalty, or whereby any benefit might accrue to the offender or to any other person,

Shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years. [L. '09, p. 1003, § 363.]

§ 2616. Personating an Officer.

Every person who shall falsely personate a public officer, civil or military, or a policeman, or a private individual having special authority by law to perform an act affecting the rights or interests of another, or who, without authority shall assume any uniform or badge by which such an officer or person is lawfully distinguished, and in such assumed character shall do any act purporting to be official, whereby another is injured or defrauded, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1003, § 364.]

Criminal responsibility of one aiding and abetting the offense of false personation. 5 A. L. R. 784.

§ 2617. Use of False Permit, License or Diploma.

Every person who shall conduct any business or perform any act under color of, or file for record with any public officer, any false or fraudulent permit, license, diploma or writing, or any permit, license, diploma or writing not lawfully belonging to such person, or who shall obtain any permit, license, diploma or writing by color or aid of any false representation, pretense, personation, token or writing, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1003, § 365.]

§ 2618. Concealing Foreign Matter in Merchandise.

Every person who, with intent to defraud, shall place or conceal any foreign substance in any barrel, bag, bale, box or other package containing any article of merchandise, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1004, § 366.]

§ 2619. Obtaining Signature by False Pretense.

Every person who, with intent to cheat or defraud another, shall designedly by color or aid of any false token or writing or other false pretense, representation or presentation, obtain the signature of any person to a written instrument, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years or in the county jail for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment. [L. '09, p. 1004, § 367.]

§ 2620. False Representation Concerning Credit.

Every person who, with intent thereby to obtain credit or financial rating, shall willfully make any false statement in writing of his assets or liabilities to any person with whom he may be either actually or prospectively engaged in any business transaction or to any commercial agency or other person engaged in the business of collecting or disseminating information concerning financial or commercial ratings, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1004, § 368.]

False statement in writing concerning financial ability in order to obtain credit.
Ann. Cas. 1916C, 1161.

§ 2621. False Representation Concerning Title.

Every person who shall maliciously or fraudulently execute or file for record any instrument, or put forward any claim, by which the right or title of another to any real property is, or purports to be transferred, encumbered or clouded, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1004, § 369.]

§ 2622. Published False Statement to Affect Market Price.

Every person who, with intent to affect the market price of any security or property shall put off, circulate or publish any false or misleading writing, statement or intelligence, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1005, § 370.]

§ 2622-1. False Advertising.

Any person, firm, corporation or association who, with intent to sell or in any wise dispose of merchandise, securities, service, or anything offered by such person, firm, corporation or association, directly or indirectly, to the public for sale or distribution, or with intent to increase the consumption thereof, or to induce the public in any manner to enter into any obligation relating thereto, or to acquire title thereto, or an interest therein, makes, publishes, disseminates, circulates, or places before the public, or causes, directly or indirectly, to be made, published, disseminated, circulated, or placed before the public in this state, in a newspaper or other publication, or in the form of a book, notice, handbill, poster, bill, circular, pamphlet, or letter, or in any other way, an advertisement of any sort regarding merchandise, securities, service, or anything so offered to the public, which advertisement contains any assertion, representation or statement of fact which is untrue, deceptive, or misleading, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to any owner, publisher, agent, or employee of a newspaper for the publication of such advertisement published in good faith and without knowledge of the falsity thereof. [L. '13, p. 91, § 1.]

§ 2629-1. Removal of Timber from Land Delinquent for Taxes.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to remove any timber from timbered lands, no portion of which is occupied for farming purposes by the owners thereof, upon which taxes are delinquent until the taxes thereon have been paid. [L. '13, p. 346, § 1.]

§ 2629-2. Penalty.

Any person violating the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor and punished accordingly. [L. '13, p. 346, § 2.]

"This act" refers to this and the preceding section.

§ 2630. Mock Auctions.

Every person who shall obtain any money or property from another or shall obtain the signature of another to any writing the false making of which would be forgery, by color or aid of any false or fraudulent sale of property or pretended sale of property by auction, or by any of the practices known as mock auction, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years or in the county jail for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both fine and imprisonment.

Every person who shall buy or sell or pretend to buy or sell any goods, wares or merchandise, exposed to sale by auction, if an actual sale, purchase and change or ownership therein does not thereupon take place, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1007, § 378.]

§ 2631. Fraudulent Removal of Property.

Every person who, with intent to defraud a prior or subsequent purchaser thereof, or prevent any of his property being made liable for the payment of any of his debts, or levied upon by an execution or warrant of attachment, shall remove any of his property, or secrete, assign, convey or otherwise dispose of the same, or with intent to defraud a creditor shall remove, secrete, assign, convey or otherwise dispose of any of his books or accounts, vouchers or writings in any way relating to his business affairs, or destroy, obliterate, alter or erase any of such books of account, accounts, vouchers or writing or any entry, memorandum or minute therein contained, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1007, § 379.]

§ 2632. Knowingly Receiving Fraudulent Conveyance.

Every person who shall receive any property or conveyance thereof from another, knowing that the same is transferred or delivered to him in violation of, or with the intent to violate section 2631, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1008, § 380.]

§ 2633. Fraud in Assignment for Benefit of Creditors.

Every person who, having made, or being about to make, a general assignment of his property to pay his debts, shall by color or aid of any false or fraudulent representation, pretense, token or writing induce any creditor to participate in the benefits of such assignments, or to give any release or discharge of his claim or any part thereof, or shall connive at the payment in whole or in part of any false, fraudulent or fictitious claim, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1008, § 381.]

§ 2634. Willful Destruction of Vessel.

Every person who shall wreck, burn, sink, scuttle or otherwise injure or destroy a vessel or its cargo, or willfully permit the same to be done, with the intent to prejudice or defraud an insurer or any other person, or who shall fit out a vessel, or shall load any cargo on board thereof with intent to permit or cause the same to be wrecked, sunk or otherwise injured or destroyed, and thereby defraud or prejudice an insurer or other person, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than twenty years. [L. '09, p. 1008, § 382.]

§ 2635. Making False Manifest, Invoice, etc.

Every person who shall prepare, make or subscribe a false or fraudulent manifest, invoice, bill of lading, ship's register, or protest, with intent to defraud another, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 1009, § 383.]

§ 2636. Fraudulent Destruction of Insured Property.

Every person who, with intent to defraud or prejudice the insurer thereof, shall willfully injure or destroy any property not specified or included hereinbefore in this subdivision, which is insured at the time against loss or damage by fire or other causality [casualty] shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 1009, § 384.]

"This subdivision" in this section refers to §§ 2634 to 2635, inclusive.

§ 2637. Using False Weights and Measures.

Every person who shall injure or defraud another by using, with knowledge that the same is false, a false weight, measure or other apparatus for determining the quantity of any commodity or article of merchandise, or by knowingly misrepresenting the quantity thereof bought or sold; or who shall retain in his possession any weight or measure, knowing it to be false, unless it appears beyond a reasonable doubt that it was so retained without intent to use it or permit it to be used in violation of the foregoing provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1009, § 385.]

§ 2638. Fraud in Stock Subscription.

Every person who shall sign the name of a fictitious person to any subscription for or any agreement to take stock in any corporation existing or proposed, and every person who shall sign to any such subscription or agreement the name of any person, knowing that such person does not intend in good faith to comply with the terms thereof, or upon any understanding or agreement that the terms of such subscription or agreement are not to be complied with or enforced, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1009, § 386.]

§ 2639. Fraudulent Issue of Stock, Scrip, etc.

Every officer, agent or other person in the service of a joint stock company or corporation, domestic or foreign, who, willfully and knowingly with intent to defraud, shall—

(1.) Sell, pledge or issue or cause to be sold, pledged or issued, or sign or execute or cause to be signed or executed, with intent to sell, pledge or issue, or cause to be sold, pledged or issued, any certificate or instrument purporting to be a certificate or evidence of ownership of any share or shares of such company or corporation, or any conveyance or encumbrance of real or personal property, contract, bond, or evidence of debt, or writing purporting to be a conveyance or encumbrance of real or personal property, contract, bond or evidence of debt of such company or corporation, without being first duly authorized by such company or corporation, or contrary to the charter or laws under which such company or corporation exists, or in excess of the power of such company or corporation, or of the limit imposed by law or otherwise upon its power to create or issue stock or evidence of debt; or,

(2.) Reissue, sell, pledge or dispose of, or cause to be reissued, sold, pledged or disposed of, any surrendered or canceled certificate or other evidence of the transfer of ownership of any such share or shares:

Shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 1010, § 387.]

§ 2640. Insolvent Bank Receiving Deposit.

Every owner, officer, stockholder, agent or employee of any person, firm, corporation or association engaged, wholly or in part, in the business of banking or receiving money or negotiable paper or securities on deposit or in trust, who shall accept or receive, with or without interest, any deposit, or who shall consent thereto or connive thereat, when he knows or has good reason to believe that such person, firm, corporation or association is unsafe or insolvent, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars. [L. '09, p. 1010, § 388.]

See infra, § 3861, foreign corporation doing business without registration.

§ 2642. False Report of Corporation.

Every director, officer or agent of any corporation or joint stock association, and every person engaged in organizing or promoting any enterprise, who shall knowingly make or publish or concur in making or publishing any written prospectus, report, exhibit or statement of its affairs or pecuniary condition, containing any material statement that is false or exaggerated, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars. [L. '09, p. 1011, § 390.]

See note to section 2640.

§ 2643. Warehouseman or Carrier Refusing to Issue Receipt.

Every person or corporation, and every officer, agent and employee thereof, receiving any goods, wares or merchandise, for sale or on commission, for storage, carriage or forwarding, who, having an opportunity to inspect the same, shall fail or refuse to deliver to the owner thereof a receipt duly signed, bearing the date of issuance, describing the goods, wares or merchandise received and the quantity, quality and condition thereof, and specifying the terms and conditions upon which they are received, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1011, § 391.]

See infra, § 11562, issuing unlawfully.

§ 2644. Fictitious Bill of Lading and Receipt.

Every person or corporation engaged wholly or in part in the business of a common carrier or warehouseman, and every officer, agent or employee thereof, who shall issue any bill of lading, receipt or other voucher by which it shall appear that any goods, wares or merchandise have been received by such carrier or warehouseman, unless the same have been so received and shall be at the time actually under his control, or who shall issue any bill of lading, receipt or voucher containing any false statement concerning any material matter, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. But no person shall be convicted under this section for the reason that the contents of any barrel, box, case, cask or other closed vessel or package mentioned in the bill of lading, receipt or voucher did not correspond with the description thereof in such instrument, if such description corresponds substantially with the mark on the outside of such barrel, box, case, cask, vessel or package, unless it appears that the defendant knew that such marks were untrue. [L. '09, p. 1012, § 392.]

§ 2645. Warehouseman Fraudulently Mixing Goods.

Every person mentioned in section 2644, who shall fraudulently mix or tamper with any goods, wares or merchandise under his control, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1012, § 393.]

§ 2646. Duplicate Receipt.

Every person mentioned in section 2644, who shall issue any second or duplicate receipt or voucher of the kind specified in said section, while a former receipt or voucher for the goods, wares or merchandise specified in such second receipt is outstanding and uncanceled, without writing across the face of the same the word "Duplicate," in a plain and legible manner, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1012, § 394.]

§ 2647. Bill of Lading or Receipt must be Canceled on Redelivery of Property.

Each person mentioned in section 2644, who shall deliver to another any goods, wares or merchandise for which a bill of lading, receipt or voucher has been issued, unless such bill of lading, receipt or voucher is surrendered and canceled or a lawful and sufficient bond or undertaking is given therefor at the time of such delivery, or unless, in case of a partial delivery, a memorandum thereof is indorsed upon such bill of lading, receipt or voucher, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1013, § 395.]

§ 2648. Regulating Sale of Passage Tickets.

It shall be the duty of every person or corporation engaged wholly or in part in the business of carrying passengers for hire, to provide every agent authorized to sell its passage tickets in this state, with a certificate of his authority, attested by its seal and the signature of its manager, secretary or general passenger agent, which shall contain a designation of the place of business at which such authority shall be exercised.

Every person and every corporation or association, and every officer, agent or employee thereof who shall sell, exchange or transfer, or have in his possession with intent to sell, exchange or transfer, or maintain, conduct or operate any office or place of business for the sale, exchange or transfer of any passage ticket or pass or part thereof, or any other evidence of a right to travel upon any railroad or boat, whether the same be owned or operated within or without the limits of this state, in any place except his place of business, or within such place of business without having rightfully in his possession and posted in a conspicuous place therein the certificate of authority hereinabove provided for, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1013, § 396.]

See infra, §§ 10497-10501, sale of railroad tickets.

§ 2649. Redemption of Unused Passage Ticket.

Every person or corporation engaged wholly or in part in the business of carrying passengers for hire in this state, and every authorized ticket agent thereof, to whom there shall be presented by the holder thereof, within one year after its expiration, any passage ticket or part thereof, or other evidence of right to travel, wholly or in part upon the railroad or boat of such person or corporation, which shall be wholly or partially unused, who shall fail to redeem the same within three days after presentation, upon the following terms, to wit:

(1.) When wholly unused, for the price paid therefor; and

(2.) When partially unused, for the price paid therefor, less the regular toll or charge for the passage had;

Shall be punished by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, and in addition thereto shall forfeit to the holder of such ticket or part thereof or other evidence of a right to travel, three times the redeemable value thereof. [L. '09, p. 1013, § 397.]

See infra, §§ 10502, 10503, redemption of unsold railroad tickets.

§ 2650. Malicious Mischief—Injury to Railway.

Every person who, in such manner as might, if not discovered, endanger the safety of any engine, motor, car or train, or any person thereon, shall in any manner interfere or tamper with or obstruct any switch, frog, rail, roadbed, sleeper, viaduct, bridge, trestle, culvert, embankment, structure or appliance pertaining to or connected with any railway, or any train, engine, motor, or car on such railway; and every person who shall discharge any firearm or throw any dangerous missile at any train, engine, motor or car on any railway, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than twenty-five years. [L. '09, p. 1014, § 398.]

§ 2651. Attempt to Commit Train Robbery.

Every person who, with intent to commit any robbery, burglary or larceny, shall go upon or board any train, motor, car or engine; mask, extinguish or alter any light or other signal; exhibit or compel any other person to exhibit any false light or signal; or stop any such train, car or engine or slacken the speed thereof or compel or attempt to compel any other person in charge or control thereof to stop such train, car or engine or slacken the speed thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not less than five years. [L. '09, p. 1014, § 399.]

§ 2652. Endangering Life and Property by Explosives.

Every person who shall maliciously place any explosive substance or material in, upon, under, against or near any building, car, vessel, railroad track or structure, in such manner or under such circumstances as to destroy or injure the same if exploded, shall be guilty of a felony, and if the circumstances and surroundings are such that the safety of any person might be endangered by the explosion thereof, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than twenty years; and in every other case by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years. [L. '09, p. 1015, § 400.]

See supra, § 2403, killing by explosives unlawfully kept.

See supra, § 2504, keeping explosives unlawfully.

See supra, § 2506, transporting explosives.

§ 2653. Damaging Building, etc., by Explosion.

Every person who shall maliciously, by the explosion of gunpowder or any other explosive substance or material, destroy or damage any building, car, vessel, railroad track or structure, shall be punished as follows:

(1.) If thereby the life or safety of a human being is endangered, by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than twenty years.

(2.) In every other case by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than five years. [L. '09, p. 1015, § 401.]

§ 2654. False Signals for Vessels, etc.

Every person who, in such manner as might, if not discovered, endanger a vessel, railway engine, motor, train or car, shall show, mask, extinguish, alter or remove any light or signal, or exhibit any false light or signal, shall be punished by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years. [L. '09, p. 1015, § 402.]

§ 2655. Injury to United States Light.

Every person who shall willfully break, injure, deface or destroy any lighthouse station, post, platform, step, lamp or other structure pertaining to such lighthouse station, or shall extinguish or tamper with any light erected by the United States upon or along the navigable waters of this state to aid in the navigation thereof, in case no punishment is provided therefor by the laws of the United States, shall be punished as follows:

(1.) Whenever such act may endanger the safety of any vessel navigating such waters, or jeopardize the safety of any person or property in or upon such vessel, by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for not more than ten years.

(2.) In all other cases by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than one year, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both. [L. '09, p. 1015, § 403.]

§ 2656. Injuring Public Utilities.

Every person who shall willfully or maliciously remove, damage or destroy:

(1.) A highway or a private way laid out by authority of law, or a bridge upon such public or private road, or willfully or maliciously cause to be placed thereon any substance or thing dangerous to any person or animal traveling thereon or which might injure or puncture the tire of any vehicle; or,

(2.) A pile or other material fixed in the ground and used for securing any bank or dam of any river or other water, or any dike, dock, quay, jetty or lock; or,

(3.) A buoy or beacon lawfully placed in any waters within this state; or,

(4.) A tree, rock, post or other monument erected or marked for the purpose of designating a point on the boundary of the state, of a county, city, town or of a farm, tract or lot of land, or any mark or inscription thereon; or,

(5.) A mile-board, mile-stone or guide-post erected upon a highway, or any inscription thereon; or,

(6.) A telegraph, telephone or electric transmission line or any part thereof, or any appurtenance thereto, or apparatus connected with the operation thereof; or,

(7.) A fence, gate, cattle-guard, bridge, water-tank, mile-post, car, engine, motor or other useful structure on the line of any railway; or,

(8.) A pipe or main for conducting gas, water or oil, or any works erected for the purpose of supplying buildings therewith, or any appurtenance or appendage thereto; or,

(9.) A sewer or drain, or a pipe or main connected therewith or forming a part thereof; or,

(10.) A ditch or flume lawfully erected for carrying water or draining land; or,

(11.) Any engine, hose, hose-cart, truck, ladder, extinguisher or other apparatus used by any fire company or fire department, or any rope, wire, bell, signal, instrument or apparatus for the communication of alarms of fire or police calls; or,

(12.) Any public building, or building used for educational, scientific, charitable or religious purpose, or any useful or ornamental thing therein; or,

(13.) Any work of literature or art or copy thereof, object of curiosity or scientific interest, statue, picture or engraving, displayed, kept or erected in any public building, street, park or other public place or in any collection, exhibition, museum, fair, gallery or library, or in any building devoted to educational, scientific, charitable or religious purposes; or,

(14.) A monument erected in any cemetery, street, park or other public place; or,

(15.) A sign or notice erected or posted by any officer under lawful authority, or by the owner or occupant of the premises where posted; or,

(16.) A legal notice or other legal paper posted in compliance with the requirement of any statute of this state, or under the direction or order of a court; and,

Every person—

(17.) Who shall moor any vessel, scow, barge, raft or boom to any bridge or to any buoy or beacon lawfully in any waters within this state; or,

(18.) Who shall intercept, read or in any manner interrupt or delay the sending of a message over any telegraph or telephone line; or,

(19.) Who shall erect or maintain any unlawful structure in any stream or river;

Shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1016, § 404.]

§ 2657. Unlawful Interference With Gas, Electric, Steam or Water Appliance.

Every person who, with intent to injure or defraud, shall—

(1.) Break or deface the seal of any gas, electric, steam or water meter; or,

(2.) Obstruct, alter, injure or prevent the action of any meter or other instrument used to measure or register the quantity of gas, electricity, steam or water supplied to a consumer thereof; or,

(3.) Make any connections by means of a wire, pipe, conduit or otherwise with any wire, main or pipe used for the delivery of gas, electricity, steam or water to a consumer thereof, in such manner as to take gas, electricity, steam or water from said wire, main or pipe without its passage through the meter or other instrument provided for registering the amount or quantity consumed; or use any gas, electricity, steam or water so obtained; or,

(4.) Make any connection or reconnection with such wire, main or pipe, or turn on or off, or in any manner interfere with any valve, stop-cock or other appliances connected therewith; or,

(5.) Prevent by the erection of any device or construction, or by any other means, free access to any meter or other instrument for registering or measuring the amount of gas, electricity, steam or water consumed, or interfere with, obstruct or prevent, by any means, the reading or inspection of such meter or instrument, by the person, company or corporation owning the same; or,

(6.) Take or use any water from any irrigation flume, ditch or lateral, without the consent of the owners thereof, or open, close or interfere with any gate connected therewith;

Shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1018, § 405.]

See, also, "Irrigation."

§ 2658. Interfering With Dam, Reservoir, etc.

Every person who shall willfully or maliciously displace, remove, injure or destroy any pier, boom, or dam lawfully erected or maintained upon, in or across any water in this state, or any dam or reservoir lawfully maintained for impounding water; or hoist any gate in or about such dam or reservoir, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. [L. '09, p. 1018, § 406.]

§ 2659. Injury to Property.

Every person who shall willfully—

(1.) Cut down, destroy or injure any wood, timber, grain, grass or crop, standing or growing, or which has been cut down and is lying upon the lands of another, or of the state; or,

(2.) Cut down, girdle or otherwise injure a fruit, shade or ornamental tree standing on the land of another or of the state, or in any road or street; or,

CHAPTER XI.

CRIMES UNDER ACTS NOT REPEALED BY THE PENAL CODE OF 1909.

§ 2697. Selling Cigarettes Containing Injurious Drug—Penalty.

Any person [selling or giving away cigarettes without a license, or] selling or giving away any cigarette or cigarettes containing any injurious drug, narcotic or other deleterious matter, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall on conviction thereof be subject to a fine of fifty dollars for each offense, or be imprisoned for sixty days in a common jail or penitentiary, and any person [having a license, or any person not licensed,] who sells or gives away any cigarette or cigarettes, of any and every kind whatsoever, to a minor under the age of eighteen years, shall be subjected to the same penalty as herein provided. [L. '95, p. 126, § 5.]

Superseded as to words in brackets by § 2968, Rem. & Bal. Code.

§ 2698. Sale of Any Cigarettes Except in Original Package.

Any person selling cigarettes of any and every kind whatsoever, except in an original and full package, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall on conviction thereof be subject to the same penalty as in the section last above provided. [L. '95, p. 126, § 6.]

§ 2699. Sale to Minors—Civil Liability to Parents of Minor.

In addition to the penalty above provided for, the sale or giving away of cigarettes to a minor under the age of eighteen years, the parent or guardian of such minor or any individual or association suing in behalf or for the benefit of such minor, may prosecute, in a civil action, any person so violating this chapter, for the penalty of two hundred and fifty dollars and the costs of the action, one-half of which amount shall be paid to any person as his moiety share who furnished the information upon which the action is brought and penalty recovered. [L. '95, p. 126, § 7.]

§ 2700. Same—Wrappers or Substitutes—Persuading Minor to Smoke.

It shall hereafter be unlawful in the state of Washington for any corporation, company, firm or person to sell, barter, furnish or give away, directly or indirectly, to any minor under eighteen years of age any cigarette, cigarette wrappers or any substitute for either; or to procure for, or to persuade, advise, counsel or compel any minor under said age to smoke cigarettes or for any minor under said age to smoke any cigarette. [L. '01, p. 261, § 1.]

§ 2701. Same—Penalty—Duty of Prosecutors.

Any such corporation, company, firm or person, violating any of the provisions of the preceding section shall, for the first offense, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not more than fifty dollars, nor less than ten dollars; and for a second and any subsequent offense, such corporation, company, firm or person shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not more than five hundred dollars nor less than ten dollars, and to which may be added imprisonment in the county jail for any period not exceeding sixty days. It is hereby made the special duty of prosecuting attorneys to enforce the provisions of this act, and he may summon any minor under eighteen years of age who may have or have had in his possession any cigarettes, and compel him to testify before the mayor of a city or a justice of the peace as to where and of whom he obtained such cigarettes. [L. '01, p. 262, § 2.]

§ 2702. Counterfeiting Uncoined Gold, etc.

Any person who shall counterfeit any kind or species of gold-dust, gold bullion or bars, lumps, pieces or nuggets of gold, or any description whatsoever of uncoined gold, currently passing in this state, or shall alter or put off any kind of uncoined gold mentioned in this section, for the purpose of defrauding any person or persons, body, politic or corporate, or shall make any instrument for counterfeiting any kind [of] uncoined gold as aforesaid, knowing the purpose for which such instrument was made, or shall knowingly have in his possession and secretly keep any instrument for the purpose of counterfeiting any kind of uncoined gold as aforesaid, every such person so offending, or any person or persons aiding or abetting in or about said offense or offenses shall be deemed guilty of counterfeiting, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a term not less than one year nor more than fourteen years. [L. '62 p. 15, § 7; Cd. '81, § 857; 2 H. P. C., § 66.]

§ 2703. Robbing Sluice-boxes, etc.

Any person who shall break or rob in any manner, or who shall attempt to break or rob, any flume, rocker, quartz-mill, quartz vein or lode, bedrock sluice, sluice-box, or mining claim not his own, or who shall trespass upon such mining claim with the intent to commit a felony, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary of this state not less than one nor more than five years, or by fine not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or by both such imprisonment and fine as the court or judge thereof may direct. [L. '90, p. 126, § 6; 2 H. P. C., § 79.]

§ 2704. Malicious Disturbance of or Injury to Settlers on Unsurveyed Lands.

Any person or persons who shall willfully and maliciously disturb, or in anywise injure or destroy, the dwelling-house or other building, or any fence inclosing or being on the claim, of any settler upon the unsurveyed public lands in this state, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than fifty nor more than one hundred dollars for each and every offense, to which may be added imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ninety days. [Cf. L. '83, p. 71, § 2; L. '91, p. 124, § 17; 2 H. P. C., § 89.]

Superseded in part by the next section.

§ 2705. Injury to Buildings or Contents.

If any person shall maliciously or wantonly destroy or deface any cabin or other building or place of shelter or any of the contents of such cabin, building or shelter constructed by any person or persons or society of persons upon any public land of the state of Washington, or of the United States within the state of Washington, or upon any land not owned by such person so destroying or defacing the same, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor: Provided, that the provisions of this act shall not apply to bona fide settlers on government lands. [L. '99, p. 186, § 1.]

"Act" in this section refers to §§ 2705-2707.

§ 2706. Destruction of Monuments, Records, etc.

If any person shall maliciously or wantonly remove, destroy or carry away any record or record book or document of any kind or any box or other receptacle for containing the same or any instrument or device for scientific purposes established or placed upon any mountain peak or summit or at any other place of resort, or upon any land belonging to this state or to the United States, or in or upon any body or stream of water within this state, such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. [L. '99, p. 186, § 2.]

§ 2707. Penalty.

Every person convicted of a violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten days nor more than six months or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any person acting as informer, in case of conviction, under this act, shall be entitled to one-half of the fine imposed. [L. '99, p. 186, § 3.]

"Act" in this section refers to §§ 2705-2707.

§ 2708. Posting Advertisements on Public Property.

Every person who willfully commits any trespass by either putting up, affixing, fastening, printing, or painting upon any property belonging to the state, or to any county, city, town, or village, or dedicated to the public, or upon any property of any person or corporation without license from the owner, any notice, advertisement, or designation of, or any name for any commodity, whether for sale or otherwise, or any picture, sign, or device intended to call attention thereto, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not more than twenty days, or by both such fine and imprisonment: Provided, that nothing contained in this section shall be construed to prohibit the posting of legal notices. [L. '86, p. 78, § 1, subd. 5; 2 H. P. C., § 90.]

§ 2709. To Prevent Removal of Mortgaged Property.

That when any real estate in this state is subject to, or is security for, any mortgage, mortgages, lien or liens, other than general liens arising under personal judgments, it shall be unlawful for any person who is the owner, mortgagor, lessee, or occupant of such real estate to destroy or remove or to cause to be destroyed or removed from said real estate any fixtures, buildings, or permanent improvements, not including crops growing thereon, without having first obtained from the owners or holders of each and all of such mortgages or other liens his or their written consent for such removal or destruction. Any person willfully violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail for a period not to exceed six months, or by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [L. '99, p. 122, §§ 1, 2.]

See supra, § 2603, the sale of mortgaged personal property.

See supra, § 2629, and infra, § 3789, removal of mortgaged personalty.

§ 2711. False Pretenses, etc., in Selling Mines.

Any person who shall, with intent to cheat, wrong, or defraud, place in or upon any mine or mineral claim any ores or specimens of ores not extracted therefrom, or exhibit any ore, or certificate of assay of ore, not extracted therefrom, for the purpose of selling any mine or mining claim, or any interest therein, or who shall obtain any money or property by any such false pretenses or artifices, shall be deemed guilty of a felony. [L. '90, p. 99, § 1; 2 H. P. C., § 238.]

§ 2712. Altering Sample or Certificate of Assay.

Any person who shall interfere with, or in any manner change samples of ores or bullion produced for sampling, or change or alter samples or packages of ores or bullion which have been purchased for assaying, or who shall change or alter any certificate of sampling or assaying, with intent to cheat, wrong, or defraud, shall be deemed guilty of a felony. [L. '90, p. 99, § 2; 2 H. P. C., § 239.]

§ 2713. Making False Sample or Assay of Ore.

Any person who shall, with intent to cheat, wrong, or defraud, make or publish a false sample of ore or bullion, or who shall make or publish or cause to be published a false assay of ore or bullion, shall be deemed guilty of a felony. [L. '90, p. 99, § 3; 2 H. P. C., § 240.]

§ 2714. Penalty for Violation of Last Three Sections.

Any person violating any of the provisions of the last three preceding sections shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than fifty nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the penitentiary for not less than one year nor more than five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment. [L. '90, p. 99, § 4; 2 H. P. C., § 241.]

§ 2715. Extortion by Ferryman, Toll-gate Keeper, etc.

If any ferryman, ferry owner, ferry-keeper, or keeper of a toll bridge or toll gate, himself, or by any person in his employment, shall demand or receive any greater fees on account of ferriage or toll than is or may be fixed by law, or by the proper board doing county business, as the rates of ferriage or toll to be received by such person, upon conviction thereof he shall be fined in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding one month. [L. '54, p. 95, § 108; Cd. '81, § 923; 2 H. P. C., § 156.]

See infra, § 5472, order of carriage by ferryman, penalty.

§ 2716. Mutilation of Sign-boards, Mile-posts, etc.

Any person or persons who shall deface, mutilate, tear down, or destroy any sign-board or post, or any mile-board or post, erected or set up by the authorities of any city, town or county, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine in any sum less than twenty dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding twenty days, or both. [L. '01, p. 25, § 1.]

§ 2717. Protection to Mile-boards Used for Advertising.

Any person, firm, company or corporation desiring to erect or set up sign-boards or posts, or mile-boards or posts, as a means of advertising, and desiring to have the protection of the provisions of the foregoing sections in so doing, shall satisfy the proper officers of the city, town or county that said boards or posts will be set up at correct distances and at proper points and in all other respects be serviceable to the public as sign-boards or posts, or as mile-boards or posts; whereupon said person, firm, company or corporation shall be permitted to place on said boards or posts the words "by authority," and the authorities granting such permission shall make a record of such action in the records of their proceedings; and any sign-board or post, or any mile-board or post, set up by such permission, and having on its face in clear, bold letters the words "by authority," shall have the same protection on [as] such boards or posts set up by the authorities of any city, town or county, and any person or persons who shall deface, mutilate, tear down or destroy any such board or post so set up, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine in any sum less than twenty dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding twenty days, or both. [L. '01, p. 25, § 2.]

§ 2718. Fast Driving Over Bridge.

Any person or persons riding or driving faster than a walk over any bridge located on any county or state road, composed of one or more spans, upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not to exceed ten dollars nor less than five dollars, to be collected by any court having competent jurisdiction thereof, and all moneys so collected shall be paid into the county treasury and become a part of the school fund: Provided, that this section shall apply only to bridges over thirty feet in length. [L. '79, p. 148, § 1; Cd. '81, § 931, 2 H. P. C., § 165.]

§ 2719. Unlawful Use of Traction Engine on Highways.

Whenever any person in charge of and running any traction engine propelled by steam upon any county road or public highway, except in towns, cities, or villages, shall meet or come in close proximity to any person driving a team of horses, it shall be the duty of the person in charge of such engine to come to a full stop, and remain standing until the team has passed. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars. [L. '90, p. 523, §§ 1, 2; 2 H. P. C., § 233.]

§ 2720. Throwing Glass or Tacks in Highway—Penalty.

Any person or persons, corporation or corporations who shall throw, place, or deposit, in any road, street, alley, or highway, in the state of Washington, any bottle, bottles, glass, glassware, tacks, or nails, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than fifty dollars, together with the costs and disbursements of the prosecution, and shall be committed to the county jail until such fine and costs are paid. [L. '09, p. 56, § 1.]

§ 2721. Race-track Gambling a Felony—Penalty.

Any person who receives, records or registers bets, stakes or wagers, or who sells pools, or makes a book or books, upon any horserace, or upon the result of any trial or contest of speed or power of endurance of any animal, whether such race, trial or contest takes place within or without this state; or any person who receives, registers, records, forwards or transmits, or purports or pretends to receive, register, record, forward or transmit, in any manner whatsoever, any money, checks, credits, or any other representative of value, or any property, thing or consideration of value whatsoever, bet, staked, or wagered, by or for any other person, upon any such race or result, whether to be bet, staked, or wagered within or outside this state; or any person who uses, or has in his possession for use, any book, paper, board, device, apparatus or paraphernalia, for the purpose, actual or pretended, of receiving, recording, registering, forwarding or transmitting any bets, stakes or wagers, or of book-making or pool-selling, upon any such race or result; or any person who keeps, manages, conducts, maintains or occupies any house, room, shop, shed, tenement, tent, booth, building, float or vessel, or any part thereof, or who keeps, manages, conducts, maintains or occupies any place or stand, of any kind, upon any public or private ground, street, park, garden, inclosure or place, for the purpose of receiving, recording, registering, forwarding or transmitting any bets, stakes or wagers, or of selling pools, or of book-making, upon any such race or result; or any person who being the owner, lessee or occupant of any house, room, shop, shed, tenement, tent, booth or building, float or vessel, or part thereof, or of any ground, park, garden, inclosure or place, knowingly permits the same to be used or occupied for any of the purposes herein prohibited, or who knowingly permits to be kept, exhibited or used therein any book, paper, board, device, apparatus or paraphernalia, for the purpose of recording or registering such bets, stakes or wagers, or for the purpose of such pool-selling or book-making; or any person, whether as principal, employer, owner, proprietor, agent, employee or assistant, or as officer, agent or employee of a corporation, who aids, assists or abets, in any manner, any of the said acts or things which are hereby forbidden, is guilty of a felony, and, upon conviction thereof, shall be imprisoned in the penitentiary for a period of not less than one, nor more than three years. [L. '09, p. 7, § 1.]

See supra, § 2473, pool-selling and book-making.

• § 2721½. Indecent Language, Practices and Drunkenness.

Any person who shall use in the presence of any person any indecent or vulgar language, or who shall appear upon any public road or street or in any or upon any public place or conveyance in any indecent, drunken or maudlin condition or boisterous manner shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished accordingly. [L. '09, Ex. Sess., p. 61, § 1.]
